Why Imperial Cheese Scored 100 Points Perfection

Absolute cleanliness tells the whole story. You cannot make perfect cheese like "Imperial" if one particle of dirt enters into its composition. Through all the many processes of manufacture, the floors, tables, walls, pans, implements, even to sterilizing the porcelain pots, we have three strict rules in the manufacture of Imperial :

1st, Cleanliness. 2nd, Cleanliness. 3rd, Cleanliness.

Little wonder then that Imperial scored 100 points.

BEET SUGAR MANUFACTURE IN CALIFORNIA.

Frederick M. Turner, in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly

DURING the past two years, while many industries have been paralyzed and factories closed; while in some localities crops have been a total or partial failure, it has been a source of gratification to note that there is one industry which has not only held its own in the face of hard times, but it has made immense strides onward to certain success—beet sugar manufacture.

This industry is fully demonstrating its fitness to occupy the prominent place it is assuming as a wealth-producer and home-builder of this country.

There has been a steadily increasing acreage devoted to raising sugar beets in different parts of the United States, both practically and experimentally, and a corresponding increased output of sugar. A still further expansion is assured from the fact that Claus Spreckels, the sugar king, is to erect three beet sugar factories in California in the immediate future. At Chino, Cal., where there has been the most rapid development, there is established an enterprise of a magnitude so unexpected, with operations conducted on such an extensive scale, as to excite a feeling of the keenest admiration.

That the results of sugar beet farming are satisfactory, and yield a large measure of profit on a small investment in a brief interval of time, is vouched for by the fact that renters of land have been gradually acquiring more and more territory during the past five years.

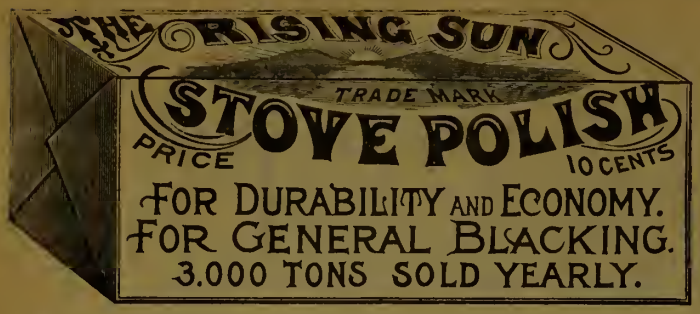
In 1891, the year that witnessed the building of the factory on the Chino Ranch, it was necessary for Mr. Gird, the owner of the property, to plant and care for the major portion of the crop. The year's work—really experimental—proved so satisfactory that in 1892 the farmers rented and cultivated one-third of the acreage devoted to raising beets, Mr. Gird putting in the remainder. The results of 1892 were so decidedly advantageous that there was no difficulty in renting to farmers for the season of 1893 two-thirds of the beet land, Mr. Gird planting the remaining third.

For the season of 1894 the farmers rented and cared for the entire acreage. Year by year the land under cultivation for beets has steadily increased in extent from 2,500 acres in 1891, to 6,000 acres in 1894, and 6,500 in 1895. Several thousand more acres could have been rented had the remaining land been in a suitable condition. During the present season a large tract of sod-land has been broken, preparatory for still more extensive beet planting.

After the harvest of 1893, the farmers who had been renting land the previous years attested their faith in the enterprise by purchasing in the neighborhood of 1,000 acres of land, in tracts varying from ten to sixty acres—the latter number being a single exception. A tract of twenty acres planted to sugar beets will afford a good income for a family, and there are few who invest in larger holdings.

Many tracts, under favorable conditions, properly planted and cultivated, have yielded net returns of $50 to $70 per acre for the season's crop—a few have exceeded the higher figure. One 10-acre tract was planted from out of which $1,000 worth of beets were harvested, and another field that paid $120 per acre gross.

The entire cost of operations, from the time the plough is put in the ground until the beets are deposited in the sheds at the factory, is under $25 per acre. The land rental paid is one-quarter of the crop delivered at the factory, and varies from $10 to $25 per acre. All beets delivered at the factory during the month are paid for in cash on the 15th of the following month, at prices fixed by contract at the beginning of each saason.



There was paid to farmers for beets and for labor in 1895 the sum of $350,000. The expenditure of such cash amounts, growing larger each year, means that a vast cattle ranch, containing thousands of acres of low, naturally moist lands, will soon be transformed into a densely populated community of prosperous homes—a veritable garden spot.

Situated in a gently sloping valley, surrounded by circling mountain ranges and rolling hills, the natural beauty of the scene is greatly enhanced by the vivid green of the growing beets, as the fields stretch away for miles in different directions—a delightful contrast to the brown and bare country surrounding them during the dry season.

From the time the narrow, ribbon-like bands of green appear above the surface of the ground until the harvest closes, these fields present an appearance of the greatest activity. From six to eight hundred men and boys may be seen busily engaged in the various occupations pertaining to the intense cultivation which the beets require. As soon as the plants are in the fourth leaf they should be "thinned" to a proper distance apart in the row—having been drilled in. Delay at this stage results in a loss of from two to three tons of beets to the acre at harvest time.

Boys, owing to their suppleness and ambidexterity, have proved to be the best and cheapest "thinners." Their help in the field is invaluable, and very materially lessens the expense, as thinning is one of the largest items in the care of the crop. Again, during the harvesting, when the beets have been extracted from the soil, the labor of the boys is utilized in "topping" the beets before they leave the field and are delivered at the factory. In no other branch of agriculture can the boys be so effectually pressed into service.

The seed from which sugar beets are raised is imported from France and Germany, where, for many years, the business of growing seed has been in progress. In its indigenous condition, originally along the shores of the Mediterranean, the beet carried 6 or 7 per cent. of sugar; but by process of natural selection and breeding, the amount of saccharine matter has been increased to 25 per cent.

To raise merchantable sugar beet seed requires four or five years of patient care and toil. First, the seed is planted in well-prepared ground; from the resulting crop selection is made of "mother" beets—those of proper size and weight, which show the highest percentage of sugar, and that have the most shapely form. The green tops are carefully removed by severing them with a sharp knife close to the crown; the roots are then placed in silo for the winter.

On being taken out in the spring they are again tested, on the principle of the survival of the fittest, and another selection made of the highest grade. These are then planted out in the field, separately in squares, at a distance of thirty inches. To ascertain the percentage of sugar a small cylindrical piece is cut from the beet root, which does not impair its growing powers, and analyzed in the laboratory. Before planting, however, each beet has a number carved into it and the number is recorded in a book. At the end of the season the number engraved on the beet root is still legible and the obtained results are entered up against the corresponding book numbers. Indeed to such a fine point is this detail work carried out, that in some instances photographs are taken of each "mother" beet.

The seed from these "mothers" is planted the following spring, and from the ripening crop another selection is made for "mothers." These are again cared for in the silo until spring and then planted. The seed from the second planting of "mothers" is then ready for market. To plant one acre requires the making of many thousand analyses.

Long-conducted experiments have proved that in planting for ordinary crop productions the best results have been obtained where the rows were drilled 18 inches apart and the plants thinned to a distance of six or eight inches in the row.

This close culture gives a greater tonnage to the acre, of a higher sugar content and purity, and is said to be less exhausting to the soil. Early planting, inducing a rapid growth and large root in the beginning of the season, is as important a factor in the success of the harvest as the brilliant sunshine of the summer and autumn. It has also been found that large, heavy seed produces larger yields and higher sugar percentage than does the smaller sizes. For several years the Government Experiment Station at Schuyler, Neb., has conducted a series of experiments in growing sugar beet seed in marketable quantities. "Home-grown seed, planted by the side of the imported seed of the same varieties and under the same conditions of soil and cultivation" gave decided indication of greater vitality, germinating power and productiveness.

From an acre of ground 706 more pounds of sugar were obtained from the American than from the French or German seed—representing a gain of twelve per cent. The amount of sugar beet seed imported from the latter countries, for planting at Chino in 1894, was 80 tons, which will give some idea of the enormous proportions of the industry. Of the 200,000 tons of beets delivered to the six factories in this country in 1893, over 50,000 tons, or a quarter of the entire amount, was worked up by the Chino factory. The output in sugar from this factory was 15,063,357 pounds or one-third of the 44,836,527 pounds which represented the total product of beet sugar in this country for the same year. The steadily increasing acreage and tonnage has necessitated the enlarging of the Chino factory from a capacity of 350 tons of beets daily in 1892 to 550 tons in 1893, and again to 800 tons in 1894.

Over $100,000 was expended on improvements in 1893, which resulted in giving the factory a working capacity far above the estimated 550 tons. On some days as high as 700 tons of beets were worked with a resultant output of 250,000 pounds of raw sugar. During the season of 1895 as high as 900 tons of beets were worked through the factory per day.

This was increased in 1896 to 1,000 tons per day. With all the recent additions to the buildings and machinery equipment, the plant represents a total expenditure of nearly $1,000,000. The main structure, 66 x 285 feet is supplemented by the new Steffan's process building, four stories in height, 60 x 100 feet; the boiler-house, 50 x 145 feet; and the lime kilns. These lime kilns, four in number, have a daily capacity for burning 125 tons of rock—equal to more than twelve standard carloads. The new kiln, 85 feet in height, has, alone, a capacity of 75 tons daily—one of the largest kilns in existence.

Inside the main building the space is crowded with massive machinery from basement to cupola, and from one extremity to the other, all of the latest design and highest type of workmanship. One hundred and fifty carloads of materials and machinery were received in 1894 from the Eastern States to make the necessary improvements, while 200 skilled workmen were employed for months in remodeling the old and constructing the new work.

Every nook and cranny of the building has been invaded to make room for the additional equipment. Many miles of pipes and tubes extend through the interior of the building in all directions. One of the most important additions was the great vacuum pan for crystalizing the syrup. This pan is fourteen feet in diameter, and has a capacity for a 70-ton charge—one of the largest pans ever made. Several of the castings composing this gigantic piece of machinery weigh fifteen tons each.

Facing each other on opposite sides of the building are two sets of quadruple-effect evaporators, one set supplied with short, vertical heating tubes, the other with long, horizontal tubes. In the refining department one complete set of seven centrifugals, forty inches in diameter, has been added to the original equipment. Thirteen new filter presses were placed in addition to the three old ones of eighty frames each. All the machinery for the new equipment, with the exception of the filter presses, was manufactured in the United States.

The power to operate this complicated mass of machinery and furnish steam and hot water is derived from three engines and a battery of ten boilers, the latter aggregating 2,500 horse-power. Crude oil is used for fuel, and for the season of 1893 it required 50,000 barrels, or 2,100,000 gallons, to keep the plant running day and night—about 100 days. For the season of 1895 the consumption of oil was 25,000 gallons daily for 134 days. This oil is piped 14 miles from the wells to the factory.

The beets are unloaded by machinery into V-shaped bins. They are dropped through traps as required into sluice-ways filled with a rushing stream of water, which carries them into the factory at the foot of an Archimedean screw. Five million gallons of artesian water from numerous wells, which constitute a part of the water system of the Chino Ranch, daily flow into and through the factory to be used in the many processes of sugar extraction. As the beets reach the foot of the slowly revolving screw they are caught and elevated to the washing tank, where, after being tumbled about until they are clean, they are let out into a chute which slides them to a bucket elevator.

In the buckets they ascend to the top of the building, and there drop into an automatic registering scale, having a capacity of one ton weight. When that weight is reached the jaws of the scale open and the beets flow out into a divided bin and drop into two slicers on the floor below. Here, by a series of knives, they are cut into long, narrow strips, technically called "cossettes," and fall on a traveling belt which carries them along to the mouths of the diffusion battery (a series of sheet steel vertical cylinders). In the battery the beet juice is diffused from the cossettes. There are twenty-four of these cells, and a "circulation" from one to another, in each set, is in progress constantly; some cells are filled while others are emptied. From the diffusion battery the juice is pumped up to the measuring tanks on the floor above, from whence it passes to the first set of saturation tanks to be treated with milk-of-lime and carbonic acid gas to remove impurities. (In 1893 four thousand tons of lime rock were burned, and the lime used for purifying the beet juices.) Sent to the first filter press, the juice is forced by hydraulic pressure through a series of eighty screens and cloths, which retain the lime and allow the partially purified juice to pass to a receiving tank on the main floor, from which it is returned to the second set of saturation tanks, and again treated to a weaker solution of the milk-of-lime.

It is again forced through the series of filter presses and goes to the re-heater, thence into the quadruple effect evaporators, where it is gradually boiled down to thick syrup as it is drawn by vacuum, successively, from the first to the fourth evaporator. Pumped from the evaporator to the top of the building, the syrup receives a sulphur bath and descends to the vacuum pans on the second floor, where it becomes crystalized sugar. Out of the vacuum pans the heavy mass of sugar and molasses passes to the mixers (long troughs with revolving paddle-arms), where it is kept thoroughly stirred, and dropped into the centrifugals on the ground floor. These, revolving at a high rate of speed, throw out the molasses and leave the sugar free. A spray of water and compressed air is introduced into the centrifugals, which cleanses the sugar and removes all trace of molasses. The clean white sugar is dropped from the bottom of the pans into a trough having a feeder and is forced along to a bucket elevator. This takes it to the floor above, where it passes into one end of the slanting granulator, falling on a revolving, heated cylinder, which removes all moisture, and issues at the lower end ready for market.

Only eighteen hours elapse from the time the beet enters at one end of the factory as a beetroot until it makes its exit at the opposite end in the shape of refined sugar. If the product is to pass from the factory without being refined, the sulphur bath is omitted and the raw sugar, called "masse cuite," goes directly from the vacuum pan to the shipping room, which process is completed in the short space of twelve hours.

During the time the factory is in operation 350 men are employed constantly day and night. From the time the engines are started until the last pound of sugar is run through, there is not an instant's pause, unless for breakage.

The output of sugar at Chino for the years 1891, 1892, 1893 was :

1891	1,900,000	pounds
1893	15,063,357	"

For 1895 the output of granulated sugar was 22,000,000 pounds. For California the total product of the state, from factories at Chino, Alvarado and Watsonville, was :

1891	8,175,438	pounds
1893	35,100,357	"

The total output of the six beet sugar factories of the United States, located in California, Nebraska and Utah, was :

The beet sugar supply of the world for 1892-1893 was 3,402,000 tons as against 2,695,000 tons of cane sugar.

It is stated that from the year 1875 to 1890 German sugar exports increased from 56,120 to 744,000 tons. In Germany, Austria and France, the three great sugar-producing countries of the world, there are over 1,000 beet sugar factories. The United States has but six beet sugar factories and is obliged to import 90 per cent. of the sugar consumed, paying each year for the same over $100,000,000.

According to a French journal, the average production of beet sugar per factory is :

Austria	483	tons
Germany	453	"
France	314	"

The average yield of beets per acre in France for a number of years has been 9.6 tons.

In Germany the prices paid the farmers for beets vary from $3.20 to $3.80 per ton. At Chino, for the season of 1895, the price has averaged $4.25 per ton, and the average yield has been about twelve tons per acre. In many cases the yield runs as high as twenty to twenty-five tons per acre. Much of the land is raw, which lowers the average tonnage materially. The area devoted to sugar beets in France is estimated to be 1,300,000 acres, as against 600,000 acres ten years ago, and from 50,000 to 60,000 hands are employed.

At the time Napoleon was advocating and assisting in the establishment of sugar factories in France it is stated that "a caricature was exhibited in Paris in which the Emperor and the King of Rome were the most prominent characters. The Emperor was represented as sitting in the nursery with a cup of coffee before him, into which he was squeezing a beet root. Near him was seated the King of Rome, voraciously sucking a beet root, while the nurse, standing near and steadfastly observing, is made to say to the youthful monarch : 'Suck, dear, suck ; your father says it is sugar !' "

It would require at least 300 factories the size of the one at Chino to supply the home demand. These would represent a capital investment of $300,000,000 in buildings, machinery and other equipments, and would give employment to thousands of skilled mechanics, not taking into consideration the cost of operation each year. The amount, $350,000, paid for beets and labor at Chino in 1895, multiplied by 300, gives a sum of $105,000,000 (equal to the yearly wheat exports), which would be the amount paid to American laborers annually.

As the festive season is now over, and people will settle down to good, plain, wholesome diet, we would recommend them to try ...

SIMPLE TESTS FOR ADULTERATION

SOME knowledge of how to make preliminary examinations of the common articles of food offered for sale by grocers and others could frequently be put to practical use by them.

For instance, to be able to distinguish oleomargarine from butter. To be able to determine the amount of solids and acid in all kinds of vinegar. To be able to distinguish cider vinegar from colored distilled vinegar. To be able to detect the presence of salicylic acid in mince meat. To be able to determine whether peas contain artificial coloring matter. To be able to know whether mustard or cream of tartar is pure.

The examination of cider vinegar for the determination of the amount of solids and acid (frequently called grains) calls for special attention on the part of farmers and dealers.

Food inspectors seldom pass vinegar without appearing to examine it.

Thousands of dollars have been paid in fines, due to faulty vinegar, which could have been saved to them had they been provided with and used some of the simple instruments manufactured and sold for this express purpose.

Cream of tartar is almost universally largely adulterated. The pure article is made from the sediment of grape wine.

One way to test its purity is by holding a quantity of it in water eighty times its own bulk. If any sediment remains it is not pure.

Another method of testing cream of tartar or dry mustard for their most common adulterant is by placing several drops of tincture of iodine on a small quantity of the cream of tartar or mustard. If it changes color to a blue-black, better throw the stuff away, unless you are disposed to run the risk ot siding with the decision recently rendered in a Pennsylvania court, that mustard is not food. If mustard is not food, then may it not also be presumed that cream of tartar and cream ripener are not foods?

A prominent English judge in rendering his decision in a case stated that "the mere sale of an article, not in itself an article of food, even if it be sold in the knowledge of the vendor that it is the buyer's intention to mix with it the ingredients of an article of food, is no offence under Section 3."—A. F. Seebold in Grocery World.

Mr. Tom Swalwell, the well known commercial traveler, has issued a circular to merchants throughout the country, stating that he has, at the request of several of his old customers and friends, made arrangements to open accounts for them and fill orders for staple dry goods.

TRADE IN SMOKED BACKS.

In years past there seemed to be a general impression amongst country merchants that breakfast bacon was more desirable to handle than smoked backs, as orders for bacon much exceeded those for the backs. In Toronto's local trade this was not so noticeable, especially during later years.

This season there has been a general change, and orders for smoked backs are coming in much more freely than formerly. The cause of this change is hard to understand, unless it be that consumers are becoming more desirous of using the lean pork, the backs being much leaner than breakfast bacon.

Canadian Dealers too Often Deceived

It is of vast importance that every dealer should exercise the greatest caution when buying Paste Stove Polish.

The QUICKSHINE has attained such immense popularity that unscrupulous people have gone into stove polish business and are manufacturing polish that pays them tremendous profits. The materials employed in the composition of these imitation packages are so poor and cheap that the woman who buys them can never get the results she desires, and in this manner, to a certain extent, injures the sale of the good article.

When stove polish is required for domestic use ask your dealer or wholesale grocer for QUICKSHINE STOVE POLISH, and accept no substitute in the way of imitation package polishes, or polishes that are wo-thirds soap and one-third polishing material.

If your wholesale dealer does not sell QUICKSHINE, send direct to us for same, stating the wholesale dealer you wish us to send it through; or if you prefer it sent direct, we will forward same at once. Price per 3-doz. Case, $2.25.

REASSURING TRADE CONDITIONS.

THE trade outlook in Canada is much better than it was a year ago at this time. Then the tide of depression had not even reached the ebb. Now the trade of the country has a well defined good times flow. The railway earnings, the clearing house returns, the failure statistics, and the condition of trade generally put this beyond all dispute.

The net profits of the C.P.R. for the eleven months of last year ending with November were, as pointed out a week ago, 28 per cent. larger than for the same period of 1896. The net profits of the G. T. R., while not so large as those of the Pacific road were, nevertheless, considerably larger than those of the previous year.

The failures in Canada in 1897 numbered 1,907, a decrease of over 12 per cent. compared with 1896, when the number was 2,179. The assets were $5,191,647 against $6,724,535 in 1896 and the liabilities $13,147,929 against $16,208,460. Although the liabilities were nearly 19 per cent. less than the year before, yet it will be noted that the percentage of assets to liabilities was smaller than in 1896, the proportions being 39.1 and 41.2, respectively. Taken on the whole, however, the failure list is a much more satisfactory one than that which preceded it.

The clearing house returns in Canada, as given by Bradstreets, are $1,148,065,000 for the year. This is the largest on record. In 1896 the amount was $1,028,997,242, or $120,067,758 less. In other words, the clearing house returns increased by over 11½ per cent. during 1897. Then the bank note circulation, the loans and discounts, the deposits, etc., all show increases of more or less importance. Furthermore, there are the values of bank stocks and the transactions in the same to consider; and these are all strongly in favor of 1897 as compared with 1896.

The foreign trade of the Dominion is another criterion as to the favorable condition of business, our exports for the fiscal year ending June 30 last being valued at $123,959,838, the largest on record, and about 25½ per cent. in excess of the exports of 1890. Since the fiscal year of 1897 opened there has been a continued expansion of exports, the figures for the five months ending with November showing an increase of not less than $14,414,172 compared with the same period in 1896. The totals for the two respective periods are $74,896,807 and $60,739,277. The greatest increases are in animals and their products, agricultural products and minerals, although there was an expansion in every specified line.

The outlook for 1898 is the brightest in the history of the Dominion. There is no question about it. We have, first of all, the patent fact that trade is now active and healthy; add to this the influx of population to the mining and farming districts in the country and the general attention which Canada is occupying the world over, and one can come to no other conclusion than that the ensuing twelve months are most promising.

DO NOT WANT TO PAY THEIR DEBTS

A case of much interest is before the New Brunswick courts. Government officials were ordered by one of the judges to make monthly payment on certain debts. They are now contesting the matter, holding that inasmuch as the Legislature cannot order taxation on the salary it cannot order the payment of part or the whole of the salary. The result will be awaited with interest.

THE SALMON PACK OF 1897.

OFFICIAL figures recently given out show the salmon pack in British Columbia to be the largest on record.

The total pack was 1,007,838 cases. On the Fraser River alone the pack was 400,000 cases in excess of that of 1896. As the total pack of the province in 1896 was 601,570 cases, it follows that the increased pack of 1897 is due altogether to the enormous increase in the output on the Fraser.

The expansion of the salmon canning industry during the last half dozen years is enormous. In 1892 the pack was only 228,470 cases, or about 341 per cent. less than that of 1897.

The pack for the last six years is as follows: 1897, 1,007,838 cases; 1896, 601,570 cases; 1895, 566,395 cases; 1894, 494,371 cases; 1893, 590,229 cases; 1892, 228,470 cases.

Of the pack of 1896 no less than 525,098 cases, or over 87 per cent. of the total, went to Great Britain. Only 51,041 cases came to eastern Canada.

Last year was, according to chronological order, to be one of the "off years" for salmon; but, due no doubt to the hatcheries established by the Dominion Government, the natural order of things is being discounted by the artificial methods which science has called into requisition.

NOVA SCOTIA LOBSTER CATCH.

From all accounts it would appear that there is grave danger of the depletion of the Nova Scotian lobster industry. There seems to be a steady and rapid decrease in the number taken annually from the various beds, especially those on the Bay of Fundy coast.

This year's pack by one firm was 101 cases of 4 dozen cans as against 270 cases a year ago and nearly 1,000 cases ten years ago. There has been a rise from $5.50 to $8 per case in price during the last ten years, but this by no means makes up for the great decrease in the amount packed.

The causes for the decrease are largely the practice of taking undersized lobsters and illegally fishing in the close season. Some packers advocate as a remedy that a law be passed prohibiting lobster catching for two years.

BRITISH MERCHANTS AND TRADE WITH CANADA.

IN prospecting for business in a new field, manufacturers or merchants must accommodate themselves to the business conditions of such new field.

No two countries are altogether alike in matters commercial any more than they are in regard to national characteristics. Methods which obtain in England are foreign to Canada, and what may be the rule in Canada may be the exception in Argentine.

Never in the history of the Dominion was the desire to do business with Great Britain so strong as it is now. Canadians are practically consumed with the desire to give British goods the preference over those of any foreign country whenever they can possibly do so. But time and again they are impressed with the fact that a number of British manufacturers and merchants, who assay to come up and possess the Canadian market with their goods, are balked in their purpose by their own lack of appreciation of their duty in the premises.

No country in the world has got such capable and solid business men as Great Britain. For the ideal we look nowhere else. But while this is all true there are some of them who are so wedded to custom that it has become a positive injury to them as far as their efforts to secure Canadian trade is concerned.

They appoint representatives in this country, but they may almost as well, in some instances, select blocks of wood and stone, for they tie them about with conditions which make them little better than automatons, to say the best. The principals must do all the thinking, the planning and the engineering. And all the thinking, the planning and the engineering is apparently done on the presumption that the conditions in Canada are the same as those obtaining in Great Britain.

Those in the Motherland who desire to secure a market in Canada for their wares should first of all appoint as agents men who are capable, reliable and have the endorsation of the trade. And then give them some latitude for the exercise of their own judgment. If they are not worth being given this latitude they are not worth being appointed as agents. There are some agents now representing British houses which are merely cumberers of the ground. They toil not, neither do they spin. To give them latitude would be only adding to the foolishness of appointing them the foolishness of giving them greater opportunity of working injury instead of good.

In Canada there is ample room for British mannfacturers and merchants to extend their trade ; but they must go about it in the right way in order to secure the desideratum. The chief of Britain's competitors are wiser in their generation in this respect than she is, and that is why they are getting a great deal of the trade that Canadians would rather see going to her.

SELFISH CLERKS AND MERCHANTS.

A MAN who is all for himself is of little value to anyone else and is a poor asset to himself. This fact applies whether the man be merchant or clerk.

A man's value is not that which he sets upon himself; it is the estimate people place upon him.

If the clerk behind the counter has an eye single to his own glory ; if his first and only concern is himself and not his employers, not only is he dishonest, but he will never reach a permanent place high up in the ladder of success. There have been men who have elevated themselves by unscrupulously using others as their stepping stones, but these very stepping stones have subsequently been stumbling blocks which have hurled them from positions which they should never have occupied.

Selfishness is just as reprehensible in a merchant as it is in a clerk. He whose only concern is to get out of clerk and customer all he can is unwise as well a short-sighted. Shylocks seldom get their pound of flesh. Employes render full and ready service not to slave-driving and selfish employers, but to just and considerate ones. Nor do customers give preference to selfish merchants ; they leave their dollars with the considerate one and their cents with the disciples of Shylock.

Selfishness, like a bubble, may look promising, but he who trusts in it will be disappointed.

TO CONSIDER THE INSOLVENCY QUESTION.

A CONFERENCE of representatives from the different boards of trade in the country is to be held in Montreal next month for the purpose of devising ways and means of urging upon the Dominion Government the need of an insolvency law.

The idea is a good one. No matter how great a need there may be for a certain law, it will never be forthcoming until those who feel its need join their forces and contend for it.

The old insolvency law was repealed eighteen years ago, and since then the need of another one has gradually become more felt, until to-day the great majority of the business men of the country are warm supporters of such a measure. The old law, of course, they do not want resurrected. It is anathema.

There are several reasons why there should be an insolvency law. Probably the most paramount is the better safe-guarding of business, the present conditions being conducive to dishonest practices. Then there is the absence of uniformity, which needs to be remedied. That is by no means an unimportant matter. The cost of winding up estates is now glaringly excessive, and if an insolvency law can only reduce this cost to a moderate sum, and accomplish but little else, it will have done a great deal. Relief for capable and honest but unfortunate debtors is another thing that requires to be regulated by law.

It is to be hoped that every board of trade in Canada will be represented at the gathering in Montreal, and that not only ways and means of securing an insolvency law may be considered, but that advantage will be taken of such an occasion to rectify any little flaws there may be in the bill which it is proposed to bring before Parliament at its next session.

AMERICANS BUYING CORN.

There has been an active enquiry for canned corn in the Montreal market during the past week. This enquiry, it is worthy of note, has not been derived alone from the Canadian trade, as leading Montreal jobbers have made sales to parties from American cities, one firm turning over some round lots to Buffalo parties at 80c., net cash.

RECLAMATIONS ON CHEESE.

LAST summer reference was made in these columns to the substitution of an inferior cheese for a superior article. The Butter and Cheese Association of Montreal considered the matter at the time, but as the parties in question were not members of the association they concluded not to take any action in the matter, and it was allowed to drop.

Recently reclamations on shipments of Canadian cheese to Great Britain have revived the discussion. The Grocers' Journal, an English contemporary, in a recent issue, deals with the matter at some length. In the case of the goods in question, however, it was no case of substitution, as was amply demonstrated by the investigation held at Montreal. The goods were the output of the well-known Allan Grove combination, whose reputation is above reproach. The exporter in the case was A. W. Grant, who shipped 1,000 June cheese to a Glasgow firm, the Messrs. Davidson.

The latter firm on receipt of the cheese refused to accept them as finest, asking a reclamation of 3s. per cwt. Mr. Grant refused to accept this award, and a committee of arbitration, composed of Jno. McKergow, president of the Board of Trade; A. J. Brice, president of the Butter and Cheese Association, and A. C. Froemcke, was named to enquire into the matter. This committee asked the Messrs. Davidson to submit evidence, but the latter did not do so. It was learned also that several lots of the goods in question had been delivered to Messrs. Davidson's customers, and no complaint received as to quality. As a result of this the committee, which certainly had no interest to serve in the matter, decided that the cheese in question was of the quality sold.

This decision the Scotch firm declares to be unjust, so that it has become a question of honor between the conflicting parties to the controversy.

While THE CANADIAN GROCER believes that the gentlemen who arbitrated the case decided according to the facts at their disposal, the circumstance goes to show that exporters in Montreal cannot be too careful in shipping goods to Great Britain. The difficulty is that there is no mid court of appeal. How this court should be constituted it is not our province to state, but a trade that amounts to $17,000,000 annually certainly ought to have some easily workable machinery to deal with disputes of this nature, and avoid the ill feeling that they are bound to cause.

The suggestion that a sampling order should be attached to the shipping documents may be dismissed as impracticable, because it will never be acceptable to the exporters on this side the water. It is too one-sided in their opinion, and we believe that they are right.

The appointment of inspector is also open to argument. It will be far better to let the members of the trade themselves deal with the matter than adopt this method.

In any case, considering the magnitude of the business, disputes are surprisingly few, and surely there are some minds in the trade capable of devising some method of dealing with disputes when they do arise.

CURRANTS AGAIN ADVANCE.

Currants are still climbing up in price, cables received this week in Toronto announcing a further advance of from one to one shilling and sixpence per cwt.

Compared with the figures ruling a year ago, prices in the primary market are now something like 75 per cent. higher. Within the last month alone there has been an advance of about three shillings per cwt. in currants.

Filiatra currants imported at the prices now ruling in Patras could not be well sold by wholesalers at probably less than 6¾ to 7c. per pound.

Stocks of currants in Greece are greatly reduced, and as a strong demand is being experienced from the foreign markets, the indications are that they will be exhausted before the new crop comes in.

BISCUIT FIRM REORGANIZED.

The Queen Biscuit Co., St. John, N.B., has dissolved, Mr. Keefe and Mr. Clarke retiring. The business will be continued under the old style by Joseph S. Boss, who has secured as manager of the practical department a man who served his apprenticeship with Huntley & Palmer. The company is turning out an excellent range of biscuits, and no doubt increased business will result therefrom.

DISCOLORED CANNED LOBSTER.

SEVERAL weeks ago THE CANADIAN GROCER published a condensation of a report of Dr. MacPhail on the "causes leading to a deterioration in the quality of canned lobster." In this report Dr. MacPhail recommended discontinuous heating as a remedy for stains or smut.

In a recent issue of The Maritime Merchant this report comes in for extensive consideration from the pen of Mr. H. E. Barker, of Gabarouse, C.B., and, while the writer agrees with Dr. MacPhail as to the efficacy of discontinuous heating as a preventative of discoloration, he contends that the system is impracticable on account of the labor involved. He declares that eighteen daily boilings ranging ftom sixty to thirty minutes each are entailed, while employes would be compelled to work seven days per week. Mr. Barker suggests, however, that packers might experiment with the scheme on a small scale, but the whole tenor of his article is discouraging to the scheme.

One thing seems evident, discontinuous heating, as suggested by Dr. MacPhail, is the best which has yet been offered as a remedy for the evil in question. As Mr. Barker says, it may entail a great deal more labor than the system now in vogue, but there does not appear to be any question as to its being a better one. And the duty of the hour is not to discourage it, but to devise ways and means whereby it may be utilized. Mr. Barker says it tends to revolutionize the present method of canning lobsters. That is true, but all reforms are more or less of a revolutionary character.

MOLASSES STILL ACTIVE.

Last week THE CANADIAN GROCER pointed out the difficulty jobbers in Montreal had in procuring supplies of molasses in the Maritime Provinces.

It is now learned that all they could pick up was a few carloads, and that 25 to 26c. per gallon was paid for Barbadoes at St. John, N.B., which, of course, means an advance laid down in Montreal. For Porto Rico 28 to 31c. has been paid down there, showing that the situation is quite bullish.

In Montreal round lots of 400 puncheons Porto Rico sold at 30c., and for 100 puncheons 1896 Barbadoes 25c. was paid, while 28c. was bid for round lots 1897 crop, and refused, the holders wanting 30c.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

Ticketing Goods In Shelves.

Various are the means adopted to attract attention to the quality or the price of goods offered for sale. Advertising in the local papers is the means used to reach the people in their own home, windows are displayed to catch their eye as they pass down the street, and counter attractions are used to induce those who have come in to consider whether they do not need this or that article. Many other methods are tried, some good, some bad. One of the good ones which I saw this week was the system of shelving goods adopted by J. S. Roberts, Yonge street, Toronto. His shelves are divided into compartments about eighteen inches long and ten inches high. The goods worth 10c. were placed in compartments together, the 12½c. near this, and all grades of prices were in separate compartments. Above each compartment was a small, neat card with the price of the goods shown. Thus, a customer waiting to be served can tell at a glance the suitableness of the price of goods to her pocket, and is tempted to buy, whereas, if the prices were not close by the goods, little or no attention would be given them. This has been found especially true of canned goods.

Last Season's Over-stocks.

"The next two or three weeks," says a Toronto grocer, "will be a good time to get rid of all surplus stock, all goods which have accumulated during the past year that are not desirable to keep in stock a second season. I am going to get out all my old currants and raisins, clean them up somewhat and sell out for a price. I will then sort up my stock, pick out all goods which have passed through a season, and give a few 'snaps' to the bargain-hunters. Then, if I have still a surplus of time on my shoulders I will get every hole and corner of my shop thoroughly cleaned out, every article for sale bright and attractive as possible." Another retailer makes it a point to get every debt on his books paid up by the end of February, and in order to do so he begins immediately after New Year's to send out his bills to those who have been indebted to him for some months. Both of these men seemed to be impressed with the idea that it is of great advantage to start with clean books and a clean shop in the beginning of March.

Pessimists.

I wonder what it is in a man that causes him to look at things from the worst light possible? In my peregrinations I continually meet with men who have very little to say about trade except that it is not as good as it once was, that it is now broken up and the bulk of it going to a few merchants down town. His store may be a commodious one, his stock may be varied and attractively arranged, but a few minutes' conversation with him gives a customer the impression that something is lacking, that this will not be a good place to deal, or people would not leave him for down town. Near by is another merchant in the same line, with a stock no better than his rival, yet he is confident of his ability to hold trade, and his hopefulness, his cheerfulness, does hold it.

THE RAMBLER.

WANT THE HEINZ FACTORY.

At a recent meeting of the Windsor (Ont.), Board of Trade the possibility of persuading the H. J. Heinz Co., of Pittsburg, to establish the Canadian branch of their canning factory in Windsor was discussed. It was decided to communicate with the Heinz Co., stating the advantages of Windsor, on account of the abundance of fruit, vegetables, etc., in its vicinity.

POOR QUALITY MALAGA RAISINS.

Editor GROCER,—The time seems to have come for a determined kick on the part of the grocery trade, at the disgraceful and continued depreciation of the Malaga layer raisins sent to this market.

The programme seems to be to multiply adjectives and other frills, at the expense of quality. I am convinced that a combined protest on the part of the trade would ensure an improvement in these goods, which will more than compensate for any trouble any of the trade may take in the matter. The writer ventures to hope that every grocer will join in this protest, so that next season may see these goods attain their old time quality.

Yours, etc.,

R. DONALD.

RECORD YEAR FOR OWEN SOUND.

The Owen Sound Times publishes statistics to the effect that 1897 has been a record year for that town as a port. In 1897 there were 113,411 tons of merchandise received, as compared with 74,482 tons the previous year, 60,073 tons forwarded as compared with 30,127 tons in 1896. The aggregate salary of porters, coal-handlers, etc., has doubled, thus improving business in every respect. There were 2,442,013 bushels of grain received, as compared with 1 498,000 bushels in 1896. The Times is confident that 1898 will show a corresponding increase in the port returns.

TRADE CHAT.

LAST Friday, Saturday and Monday experienced the busiest days in tobacco shipping yet chronicled in these parts. Lewis Wigle shipped 20 carloads in the three days to Quebec via M.C.R., amounting in value to $6,000. This is a heavy business, and has been a profitable one to both farmers and business men. There is yet 10 carloads of tobacco to be shipped within a few days, making a total of 40 cars for the season.—Leamington Post.

A PIONEER GROCER DEAD.

David Oppenheimer, ex-Mayor of Vancouver, died on December 31, dropsy and heart failure being the cause. Deceased was the first Mayor of Vancouver, and held office for three consecutive terms, and was senior partner in the firm of Oppenheimer Bros., wholesale grocers. He was one of the pioneers of British Columbia, and owned large interests in Vancouver.

HE WAS NO FOOL.

A green-looking man came to town the other day with a small bucket of very white butter to sell and called on Will Matthis to buy it. He said he didn't want any at the store, but he would inquire if his wife wanted any. So he stepped to the telephone, called her up, and talked for a few seconds through the instrument. Then, turning to the countryman, who was standing with his hands in his pockets, his eyes dilated and his face very red, he told him that his wife said that she would not need any butter. The indignant countryman blurted out:

"Look here, mister, if you don't want any butter why din't you say so? I ain't such a fool as to think that you've got your wife in that little box!"—Elizabethtown News.

SENTIMENT VS. BUSINESS.

AN ENGLISH OPINION OF THE FRANCO-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Jan. 7, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THIS is usually a dull week in the wholesale grocery trade, but, contrary to custom, business this week can scarcely be characterized as dull. Of course the volume of trade is not large, but it is, nevertheless, larger than is usual at this time of the year. This is taken by the wholesalers as a good indication of the trade for the coming year. The most interesting feature in trade is still probably canned vegetables, and most houses are now asking $1.10 to $1.15 for tomatoes, although a firm here and there has not gone beyond the dollar mark. The sugar market remains steady, and while business as a rule is lighter, yet some carload lots have been moving and the output is probably rather better than is usual at this time of the year. In foreign dried fruits the most interesting feature is a further advance of from 1s. to 1s. 6d. in currants in the primary markets. The tea trade has during the last few days shown signs of a re-awakening, and some nice parcels have been sold by local wholesalers. January is, of course, what is termed one of the tea months of the year. Coffees are still meeting with a fair demand at steady prices. Apricots and California prunes are firm in the primary market. A cable announces an advance in the price of Tarragona almonds. Molasses and syrup are both quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

The most interesting feature in connection with canned goods is still tomatoes, and most of the houses are now quoting $1.10 as their bottom price. At the same time, however, we know of at least one house which has not advanced its figures beyond $1. The range in quotations is all the way from $1 to $1.15 per dozen. The market for tomatoes is unquestionably strong, and we hear of a packer on the Niagara Peninsula being offered $1.05 f.o.b. at factory for a round lot of tomatoes. Whether the offer was accepted or not we cannot say. The demand from the retailers for canned vegetables is fair, it being realized, evidently, that present prices are not likely to go lower. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, $1 to $1.15; corn, 70 to 85c.; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90c. to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 60 to 95c.; peaches, $2 to $2.60 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.40 to $1 70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c.; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand; cohoes, 95c. to $1; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.70 for tall tins; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

COFFEE.

Wholesalers report continued good demand for coffees of all descriptions, but more particularly in Rio kinds. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c.; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

The demand is only light, neither retailers nor wholesalers being buyers. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

In this line, as in syrups, there is very little doing. We quote: New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c.; ditto. half-bbls., 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-bbls., 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Nothing particularly new has developed in sugar during the past week. Naturally, the volume of business at this time of the year is light, and then it must be remembered there was some anticipation of wants a few weeks ago, just before prices advanced. At the same time, however, business in sugar for this time of the year is good, and during the past few days several carload lots have changed hands. The outside markets are quiet, but on the whole steady. We quote wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days: Granulated (Redpath, St. Lawrence, Acadia), 4⅝c.; ditto, Dutch, in bags, 4⅜c.; ditto, German of Canadian make, in bbls., 4¼c.; ditto, imported, in bags, 4¼c.; yellows, 3⅞c. upwards.

NUTS.

A cable received in Toronto this week states that Tarragona almonds are fully 1½c. per pound above the price of the fall importations. Stocks here in this line are low. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 12½ to 14c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 23 to 25c.; Tarragona almonds, 9 to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 9½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

This line is showing little or nothing that is interesting, business being quiet. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½ to 4½c.

SPICES.

The spice trade is enjoying its usual quietude, and prices remain much as before. We quote as follows: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 14c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 15c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 12c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 24 to 26c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 20 to 22c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 20 to 22c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 16c.; cassia, 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon

TEA.

January usually witnesses the opening up of the tea trade, and wholesalers this week report that the demand is beginning to improve already for all descriptions of teas. The volume of business, however, is still light, although some houses report sales for nice lots. Representative shipping firms report that wholesalers are also making a little more enquiry, although, of course, until they get through stock-taking they will make few, if any, purchases. The teas which are attracting the chief attention are still those on spot, although some business has been done on London account. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indias and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Cables were received in Toronto this week noting an advance of 1s. to 1s. 6d. per cwt. in the price of currants in the primary market, and some business has been done at the higher figures. The demand from retailers has, of course, fallen off, but there is still a fair business doing on this account. We quote: Provincials, 5¾ to 6c.; Filiatras, 6¼c. in bbls; 6⅜c. in half-bbls and 6¼c. in cases. Patras, 6¾c. in bbls.; 6¾c. in half-bbls. and 6⅞c. in cases. Vostizzas, 7½ to 8½c. in cases.

VALENCIA RAISINS—There is just a fair demand, with prices steady. We quote: New goods—Off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 6 to 6½c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.

MALAGA RAISINS—The market is quiet, but the quantity on spot is limited, as already noticed in previous issues. We quote as follows: London layers, $1.50 to

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Jan. 6, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market exhibits no special change this week. The firm disposition of values is as strongly in evidence as ever, and it is confidently predicted that once the consumptive demand really makes itself felt an advance is inevitable in molasses, canned tomatoes, corn and apples, while sugar also is very likely to go still higher than it is at present if current indications are at all reliable. On the whole, the general grocery situation as regards values is very firm.

SUGAR.

The firm feeling of the sugar market is fully maintained, and, as a result of the advance at the refineries last week, jobbers here are asking 1-16c. per lb. more for granulated this week. Yellows are quoted the same. It is worthy of remark, however, despite the remarkably strong tendency of the market, that retailers do not appear to be at all anxious about supplies, and are only taking what they actually want. We quote: Standard granulated, 4 7-16c.; Canadian German granulated, 4¼c.; Dutch. do, 4¼c.; German granulated, 4¼c., and domestic yellows, 3⅝ to 4c.

SYRUPS.

There is only a moderate business doing, but stocks are very light and prices firmly held at 2 to 2½c., as to grade, for Canadian.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market continues excited and feverish, and jobbers here have been trying to pick up supplies in the St. John, N.B., market without much success. The only fact that tends to check advance at the moment is the comparatively small consumptive demand. Once this begins to make itself felt higher prices are looked for. In a large way transactions comprise 400 puncheons Porto Rico, the terms being kept private. A lot of 100 puncheons old 1896 Barbadoes sold at 25c., and 28c. was bid for 1897 crop and refused by the holder, who wants a good deal more money. We quote the jobbing range: Puncheons, 28c.; barrels, 30½c., and half-barrels 31½c.; car lots 1c. less.

RICE.

There is a quiet trade doing in rice. We quote: Imported Japan, 4⅞ to 5½c.; standard B rice $3.40 to $3.50; ditto, grade S, $3.30 to $3.40; Patna, $4.75 to $5; choice Burmah, $4; and ditto Java, $4.25.

SPICES.

The general tendency of values outside is firm, but there is no quotable change here. Business is of a quiet character. We quote: Black pepper, 12c.; pure white, 20c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar (French), 25 to 27c.; do. best, 30c.; allspice, 14c.; and nutmegs, 50 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There is little change in the coffee market except that business has transpired in Maracaibo at rather better prices, and we quote 13 to 15c. as the range this week for it. Santos have sold at 11 to 11½c. and Rio at 10c.

TEAS.

The tea market, were it not for further business in Japans from first to second hands at firm prices, viz., 13 to 16c, the market would be devoid of feature. Otherwise business is quiet, and we quote: Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest; China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

The firm feeling in canned tomatoes has been fully maintained, and the same is to remark regarding corn and peas also, some extensive transactions being noted this week in corn, on which an advance to $1 as the inside price for jobbing business is freely predicted. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; corn, 90c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1.15; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb.do., $1 to $1.10; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25; "Clover Leaf," $1.25; Lowe Inlet, $1.20, in tall tins; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25 to $4.50.

DRIED FRUIT.

California raisins move along quietly on a steady basis: 2-crown, 6¼ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 7¼ to 7¾c.; and 4-crown, 8¾ to 9c.

Loose Spanish muscatels are steady at 6 to 7c. Cables on Sultanas are higher, but there is no change locally, except that some lower grade fruit is offering down to 8½c., and we quote 8½ to 9c., as to grade.

The strong feeling in currants is fully maintained, recent cables tending, if anything, to accentuate it. This is particularly the case in regard to Provincials, which would cost at the very least laid down 5½c. in half cases, and there are no barrels or cases offering. We quote: Fine Vostizzas, half-cases, 6½c.; Patras, half-cases, 6¼c.; choice Filiatra, do., 6c.; fine do., half-cases, 5⅞c.; Filiatra, half-cases, 5¾c.; do. half-bbls., 5½c.; do., bbls., 5⅜c. fine Provincials, half-cases, 5⅝c.

There has been a good enquiry for dates at 5½ to 6c.

NUTS.

A fair trade is doing in nuts and prices are firm, especially on Grenoble walnuts which are not plentiful. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 17 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 8½c., and pecans, 10c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The orange market rules rather easier, and the same can be said of lemons. We quote as follows: Lemons, $2.50 to $3; Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6; California, $3.50 to $4; Valencia, $4 to $4.50; Almeria grapes, $5 to $6.50; Cape Cod cranberries firmer, at $7.50 to $8.50, and Nova Scotia, $7.50 to $8.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

POULTRY—The poultry market was quiet, the demand being of a very limited character, which was fully expected after the holiday trade. The receipts were small, and although sales were slow prices show no change. Turkeys sold at 9 to 9½c.; chickens, 6 to 7c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c., and geese, 5 to 7c. per lb.

EGGS—The tone of the egg market is firm and demand for small lots is good. We quote: New laid, 22c.; choice candled, 18 to 19c.; Montreal limed, 14 to 15c., and western limed, 12½ to 13c. per dozen.

BEANS—Business in beans was quiet and prices are unchanged at 80 to 90c. for primes, and at 95c. to $1 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

GAME—The market for partridge was steady, with a fair demand at 70 to 75c. for firsts and at 40 to 45c. for seconds, per brace.

HONEY—There was no change in honey, business being quiet. We quote as follows: White clover, 12½c.; dark clover comb, 10 to 10½c., and dark 7 to 8c.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was quiet, the demand being principally for small lots to fill actual wants, and prices rule steady. We quote: Canadian pork, $15 to $16 per barrel; pure Canadian lard in pails, at 7 to 7½c., and compound refined at 5 to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 11 to 13c.; bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

There was no change in the position of the dressed hog market. The receipts continue small, for which there is an ample demand, and prices are maintained at $6.50 to $6.75 for light-weights and at $6.25 for heavy per 100 lbs., in a jobbing way.

SALT.

Steady as follows: Coarse Liverpool, in 165-lbs. bags, 38 to 45c., and Trepani, $1.10 per bag of 215 lbs.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

There was no important change in the situation of the flour market. The tone was steady in face of the sharp decline in prices for wheat at American wheat centres. The demand from local buyers was fair for small lots, and a larger volume of business was transacted than was expected. We quote: Winter wheat, patents, $4.75 to $5; straight rollers, $4.40 to $4.45; bags, $2.15 to $2.20; best Manitoba strong bakers', $4.60 to $5; second do., $4.50 to $4.60, and low grades, $2.70; Hungarian patents, $5.40.

Business in meal continues quiet and the market is without any new feature of note, prices being steady. We quote: Rolled oats, $3.45 per barrel, and $1.67½ per bag; standard meal, $3.25 per barrel, and $1.57½ per bag.

There was an improved demand for Ontario bran, and as the offerings of such were small a firmer feeling prevailed and prices have an upward tendency. We quote: Ontario bran, $10.50 to $11, and shorts, $11.50 to $12 per ton, bulk; Manitoba bran, bags included, $11.50, and shorts, $13.50 per ton.

GRAIN.

The stronger feeling in the local grain market for oats has continued and under a good demand from local buyers to-day prices scored another advance of ¼ to ½c. per bushel with sales of car lots at 27½ to 28c. In regard to wheat late mail advices from some of the principal points in Ontario state that although sleighing throughout the country is first-class, the receipts of wheat are decreasing considerably, and an impression prevails that stocks now in farmers' hands are small. We quote as follows: Ontario red winter wheat, 95c.; white, 94c.; peas, 51 to 51½c.; oats, 27½ to 28c.; rye, 51½ to 52c.; buckwheat, 35½ to 36c., and feed barley, 33 to 35c.; malting barley, 45 to 50c. in store.

BALED HAY.

The demand for hay continues fair and the market is moderate and steady. We quote: No. 1 at $10.50 and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market exhibited no radical change to-day, trading being quiet and prices nominal in the absence of transactions. Holders are firm in their views, however, around 8¾c.

The butter market reflects no change of importance. There is a moderate jobbing demand for selections of creamery around 19 to 19¼c., but shippers are doing very little.

MONTREAL NOTES.

There is a much firmer feeling in corn this week, with prospects of an immediate advance.

Further business from first to second hands in round lots of medium Japan teas is noted.

The only Provincial currants offering on this market are in half-cases, and they are held ½c. dearer than they were.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 3, 1897.

The old year is gone with its disappointments and successes. On the whole, St. John merchants have found it a good year, better than for a number past, and all are looking hopefully into the year that has just opened. Merchants have found the past week quiet. Many are taking stock. The strong position of canned goods is the feature of interest, and is of real interest here, as dealers are fairly well supplied. In nearly all lines prices are tending upward, and even a more general advance is looked for.

OIL—In burning oil the market is firm, the advance foreshadowed in last week's report in Canadian oil having taken place. There is no large business at present. Lubricating oils are quiet; values will rule about as last season. In cod oil the active season is over. The business this year has been light. High prices have ruled. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18 to 19c.; Canadian water white, 16½ to 17½c.; Canadian prime, 14 to 15c.; cod oil, 22 to 24c.

SALT—Imports of Liverpool coarse salt continue large. There is a full stock now held here. Demand is light, and will be for some time. Buyers have a great advantage where the salt is so regularly arriving as they can buy low in quantities shipped from the ship's side. Fine factory filled has at present a limited sale. Prices are low and stocks large. In Canadian business is good. We quote: Coarse, 44 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90 to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; rock salt, $5 to $6 per ton.

CANNED GOODS—Dealers are not sellers. They would hardly be open to consider offers on round lots, except at full figures, to regular customers. While they have advanced prices of vegetables, they sell below what they would accept for larger quantities. In canned fruits, apples are the firm line. There is, however, no large demand. Other fruits, except pineapple, are low. In fish, canned salmon, though not yet advanced, is firmer. Some who bought at low prices are looking for good profits. Lobsters still scarce. Haddies are easy. We quote: Corn, 70 to 75c.; peas, 85c. to $1; tomatoes, $1 to $1.10; gallon apples, $2.20 to $2.25; corned beef, Canadian, $2.35 to $2.40; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.60; 1-lb. tins, $1.35 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.60; 2's, $1.50 to $1.65; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.50; fruits in glass, $4 to $4.25; salmon, $1.15 to $1.20; ditto, flats, $1.25 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, $1.00 to $1.10; clams, $4.50 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.50 to $2.75 for 2 doz,; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT — Valencia oranges, of which the market was bare after the Christmas sale, are now plenty. Prices are low and quality good. Some Dominica oranges are still here. One car was lately shipped to Montreal. There is but light local demand. California and Florida oranges have but limited sale. In lemons sale is slow. In fact all fruit is quiet, apples included. For best stock, which is hard to get, full figures asked. In cranberries, season is getting late for natives. They will not keep as do the Cape Cod, which are high. Malaga grapes are held firm; sale is slow. A few pineapples are here, but sale is limited. We quote as follows: Lemons, $3 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $4 to $4.50 per box; do., California, $2.25 to $4; do., Florida, $4.75 to $5; do., Dominica, $3.25 per bbl.; apples, $2 to $4; bananas, $2 to $2.25; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7; native bog cranberries, $4 to $5.50 per bbl.; Cape Cod cranberries, $9 to $10 per bbl.; shaddock, $3 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3 per bbl.; sour limes, $1.75 per box; sweet limes, $2.50 per box.

DRIED FRUIT—Business is quiet. Fair general stocks are held. Better prices are expected. Currants are but light stock. Sales for Christmas were large, particularly in cleaned, and in this line those who bought early had good profit. In evaporated apples high prices have much decreased the sales. Prunes sell well and are low. A few evaporated apricots are selling, but there seems little or no demand for peaches. Onions are firmer, but as yet show little change in price. Trade for peel is over. We quote: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M., 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; London layers, $1.40 to $1.50; Imp. cabinets, $1.75 to $1.80; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.30; Dehesa layers, $2.50 to $2.75; currants, cases, 5¾ to 6c.; bbls., 5¼ to 5½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¾ to 8c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½ to 7c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 10c.; dates, 5 to 5½c.; dried apples, 4 to 5c.; evaporated apples, 9 to 10c.; onions, $2.10 to $2.25 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 8 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 9 to 10c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7½ to 7¾c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 11 to 12c.; new Valencias, layers, 6½ to 6¾c.; citron peel, 18c.; lemon peel, 12c.; orange peel, 13c.

SUGAR—Market has during the past week shown a further advance and is very firm. Local dealers are inclined to sell below refiners' prices, but the stock is not large, and prices are likely to advance at any time. The Montreal refiners have advanced rather quicker than the refineries in these provinces. Sale here at present is light. We quote: Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3¾c.; Paris lump, 5½ to 5¾c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—In this, as well as sugar, the movement is upward. The advance in this market as yet is light, but it will be the sharper when it comes. There is but light stock held here and other centres report the same. Owing to the low price at which Barbadoes has been sold it will feel the advance first. We quote: Barbadoes, 23 to 25c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 30c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter is slow. Stocks are quite large. Quality is chiefly poor. Cheese is dull and price is easy; only fair sale. Eggs are light stock; prices tending easier. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 18 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 18 to 19c.

FISH—Prices keep high. Frozen fish should be active at this season, but at present the weather is too mild. There is a fair supply of cod Pollock are scarce, and there are as yet almost no herring. In dry fish trade is light, but prices are firmly held owing to small stock. Pickled herring have, and will have, small sales for the present, but they are scarce, and full prices are asked. Smoked show no change, but keep low. Bloaters and kippered herring are out of the market, owing to fresh herring being scarce. Haddies have good demand. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.40; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.75 to $1.80; Grand Manan herring, $1.85 to $1.90 per half-bbl.; smoked, 6½ to 7c. per box; shad, $4.50 to $5 per half-bbl.; Shelburne herring, $3.75 to $3.80 per bbl.; Canso, $5 to $5.25; boneless fish, 2½ to 4c.; cod, 6 to 6½c.

PROVISIONS—Pork is dull in this market and prices quoted are low, lower than stock could be replaced at, though outside markets are easy. In beef a fair business is doing. Prices are tending higher. Local market is still low. Lard is easy. Smoked meats hold their prices. We quote as follows: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15.50; mess, $13.50 to $14; plate beef, $13.50 to $14.50; hams, 12 to 13c.; rolls, 9½ to 10c.; pure lard, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 6¾c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — While flour shows little, if any, change here, the general feeling seems to favor higher prices early in the new year. At present there is but light business. Oatmeal and oats hold at even prices. Cornmeal is the most active line in the list. Feed is held at even prices, but limited quantities are offered. Hay is dull and prices tend lower. Beans have fair sale. Prices show no change. We quote: Manitoba $5.70 to $5.75; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.75 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.75; cornmeal, $1.90 to $2; middlings, $16 to $16.50; bran, $14.50 to $15.00; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; barley, $3.10 to $3.15; round peas, $1.25; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; yellow eye beans, $1.75.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

C. & E. Macmichael have presented their customers with a handsome calendar.

A new steamship line is reported for the summer to run between New York, Boston and Yarmouth.

Smelt fishing at the north shore this season is light so far. It is a large business there. The mild weather is against it.

Westmoreland hay shippers and dealers are having competition in their own market owing to the low price of Quebec hay. This has caused quite a fall in price.

It is expected the paper for the new tar paper industry in Halifax, spoken of in last week's GROCER, will be made at the St. Croix paper mills, Hartville, Nova Scotia.

Holders of potatoes in Maine are much disappointed, for the later the season gets the lower gets the price. This was not expected, as it was thought market would be short.

Cold storage, which has been a topic of interest for so long, is again having attention, and seems about to result in something more than talk. The New Brunswick Cold Storage Co. have been granted a lease of city property.

Mr. T. J. Dillon, of Charlottetown, has gone to England, where he will look into the requirements of that market for cheese, butter, etc. Mr. Dillon has made large shipments during the past summer and fall, and it is his intention to go more largely into this business.

A Blenheim, Ont., merchant, in attempting to thaw the frost off one of his large plate glass windows by using a lighted lamp placed near the glass had the misfortune to crack one of them right across.

CANNED GOODS IN THE STATES.

In its review of the canned goods situation, The American Grocer says: "December is generally noted for extreme dullness, but this year demand has been comparatively good throughout the month; many brokers report the most active December they ever had. The market is very firm for corn and tomatoes and at advancing prices. There are any number of prophets predicting $1.25 for No. 3 tomatoes early in the spring, and their hopes have abundant support. A light carry-over into 1897; active and enlarged demand from August to the present; a pack fully 2,000,000 less than the output in 1894, and about the average for the past three years, have so changed the relations of supply to demand that prices have advanced from 57 to 70c. in August to 90c. to $1 in December. Corn is fully 5c. higher, with fancy Maine corn scarce, and this is an unusual occurrence for December. Gallon apples at $2.25 seem to have disappeared."

GOOD CATCHES OF COD.

The Ketch Harbor, Herring Cove and Duncan's Cove fishing fleets made very good catches during the past two or three days, bringing in all over 50,000 lbs. of cod and haddock, which they sold principally to Fader & Co., whose wharf yesterday morning presented the appearance of T wharf in Boston, the work on the fish making a sight rarely introduced of late in Halifax. The fishermen would get about 1⅛c. a lb. for the fish—which includes head, tail, etc. There were quite a number of boats—eight or nine—up to-day with the catch, and their crews probably number 70 to 80 men. The most of the money will be spent in the city to-day and to-morrow on Christmas supplies.

The schooner Fancy, Capt. Gallagher, of Ketch Harbor, arrived yesterday with 10,000 weight of codfish on board.—Chronicle, Halifax.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 3, 1898.

ONE of the most difficult things on earth is to be sure that the news you are forwarding is absolutely correct. When forwarding the information that pigs were plentiful and packing houses running full time, I thought the news came from a thoroughly reliable source. Now it turns out that this was only a momentary spurt, and, as a matter of fact, the packing houses have barely sufficient to keep them running half time. Mr. J. Y. Griffin, the head of Winnipeg's largest packing house, left Saturday for Chicago and New York. While away he will complete the purchase of the machinery for the ammonia refrigerating plant which is to be installed in their large new packing house. This will be the first ammonia plant in Winnipeg. Business is, of course, very quiet with the close of the holiday trade, nor is there likely to be any marked revival for a couple of months at least. The hotel registers show the usual influx of commercial men looking up spring orders, and many of these men report large bookings for the spring trade.

Wheat market is still sleeping profoundly, with no indications of an awakening. One wheat man told me that the Grain Exchange was going to curl for the balance of the winter, which is one way of putting it.

The Government dairy school opens for its third season this morning and there will be some news of interest about it by next week. The annual meeting of the Manitoba Dairy Association will be held in Winnipeg on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 15th and 16th of February, followed by the meeting of the pure bred stock and sheep and swine men.

There is little to report as to prices. Sugar has advanced in accordance with the advance east.

SUGAR — Granulated, 5⅛c.; yellows, 4⅜c.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—California evaporated are a little easier, as is usual at this season, though there is no change in price. Apricots, 11c.; nectarines (yellows), 10c. (red), 11c.; pears, 11c.; plums, 10c.; prunes, 3½ to 4½c., according to size; raspberries, 22c.; apples, 11½c.

CANNED GOODS—There has been no advance in price since last week, but owing to the advance in the east all lines of canned vegetables are looked upon as especially good stock, and an early and sharp advance is anticipated. Tomatoes, $2.35 per case; corn, $1.60; peas, $1.75; pumpkin, $2.

GREEN FRUIT —Holiday trade is practically over, and no more heated cars will go out over the main line until the 15th or 20th of January. The change in tariff will not affect present stocks, but will make a decided change as soon as the spring trade opens, and is very generally looked upon by all branches of trade with favor as it practically amounts to a reduction of 33⅓ per cent. of freight. This is a difference of 31c. between here and St. Paul, as the old rate on fruit was 93c., while the new is 62c. Prices are unchanged. Apples, Canadian, $4.50 to $4.75, according to quality; southern, $4 to $4.50; Mexican oranges, $4 to $4.50; California navels, $4 to $5; California lemons, $4.50 to $5. Pears are out of the market for this season. Bananas are running from $3 to $3.50 per bunch; cranberries, (none but frozen stock) $6.50 to $7.50 per barrel. New dates are in, but they arrived very late and price not fixed, in fact, some stocks are being refused. Figs, 10-lb. boxes, $1.25; choice to fancy in 30 to 50-lb. boxes, 16 to 18c.

FISH—Finnan haddies, sales very light, price 7c.; bloaters, $1.20 per box; oysters, in bulk, standard, $1.80; selects, $2.

CURED MEATS—Market is still firm, with no indication of a drop. Sugar-cured smoked hams, 12c.; do. bellies, 12c.; do. backs, 10½c.; do. shoulders, 8½c.; do. spiced rolls, 8½c.; American smoked hams, 11½c.; Dry salt, long clear bacon, 8c.; do. short clear, American, 7½c.; square cut shoulder, 8c.; boneless, 8c.; backs, 9c.; lard, pure, 20-lb. pails, $1.60; 50-lb., $4; 3-lb. tins, per case, $5.50; 5-lb., per case, $5.50; 10-lb. per case, $5.50; in tierces, per lb., 7½c.

BUTTER—No change in situation and no increase in supply. We quote fresh dairy, round lots, Winnipeg, 15½ to 16c.

CHEESE—Late cheese, 10½c., but market almost motionless.

EGGS—Dealers are paying 18 to 18½c. for strictly fresh eggs, Winnipeg, and are selling at 20c. Retail the price is 25c., while for new laid eggs (each egg guaranteed) the retail price is 40c. per dozen, and the supply is a long way below the demand.

A SUFFICIENT REASON.

In business, as in games of skill, the indispensable thing is not merely to be smart, but to be smarter than one's competitor.

According to The Golden Penny, a tourist was stopping at a small country hotel, and seeing the hostler expert and tractable, enquired how long he had lived there and what countryman he was.

"I'se Yorkshire," said the fellow, "and ha' lived sixteen years here."

"I wonder," replied the gentleman, "that in so long a period so clever a fellow as you seem to be have not come to be master of the hotel yourself."

"Ay," answered the hostler, "but maister's Yorkshire, too."

A GROCER FOR ALDERMAN.

Mr. John Scanlan, president of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association, is going to run as alderman for St. Lawrence Ward. Mr. Scanlan is one of tne most prominent retail grocers in the commercial metropolis. He has been in business for a number of years and has been most successful. He has always been noted for his straightforwardness and good business abilities.

Mr. Scanlan, in conversation with a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER, said he was in the field not temporarily, but to stay. He also stated that if his constituency saw fit to elect him as one of its city fathers he would do all that was in his power for its interest.

It would be better for every city if there were more business men looking after its affairs, as the legal men (who, in a great many cases, represent their ward) think that they should be paid for their advice when they are supposed to look after its interests, so that in many cases they make more out of the city than they do out of clients.

It will be to the interest of every business man of St. Lawrence ward to vote for Mr. Scanlan.

LUMBER SHIPMENT, 1897.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 4.—Eighteen hundred and ninety-seven was a record-breaking year in New Brunswick deal trade with trans-Atlantic ports. St. John shipped 244,169,459 superficial feet of deals, against 169,530,659 in the preceding year. Miramichi gained about 40,000,000, and Moncton 42,000,000. The total shipments from the province were 531,628,162 superficial feet, against only 367,438,149 in 1896. The exports in 1894 to trans-Atlantic ports were but 322,170,039 feet.

ORCHARDS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

The extension of orchard land in Great Britain, which has been in continuous progress during recent years, has been further emphasized in 1897, the total area now amounting to 224,116 acres, or 15,166 acres more than in 1892, when the aggregate area was 208,950 acres. The three western counties of Devon, Somerset and Hereford alone—pre-eminently our cider counties—contain 78,217 acres of orchards, representing 35 per cent., or more than one-third of the orchard area of Great Britain.—London Times.

C. Locke & Co., general merchants, of Lockport, have assigned, with liabilities of $40,000.

D. J. Lynch, general storekeeper, of Hagersville, is reported endeavoring to compromise at 50c. on the dollar.

SMALL DELIVERIES OF PEANUTS.

THE Gwaltney, Bunkley Peanut Co., of Smithfield, Va., have just issued a circular, dated January 1, on the position of the peanut market. They say: "The receipts of Virginia peanuts at the principal distributing points this season (with one exception) are very much below the same yeriod a year ago. Norfolk is behind about 40 per cent., Petersburg, 50 per cent., and the various towns and stations in Virginia where they are cleaned and shipped to the trade will aggregate but little more than half of January 1, 1897, although prices have ruled but a fraction less. This state of affairs puzzles dealers, because most small farmers and tenants are compelled to sell each year during November and December, and they are asking why the usual quantity has not come to market if they were produced.

"Current information from the country suggests a moderate quantity of ordinary quality nuts, but supplies suitable for fancy hand-picked goods are scarce, the quality of the nuts harvested since the October storm has not shown as much improvement as was expected, a great many of them are stained from being in the ground too long, and the average quality of the crop is rather poor. The demand for fancy hand-picked goods the past thirty days has been light, and prices declined to 3¼c., which is as low as they can be sold at any profit; any quotations below this are regarded as spasmodic and more of an effort to bear the market to buy stock than to secure business. We think present prices are as low as the general market may be expected to go, and if the trade buys as many peanuts this season as last, prices of Virginia nuts must go very much beyond last year. There has been an active trade in Spanish shelled; dealers have bought liberally for immediate wants, and some large contracts have been made for future delivery; most of these contracts are at 2¾ to 2⅞c. for number ones, and at these prices a good many more could be sold, but the market for farmers' stock has hardened under liberal buying and lighter receipts, and we do not think many can be bought now under 3c. Millers who have future contracts are trying to buy to cover without advancing the market, and show some anxiety since the turn to higher values."

SPECULATIVE TOMATO BUYING.

There are reported to be speculative enquiries for large blocks of canned tomatoes, and jobbers are also reported to be in the market to cover actual wants, but there appear to be no large sellers here, at Baltimore or any of the packing centres. Most holders of Marylands are now asking 92½c. f.o.b. county.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

TALKED GERMAN TO THE GROCER.

"I was standing in a store near Allentown when a farm wagon drove up, containing an old gentleman and a young negress of probably 20 or 22." says a writer in Grocery World. "The old gentleman stayed in the wagon while she hopped into the store. The grocer stopped talking to me and turned to her, and my jaw fairly fell as she struck right out from the shoulder: 'Wie viel fur eier?' ('How much for eggs?') The grocer promptly replied. I thought it was a joke, but she let drive again: 'Wie viel fur krumbeeren?' ('How much for potatoes?') The grocer replied: 'Ein thaler.' She went out and presently the old gentleman backed up the team and they done their trading. I made some inquiry about this remarkable young woman, and found that she had been adopted by a German family who conversed in German entirely, and she was as genuine a Dutchman as you could find in a day's travel. In fact, her English was very much broken."

THE NORTHWEST TRAVELERS' CONCERT AND BALL.

THE majority of people in Winnipeg annual social events usually partake of the nature of a dinner, where, at the fag end, someone proposes and someone else responds to a toast to "the Ladies." But the commercial travelers are not among these. Perhaps many and prolonged absences from home have taught them the value of their womankind. At all events, any entertainment given by the "Knights of the Grip" is sure to include their mothers, wives and sweethearts, until the Northwest Travelers' annual entertainment is looked forward to as one of the pleasantest social events of the winter holiday season and almost a big family party. The date falls between Christmas and the New Year, and on this occasion it was Tuesday, the 28th of December.

All big social events come off in the dining room of the Manitoba Hotel, which makes as fine a concert and ballroom as can be found in Canada. On this occasion the decorations were evergreens, flags of all nations, and bunting prettily arranged, and all the lights of the big bronze electroliers were covered with shades of delicately-tinted crepe paper.

The first part of the evening was devoted to a concert of choice music by some of Winnipeg's leading artists. Then, while the chairs were being removed, the guests, some 300 in number, promenaded the spacious drawing rooms and corridors. At 11 o'clock the orchestra struck up the first Lancers and in a moment the floor was crowded with dancers.

From the vantage ground of the orchestra balcony, at the west end of the room, the scene was a pretty one. The majority of the ladies wore light colored gowns, pink and cream preponderating. The soft lights, the floating draperies as the dancers moved in time to the perfect music, made it seem like a glimpse of fairyland.

The dance programme had been carefully selected, and included many old favorites, familiar to all. The supper, laid in the small banquet room and spacious corridors, was so well arranged that there was no tiresome waiting, while the tables, being laid for four, six or eight, gave an opportunity for parties to gather together and indulge in social chat. The table decorations were white hyacinths, red roses and ferns. The supper was the best of its kind. It was, in fact, one of the features of the night, and though one pretty girl in blue was heard to exclaim, "they should not serve supper at balls; it takes so much time from dancing," it is doubtful if she had many sympathizers.

The whole entertainment, from first notes of the overture on the concert programme to the last soft strains of the final two-step, was an unqualified success and adds new laurels to those won by the association as good hosts; and all present felt the orchestra should have played, "For they're all jolly good fellows."

Quite a few came in from outside points to attend. From Brandon—Miss Bertrand, Dr. Devine, and Messrs. R. A. Hunt, Peter Mitchell and C. B. Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. Merrick; Virden, Mr. Matt. Lawrie,—Morris and others.

The committee, to whose energies and ability much of the success is due, was: Messrs. F. J. Cox (chairman), Wm. Hargreaves, C. R. Steele, Frank Agnew, C. H. Jefferys, Jim Lindsay, Fred Drewry, A. L. Bryan, C. Holden, E. L. Thomas, M. W. Rublee, Ald. H. Wilson, Jas. Mundie and John M. O'Loughlin. Mr. E. L. Thomas and J. Lamb acted as floor managers.

Mayor McCreary was present and opened the ball with Miss Robertson, daughter of I. P. Robertson, provincial librarian.

As there were 125 ladies present, it is impossible to describe all their gowns, and readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER will have to be content with the knowledge that there were pretty gowns as well as pretty women in abundance.

Thursday night Mr. John M. O'Loughlin, the retiring secretary, gave a quiet little dinner to the newly elected and retiring officers, at which many good stories were told and many quaint experiences related.

MONTREAL WHOLESALERS.

The following were elected officers:

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

WARREN BROS. & CO. have been appointed sole agents for Toronto for Atkinson's "Colonial" cocoa and "Premium" chocolate; also for "Rozella" toilet soap.

Inducements are being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol to buyers of their "Circle" tea.

Lazenby's Tarragon and Chili vinegar, reputed pints, can be procured from H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Japan teas are firm and higher, but Lucas, Steele and Bristol are still offering old figures.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, quote close prices on off-stalk, fine off-stalk and select Valencias.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are advertising a green Rio coffee at 7c. They will forward a sample on application.

Evaporated apricots, choice fruit, 50-lb. boxes, are moving out well with the Davidson & Hay, Limited.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have excellent value in 5-lb. boxes of Locoum pulled figs, and 4 and 5 star finest Eleme figs.

Perkins, Ince & Co. have close at hand a shipment of choice Smyrna figs in bags; also California evaporated fruit.

"Bargain" molasses in barrels and halves is being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol at very close figures.

Rutherford & Marshall are getting a liberal supply of dried apples, yet they report they are able to secure buyers.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are selling "Magnolia" brand condensed milk to retail at 15c., and "Eagle" brand to retail at 25c. a tin.

Warren Bros. & Co. have a shipment of California prunes arriving. They have also received another shipment of Van Camp's goods.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report that enquiries and orders for smoked backs are much more numerous than in former seasons.

"Maple Leaf" brand of lard is much in evidence this year. The makers find difficulty in supplying customers, the demand is so great.

W. H. Gillard & Co. advise the trade that they have still left a few of their counter display cases, which were so much in demand last year. Having made very favorable terms with the manufacturers, they are enabled to offer these at $1 while they last. This is worth considering.

An additional shipment of 105 cases Bensdorp's "Royal Dutch" cocoa has been received by the Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are quoting special prices on fresh-water herrings in 5-keg lots and upwards, shipped from Midland, Ont.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, offer best packs canned pumpkin, "Refugee," "Crystal" and "Golden Wax" beans at close figures.

Knowles, Ham & Nott Co., Limited, of Brantford, are making a new line of grocer's refrigerators, made on the most improved American principles.

In Ceylons and Indians Lucas, Steele & Bristol have great values at 17 to 18c. The "Bungle Ting," for a high-priced tea, is said to be a beauty.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, have still a small supply of figs, Eleme and natural, in bags and boxes, which they are clearing at specially reduced prices.

Thos. Upton & Co., Hamilton, have a new package for their marmalade in the way of a 7 and 5-lb. can, neatly wrapped and labeled. It is expected to be a good seller.

A prominent Maritime Province merchant writes that while he has done well on sales of "Salada" Ceylon tea this year, he hopes to do twice as well next year, as the tea pleases everybody.

Another shipment of Rae's finest sublime olive oil, in bottles and cans, has been received by the agents, Frank Magor & Co., 16 St. John street, Montreal. Rae's oil is gaining friends wherever it is introduced.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, call the attention of the trade to their crushed Java and Mocha coffee (xtr) as being a steady and popular seller wherever introduced, at prices showing a good profit to the retailer.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, call the attention of the trade to their offerings in Darjeeling teas. They have on hand at present some particularly good values in these fine liquoring teas. Buyers should not miss them.

Full stocks of Labrador and shore herrings, barrels and halves, codfish in quintals, half-quintals and cases, pure cod, boneless fish and scaled herrings in boxes are in store at close prices with the Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

True to their policy—to apply to the retail price all saving in cost of manufacturing, due to increased facilities and output—the O. & W. Thum Co. announce a reduction in the price of their Tanglefoot of 5c. per box and 40c. per case. For 1898 Tanglefoot will be sold at 40c. a box, $3.40 a case. The Tanglefoot people hope that the reduction will be a welcome one to the retailer, and that it, like all previous reductions, will result in increased use.

Frank Magor & Co., 16 St. John street, Montreal, advise a substantial increase in sales of all Keen's goods throughout 1897. Spring orders are already being booked several weeks in advance of other years. They ascribe this to the general improvement in business all over Canada, also to the additional advertising done by them. Hundreds of Keen's new show cards have been sent in answer to the trade notes in THE CANADIAN GROCER, and there are still some left.

MAY NEED SUPPLIES.

Mr. J. D. Anderson, jr., 214 St. James street, Montreal, is preparing to start for the Klondyke early in the spring.

The Klondyke Mining & Transportation Corporation, Victoria, B.C., is instituting an expedition to the Klondyke. It will be in charge of the Hon. Edgar Dewdney, and will be accompanied by Mr. Caldwell Ashworth, of London, a director of the corporation.

Mr. Frank Mobby and Mr. D. G. Stewart, of Lacomb Links, Alberta, intend going to the Klondyke in the spring.—Edmonton Bulletin.

GROCERY TRADE ITEMS.

Mr. Fred Templin, Fergus, has opened out a fancy grocery and crockery store in the premises recently fitted up specially for him in the Marshall Block, in that town. Mr. Templin, as a clerk, was well known and popular in Fergus.

When Mr. Peter Robinson succeeded to the grocery business of George Glass, Port Hope, he appointed as manager Mr. W. D. Stephens, who was a clerk of the former proprietor for nine years. How wise the selection was is evident from the fact that the business has steadily increased from the time Mr. Stephens assumed the management.

P. C. Larkin & Co. have acquired part of the premises next door to their own building, their present premises having become rather cramped for their increasing business.

COFFEE GROWING IN AFRICA.

COFFEE growing in British Central Africa is believed to be on a prosperous basis. According to the Imperial Institute Journal it is estimated that this year's crop will yield about 450 tons, and as new plantations are being opened up every year, while areas planted in previous years are coming into bearing, there is every prospect of the supply of coffee from Central Africa assuming very large proportions. Mr. S. Israel, who first arrived in the country in June, 1894, has been induced to give a balance sheet of his coffee plantation to the end of last July. He puts the capital cost of his 500 acres of land at £175, though in 1894 he was able to buy the land for less than the 7s. per acre which it would now cost a purchaser. His total expenditure for the three years amounted to £2,621, 17s. 6d., and the receipts for the one year during which the 60 acres planted with coffee had borne a crop were £1,460. A valuation of the estate showed that it was worth £4,500, though Mr. Israel says he would not accept an offer of that sum for it. For the next year he estimates that his returns will be £2,100, as against an expenditure of £540; and for 1899, when there will be 180 acres in bearing, a revenue of £3,000 is anticipated, against an outlay of £540, while the capital value of the estate will also have considerably increased. Very few new planters have come into the country during the past year, the deaths—both in the same year—of the two Buchanan brothers, whose names were so widely known, having given a worse impression as to the unhealthiness of the climate of British Central Africa than it actually deserves.

Ten new plantations have nevertheless been opened up, and men with capital might do worse than try their fortunes in this fertile but little known country. At the Gold Coast, too, considerable attention is being paid to coffee and cacao growing. During the last two years the Government has introduced machinery for pulping and curing coffee, and consignments of both coffee and cacao have been forwarded through the Crown agents for sale in the London market. This plan afforded the best means for testing the commercial value of the produce, and the result has shown that coffee and cacao can be grown in West Africa capable of realising good prices in European markets. Much, however, still remains to be done to induce the natives to cultivate and cure their produce in a satisfactory manner.

A great deal of consideration, again, is being given to the subject in Queensland, where numbers of people in the north are embarking upon planting operations, and Mr. P. M'Lean, under secretary for agriculture, is of opinion that coffee is going to boom there. From an acre of plants at the Kamerunga Nursery the Department sold over £30 worth of coffee—besides distributing quite as much for seed—the price realised for the coffee being 8½d. per lb., f.o.b. at Cairns.

AN INTERESTING CASE.

The Hudson's Bay Company recently brought suit against A. & D. Denis, et al., of the Outremont Milling Company, to recover $2,451.50, balance due on goods sold to defendants. The plaintiff alleged that Alfred Denis was a partner sharing the profits, therefore the obligations of the firm. The defendant claimed that he was not a partner, and had contracted no obligation towards the plaintiff. It was proven that Alfred Denis had himself made the purchases which formed the basis of the demand, thus rendering him liable. The other defendant, D. Denis, made no defence. The court rendered a verdict in favor of the Hudson's Bay Company for the full amount.

WOULD IT SUCCEED?

The Bowmanville Statesman proposes that the farmers in the vicinity of Bowmanville should form an organization for the establishment of pork-packing works, of a canning factory, of creameries, etc., and for the buying up of existing cheese factories. The proposal is that each farmer should take a $100 share in a company to be organized with $300,000 capital, and that all natural products shall be prepared for market and exported directly, instead of being sold to the wholesale jobbers in the large cities.

TURNER, McKEAND & CO. FAILURE.

The failure of Turner, McKeand & Co., wholesale grocers, of Winnipeg, is likely to cause some heavy losses to manufacturers in Ontario and Quebec as well as in Winnipeg. The total liabilities are about $130,000, and it is expected that not more than 15 or 20c. on the dollar will be realized by the creditors. The Bank of Ottawa will be the heaviest loser, their assets, directly and indirectly, amounting ts $88,700. The preferred claims amount to about $4,500, and the Hon. James Turner and Alexander Turner are owed sums to the extent of $8,700. The total claims of the trade are $19,100. Among the principal creditors are: George E. Tuckett & Sons, Hamilton, $2,793; Tees & Persse, Winnipeg, $2,119; St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, Montreal, $1,988; E. B. Eddy Co., Hull, $1,369; Thompson, Codville & Co., Winnipeg, $1,260; Paulin & Co., Winnipeg, $997; McMeekin & Co., London, Eng., $760.

A BUSY TOBACCO FIRM.

B. Houde & Co., Quebec, have been distributing 25,000 railway ticket purses among smokers of their tobacco, each bearing an advertisement of their well-known cut brands, the demand for which has grown to such an extent that necessitated a recent large increase in their working staff and an addition to their present factory of a two and a half storey building of 50 feet frontage. They informed THE CANADIAN GROCER that the demand for Canadian leaf goods was never so large, and this compelled them to run their works sixteen hours per day since August 1. Their well-known brands of package tobacco, viz., "Morning Dew," "Champaign" and "Count Dufferin," are known and appreciated from one end of Canada to the other, and can be procured from any jobber.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

Jan. 6, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday. The prices are solicited for publication, and are for such qualities and quantities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

Quotations for proprietory articles, brands, etc., are supplied by the manufacturers or agents, who alone are responsible for their accuracy. The editors do not supervise them. If a change is made, either an advance or decline, it is referred to in the market reports as a matter of news, whether manufacturers request it or not.

Why Imperial Cheese Scored 100 Points Perfection

Absolute cleanliness tells the whole story. You cannot make perfect cheese like "Imperial" if one particle of dirt enters into its composition. Through all the many processes of manufacture, the floors, tables, walls, pans, implements, even to sterilizing the porcelain pots, we have three strict rules in the manufacture of Imperial :

1st, Cleanliness. 2nd, Cleanliness. 3rd, Cleanliness.

Little wonder then that Imperial scored 100 points.

ABOUT CANNED MEATS.

It is the ambition of the high-class grocer to carry goods just a little bit better than those of his competitors. He well knows that by so doing he builds up a reputation and a trade that cannot be wrested from him as long as he keeps the best goods. We are looking for the trade of the fancy grocers of Canada. We have no startling bargains to offer, as far as prices are concerned, but we have the finest and most attractive line of Canned Meats ever put up. Our prices are right, it is true, but we don't make any special merit of that. We have to make right prices or go out of business. But the quality of our goods—that's the consideration.

TWO OF THE KLONDYKE ROUTES.

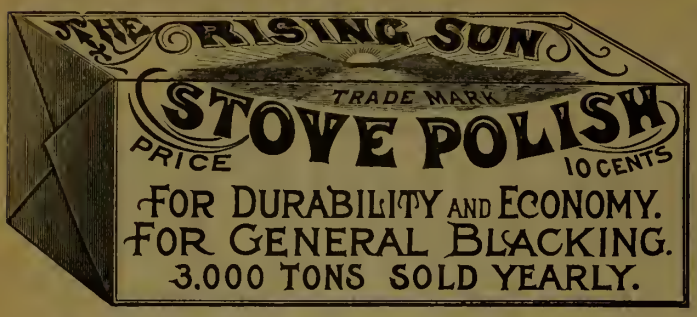
THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY'S LAND AND WATER LINE—
A ROAD NORTH FROM KAMLOOPS.

THE route favored by the Canadian Pacific Railway takes the traveler over their own line right out to Vancouver and Victoria on the Pacific coast, and then by their own steamers up to the Alaska coast. The route is via the Stickeen River and Teslin Lake. There is a line of steamships between Victoria and Wrangel, mouth of the Stickeen River, where connection is made with steamers which transport passengers and freight to Telegraph Creek. The journey from Victoria to Telegraph Creek can be made comfortably in six days. There is good land travel between Telegraph Creek and Teslin Lake, 120 miles. The country is open and undulating, and excellent grass abounds for pack animals the entire distance. The Dominion and British Columbia Governments are surveying with a view to locating a line of railway which it is expected will be under construction this year. A steamer is being built on Teslin Lake and will be ready for the opening of lake navigation next May to carry passengers and freight to the Klondyke. The Stickeen-Teslin Lake route via the Hootalinqua River, on which rich diggings have been struck, avoids the dangers and hardships which are experienced on the mountain passes and the White Horse and other rapids, on the routes via Lynn Canal.

The railway authorities also contend that the Stickeen-Teslin Lake route has another very great advantage, as the prospector upon leaving the steamer at Telegraph Creek finds himself in the heart of a gold country practically unexplored. Many miners intend to prospect in the gold districts of Cassiar and Omenica in preference to the Klondyke because they are in British Columbia where there are no royalties collected or reservations made. From Omenica two miners recently arrived with $48,000 in gold dust. One official of the line has said: "We consider that the most feasible route into the famous gold region is via the Stickeen River. We have a number of large steamships being specially fitted up in the Old Country for this traffic, each steamer being about 3,000 tons burden. These vessels will be the finest on the Pacific Coast, and every comfort of the traveler will be well looked after. The steamers will run to Wrangel, at the mouth of the Stickeen River, from there a line of river boats will run to Glenora, 10 miles from Telegraph Creek, up to which point the stream is navigable. It is the intention to run a narrow gauge railway from Glenora to Teslin Lake, but as it takes several months to build a railway 130 miles in length, this part of the route will not be ready till later on in the summer. But we understand the Dominion and British Columbia Governments in the meantime are constructing a trail or wagon road to Teslin Lake, which will facilitate travel. On Teslin Lake two or three boats will be placed on the service; but travelers to Dawson City can build their own bateaux and float easily down the Hotalinqua River to the centre of the Yukon gold discoveries."

THE HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY.

This ancient corporation has also a direct interest in the movement to the great Canadian gold fields, since its business is done along projected lines of travel. One of the officials said: "If a party went by Calgary and Edmonton, or by Vancouver and Fort Wrangel, Skagway or Chilkoot, the Hudson's Bay Company's long experience in the supplying and packing of inland outfits made it an easy matter to the company to deal with the question.



"The expected rush to Dawson in the spring, via the Fort Wrangel, Stickeen and Teslin Lake route, would probably lead to the establishment of new Hudson's Bay posts at Glenora and Lake Teslin; already the company had a steamer plying on the Stickeen River, which had been utilized in carrying up supplies to the posts in this part of the country, and more steamers of the most approved and suitable kind will be built by the company to meet the demands of the service. It was altogether likely that the company will extend their posts into the heart of the new mining region.

"This done, in connection with the establishment of the Glenora and Lake Teslin posts, would give the company a 'belt line' of establishments around the new gold region."

A ROUTE NORTH FROM KAMLOOPS.

Kamloops, the flourishing town on the Canadian Pacific Railway, is promoting a land route north to the Cassiar region. Part of this is easily convertible into a wagon road, that is from Little Fort to Bridge Creek on the Cariboo road. An engineer who has surveyed this portion of the route says in an official report: "Commencing at Little Fort on the west side of the North Thompson River, distant 55 miles north of Kamloops, the route of the proposed wagon road will run in a northerly direction along the bench 2½ miles to the crossing of Nikalliston Creek, where a 25-foot culvert will be required. At this point the ascent commences and winds up the mountain side on uniform grades of one in ten and one in twelve feet until the summit is reached in 4½ miles. This is the only grade of any consequence on the entire route. The soil on this slope is of a mixed sandy, gravelly clay loam, with some scattered fir, spruce and birch. From the summit the route follows in a northwesterly direction over a high plateau, burnt over some years ago, but now in some places covered with a young growth of pine, and for a distance of eleven miles is broken and undulating with considerable loose rock, and on account of the rough character of the country a considerable amount of grading will be required. At the 18 mile point the route strikes on to an extensive and more or less open country covered with a luxuriant growth of different varieties of wild grasses and pea vine, the former attaining the height of six feet, and borders along a stretch of lakes, creeks and meadows to the forty-two mile point, where the bunch grass slopes and benches are entered upon, and continue for a distance of fifteen miles to Bridge Creek, or where the trail joins the present Cariboo wagon road. On this long stretch of grass-covered country the clearing will be light, consisting of small bull vines and cottonwood. The roadbed will be on a solid foundation, and no grade at any point need exceed one foot to the rod. A Mr. McKinley owns a ranch near Horse Lake, distant seven miles from Bridge Creek, to which he has built a wagon road, which could be utilised or the through route. One culvert requires to be built on this portion over Horse Creek and the approaches graded down. Some 25,000 acres of grazing land (besides the natural hay meadows) are in sight along the route, and a vast extent of similar country I am told exists to the east of the route in the neighborhood of Cassiar Lake.

"About $4,000 will be required to construct the wagon road from the Indian reservation to the crossing at Little Fort. I consider the route quite feasible and practicable, opening up a good stock, hay and grain country, as well as affording a direct connection to the overland route to the far north. I estimate the proposed wagon road to cost $23,200, extending from Little Fort to Bridge Creek in 57 miles, chopped out to a width of half a chain and graded 10 feet wide on the benches and 12 feet wide on the steep slopes. Twelve days were occupied in the round trip from Kamloops to Bridge Creek."

ONE GREAT ADVANTAGE OF ANY CANADIAN ROUTE.

What tells strongly in favor of people going by way of Canada is that all supplies for the Klondyke and British Columbia gold fields are dutiable if purchased out of Canada, or in the United States. All supplies for the miner, prospector and trader can be purchased in Canada at lower prices than elsewhere, besides which the duty, 35 per cent., on most goods is saved.

WANT CANNED GOODS DATED.

At the last meeting of the St. John, N.B., Board of Trade the report of the special committee on the advisability of securing legislation to compel packers and canners of teas, vegetables, canned goods, etc., to print the weight on each package or can, was read by the secretary. The report recommended that steps be taken to have such legislation enacted.

Mr. Hatheway, the chairman of the committee, said this seemed to be something on which Moncton, Halifax, Fredericton, etc., were of one mind. His attention had first been called to short weight package goods by a customer in the matter of lard, and he had since then made some startling discoveries. Salmon was about the only article that came up to the full weight. Whatever the excuse for such light weight goods may have been in the past, now that Canadian packers control their own market, nothing but standard weight should be tolerated. He moved that the report be accepted and that copies thereof be sent to St. John's two parliamentary representatives.

T. H. Hall seconded the resolution.

J. A. Likely moved in amendment that one date as well be plainly printed on each package or tin.

Capt. Keast seconded this amendment as a step towards protecting the man who wanted to sell a good, fresh article, from the unfair competition of retailers who bought old goods from the wholesalers.

Mr, Hatheway feared this might increase the opposition of the canners to the proposal of the committee. Personally he favored it.

S. Schofield thought it likely that if both things were asked for the effect might be to at least secure the first named request.

Mayor Robertson endorsed all that Mr. Hatheway and Capt. Keast had said, and thought packers would be strongly in favor of the date being stamped on their products, as it would protect them against the competition of the old article. The date on the package would also protect the consumer to a great degree.

Mr. Hatheway accepted Mr. Likely's amendment, which was then incorporated in the resolution.

The resolution, as amended, was carried.

A BRIGHT BLONDE GROCER.

A Denver girl, Miss Bessie Collins, who is described as "a pretty blonde of 19 summers," has started a grocery and is said to be meeting with exceptional success. Of course she is. What pretty blonde of 19 summers could keep out of success's way for any length of time in a town where gallantry runs riot as it does in Denver? We shan't be surprised to hear soon that a party of broncho-busting gallants from the boundless plains has ridden into Denver in a high state of exhilaration and compelled every male grocer within a radius of two miles of Bessie's establishment to suspend business, so as to give the little heroine a clear field. Grocers' associations everywhere will do well to note the disastrous consequences of competition from such sources and to take proper steps to discourage all pretty blondes of 19 summers or thereabouts from entering the grocery field.—Chicago Grocer.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

Good Business Pointers.

This week, in conversation with Swan Bros., King street east, Toronto, I asked what they did to keep business active during the dull months of January and February, and was informed that this firm finds its business as good after Christmas as before. The bulk of the business is family trade, and this as active now as before Christmas. Compared with last year, this month has opened out remarkably well. Another feature of the business, they stated, is that payments are much more satisfactory than formerly. This is owing largely to the good times which now prevail, but another factor is seen working by close students of of trade. The collapse of the Toronto boom left many people poor, and many others in such a condition that much of their earnings have been spent in paying mortgages, taxes, etc., while it created a general stringency which made people slow in paying up their bills for current expenses. Time has had its effect. Mortgages have been raised, those holding burdensome property have in many instances sold it, and those left poor at the collapse of the boom have been, to use Mr. Swan's own words, "swept by the current of time and their places taken by others, who are now receiving good wages and have no burdens of the past to bear." This has an undoubted effect on business generally, as, payments being better, money will naturally move more freely, and, as a large proportion of city people are in the mercantile business themselves, the freer movement of money will enable each of them to pay more promptly and regularly. Messrs. Swan Bros, make it a point to keep a close and thorough watch over the market to be prepared for a rise in prices. By thus keeping a sharp watch on the market, opportunities for making a good profit are continually presenting themselves. In these days of close prices every rise and fall in the market means a great deal.

January Sale.

R. Donald, King street east, Toronto, has this week a "January Sale" on, an idea which commends itself immediately as a good move at this season of the year. In each of the windows is displayed an invitation to the passer-by to "Come in and see the January bargains." Inside a large table was loaded with baking powder, pickles, etc., each article labelled showing the present price and the reduction made. Many Christmas goods, candies, etc., were conspicuously marked at a reduced price. This idea should be found to work well in country towns, especially where it is desired to get rid of a lot of stock left over from the Christmas trade.

THE RAMBLER.

ADVERTISING ST. JOHN, N.B.

The annual meeting of the St. John, N.B., Tourist Association was held last week, with President Skinner in the chair and representative business men present. The Executive Committee's report showed that since the organization of the association much interest had been aroused throughout New Brunswick in the work of advertising St. John as a resort for tourists. Ten thousand copies of the association's guide book and about 20,000 folders have been distributed over Canada and the United States. Many folders had been distributed in Great Britain through the Canadian High Commissioner. One thousand copies of the special edition of Gripsack had been distributed. Articles, illustrated and otherwise, had appeared in many papers and periodicals in Canada and the United States. A large number of large framed photographs of St. John have been distributed and many others promised. The C.P.R. had promised to have large photographs of St. John framed and hundreds distributed. The treasurer's report showed receipts amounting to $1,191 and disbursements, $1,072, leaving a balance on hand of $118.

Eight carloads of dressed hogs were shipped from Chatham to Montreal one day last week. J. B. Stringer & Co. shipped three, J. L. Scott three, and O'Keeffe & Drew two.

THE EXPORT SALE OF CHEESE.

LAST week reference was made in these columns to reclamations on cheese. The Montreal exporters' side of the case and the difficulties under which they labor in this connection were brought out clearly at the annual meeting of the Butter and Cheese Association held this week in Montreal. President Brice drew attention to them in his annual report, and all being live topics, they led to warm discussion.

One subject of considerable dissatisfaction in the current and previous seasons is the C.I.F. sale of cheese, in other words the sale of goods landed in Great Britain, with a clause attached making them subject to arbitration on the other side.

Many in the trade consider this a very unsatisfactory method of doing business, because they think it unfair that they should have to submit in the case of disputed shipments to an arbitration in which they have practically no voice. But as the practice is in vogue, they have to do as their neighbors do, or else loose business.

Those who desire the reform have no desire or intention of imputing any unfairness to the people who arbitrate on the other side, but they believe that in the event of protracted arbitration proceedings in England, with perishable articles like butter and cheese, the exporter on this side is placed at a disadvantage in the event of the goods being thrown back on his hands.

Another practice in which reform is desired is long dating of drafts of exchange. The customary period is 60 days, which is a relic of the days of sailing vessels. Nowadays 15 days is the longest period between date of shipment from this side and the receipt of the goods in Great Britain.

The importer across the water, therefore, is practically given 45 days in which to speculate in the goods before he is called upon to pay for them. It is contended that this, on occasion, acts as a temptation to the receiver to ask for arbitration, if the market declines in the meantime. Indeed, it is claimed that 60 days is not by any means the longest draft, but that they frequently run to 90 days.

A prompter method. of settlement, if it could be generally observed, would obviate a lot of the disputes that arise under the present method.

The short selling of cheese ahead has also, of recent years, grown enormously. In fact, it is openly asserted that over 50 per cent. of the past season's business was done on this basis, and those who have the best interests of the trade at heart think that it is time something was done to check it. In the discussion which took place on his point at the meeting, the point was made that it would be more honorable to deal openly in futures in butter and cheese, like grain, than to follow the practice sub rosa as at present.

The discrimination by the railway companies against Montreal in the freights they allowed on cheese from points west of Toronto was another matter that led to some plain talk. Operators west of Toronto were given through rates that meant a decided disadvantage to the exporters in Montreal. Individual shippers stated that not making shipments on a through rate from the west meant last summer to them a loss of all the way from $5,000 to $6,000. The through rate was altogether disproportionate to the rate to Montreal.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co.'s country orders for butter have been very numerous and large during the past week.

The demand for "Maple Leaf" brand of lard is ever increasing. Many dealers say they could not do without it, as their customers must have it.

CANADIAN BREAKFAST FOODS.

P. McIntosh & Son, Toronto, have just shipped a car of their breakfast foods to London, England, and shipments have recently been made to Jamaica. Enquiries have been received from many foreign countries, including Cape of Good Hope and South Africa.

"Do you consider Canadian breakfast foods will eventually have a good share of the markets of the world?" I asked.

"There is not the slightest doubt of it, they are already beginning to get their share," said a member of the firm.

A KLONDYKE ORDER.

MR. DAVID BELL, grocer, 700 Yonge street, Toronto, has been busy during the past week filling a Klondyke outfit order, which he got by tender, in competition with several wholesale and retail houses in the "Queen City."

The order includes 70 lbs. of evaporated onions in 5-lb. tins, equal to 840 lbs. in the natural state; 525 lbs. of evaporated potatoes, equal to 100 bushels of potatoes; one ½ gal. jar of condensed vinegar which will make 12 gallons pure grape vinegar; 6 doz. cans of Pure Gold jelly powder; 700 lbs. sugar, 700 lbs. beans, 200 lbs. rice and 100 lbs. barley in 50-lb. strong, linen bags; 1,050 lbs. bacon and 350 lbs. of dried beef; 500 lbs. evaporated fruits; 3 boxes of soap, 1 case matches, 100 lbs. of wax candles; 110 lbs. of evaporated soup vegetables; 2,800 lbs. flour, put up in strong duck by M. McLaughlin & Co.; 100 lbs. of coffee and tea; 350 lbs. of rolled oats; 100 lbs. of biscuits, especially prepared for the Klondyke trade; 100 lbs. of cream soda biscuits; 60 lbs. of Bell's baking powder; 7 caddies tobacco; 8 doz. tins of condensed milk; baking soda, yeast, evaporated flavoring extracts, etc.

The party are also taking 175 lbs. honey, which they will depend on in case they do not get butter at their starting point. The outfit weighs over four tons, and will cost between $900 and $1,000.

The party consists of Toronto men. They intend to go by the Edmonton route, and are taking a car of their own to carry their goods to Edmonton. They are taking 15 sleighs, each of which can also be used as a boat, and expect to buy such other provisions as they want, such as butter, etc., in Edmonton, and start north in a few weeks. Their car leaves Toronto this week.

Canadian Dealers too Often Deceived

It is of vast importance that every dealer should exercise the greatest caution when buying Paste Stove Polish.

The QUICKSHINE has attained such immense popularity that unscrupulous people have gone into stove polish business and are manufacturing polish that pays them tremendous profits. The materials employed in the composition of these imitation packages are so poor and cheap that the woman who buys them can never get the results she desires, and in this manner, to a certain extent, injures the sale of the good article.

When stove polish is required for domestic use ask your dealer or wholesale grocer for QUICKSHINE STOVE POLISH, and accept no substitute in the way of imitation package polishes, or polishes that are wo-thirds soap and one-third polishing material.

If your wholesale dealer does not sell QUICKSHINE, send direct to us for same, stating the wholesale dealer you wish us to send it through; or if you prefer it sent direct, we will forward same at once. Price per 3-doz. Case, $2.25.

SUCCESSFULLY COMPETED WITH DEPARTMENTAL STORES.

MERCHANTS can compete with departmental stores if they will, provided that to up-to-date business methods they add the cash system.

Every merchant who does business on credit has necessarily to add to the cost of his goods a certain percentage for losses. He who does not makes a grave mistake. Now the departmental stores have not this to do. They sell for cash, and the selling price of their goods is based upon the cash system. No one can get even a day's credit from a departmental store. If a man or woman has not the cash the goods are sent "C.O.D.," otherwise they are not delivered.

That the average retail merchant can do business on the same principle is being demonstrated time and again. THE CANADIAN GROCER has one in mind at the moment which admirably illustrates that.

There is a small town a few miles east of Toronto whose citizens were in the habit of buying largely from departmental stores in the "Queen City." One of the merchants of the town made it a practice of visiting the station and making a note of the names of those to whom the goods were consigned, and he found that a good many of the names were of persons who were in the habit of getting goods at his store on credit. Acting on the advice of a Toronto wholesaler to whom he related his experience, he established two prices in his store—a cash and a credit price—and put a large streamer in rear of his store announcing the fact.

Shortly after he had inaugurated this system, a lady, who had been in the habit of getting large quantities of goods from Toronto departmental stores and paying cash for them, while buying on credit from the local merchant, entered the store and asked the price of a certain article.

On being informed, she ordered a certain quantity and was on the point of taking the goods away without having tendered payment, when the storekeeper remarked that the figure he had quoted was for cash. If he had to charge it the price would be so much more, naming the figure.

"But I can get it for that in Toronto," she exclaimed, referring to the price first quoted.

"I know you can, madame. My figure is based on the Toronto price; but it is on the same condition, and that is, cash."

Although nonplussed, the woman declared that, not having the money with her, she would not take the goods and flounced out of the store in high dudgeon. Shortly afterwards her husband entered the store in search of an explanation, which he got.

What the merchant did with this one customer he did with all others under similar circumstances. And to-day he has only one price, and that is the cash price. The other he has abolished.

Other merchants in the same town followed his example, with the result that scarcely any parcels go to that particular station from Toronto departmental stores, the people have learned that by paying cash they can, on the whole, do as well at home and save express or railway rates besides.

The lesson to retail merchants throughout the country is obvious.

CANNED TOMATO SITUATION.

CANNED tomatoes continue to increase in interest in Toronto, and, although it is becoming more evident every day that the situation is a strong one, yet there is rather a wider range than usual in prices. This makes it somewhat difficult to fathom the market. There is no questioning the strength of the market. The only question is as to whether values are likely to be unduly inflated. This is the kernel of the nut, and the answer will give the market a more settled basis.

Compared with a week ago prices are fully ten cents per dozen higher, but, as we have already stated, they have a wide range. A couple of wholesale houses, for instance, will not accept less than $1.25 per dozen. Another's views are $1.20. A couple of houses want $1.15 and no less, while a wholesaler whose views last week were $1 has now advanced them to $1.10.

A couple of wholesale houses in western Ontario last week took exception to our review of the canned tomato situation, claiming that our wholesale quotations were too low. They based their exception on the fact that they had been unable to get a lower quotation than $1.25 from the canners corresponded with, while in one instance $1.40 was asked. We quite believe what they say. But we have in mind the fact that some canners were asking $1 per dozen when the market price was 80c. And then it frequently happens that wholesalers and other holders sell canned goods below packers' figures.

During the past week we have taken particular pains to gather information regarding canned tomatoes, and we are persuaded that our view of the situation is approximately correct.

Although, as we have stated, wholesalers' prices range all the way from $1.10 to $1.25 per dozen, yet there have been transactions during the past week at less figures.

About the middle of the week one hundred cases changed hands at $1.05, and they were sold by a wholesaler. On Saturday last there was another transaction, in which two hundred cases were concerned. In this instance $1 was the price, and the seller was a retailer who had bought early in the season on speculation. Then we hear of transactions which took place last week as between packers and wholesalers at $1.10. Another packer offered tomatoes at $1.10, but it was on condition that corn was taken at 75c. and peas at 85c. This offer was, however, withdrawn before it had been accepted. Still another packer wanted $1.10 f.o.b., which was equal to $1.22 delivered in Toronto, but it was not entertained. A Hamilton firm last week sold two thousand cases f.o.b. at $1 for shipment to British Columbia.

One thing is certain, most of the packers have no stocks of tomatoes left. That has been a foregone conclusion for some time. And those who have are not at all in a hurry to dispose of them, and naturally under such circumstances they are inclined to quote exorbitant figures, as we know some of them are and have been doing. Most of the wholesalers, too, prefer rather not to sell than to sell, but there are some people, and seemingly mostly speculators, who are prepared to sell, and below packers' figures, too. It is those who are the cause of the present peculiar conditions.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has no desire either to bear or to bull the market. All we essay to do is to get at the facts for the information of the trade ; and that is what we have this week taken even more pains han usual to do.

FEATURE OF THE BUTTER TRADE.

There has been a radical change in the conditions governing the Ontario butter market this season as compared with former seasons. In the past there has always been an abundant supply, the majority of it coming to the large cities from Ontario makers ; and this was largely augmented by shipments from Manitoba and the Northwest. Shipments from the last-named source have of late years been steadily decreasing, till now, instead of receiving from, Ontario is sending butter to the west. Then, exports have been much heavier than usual this year, and as the production does not seem to have materially increased the local market is in a much healthier condition than usual, the demand fully equalling the supply, and a scarcity being frequently felt for dairy butter particularly.

Even the pulpit is against the Raines New York liquor law. It is said it never rains but it pours.

COUNTRIES WHICH ARE TO GET FREER TRADE.

ACCORDING to cable advices the law officers of the British Crown have decided that Spain, the Netherlands, Liberia, Morocco, San Salvador, the South American Republic and Tonga are entitled to share in the privileges of the reciprocal tariff.

It will be remembered that when the preferential tariff went into operation the Dominion Government decided that Great Britain was the only country which was then entitled to enjoy it. It will also be remembered that the law officers of the British Crown ruled that Germany and Belgium, under the provision of the most favored nation treaty clauses were entitled to the privileges of the reciprocal tariff. Since then France, Japan, New South Wales and a number of minor countries have been added to the list. And now, as noted above, it is to be supplemented by half a dozen others.

Spain comes in under a treaty made in 1892 with Great Britain, Morocco under one made in 1856, South Africa Republic under one made in 1884 and Salvador under one made in 1886. To this last-named treaty Canada decided not to accede when it was made, and was thus exempt from its operations. But the reciprocal tariff, according to the decision of the law lords, has evidently brought the Dominion under the operations of the treaty for the time being.

As, after August 1 next the favored nation treatment treaties will cease to operate, having been denounced by the British Government through representations made by Canada, the Dominion will then be free to accord the privileges of the reciprocal tariff to Great Britain alone if she so desires.

A brief reference to the commercial importance of the countries which the law officers have just decided to be entitled to share in the reciprocal tariff may not be out of place.

Spain's chief products are wines, fruits, cereals, minerals and cotton textiles. Her imports in 1896-7 were valued at £29,366,906 and her exports at £34,890,400. The area of Spain, including Balearic and the Canary Islands, is 197,670 square miles, and the population is estimated at 17,650,234. The condition of business in Spain is unsatisfactory owing to the drain upon the country of the Cuban War.

The chief exports of the Netherlands are food products, drugs, iron, steel, textiles, sugar, etc. The imports of the country are valued at £120,350,000 and the exports at £98,200,000. The country has an area of 12,648 square miles and the population is 4,928,658.

Liberia, the little Republic founded in 1822 on the west coast of Africa by American philanthropists for the settlement therein of freedmen, is the hottest country in the world, and produces chiefly palm oil, canewood, ivory and gold dust. Its exports in 1895-6 were valued at £141,460, and its imports at £156,250. The country in 1871 borrowed £100,000 from Great Britain, but since 1874 it has not even paid the interest, and its indebtedness on this account is now £200,000. Its population is about 1,500,000.

Morocco is a fine wheat-growing country, and is rich in minerals, but barbarous customs prevent the resources of the country being developed. The exportation of corn is strictly prohibited. The exports of Morocco in 1896 amounted to £1,632,626, and the imports to £1,793,689. The population is about 2½ millions.

The chief products of the Central American republic of San Salvador are coffee and indigo. The country's imports last year were £413,000 and its exports £1,980,000. The area of Salvador is 7,225 square miles and its population is 803,534.

The chief exports of South Africa Republic, or, as it is better known, the Transvaal are wool, cattle, hides, grain, ostrich feathers, ivory, butter, gold, etc. Its imports last year were £9,816,304.

Tonga is one of the Friendly Islands and has an area of 385 square miles and a population of 25,000.

As far as can be ascertained from The Trade and Navigation Returns, Spain is the only country among the seven named from which Canada in 1896 imported any goods. In that year the total imports were valued at $361,778, of which $346,208 was dutiable, and the amount of duty collected was $162,118.81.

DISAGREEABLE, BUT A DUTY.

THERE are many things in business that are unpleasant, but the performance of which are none the less necessary. Stock-taking is one of them.

Taking stock entails a great deal of labor, both mental and physical. He, however, is a most unwise merchant who, from any consideration whatever, allows a year to pass without having ascertained his financial position.

No one who pretends to be a business man should neglect taking stock at definite periods at least no farther than twelve months apart.

It is not enough that a merchant should think his business is all right: He should know for a certainty that it is. And if he does not take stock there is positively no other way of arriving at that knowledge.

Unless a merchant knows exactly just where he is financially, he cannot intelligently manage his business. Stock-taking is an analysis of business: It brings to light leaks and points out avenues which are most promising to follow in order to attain success.

Every merchant will find on his shelves at the end of his business year articles which have either been slow of sale or practically unsaleable. These goods have all depreciated in value, and the longer they are held the more they depreciate. They may be apparently none the worse for wear, but they have been eating up interest, and the longer they are kept the more interest will they eat up. Whatever it may be considered they have depreciated should be written off and the clerks instructed to sell them that much lower. Year after year this should be done until the goods are either sold or depreciate so much that they ultimately are without value and fit only to be given or thrown away. Goods which, like chickens, eat their heads off, are unprofitable,

As with stocks so with book debits. Those accounts which are doubtful should be classified as such and given their estimated proper value. The same should be done with bad accounts.

The business with depreciated goods and doubtful and bad debts not properly classified is as a house built upon sand and must sooner or later collapse.

One thing should be remembered: to know the facts does not hasten the collapse of a business. On the contrary, the tendency is the very opposite. When a man discovers that the foundation in a certain part of his building is giving way he proceeds to repair it. It is so with the wise merchant who discovers when stock-taking one or more weak points in his business.

If we remember rightly, in Germany the the law makes stock-taking compulsory. But it should not be necessary to compel anyone to take stock; business common sense should be motive enough to induce each and every merchant to at least once a year take stock and strike a balance sheet.

THE WORD "LIMITED."

JOINT stock companies doing business in the province of Ontario need no longer be haunted with the fear of dire consequences should the head of the company or the office boy fail to spell in full the word "limited" when writing the name of the corporation.

The Provincial Secretary stated in the House a few days ago that it would be no longer an offence against the law to abbreviate the word "limited."

The amendment to the Act which made the abbreviating of the word a penalty was made at last year's session of the Provincial Legislature, and the penalties for so doing were various.

To have the word "limited" in an abbreviated form on sign, letter-head, bill-head, cheque, promissory notes and documents of like nature was to incur a penalty of twenty dollars per day during which the word was used in its abbreviated form, while for using the seal of an incorporated company without the word "limited" being in full was to incur a fine of two hundred dollars.

Whatever possessed the author of this law it is impossible to explain. It was not common sense. That is certain. The only common sense exhibited about the whole matter is the announcement that the silly clause has been knocked on the head as far as its penalizing powers are concerned.

The law was only in force one year, but for a yearling it has done a great deal of harm. Impecunious lawyers harrassed joint stock companies until considerate judges stayed their proceedings, while large sums of money have been expended in putting signs and printed matter in position to comply with the statute.

A DECLINE IN SUGAR.

THOSE who from recent conditions have been expecting a continued high level of values on sugar had quite a surprise this week in the shape of a decline in the refiners' price.

It was only recently that they had marked up the price, and as they had shut down, with light stocks in hand, it was expected that values would rule steady for some time at least if they did not go higher.

On Monday these expectations were dispelled by the announcement from the refineries that all sugars were reduced an ⅛c. all round.

The decline in the price in beet, which is at a figure that permits of its being imported at a laid down price of $3.90 is the primary cause.

The desire to prevent the increased importation of Austrian and German sugar is the secondary one, as there have been freer offers of it of late. "This latter circumstance," said a representative of one of the refineries, "is going to check any advance in domestic granulated beyond, or even to, 4½c., no matter what it may cost us to procure our raw material. The price of the imported granulated is entirely independent of the raw market, and while consumers are willing to pay more for the better domestic granulated, they will hardly concede a difference of ½c. per lb. This is the fundamental obstacle to any radical rise in prices."

The lead in the reduction was taken by one refinery, and while the others followed, they did so unwillingly, claiming that as the London market had taken a firmer turn on the day the refiners made the reduction, the change was unwarranted.

During the recent decline in London beet touched a point 4½d. below that of the highest figure of the campaign. Beet sugar is now about on a parity with centrifugals in New York, whereas for some time previously it was above.

In New York buyers of raw sugars would be rather free buyers if holders would reduce their views 1-16c. per lb., but they do not appear inclined to do so.

TORONTO RETAIL ASSOCIATION.

THE regular meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Monday evening in St. George's Hall, Elm street, the retiring president, J. S. Bond, in the chair. The attendance was fair.

The secretary's report and the treasurer's report, accompanied by the auditor's report, were read.

Mr. Bond, tbe retiring president, before vacating the chair, made a neat speech, thanking the members, especially the secretary, for their co-operation in the work of the association during the past year, and expressing his confidence in the ability of the incoming officers to carry forward the work to the best advantage.

The following officers for the year were installed by Mr. A. White:

President—W. H. Marmion.
Vice-President—F. W. Johnson.
Treasurer—W. J. Sykes.
Secretary—Ed. Hawes.
Executive Committee—J. Kelly, A. G. Booth, D. W. Clark and D. Bell.
Trustees—A. White, J. S. Bond and F. S. Roberts.
Auditors—J. S. Scoales and J. Van Loon.

Each of the officers were called upon for a speech. Each responded, and all united in the promise to seek the best interest of the association during the ensuing year.

Commnnications were then read from F. S. Mearns, who had promised to deliver an address on collections, apologizing for his absence; from the Confederation Mercantile and Collection Association, offering to collect bad debts for the members of the association, and from the Canadian Summer Resort Association, asking that the association should help defray the expenses of Mr. Peter McIntyre, who intends to advertise Toronto as a summer resort. These communications were filed.

A letter was received from the Montreal Grocers' Association regarding the garnisheeing of Government officials' salaries. Moved by Mr. Bond, seconded by Mr. Panter, "That the association sign the petition sent them by the Montreal association, and that the Toronto association pledge itself to endeavor to get other associations to sign the petition." The secretary was instructed to communicate with the Retail Merchants' and other associations asking their co-operation.

D. W. Clark moved, seconded by A. White, that the clause in the constitution which reads: "There shall be no honorary members of the association" be so changed that the words "shall be no" be altered to "may." The motion was carried.

J. Kelly moved, seconded by F. W. Johnson, that a committee be appointed to draw up a new constitution, which after acceptance by the association, shall be printed and distributed among the members. This motion passed, and Messrs. Kelly, Johnson, Booth, and Mills, were appointed the committee to do the work,

D. W. Clark moved, seconded by Mr. Booth that Robert Mills be appointed an honorary member of the association. The motion carried unanimously, and Mr. Mills warmly thanked the association for the honor conferred on him.

It was decided on motion of J. Kelly, seconded by J. S. Bond that the association should hold a conversazione. Messrs. Panter, Dalamore, Davies, Clarke, and Kelly were appointed a committee to look after the arrangements.

It was also decided that at the next meeting of the association arrangements for the summer excursion be considered.

Stoney Point cheese factory closed a prosperous year, the quantity of milk received aggregating 1,166,773 lbs., turning out 111,681 lbs. of cheese, which realized $9,176.85.

AN ATTRACTIVE SOUVENIR.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has seen many pretty New Year souvenirs, but the folding calendar issued by the Equitable Life Assurance Society certainly tops the list. The three colored pictures of an old-time courtship which ornament it are really works of art, and, in fact, many of the expensive calendars sold in the shops are not as pretty.

A line to the Equitable Life Assurance office, 157 St. James street, Montreal, mentioning THE CANADIAN GROCER will secure one for any reader.

THE DEPARTMENTAL STORE BILL.

THE Ontario Legislature disposed of the departmental store bill last Friday. It was withdrawn on the understanding that, at the suggestion of the Attorney-General, a select committee should be appointed at the next session of the House to investigate the question.

Mr. Middleton, the author of the bill, in moving its second reading, said telephone, telegraph and street railway systems had, by the centralization of trade, placed departmental stores under exceptionally favorable conditions, and it was only fair that they should be taxed at a higher rate than those stores which were being injured by an unequal competition. A ruinous overturn in commerce was being brought about by the departmental stores. The practice of imposing special taxes, he said, had been successfully adopted in some parts of the United States. Mr. Middleton mentioned as a serious matter the hazardous character of the departmental store business, which brought great crowds of people into one building unprotected by fire walls. He proposed that the question of imposing special taxation on these enterprises should be considered by a committee of the House.

Mr. Kerns pointed out that care was necessary in order to avoid injuring private interests. The departmental stores had in some respects been productive of good, inasmuch as they had been successful in introducing a cash system of doing business, which in itself was of importance.

Mr. Stratton admitted that there are strong arguments for and against the bill. In towns like Peterboro' business men were finding it necessary to carry larger variety of goods than ever before, owing to the keen competition. There would be, he feared, a difficulty in defining what are separate classes of goods. If the matter is to be taken hold of and legislation is to be effective, he believed it would have to be taken up by the Government, but it will require a bill with a great many more clauses than the one under consideration. He was not certain what is the best course to pursue, but rather favored action by the Government if any were taken, as the question is of sufficient magnitude to justify the Government taking it into consideration.

Dr. Willoughby had a strong conviction that a great deal of harm was being done to ordinary business by the departmental store, but he was not sure that the proposition before the House was not an undue interference with private liberty. However, the subject was too important to be dealt with by a private member.

Mr. Conmee said that the evil could be remedied by a change in the assessment law, or by a change in the method of making the assessment. He hoped the Government would be able to put the House in possession of further information on the subject next session.

Mr. Haycock, the Patron leader, who pointed out that the scope of the ordinary drug store would be limited and curtailed by this bill, and that there are hardly any stores in the country that would not be affected by it. The difficulty of classifying the various lines of articles and determinting the number of distinct classes of goods which any store carried would also operate against the smooth working of the bill. The fact that departmental stores are not confined to Ontario, but extend to the neighboring province, must also be borne in mind, and care taken that business is not driven away from Ontario, and such a measure ought therefore to emanate from Ottawa. The effects of competition from the mercantile departmental combinations was not the only evil that was being experienced in the country, but the country lawyers were also feeling keenly the competition from the great legal departmentals which were now operating in the big cities.

Mr. Hardy, the Premier, admitted the great importance of the bill, which differs from those introduced into some of the American Legislatures, where the question had been discussed a great deal, and the details had been gone into to a very large extent. A bill had gone through the Senate of the State of Illinois, but had been thrown out in the Legislature by a narrow majority. There was a great deal of force in the remarks of the honorable member for Frontenac (Mr. Haycock), and there were also forcible arguments advanced in favor of the bill. He pointed out that the bill did not profess to prohibit any store from keeping a variety of articles, but that the proportion of taxation should have some regard to the number of departments or classes of goods carried, which was a very different thing from actually prohibiting the sale of more than a certain number of lines. The doctrine of applying a varying rate of taxation to these departmental stores is being somewhat generally discussed and better understood. The departmental stores are not ordinary businesses, but reach out throughout the entire province. At the present time he did not desire to express an opinion upon the question. An association had been formed which proposes to deal with the question by distributing literature in reference to the matter, and by other means. The public generally, however, were not perhaps as well acquainted with all the details as might be necessary to deal with the matter. In view of this fact it might perhaps be advisable to appoint a special committee in the early days of next session in order to hear evidence, to give both parties a chance to be heard, and to bring in a report upon which any legislation which might be found necessary could be based. It is impossible to deal with an important question like this off-hand. The true facts must be ascertained before action could be taken. Another mode of dealing with the question would be by a royal commission, but his own idea is that a select committee would be preferable. In view of all these facts he expressed the hope that the mover would allow the bill to stand over for another session.

After some discussion the bill was withdrawn, as already stated.

Mr. Middleton's bill provided that after Jan. 1, 1899, the council of any city, or town, may pass a bylaw or bylaws for the purpose of imposing upon any departmental store carrying on more than three distinct classes of business a special tax in respect of each additional class of business, and in imposing such business tax, the same may be regulated in and by the bylaw so as to provide either a uniform tax in respect of each additional distinct class of business or the same may be graded in such a manner as may seem proper ; provided that no such bylaw shall be passed or take effect under the authority of this Act, without having been carried by a two-thirds vote of the members of the council present and voting thereon.

MONTREAL TIMBER TRADE, 1897.

The season just closed has been a record-breaking one in the export timber business from Montreal. The shipments have amounted to 300,420,069 feet, showing an increase of 79,416,460 feet as compared with the total of 1896, an increase of 131,748,041 as compared with 1895, and of 123,011,641 compared with 1894.

MR. SCANLAN'S COMMITTEE ROOMS

John Scanlan, who will be nominated on the 15th inst. as alderman for St. Lawrence Ward, Montreal, has opened the following committee rooms : The central one is at 206 Bleury street, 1972 St. Catherine street, 84 Prince Arthur, 57 Bleury street, and 78 St. Lawrence Main street.

The canvassers have already been over three-quarters of the district, and reports are most favorable.

Mr. Scanlan and Mr. Eker are no doubt both good men, but Mr. Scanlan should have the preference ; his business, dwelling and interests are all in St. Lawrence Ward, whereas, on the other hand, his opponent's business, dwelling and interest are outside of this ward. This alone should carry weight with the people of that district.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Jan. 13, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE volume of business is naturally not large, but so far trade this month is rather better than usual and considerably ahead of last year. Canned tomatoes are still the most important feature in the trade, the past week having witnessed another advance of about 10c. per dozen in the wholesale price. The demand for canned goods on account of the somewhat excited condition of the market is rather better than usual at this time of the year. A decline of ⅛c. per lb. has taken place in refined sugars of all grades in sympathy with the easier feeling which characterized the outside markets. There is not a great deal doing in sugar. Coffees of Brazilian growth are firmer in the primary market. There is no change here. The improvement noted last week in the tea trade continues, and the market, as a rule, is steady as to price. In the foreign dried fruit market the most important feature is a further advance of 1s. per cwt. in the price of currants in Greece. The long expected shipment of Bosnia prunes for this market has at last arrived.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no lessening of the interest in canned tomatoes. On the contrary it is increasing. Wholesalers' prices during the past week show a further appreciation of from 5 to 10c. per dozen, and at the advance some business is being done. As will be noted in our editorial column there have been some transactions at rather lower figures than what are quoted. The market, however, is undoubtedly strong; but the fact that there are some people who are willing to accept lower figures than the packers causes a rather uncertain feeling. The demand for canned goods generally is good for this time of the year, and particularly in view of the fact that large quantities have already been sold this season. We quote: Tomatoes, $1 to $1.15; corn, 70 to 85c.; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90c. to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 60 to 95c.; peaches, $2 to $2.60 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.40 to $1 70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c.; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand; cohoes, 95c. to $1; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.70 for tall tins; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

COFFEE.

The feature of the local market has been the arrival of direct shipments of green Rio coffee, and a good many sales have taken place at prices unusually low. The primary market, however, has steadied a good deal since these transactions took place, and prices are now about 40 per cent. higher in Rio and Santos, owing, it is said, to the large purchases on account of an English syndicate. In New York there has been a slight weakening of the market, but this is thought to be due to the influence of the holiday season. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c.; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There has been a little enquiry for cheap syrup in the wholesale houses, but those grades appear to be scarce, and as far as we can learn no transactions have taken place. The wholesale trade is quiet. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market is quiet and without special features. We quote as follows: New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c.; ditto. half-bbls., 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-bbls., 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The feature of the sugar market is a decline of ⅛c. per lb. in the price of all grades from London, England, recently remarked that in all of his 35 years' experience in the Tea Trade, he had never seen a Tea the equal of "Salada" Ceylon Tea that did not fetch all the way from 20 per cent. to 30 per cent. in advance of it—and moreover, that he did'nt see anything very surprising at the enormous sale of "Salada." Why should'nt it sell? The public would be foolish indeed if they did'nt buy it, seeing the value and quality they get.

In our modesty, we can only add, this is quite true.

of refined sugars, except German and Canadian-German, which are 1-16c. per lb. lower. The lead was taken by one of the Montreal refineries, and the others had to follow, although they claim that while the market had been weaker abroad, yet, on the very day the reduction in Canada took place the outside markets had taken an upward turn again, thus making the reduction unwarranted. At the decline the market is steady to firm. Buyers in New York are willing to purchase at the figures ruling a few days ago, but holders are asking 1-16c. more. The decline in beet in London was about 4½d. per cwt. below the highest point of this campaign, but there has been since an advance of ¾c. on beets and German granulated. Trade locally is quiet, although the refiners are doing a little more business than they were a week or two ago. We quote wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days: Granulated (Redpath, St. Lawrence, Acadia), 4½c.; ditto, Dutch, in bags, 4⅜c.; ditto, German of Canadian make, in bbls., 4 3-16c.; ditto, imported, in bags, 4 3-16c.; yellows, 3¾c. upwards.

NUTS.

The market is quiet and without feature. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 12½ to 14c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 23 to 25c.; Tarragona almonds, 9 to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 9½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

The demand continues moderate at unchanged prices. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Business still remains quiet, with prices much as before. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 14c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 15c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 12c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 24 to 26c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 20 to 22c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 20 to 22c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 16c.; cassia, 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

TEA.

The demand is still improving. There have been some transactions in Indian and Ceylon teas, both on spot and to arrive. Low-grade Ceylons are getting scarce, and the largest holders are pretty well sold out in teas at from 13½ to 14½c. A good demand is to be noted for Ceylon teas at from 15 to 17c. Broken orange Pekoes at about 1s. are desirable goods, but they are scarce and hard to get. It is the opinion that Indian Pekoes at from about 15 to 17c. showed the best value in black teas to-day. China black teas generally are neglected. Green teas are in small supply, and nothing but the finer grades are offering. In Japan teas there has been more movement than for some time past. Holders are firm in their views and buyers have had to pay full prices. Tea exports from Japan to Canada are about 2,000,000 lbs. less than last year. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indias and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades. were reduced to 17,000 to 18,000 tons, which is inadequate for the consumptive demand. England has taken about 55,000 tons so far this season. Locally the advance for currants continues good. VALENCIA RAISINS—The demand is fair, and it is the impression that the high price of currants will lead to an increased consumption of Valencia raisins. We quote: New goods—Off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 6 to 6½c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—There is not much doing, and in the outside market buyers and sellers are apart. We quote: 3-crown, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb; 4-crown, 8¼ to 8½c. per lb.; 1-lb. cartoons, 20c.; 2¼-lb. cartoons, 35c.

FIGS — Dull. We quote as follows: 4-crown, 10 to 11c.; 5-crown, 11 to 13c.; 7-crown, 13 to 14c.; 9-crown, 15 to 16c.; natural figs, in bags, 4½ to 5c.; mats, 3½ to 4c. per lb.

PRUNES—The long-expected shipment of "Sphinx" prunes, ex ss. Styria, has at last reached the Toronto market. As they only arrived as we go to press, we are unable to give quotations this week. We quote California prunes as follows: 40 to 50's, 10 to 10½c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 70 to 80's, 7 to 7½c.; 80 to 90's, 6½ to 7c.; 90 to 100's, 6 to 6½c. Silver prunes (fancy), 13½c.; egg plums, 9½c.; golden plums, 10½c.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS — The demand is only fair. We quote as follows: Apricots, 9 to 9½c. per lb. in 50-lb. boxes, 9½ to 16c. in 25-lb. boxes, and 13 to 14c. in 1-lb. cartoon boxes; Peaches, 9½ to 12½c. in 25-lb. boxes, and 13c. per lb. in 1-lb. cartoons.

GREEN FRUITS.

Though quite as good as usual at this season of the year, the market is quiet, there being little movement in any line. We quote as follows: Almeria grapes, $5 to $7.50 per keg; lemons, Messina, $2.75 to $3.25 a box; cocoanuts, $4.50 a sack and 60c. per doz.; oranges, Valencia, $4.75 to $7.50 per case; California navels, $3.50 to $4 per crate; Jamaica oranges, $7 per bbl., and $4 per box; Tangarines, $1.50

POTATOES—The demand is quiet, with little offering. We quote: Carload lots at 60c., and small lots on the market at 65 to 70c.

DRIED APPLES—Holders are asking 5c. f.o.b., and we hear of wholesale grocers allowing 5 to 5⅛c. in trade. Jobbers are offering choice stock at 5c. per lb.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There appears to be nothing doing, and we nominally quote 9 to 10c. in a jobbing way.

BEANS—A few sales of choice prime beans at 80c., in 5 and 10 bag lots are reported; hand-picked are quoted at 85c.

HONEY — The demand is steady, yet quiet. Comb honey is scarce. We quote: Clover honey, 7 to 7½c.; buckwheat, 4c.; light color, in 60-lb. tins, 6 to 6½c.; 5 and 10-lb. tins, 7 to 7½c.; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The demand generally is good, but trout, smelts, whitefish and steak cod show special activity. Oysters are also in good demand. We quote: Oysters, $1.25 per gal.; fresh trout, 7 to 7½c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.; fresh steak cod, 6 to 6½c. per lb.; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; pike, 4c. per lb.; perch, 3c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $3.25 per half-bbl.; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; ciscoes, 75c. to $1; Manitoba frozen whitefish, 7½c. per lb.; smelts, No. 2, 4c.; No. 1, 6c.; extras, 10c.; flounders, 5c. per lb.

SEEDS.

There is a fair demand for strictly choice red clover, for export, but the medium to low grades are not wanted, as they cannot be sold for export, and the home market has not yet opened. Prices of finest grades are unchanged at from $3.50 to $4 for choice to fancy, while for lower grade the price is nominal. Alsike is dull, except for occasional fancy lots, which can be sold for export. As prices depend on later developments of the markets, buying now is speculative, and dealers are loth to quote prices. Timothy is offered in limited quantities, with the price $1 to $1.50 for machine threshed and $1.75 to $2 for bright, unhulled flail-threshed seed.

SALT.

Business is quiet, though good for this season of the year. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B.. barrels, 75c.; sacks, 50c.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The demand is good with prices firmer. We quote for both cowhides and steerhides: No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 8c.; No. 3, 7c.

CALFSKINS — We quote as follows: No. 1 veal, 8 lbs. and up, 12c. per lb.; No. 2, 10c.; Dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS — Prices are ruling high. "Pullers" say they are losing money. We quote now at $1.10.

WOOL—There is a steady demand for pulled wools, the price quoted remaining at 20½c. for fleeces and tub-washed.

We quote the street market as follows: Wheat, red, 88 to 88½c.; white, 86 to 87c.; goose, 77 to 79c.; peas, 50 to 52½c.; rye, 46c.; barley, 32 to 34c.; oats, 27 to 28c., Toronto freights. No. 1 hard wheat is quoted at $1.02, Toronto freights.

FLOUR — The market is steady with prices unchanged.. We quote: Manitoba patents, $5.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $5; Ontario patents, $4.60 to $4.75; straight roller, $4.10 to $4.15, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand is very active in all lines. Split peas are 10c. dearer. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.50 in bags and $3.60 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.35; split peas, $3.35; pot barley, $3.

PETROLEUM, ETC.

Business is active in all lines, with prices unchanged. We quote as follows in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 14c.; carbon safety, 16½c.; American water white, 17½c.; Pratt's astral, 17c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Comb honey is scarce.

Fresh laid eggs are 1c. higher.

Cheese is ¼c. higher, and continues firm.

Currants have advanced another shilling per cwt. in Patras.

Smoked meats and dry salted meats are dearer. Barrel pork is 50c. higher.

The price of dressed hogs has advanced 10c. for heavy and 25c. for light animals.

Toronto wholesalers have advanced their prices for canned tomatoes another 10c. per dozen.

All refined sugars are ⅛c. per lb. lower, except Canadian German and imported German, which are 1-16c. lower.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13, 1898.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS continues quiet, as a rule, in groceries, that is to say, between jobbers and retailers. But though business is dull, there are many features to attract traders' attention. The sugar refiners, after marking up prices, have as suddenly reduced them. The firm tendency of molasses has been developed even more unmistakably this week by refusals to accept bids for large lots. Teas are quiet, but steady, while the strength in staple canned vegetables continue one of the most striking features of the situation. Values in dried fruit are generally firm, this being especially the case in currants, Sultana raisins and the larger sizes of prunes. There has been more doing in fish since the holidays ended, and dairy and country produce rule steady as to values.

SUGAR.

There has been a rather sudden reaction in the price of sugar this week, the refiners on Monday reducing their prices an ⅛c. per lb. all round. Easiness outside and a desire to encourage the consumptive demand which, as we have already noted, has been very slack, are the causes influential in inducing the change. As a result of the reaction jobbers have marked down their prices, and we quote: Standard granulated, 4 5-16c.; Canadian German granulated, 4c.; Austrian and German granulated, 3 5-16c. in bags, and domestic yellows, 3½ to 3⅞c. In New York raw is quoted steady both for fair refining and centrifugal, while refined is firm. Cables from London quote beet sugar quiet with prices nominal, and cane dull and unchanged.

SYRUPS.

There is only a light demand for syrups, but prices are steady at 2 to 2½c., as to grade, for Canadian.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market rules very firm, and it does not look as if those houses who tried to procure supplies in New Brunswick were going to make any money out of them. The reason is simple. The very lowest price at which goods are obtainable down there is 25c. per gallon, and then only in small lots. Making due allowance for the difference in gauging and the risk of certain barrels in a shipment being sour, traders who bring any Barbadoes from St John cannot afford to sell it under 28 to 28½c. unless they are willing to loose money. As holders who already have goods on hand here can afford to meet buyers at 28c., the former are not in a a pleasant position. In a word their action is not likely to affect the ruling range on Barbadoes molasses in any way. We quote the jobbing range : Puncheons, 28c.; barrels, 30½c., and half-barrels 31½c.; car lots 1c. less.

RICE.

This line exhibits little change. We quote : Imported Japan, 4⅞ to 5½c.; standard B rice $3.40 to $3.50 ; ditto, grade S, $3.30 to $3.40 ; Patna, $4.75 to $5 ; choice Burmah, $4 ; and ditto Java, $4.25.

SPICES.

There is not much doing in spices, and values are generally steady. We quote : Black pepper, 9 to 15c.; pure white, 15 to 20c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar (French), 25 to 27c.; do. best, 30c.; allspice, 14c.; and nutmegs, 50 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There is a quiet trade doing in coffee of all kinds. Maracaibo sold at 13 to 15c., Santos at 11 to 11½c. and Rio at 10 to 10½c.

TEAS.

There has been no change in the tea market this week. The consumptive demand is slow in making itself felt this month, and, jobbers having bought pretty freely lately, there is less than the usual movement, either from first or second hands. We quote as follows: Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest ; China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for canned vegetables, especially tomatoes and corn, has been quite active, and it now transpires that many jobbers are not nearly as well supplied with the two staples as they would wish. All round sellers are very firm in their ideas of value. We quote : Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25 ; corn, 90c. to $1 ; peas, 90c. to $1.15 ; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90 ; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30 ; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb.do., $1 to $1.10; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25; "Clover Leaf," $1.25 ; Lowe Inlet, $1.20, in tall tins ; canned mackerel, $1.25 ; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30 ; lobsters, $11 per case ; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands ; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25 to $4.50.

DRIED FRUIT.

The feeling is quite steady on Valencia raisins and prices are unchanged. We quote : Off-stalk, 4½c.; fine do., 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5¾ to 6c., and 4-crown layers, 6 to 6¾c.

The better sorts of California raisins are quite steady, but some lower offers have been received on 2-crown fruit. However, we quote prices the same ; 6 to 6¾c. for 2-crown; 7¼ to 7¾c. for 3-crown, and 8¾ to 9c. for 4-crown.

Mail advices to hand this week speak of higher prices on Sultana raisins in London, supplies of them being very light. On spot prices are firm, 8¾ to 9c. Loose Spanish Muscatels are unchanged at 6 to 7c.

The strong disposition of the currant market continues and English letters this week state that London is short of stock. Here prices on all descriptions are firmly held, but especially on Provincials. We quote : Fine Vostizzas, half-cases, 6½c.; Patras, half-cases, 6¼c.; choice Filiatra, do., 6c.; fine do., half-cases, 5⅞c.; Filiatra, half-cases, 5¾c.; do. half-bbls., 5½c.; do., bbls., 5⅜c.; fine Provincials, half-cases, 5⅝c.

Jobbers who tried to procure some of the larger sizes of California fruit had difficulty in having their orders filled this week. In New York also the large sizes are scarce. In French and Austrian there is nothing to report. We quote : Austrian, 6½ to 7c.; French, 4½ to 5½c., and Californias, 7½ to 10c., as to grade.

Figs continue quiet and steady. We quote: Elcme, 10 lbs., 10 to 11c.; case lots, 9c.; 12-oz. boxes, 7½c.; 14-oz. boxes, 9c.; 25 bag lots, 3¼c., and bags, 3½ to 4c.

Dates are steady at 5½ to 6c., with a fair enquiry.

NUTS.

There is no change in nuts here. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 17 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 8½c., and pecans, 10c.

FISH.

With favorable weather and the holiday season over there has been more doing in fish, but with ample supplies of most descriptions prices rule low. The only exception is fresh frozen herring, which are in rather light supply. Fresh haddock and cod are selling at 2¾ to 3¼c in case lots and Tommy cods $1.10 to $1.25 per bbl., while smelts are quoted at 3 to 5c. Manitoba pike are quoted at 3½c.; dore, 5½ to 6c.; whitefish and trout, 7c.; salmon, 12c., and fresh herrings, $1.25 to $1.50 per 100 fish. Pickled fish are generally steady. We quote as follows : No. 1 N.S. herrings, 4¼ to 4½c.; Cape Breton, $4.75 to $5 ; half barrels, $2.75 ; Nova Scotia,

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The feature of the produce market was the strength displayed in eggs on Monday, and a sharp advance of 1 to 2c. per dozen was scored for new laid stock, which is chiefly due to the scarcity of such and the good demand for the same, all offerings meeting with a ready sale at 23 to 25c. per dozen. Montreal limed stock was also stronger and 1c. per dozen higher, at 15 to 16c., and western limed advanced ½c., to 13 to 13½c. per dozen.

POULTRY—In poultry a fair trade was done, and the market is moderately active. The demand is principally for choice stock, of which the offerings are not large, and the market for such is firmer. Choice turkeys sold at ½c. per lb. higher, at 9½c., but ordinary stock rules steady at 8½ to 9c. Common to fair chickens sold at 5 to 6c., while choice are held at 7 to 8c. Ducks rule steady at 8 to 8½c., and geese at 5 to 6c. per lb.

GAME—The receipts of partridge were fair, for which the demand is good, and prices rule steady at 70 to 75c. for firsts, and at 40 to 45c. for seconds per brace. Hares were lower, sales being made at 22½c. per pair.

BEANS—The market for beans continues quiet, the demand being only for small quantities at 80 to 90c. for primes, and at 95c. to $1 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—The honey market was quiet and without any change. We quote as follows: White clover, 12½c.; dark clover comb, 10 to 10½c., and dark 7 to 8c.

PROVISIONS.

The only change in the local provision market was a weaker feeling in hams and prices declined ½ to 1c. per pound, which is due chiefly to the increased receipt of hogs of late and the small demand for them at this season. Pork and lard rules steady under a fair demand for small lots. We quote: Canadian pork, $15 to $16 per barrel; pure Canadian lard in pails, at 7 to 7½c., and compound refined at 5 to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10½ to 12c.; bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

There is an easy feeling in the market for dressed hogs owing to the increased offerings, but prices show no further change as yet. The demand to-day was fair for small lots and sales were made at $6.50 to $6.75 for light, and at $6.25 for heavy per 100 lbs.

SALT.

Steady and unchanged: Coarse Liverpool, in 165-lbs. bags, 38 to 45c., and Trepani, $1.10 per bag of 215 lbs.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

A fair volume of business continues to be done in flour, and the market is moderately active for the season, with no change in prices to note. We quote: Winter wheat, patents, $4.65 to $4.85; straight rollers, $4.30 to $4.40; bags, $2.10 to $2.15; best Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; second do., $4.50, and low grades, $2.70; Hungarian patents, $5.30.

There is no improvement in the demand for meal, in consequence business rules quiet. We quote: Rolled oats, $3.45 per barrel, and $1.67½ per bag; standard meal, $3.25 per barrel, and $1.57½ per bag.

The demand for feed is fair, and as supplies are not large the tone is firm. We quote: Ontario bran, $10.50 to $11, and shorts, $11.50 to $12 per ton, bulk; Manitoba bran, bags included, $11.50, and shorts, $13.50 per ton.

GRAIN.

There was no important change in the situation of the local grain market. The demand for all lines from local buyers was limited, and the volume of business done was small. We quote as follows: Ontario red winter wheat, 95c.; white, 94c.; peas, 51 to 51½c.; oats, 28 to 28½c.; rye, 51½ to 52c.; buckwheat, 35½ to 36c., and feed barley, 33 to 35c.; malting barley, 45 to 50c. in store.

BALED HAY.

The tone of the hay market is steady, under a continued fair demand, and a good business is doing for the season. We quote: No. 1 at $10.50 and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese did not exhibit any radical change, but the firm disposition of the market is fully maintained. White goods are at a premium just now and sellers have no difficulty in securing 8¾c., when they are willing to accept that price. For colored 8⅝c. was made in several cases to-day. There is no enquiry for under grades, and the quantity of such offering is light.

The butter market is confined to a small jobbing trade on local account, prices ruling steady in this particular at 19 to 19¼c.

The exports of cheese and butter for the week were as follows:

Ports.	Cheese.	Butter.
Liverpool	13,797	1,384
London	5,107	....
Glasgow	622	105
Bristol	2,795	....
Manchester	150	....
Total	22,321	1,639
Same week in 1897	42,442	5,582
Total to date since close of navigation	145,901	20,355
Same period, 1897	132,809	19,253

MONTREAL NOTES.

There has been more enquiry for canned corn from American buyers this week, but holders appear to want all they have got.

The sugar refiners, after advancing prices the other day, have quite suddenly cut them an ⅛c. per lb. on both yellows and granulated.

There is a scarcity of the larger sizes of California prunes here, and jobbers here who tried to fill wants at New York had some difficulty in doing so.

Letters by this week's mail from London, England, state that the dried fruit market there is remarkably firm. This is particularly the case in currants and Sultana raisins.

The store of Mr. H. Payson, grocer, Woodstock, caught fire the other night, and was in great danger of being destroyed, as the flames were burning briskly around an oil tank when the firemen arrived. The loss sustained was about $1,600. Insurance to the extent of $3,000 was carried.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 10, 1898.

THE past week has been a rather quiet one. There is somewhat of a difference of opinion regarding the success of the past year. In general lines rather better profits have been made than for some years past, and the general opinion is that the year was a good one, the more as the stocks now held give promise of good profits. The feature of the year was the large profit made on tobacco, many of our dealers holding large stocks. The surprise of the year is the profit on canned goods. In pork the year was unprofitable. Fish, except smoked herring, show a good margin. Flour and oatmeal have shown a profit. At present there is little change in values, although flour is easy. Quite a firm feeling prevails in lard.

OIL—There continues to be but little business done. The only movement being in burning oil. The Canadian and American now shows the regular difference in price, the Canadian having followed the American in its short journey upward. Prices are firmly held. Lubricating oil is beginning to have the attention of dealers. Business in cod oil is about over. Sales are light this season, prices keeping high. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18 to 19c.; Canadian water white, 16½ to 17½c.; Canadian prime, 15 to 15½c.; cod oil, 22 to 24c.

SALT—There continues to be some receipts in coarse salt, but market is full, and though sales are being pushed and low prices quoted trade is dull. Liverpool coarse salt was perhaps never lower. Fine salt is steady, with but light demand. In Canadian regular sales are being made. We quote as follows: Coarse, 44 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90 to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; rock salt, $5 to $6 per ton.

CANNED GOODS — Sales at present are light. Holders are not pushing sales, believing even higher prices will rule. This is one line our merchants have been fortunate in—they hold good stocks. In meats, while sale is dull, higher prices are asked by packers, and feeling is firm. The low price of salmon is aiding the sales. One dealer reports the sale of one hundred cases during the week, which is a large sale for the season. We quote: Corn, 70 to 75c.; peas, 85c. to $1; tomatoes, $1 to $1.10; gallon apples, $2.20 to $2.25; corned beef, Canadian, $2.35 to $2.40; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.60; 1-lb. tins, $1.35 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.60; 2's, $1.50 to $1.65; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.50; fruits in glass, $4 to $4.25; salmon, $1.15 to $1.20; ditto, flats, $1.25 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, $1.00 to $1.10; clams, $4.50 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.50 to $2.75 for 2 doz,; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Business is quiet. Apples are particularly slow sales. Prices have ruled so high people have come to the conclusion they can do without them. Even best grades, at what would have been low prices earlier in season, find little demand. Valencia oranges have the best sale of any fruit. They are arriving in good shape, and are low. California and Floridas sell in limited quantity. Very few bananas are moving. Lemons are rather lower; they have a fair sale. In cranberries the season is about over. Our native berries have had a large sale this year. If packers would be more careful in the quality of berries they pack they would about drive the Cape Cod berry out of the market. Grapes tend rather easier, owing to light demand. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $4 to $5 per box; do., California, $2.25 to $4; do., Florida, $4.70 to $5; do., Dominica, $3.25 per bbl.; apples, $2 to $3.50; bananas, $2 to $2.25; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $6; native bog cranberries, $4 to $5.50 per bbl.; Cape Cod cranberries, $9 to $9.50 per bbl.; shaddock, $3 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3 per bbl.; sour limes, $1.75 per box; sweet limes, $2.50 per box.

DRIED FRUIT—Business continues light, with little of interest to note. In raisins, prices are off, and holders are somewhat disappointed. There are quite a few Valencia layers and Malaga loose muscatels here. In seeded raisins, prices are quite a little lower. In some cases the quality is not what it should be. Buyers should be careful. Currants are light stock with prices firmly held. The high price of evaporated apples has much restricted the trade. The light sale to lumbermen has also affected the market. California prunes have the market here this year. They sell freely and are low. Tendency is toward better prices. In onions, prices keep low. There is still quite a stock held. Peanuts are quoted very low. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M., 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; London layers, $1.40 to $1.50; Imp. cabinets, $1.75 to $1.80; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.30; Dehesa layers, $2.50 to $2.75; currants, cases, 5¾ to 6c.; bbls., 5¼ to 5½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¾ to 8c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½ to 7c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 10c.; dates, 5 to 5½c.; dried apples, 4 to 5c.; evaporated apples, 9 to 10c.; onions, $2.10 to $2.25 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 8 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 9 to 10c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7½ to 7¾c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 11 to 12c.; new Valencias, layers, 6½ to 6¾c.; citron peel, 18c.; lemon peel, 12c.; orange peel, 13c.

SUGAR—There is quite a variety of granulated offered in this market. There is the standard in different size grain, and there is a grade said to be about equal to standard, but off in color. There is the Canadian-made beet root sugar and the foreign granulated. Very little of the latter is held here. If desired one might have a number of grades ot it. So there is granulated sugar and granulated sugar. We quote: Granulated, 4⅜ to 4½c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅞c.; Paris lump, 5½ to 5¾c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—There is still an easy feeling here; much more so than at other points. The sale is light and a fair stock is still held. Higher prices are, however, expected. We quote: Barbadoes, 23 to 25c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 30c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE — Eggs have rather deceived the trade, for instead of lower prices we have higher. Receipts are small and there is a fair demand. Butter is still dull. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 18 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 18 to 19c.

FISH — Everything is quiet in dry and pickled fish. The latter are light stock, and will rule high. Codfish and pollock hold their price, but fair stocks are held. If fresh fish could be got and weather would keep cold, there would be a good business in that line. As it is there are no herring, and few pollock. There is a fair supply of haddock and codfish. In smoked fish there are no bloaters or kippers which would sell, but of herring, which have little sale, there is fair, but not large, stock. A few lobsters are seen. A good many smoked haddies are moving west. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.40; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.75 to $1.80; Grand Manan herring, $1.85 to $1.90 per half-bbl.; smoked, 6½ to 7c. per box; shad, $4.50 to $5 per half-bbl.; Shelburne herring, $3.75 to $3.80 per bbl.; Canso, $5 to $5.25; boneless fish, 3¼ to 4c.; cod, 6 to 6½c.; frozen cod and haddock, 2 to 2¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS—In clear pork prices keep low and there is little doing. There is a fair movement in mess pork. In beef, trade is also light, with prices tending higher. Lard has considerable interest, and dealers have been buying freely. Those who bought some time ago are already making a good profit. In smoked meat a fair trade is doing. We quote: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15.50; mess, $13.50 to $14; plate beef, $13.50 to $14.50; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 9½ to 10c.; pure lard, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 6¾c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The feeling in flour has somewhat changed during the past week or two, and at present it favors an easier market. Dealers are inclined to buy lightly. Oatmeal also tends lower. Stocks are quite light Hay is dull. In cornmeal low prices continue. Dealers are slow to buy beans owing to somewhat uncertain market. Feed is still scarce. We quote: Manitoba $5.70 to $5.75; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.75 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.75; cornmeal, $1.90 to $2; middlings, $16 to $16.50; bran, $14.50 to $15.00; handpicked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; barley, $3.10 to $3.15; round peas, $1.25; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; yellow eye beans, $1.75.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The firm of Lily, Sons & Aldous has been dissolved.

S. Herbert Hayes has opened a commission business in the west end.

Mr. W. S. Clawson has been appointed agent for the province for the British & Benington Tea Trading Co.

The returns from the dairy produce shipped in cold storage by the ss. Bela to Bermuda were very satisfactory and will lead to much larger shipments.

A novel shipment passed through St. John the other day. It was three cars of Newfoundland dogs on their way to the Klondyke. There were between 800 and 900 dogs.

Mr. A. S. Bowman, who has been on the road for George E. Tuckett & Sons, is now looking after the brokerage business of his father, Mr. S. C. Bowman, whose illness was spoken of some time ago, and who THE GROCER regrets to learn keeps poorly.

The Havelock Mineral Spring Co., which does a large business here and in the eastern American cities, intends making arrangements for the sale of its different lines in Bermuda.

It is seldom a change in business is as great a surprise to the trade as that implied in the following notice: "We hereby give notice that we have this day sold out our entire stock of groceries and special brands to Messrs. Bowman & Angevine. All accounts due us will be collected by A. C. Jardine and all outstanding liabilities will be paid by him. Thanking our customers and the trade generally for their patronage extended to us in the past, we would ask for our successors a continuance of the same." Few firms have held the high position accorded to Jardine & Co. by the trade of these provinces during the long time they have been in business. But while we regret their removal, THE CANADIAN GROCER extends to the young men who have taken over the business its best wishes. Mr. W. C. Bowman is well known to the city trade, having for the last few years managed the large brokerage and general agency business of his father, Mr. S. C. Bowman. Mr. J. E. Angevine, the other member of the firm, has been in the employ of Jardine & Co. for many years, and is well known to all their many customers.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 10, 1898.

THE news sent east last week by telegraph that Mr. E. B. Nixon had severed his connection with the Hudson Bay Co. is not true There has simply been a re-arrangement, and Mr. Nixon finds himself at the beginning of the new year with somewhat fewer duties but with increased responsibility. Those who had the pleasure of doing business with Mr. Nixon are rejoiced at his advance, as he is decidedly one of the most popular men in the wholesale or retail grocery trade in Winnipeg.

The Thompson Codville Co. are the purchasers of the Turner Mackeand stock at 70½c. on the dollar, The other bids made were 67½c., 65c., and some ran as low as 40c. odd. The price paid is considered very good indeed; in fact, more than the stock is actually worth. The stock was practically the only asset of the firm, and at this figure brought about $19,000. As the liabilities of the Bank of Ottawa alone were over $88,000, the failure is a bad one.

Mr. J. D. Roberts has left the city for the Coast in the interests of G. F. & J. Galt's "Blue Ribbon" goods.

Mr. B. E. Pancoast, traveler for Swift & Co., of South St. Paul, visited our city last week to look into the general features of the pork trade, with the view of getting the goods put up by his company on this market. Bell & Armytage have been appointed brokers for the firm at this point, and will, in a few days, have samples of all goods put up by Swift & Co. in their office for inspection. Bell & Armitage are a new firm of brokers and commission men. Mr. W. N. Bell, who is a brother of C. N. Bell, secretary of the Grain Exchange, was for many years associated with Mr. J. D. Clark as Customs brokers, and is a man well known and popular. Mr. Armytage was in the Customs office here for some years, and has been, and is, very prominent in athletic sports. The firm has the strength of great personal popularity to help them in their new undertaking.

The Canadian Packing & Produce Company, capital $100,000, is a new enterprise seeking incorporation to handle cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry and dairy produce. Among those interested in the undertaking are J. T. H. McEwan, Jas. Stuart, Robt. Muir, R. P. Roblin, John G. Hargrave, Jos. Carman and J. S. Carveth.

The Provincial Government Dairy School is now in full operation. A building on Thistle street has been leased for a period of five years and fitted up in accordance with the latest improvements in dairying, under the direct supervision of C. C. Macdonald, Provincial Dairy Commissioner. The course for January is devoted to farm dairying and is attended by both men and women. The school now consists of large main room in which is erected the machinery for the manufacture of butter and cheese, the cream separators, churns, cheese vats, cream vats, butter workers and the like. Off this is a smaller room very conveniently arranged for milk testing and in the rear of this is the cheese curing room. Upstairs is a large lecture room with ample dressing rooms and lavatories and the superintendent's private office. During the month of February and part of March the course will be for professional butter and cheesemakers. Grocers throughout the province report a marked improvement in the quality of butter offered for sale since the opening of this school two years ago.

In the general grocery trade business is quiet but steady, and prices are well sustained, particularly in some lines. In wheat prices are a little lower in sympathy with outside markets, but there is practically nothing doing. Prices are about as follows:

DRIED FRUITS—Valencia raisins firm, and market is not overstocked. California muscatels have, to a large extent, been taking the place of the Valencias. This is accounted for by the price being so much under that of layer Valencias; price, 3-crown muscatels, 6¼c. The currant market is firm and prices well maintained, running from 6 to 7c., according to quality. Prunes are a shade easier, and the present outlook is that large quantities will be consumed at prices offering, viz., 5½ to 8c. per lb., according to the size of the fruit. Oregon prunes have turned out exceptionally well.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Apples are ruling higher, and are considered very good property at 11½c. Dried apples are not coming in very plentifully, and it is not likely that stocks will be much increased until the end of winter. At present the price is 6½c. Apricots are a shade easier at 10½c.; evaporated pears, halves, 11½c. per lb.

NUTS—In this line there is very little change. New Grenoble walnuts, 12c.; large Brazil nuts, 12½c.; filberts, 10c.; Valencia almonds, 28c.; Tarragona almonds, 11c.; peanuts, 11½c.; pecans, 12½c. A few Spanish chestnuts are still in the market and are offering for 18c. per lb.

CHEESE—Market is firm, and practically no heavy stocks being carried; price, 11c.

BUTTER—Supply of dairy visibly increased during the past week and price a shade lower, 15½c. Winnipeg for round lots of dairy being the figure quoted by leading houses this morning.

EGGS—This produce has not increased as anticipated, and price is still 18c.

FISH—This market is quiet and likely to continue so until the Lenten season opens. Labrador herring, in half-barrels, $3.40; Finnan haddies, 6 to 6½c. per lb.; bloaters, $1.20 per box; fancy boneless cod, in bricks, 6½c.; whole fish, 6c.; Loch Fyne herring, $2.25 per firkin and $1.25 per keg.

CANNED FISH—A few nice Canadian-packed kippered herring have reached this market and are meeting with great favor, the stock being fully equal to any English pack and at much lower prices, as they job at 12½c. per tin. It seems strange that no No. 1 mess mackerel can be got in this market. The buyers of several wholesale houses have tried repeatedly to obtain a supply of strictly No. 1 mess mackerel, but the fish have never proved satisfactory.

CANNED VEGETABLES—In all lines of canned vegetables, but more particularly tomatoes, the market is stiffening, and retail men would do well to see that they lay in sufficient stock before a further advance takes place, which may occur almost any day now. All classes of these goods are looked upon as exceedingly good stock. In canned fruits the market is quiet and steady and prices normal, with no present indication of change.

SUGAR—Up to the time of writing no change has taken place; granulated, 5⅛c.; yellows, 4⅜c.

CURED MEATS—Market firm and without change in price.

TOMATO GROWERS' COMPLAINT.

The tomato growers of Wentworth county met on Tuesday this week in Hamilton to organize for the purpose of getting better prices for their raw material. They complain that though the price of canned tomatoes is as high as formerly, they have received but 18c. a bushel during the past two years as compared with 30c. a bushel three years ago.

CATALOGUES, BOOKLETS, ETC.

The Laing Packing and Provision Co., Limited, Montreal, have issued to the trade a four-page price list, giving full information regarding their "Anchor" brand barrel pork, smoked meats, dry salted meats, lard, sausages, beef, canned meats, soups and sundries. They state that, as the market is advancing, now is the time to buy provisions.

The Fishing Gazette, New York, has issued this year a calendar with all Roman Catholic feast and fast days marked. The fast days are announced by printing a fish in red ink on the number space for the day. It also contains a half-tone view of Gloucester, Mass., showing its inner harbor.

A "TICKLER."

If the statement is true that brevity is the soul of wit, then originality is the body and brain thereof. The same is true of advertising, as is exemplified by a little cardboard folder recently sent out by Morse Bros., the manufacturers of the "Rising Sun" and the "Sun Paste" stove polishes. On the front cover of the folder are cuts of the packages in which their polishes are put up. On the back cover are the words, "It will tickle you," which naturally arouses one's curiosity. On opening up the folder one solitary feather is found, accompanied by a good advertisement of the polishes. As there is no explanation for the feather, the advertisement is naturally read thoroughly, and will long be remembered. Send for one.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Chas. A. Smylie, of Young & Smylie, the great licorice manufacturers, of Brooklyn, N.Y., is making his annual tour of London, Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal.

Mr. John L. Harris, one of Moncton's most prominent citizens, director of the Acadia Sugar Refining Co. and president of the Moncton Street Railway Co., died at 10 o'clock this week of heart failure after an illness of some weeks, aged 65. Deceased was one of the most energetic business men in the Maritime Provinces, and was mainly instrumental in establishing the Moncton waterworks, sugar refinery and cotton mill.

C. H. Robertson & Co., crockeryware, etc., dissolved; succeeded by Rosbrough & Thomas, Robt. Rosborough and Wm. M. Thomas, the latter the well-known and popular traveler for the late firm. Both of the young men are active and experienced. —Acadia, Halifax.

TOO LONG HOURS DECREASE EFFICIENCY.

In a published account of the trip abroad of Mr. J. H. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register Co., we find the following significant passage :

When Mr. Patterson landed in Great Britain his first effort was to learn what was needed to improve the condition of our business there. He found that what was holding us back there is holding us back in the factory, and has been holding back every other department and line of commerce. This was the fact that each man was doing work which could be delegated to the next man below him. He found that Mr. Hall and his men worked till 7 or 7.30 o'clock. " Well," said he to Mr. Hall, " that is too long. Probably you never read what Macaulay said when some one spoke of the Germans' ability to win. His answer was : ' No, they work too long. Never be afraid of a man that works twelve hours a day. The man that works but ten hours will get ahead of him.' Follow that out. Take these two hours and sit down to think what is the matter with you here. Put on more men. While it will increase the pay roll of the office, at the same time it will increase the output 25 to 50 per cent. It is a matter of $5 against $200." Mr. Patterson's advice was followed with most gratifying results.

Complaint has been made to Mayor Colquhoun that some grocers who get charity orders supply tobacco on them and enter it as sugar. No more orders will be given to any grocer doing such a thing in future.—Times, Hamilton.

PRIZE POEM ON CEYLON AND INDIA TEA.

The following poem, by Miss Ada S. Shelton, Derby, Conn., was adjudged by the committee of three literary people the best out of 5,128 which were submitted in the competition, and the prize of $200 was therefore awarded to her :

SONG FROM THE ORIENT.

"Double, double, toil and trouble," sang the witches as they stirred,
But I sing of richer potions than that trio ever heard :
From the coral strands of India, and from Ceylon's jeweled isle,
Comes a gift to cheer the nations, prince and peasant to beguile.

Take a teaspoonful of fragrance—'tis Ceylon and India tea—
Like the heart of gentle maiden its unsullied purity,
As an ardent lover pleading is the water's boiling heat,
And the teapot is the altar where the youth and maiden meet.

Lo! behold the transformation! minutes five, the act is done,
Power and purity are blended, and the two are now made one :
Love's bright flame hath wrought the marvel, now goes forth a wholesome life,
Soothing, comforting, refreshing, free from bitterness and strife.

Some may care for cream and sugar, loving each luxurious thing,
But perfection does not need them—crowns adorn, not make, a king.
Teas of other lands can never form a union strong and true,
Hands unclean their power has tainted, 'tis impurity they brew.

Modern man's inventive genius to this nectar gives its aid,
And it stands to-day unequalled, by machine 'tis cured and made.
Wide Pacific, great Atlantic, bluest Mediterranean Sea,
Bear to waiting millions safely, this Ceylon and India tea!

FOREIGN TRADE OF ST. JOHN.

The following trade returns for the port of St. John, N.B., are of interest : Total imports for the past year were $3,440,338 ; for the previous year, $3,513,157. Exports for 1897, $6,256,659, which show quite an increase over 1896, when they were $5,008,948. Beside this $271,663 worth of American goods were transhipped at this port for Great Britain during the year. During the past three months goods to the value of $324,108 have been shipped to the United States, chiefly lumber, of which $180,000 was American lumber sawn here. Fish and hides were the next largest item to lumber. Of farm products the value was only $15,404.

SURPRISE SOAP.

The St. Croix Soap Co. have been successful during 1897 ; in fact, Mr. Ganong, the managing director, told a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER that it had been the best year for business they had ever known. The company have a large share of western trade, and in spite of keen competition from firms on the spot they appear to be more than holding their own.

Amongst dealers and users of laundry soap in this country "Surprise" is almost as well known as Pears' is in England. It has always been kept up to its original high standard, and that, of course, has materially contributed its success.

CHANGE IN A PETERBORO' FIRM.

Blewett & Martin have purchased the old established grocery business of Alex. Elliott, Peterboro'. The firm has also adopted the name of the "Spot Cash Grocery Co.," which would intimate that it intends doing a cash trade.

A JUST OBJECTION.

The retail merchant has good cause for objecting to the payment of $2 for every inspection of his weigh scales by the inspector of weights and measures.

The inspection is necessary in the public interest, and the public ought to pay for the same in full. No good reason can be given why a merchant whose scales are correct ought to be assessed that the public may be assured of that fact. He does his full duty when he sees to it that his scales give honest weight.—Ottawa Citizen.

Editor GROCER: The letter of Mr. Donald in last week's GROCER should be endorsed by all grocery associations. For years there has been a steady decline in the quality of these goods. This season they were worse than ever, and as a natural consequence consumption dropped off, and many buyers are left with stocks on hand. This decline in quality should be taken up at once by the shippers' agents in this country. THE GROCER is a good medium through which to make such complaints, and I trust this and many other evils will be taken up by the trade.

Yours, etc.,
R. TASKER STEELE.

Good Advertising

For Wide Awake Retailers

By F. James Gibson.

Our "Good Advertising" department is to help our subscribers to do better advertising. The gentleman whom we have selected as its conductor is well known as one of the foremost advertising specialists of the day. Any of our readers who desire the benefit of Mr. Gibson's criticisms on advertisements or advertising methods, or his advice on any advertising subject, can have it or both entirely free of charge by writing to him in care of this journal.

If correspondents so desire, fictitious names or initials may be used for publication. But all requests should be accompanied by the subscriber's name,

ONE of the most neglected forms of advertising is the use of store signs. Many merchants spend a great deal of effort and money in newspaper and other advertising, and after they get the people into their stores they neglect the opportunity presented to them to advertise some of the particular features of their several businesses. In a large store people very frequently wander around in an aimless way. They, perhaps, did not come in for anything in particular, and they may possibly go out without becoming interested in anything. This is where a store sign is useful. Very frequently, too, after purchases have been made, and the customer is making her way out of the store, her eye will light on a store sign, which tells of some special offering or another. Her attention is arrested, the goods are examined, the sale is made.

A store sign to be properly effective must be made right. It ought to be plain, catchy, short, and to the point. It is intended merely for doing duty as a reminder. Necessarily it is not for details. The aim, of course, is to induce the reader of the sign to go to the department advertised on the sign. If you can excite curiosity you are on the right track, for most of the customers in retail stores are women, and all women are said to be curious.

A good place for store signs is in the elevator or elevators, if your store is provided with these conveniences. In stores where staircases are much used it will be found profitable to place signs there. A little observation will soon teach a dealer the best place for them. Of course, the best place of all is right in the department the goods of which are referred to on the sign. In the case of a department which is not of sufficient importance for a prominent position in the store and which you wish to "push," it will be found a good plan to place a sign belonging to that department in one of the larger and more frequented departments. In this way the stronger departments can be made to help the weaker. A show window is also a good place in which to hang your store signs.

These signs need not be expensive. It will often be found that someone around the store will be able to make very good ones. If not, someone can be hired to come in once a week or so for an hour or two. The only other requisites are white cardboard, ink and a brush. Another, and probably a better, plan is to procure a fount of wooden type. With this type comes a pad. You simply ink the pad, press one of the wooden letters against the pad, and then make the impression on the cardboard. A smart boy or girl can easily make all the signs you need. They won't look quite so nice as when well written, but they will answer all practical purposes.

To prevent the cards curling up a thin piece of wood ought to be glued or tacked to the back. It is a great improvement to have the cards in different colors—say red and black on a white ground. A good size to have them in is about 8 by 12 inches.

I take pleasure in presenting herewith a few samples of wording for store signs. I trust that the readers of THE REVIEW will find them useful :

Closely allied to this question of show cards is the use of price tickets. I am one of those who believe that the more information you can give the public about your goods without putting them to the trouble of asking questions the better they like it. If you have an article exhibited in your show window attach a price tag to it. Many a possible customer has been prevented from entering a store by the fear that some article which has been seen in the window and admired and which has no price ticket attached to it will be found to be too high in price. People are often quite sensitive about such things.

I have no doubt that there are still a great many retail dealers in different parts of Canada who still follow the antiquated custom of using a private selling mark in marking their goods. The practice was formerly quite common, and I am aware that old customs die a hard death.

Now, for my part, I don't believe I could ever be brought to feel happy and comfortable in buying goods in a store where the private mark is in vogue. I believe that most people feel just as I do about this thing. Unless it is the intention to charge some people more than others, why is this private mark used? If there ever was a time when a private selling mark was justified by conditions, that time has long since passed away.

There are hundreds of merchants to-day who are forever kicking against department stores. Yet when you go into the place of business of one of these kickers you will perhaps be confronted with a private mark on something you want to buy. And yet, Mr. Kicker wonders why so many of his customers prefer to buy from his hated rival, the department store man.

A good trade-mark is a good thing for either a wholesale or retail merchant. Up to within comparatively recent date the law governing the use of trade marks was in more or less a state of being created. Even at the present time comparatively few business men have anything but a very foggy notion of what can be registered as a trade mark and what can not. Briefly stated, a trade-mark is a sign or symbol used in commerce for branding goods or for other purposes. If this trade-mark is registered at the patent office it is known as a registered trade-mark. Any suitable symbol or mark can be registered as a trade-mark unless evidence is brought forward to show that the applicant has not the original and exclusive right to so register. The words, "John Jones' Tea" could not be registered as a trade-mark because there is more than one John Jones and more John Joneses are likely to live in succeeding generations. But the words, "John Jones' XXX Tea" could be registered as a trade-mark on account of the addition of the symbol or sign "XXX." This same rule applies to all proper names, such as christian names, surnames or geographical names. The name of a firm of more than one name cannot be registered as a trade-mark any more than can the name of an individual. The words "Crosse & Blackwell's Pickles," or "Day & Martin's Blacking," cannot be protected by registered trade-mark, because no one has any exclusive right to these names. Neither can the words, "Keen's Mustard" be protected, for the same reason. They have ample protection, however, under the common law.

A leading New York department store uses a red star as its trade mark. This red star is branded on many of its lines of goods. It is also used as a sign (illuminated at night) in front of the building. The firm's wrapping paper, stationery, etc., as well as its delivery wagons, also have it prominently displayed. This idea could be carried out by hundreds of merchants. In the event of a firm name being quite long or difficult to pronounce, a catchy and easily remembered name for the store is very desirable. If a certain store is the only one in the town with a front painted red, the words "The Red Store" would, if properly advertised, become a valuable trade mark. But it could not be registered. The words "The Big Store" are very successfully used by a firm with stores in Chicago and New York. The title is used in all the firm's advertisements. It is catchy, easily remembered, and, better still, it means something to the store's credit.

I know a very large retail store in New York which uses a peculiar style of outline type in all its advertisements. As the firm advertise extensively, millions of people have become familiar with the type, which, of course, is always associated in their minds with the firm which uses it. If some other advertiser were to use the same type it would probably be a losing game for him, as half or more of the people reading his advertisements would naturally think that they were Stern Brothers' advertisements. If Sterns' firm had originally invented this peculiarly-shaped type and had got it registered, they would, of course, have had the exclusive right to use it. Many other successful retail advertisers use a uniform type in the setting up of the firm's name in advertisements. This is sometimes done in connection with a registered trade mark, but oftener not.

Here are a few examples of firm names being set up in peculiar type and which I have selected at random from a number of United States and Canada papers :

ATTO
DRY GOODS ONLY

THE BARNSDALE TRADING COMPANY OF STRATFORD LIMITED

Arnold, Constable & Co.

B & K TRADE MARK

BROWNING KING & Co
Fulton St., cor. DeKalb Ave.
BROOKLYN.

EHRICH BROTHERS

A study of these examples may be of considerable profit to REVIEW readers. Of course, the main idea which underlies the exclusive and continued use of these peculiar types is the intention that the public will become so familiar with them that the advertisements actually get to be valuable trade-marks.

This result is more easily obtained if the whole of the advertisements are always set up in exactly the same type or types, no matter in what paper they appear. If a retailer is doing considerable advertising it will probably pay him to supply the different papers in his town with one or two founts of type which they haven't already got. The condition, of course, would necessarily be that they are to be used only in his advertisements. These one or two founts, helped out as needed from the general type stock of the office, will give an advertisement in which they appear a certain exclusive and peculiar appearance which would be very valuable for advertising purposes.

place. In the paper containing it were a number of other dry goods ads. After reading them all the conclusion I came to was that if I lived anywhere near the old Limestone City I would feel very much like buying goods from Starr & Sutcliffe. There are probably other dry goods stores in Kingston as good as theirs, but apparently there is no other which advertises as well as they do. This particular ad. makes the impression on your mind that Starr & Sutcliffe are safe people to do business with. They tell me that if I am not satisfied with the goods I buy from them I can get my money back without "any talk or controversy or cross looks" This makes me think that their goods must be carefully bought and moderately priced, because if one-fourth their customers wanted their money back the firm would probably be ruined. The ad. is well written throughout. It has a tone of honesty about it that is quite convincing.

The one mistake in the ad. is that there are no prices and other details mentioned.—THE DRY GOODS REVIEW.

AN AVERAGE FRENCH DRINK.

A PUBLICATION issued by the French Ministry of Finance gives some very elaborate statistics as to the quantity of wine, beer, cider and alcohol consumed in that country. From the very interesting document it is learned that the total amount consumed was 1,575,000,000 gallons, representing about 1 4-5 liters per diem for the whole population of France. The division was 967,000,000 gallons wine, 395,000,000 gallons cider, 202,500,000 gallons beer, and 36,800,000 gallons alcohol.

It is not necessary to say that, while the greater quantity of the wine is consumed in the large towns, the cider is nearly all drunk in the country, especially in Normandy and Brittany, and the official statistics give a table showing what is the consumption of wine in the forty-seven towns with over 30,000 inhabitants. The figures, as might be expected, vary very much, the annual consumption being largest in Boulogne-sur-Seine (59 gallons), Nice (56 gallons) and St. Etienne (54 gallons), while Paris is only thirteenth on the list with 45 gallons.

In none of the large towns in the south of France does the consumption fall below 30 gallons, but in seven large towns in the north (Lille, Boulogne-sur-Mer, Dunkirk, Caen, Calais, Roubaix and Turcoing) it averages only 6 gallons. Another table gives the consumption of alcohol, and here Rouen, Cherbourg and Le Havre head the list with an annual total of nearly 4 gallons per head of the population, or more than double the quantity consumed in Paris—Liquor Trade Review.

The contracts for supplies for the permanent military corps in London, Ont., have been awarded to the following: William Isaac, meat; John Diprose, bread; John Lawson, potatoes and groceries; William Percival, forage and straw for men; Wm Stevely & Son, cleaning stoves and furnishing stoves and stovepipes.

Each quart can represents five pounds of choice lean beef, ensuring the strength that no home made soup possesses. Examine it: no particles of grease float on the top—it is acceptable to the most delicate stomach; put it in a glass vessel and read a newspaper through the Soup—it is clarified as no home made soup can be. Tender Macaroni

"A thread-bare story" someone says. Perhaps so, but it will bear repeating. P. Codu makes his Macaroni from the only wheat that Macaroni ought to be made of—Russian Wheat.

This wheat gives a delicacy and whiteness to the Macaroni that can be obtained in no other way. Folks try to imitate it, but consumers don't see it in that light. We ought to know—we have had the experience.

Made by P. Codu.

Sold by leading wholesalers everywhere.

THREE CANADIAN ROUTES TO THE KLONDYKE.

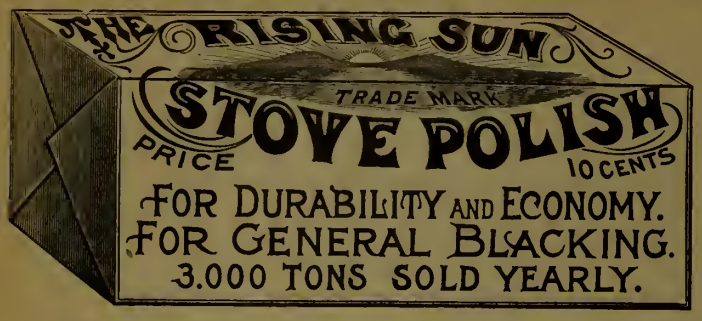
MR. WM. OGILVIE, the Dominion Government Surveyor, whose name is so prominently connected with the gold fields in the Yukon district, recently gave a lecture in Victoria, B.C., on these gold fields, together with a description of three of the Canadian routes on the Pacific. The following is that portion of the lecture which referred to the routes :

After a few introductory remarks Mr. Ogilvie said :

I will first introduce you to the several routes into this great gold-bearing region which are now known. Leaving Victoria by any one of the steamers which run from here, we make our way through the well-known Seymour Narrows, taking care to time our passage to reach there at a suitable stage of the water, for it is well known that no ship can go through except at either high or low tide. In a few days, according to the capacity of the steamer, we reach Port Simpson, the most northerly seaport in British Columbia or Canada on the Pacific Ocean.

VIA THE STICKEEN RIVER.

If we wish to make our way in in British bottoms we can here take the river steamer and proceed from Port Simpson to Wrangel, it being about 170 miles from the former point to the mouth of the Stickeen River ; proceeding up that river about 150 miles, or perhaps a little less distance, as will be proved when the surveys are made for the proposed railway facilities. That distance occupies sixty hours or a little more. From the head of the Stickeen the road would follow through an undulating country which presents no obstacle to railway construction, and for the greater part of the distance of 150 miles is pretty well covered with timber. I would mention, however, that the natural food supply available for horses will not be sufficient for any great number. It might be said that enough would be found for say two hundred head, but any great number would soon eat off what there is, and it will be necessary that such arrangements shall be made as will render it possible for the natural supply to be increased by importing sufficient for any number over and above that.



Arrived at the head of Teslin Lake, we produce our whipsaws and commence to get out lumber for our boats. Now, whipsawing has been said to be one of the inventions of Satan, and when two are doing that work it is necessary for success that one shall push and the other shall pull ; but when, as is often the case with the tenderfoot, both either pull or both push, there is likely to be some inquiry from the man who is above what the other fellow is doing, and there may be some complimentary language indulged in and the man below ask his partner to come down and have it out. And if the same man below gets a grain of sawdust in his eye during the progress of the quarrel there will be quite a sulphurous atmosphere for some time. After a while, though, in spite of these difficulties, the boat will be got ready, and then commences the trip down the Teslin Lake, which is eighty miles long and bounded on both sides by high mountains. This distance is of course only as I have been told. We arrive at the head of Hootalinqua River after traversing the lake. This river is marked on the map as being the Teslin, which is the Indian name for a fish which is caught in the lake. The Hootalinqua River is about 125 miles long —or a total distance from Victoria to Dawson City by way of the Stickeen. Teslin and Hootalinqua route of 1,600 miles. At two points, one near the head of the river and one quite a distance below, there are obstacles in the way of steamboat navigation at certain times of the year, during certain stages of the river. A few miles below the river broadens out into innumerable channels, until at last, at the lower end, it widens to two and a half miles. If one of these channels were deepened out a sufficient depth of water could be obtained to allow of a free passage for a steamer drawing three or four feet without difficulty.

VIA JUNEAU AND THE TAKU RIVER.

I leave you now at the mouth of the Teslin and go back to Wrangel, where we take an American boat to Juneau. There has been during the last few months some talk in regard to a proposed route by way of Taku Inlet. In 1894 and 1895 I was employed to go in that portion of the country. Taku Inlet is something about 18 miles long, and leads up to a glacier of much greater size and affording considerably more danger to boats than the much talked of Muir glacier in Alaska. The ice is cast off in great avalanches and is continually breaking off. I have visited the Muir glacier and have never seen a breaking off take place; whereas in Taku, where I remained for three weeks, I saw large bodies of ice break away every day, which in every case created a surge in the water that is dangerous to boats even to so great a distance as three miles away from the glacier. This Taku River extends for 60 miles. There are enormous gravel bars which render it impossible for steamboats to navigate it, although it is said they might during the months of June or July—or during the warm weather. From the forks we go up by the left-hand branch about nine miles over to Tagish Lake. Along this route we meet with no very great difficulties, and keep up about nine miles, going past the Silver Salmon creek. In regard to this route I may say, however, that I have not examined any considerable portion of it, but civil engineers are now exploring it, and their reports will, of course, be made public.

From the summit there will be no difficulty in constructing a road to Teslin Lake. We have here then two roads—one of them offering almost perfect advantages, with the additional greater one that it can be called an all-Canadian route if we choose to so name it.

VIA SKAGWAY AND THE DYEA ROUTE.

We can go back again to the Coast now and proceed a hundred miles above to Skagway, where we find the celebrated White Pass route. From tide water to the summit of White Pass is a distance of about 17 miles, four miles being through all timber. Above that the valley breaks, and any road will have to be constructed to lead along the hillside. An elevation of 2,600 feet is reached at the summit of the pass. Once on the summit the remainder of the 35 miles is tolerably level, but is extremely rocky, and the land is of very little value.

We now go to the Dyea route, which has been used by the Indians for generations. And it is evident that they knew their business in selecting it. The word "Dyea" is itself an Indian one, meaning "pack," or "load"—a very appropriate name for the trail. From tide water to the mouth of the canyon it would be as easy to build a road as well can be imagined, as easy almost as to construct one along one of your city streets. From the mouth of the canyon to Sheep Camp construction is more difficult; in fact it would probably be necessary to suspend the road by iron girders from the sides of the cliffs. From Sheep Camp to the head of the climb is yet more difficult, as all who have gone over the road will heartily agree. It is very steep and very, very stony. From the summit to Lake Lindeman there is a decline of 1,320 feet, and the road has been somewhat improved of late. Lake Lindeman itself, the first lake, is about four and a half miles long, and between Lake Lindeman and Lake LeBarge there is a sandy ridge three quarters of a mile long, which brings us to the end of the present Dyea route.

Lake Bennett, which is first encountered on what is known as the Skagway route, is for the first half of its length narrow and comparatively shallow. The other end of the lake is fully exposed to the strongest winds prevailing in that district, and which frequently get up a very ugly sea, decidedly dangerous for small boats, as I have myself experienced. Cariboo Crossing, which is about two and a half miles long, brings us to Tagish lake, which is about seventeen miles long. Here the Mounted Police and Canadian Customs officers have been stationed. The geography of Tagish Lake is already pretty well known, nor need any special attention be given to Marsh Lake.

Twenty-five miles from Marsh Lake we come to the canyon, where the river is very swift, and passes between almost perpendicular walls. Running the canyon is easily practicable, providing the boat be kept in the very centre of the stream. Do this and the boat rides through safely. If not, she will be dashed against the side walls of basaltic rock and pounded to pieces. In the middle of the canyon, which is about five-eighths of a mile long, is the basin—a circular pool which it would be impossible for a man to climb out of. At the foot of the canyon is a very large rapid, through which the boat goes so fast that she dips into them, taking in water, unless great care is taken. Should she get into the eddy, man and boat will be thrown on the bank whether they will or no. Below the canyon there is another rapid, which, however, offers no special obstacle to a man wanting to go through. I've been through.

WHITE HORSE RAPIDS.

Below that is what is known as the White Horse Rapid. Now, you can run the White Horse if you want to—at least you can try to. I don't. I traced up thirteen men who had lost their lives in running this rapid in a single season, and though I cannot say so for certain, I believe that this must have been a large proportion of those who made the attempt. Of course, for those who want to do the daring deed and talk about it afterwards, there is the White Horse Rapids to be run. I don't do it, however. Below at the Five Fingers the river is partially dammed by a conglomerate rock standing like a pillar in the stream. Avoiding it, let the boat go easy and all will be well. But see that the boat doesn't dip, or she will take much more water than you require. Below this there is another rapid, and then the smooth and unhampered river, from which on everything is all right.

THE DALTON TRAIL.

Of the Dalton trail I know nothing by personal observation—only by report. I had an interview with Mr. Dalton, from whom the trail is named, in 1896, and I have also talked with Mr. McArthur, our surveyor, who has spent some time in that district recently. Of course, the substance of his report cannot be divulged at present.

The summit of this trail is about 45 miles from the coast and 3,000 feet above the sea, the watershed is about 75 miles from the coast, and Dalton's trading post about 100 miles from the coast. Thence to the Pelly is 200 miles further. This route passes over a nice, undulating plain, well timbered in the valleys, and with grass on the slopes, but not enough to feed any number of animals. The first 34 miles of the Dalton trail is in disputed territory, the rest of it in Canada, just as is the case with the Dyea and Skagway trails. Now, for my part, I think it is our duty as Canadians to sink all political differences—to let the fire of patriotism consume all feelings that would tend to retard the acquisition of this most desirable line as an all-Canadian route to the Yukon —(applause)—so that we may enjoy as far as possible the benefits that region will bring if we use our rights wisely and well.

CANADA HAS THE BED OF THE YUKON.

We have the best end of the Yukon River —that is certain. In going down the Yukon in a steamer recently from Dawson City, the first 140 miles was made without any difficulty, and until we got below Circle City there was no trouble. But below that the steamer began to labor, the water got shallower, and the steamers have often been detained on sand bars for weeks. It is a common occurrence to be delayed hours, and even days on bars and on what is known as the Yukon flats, just below Circle City. Not once is there a difficulty of this kind found in our part of the river, but in the Alaska portion it is an everyday occurrence for a steamer to stick. I know of one steamer that stuck for three weeks, another that was on a sand bank for four or five days, until another steamer came along and bunted her off, and then stuck on the same bar herself—and I don't know how long she stayed there. (Laughter.)

The navigation of the Yukon River in the upper part is open from May till the middle of October; while at the mouth it is not open before the 1st of July, and navigation does not last longer than the 1st of October—that is only from two and a half to three months—and it takes river steamers fourteen, fifteen and sixteen days to get up the river to Dawson. St. Michaels, the headquarters of the river boats, is 80 miles from the mouth of the river, and only in calm weather can river steamers cross that bit of open sea. Of course this route by way of St. Michaels with its river difficulties is not our road. We have a right to navigate the Yukon, but as I said before, it is not our route.

THE DUTY ON OATS AND OATMEAL

Editor GROCER,—Referring to your notice of the 17th ult., of the deputation of oatmeal millers to the council of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, your opinion, founded on the statistics of foreign imports of oats and oatmeal for 1896, is rather crude as expressed in the face of the following facts: The oat crop in Manitoba in 1896 was a failure, but in Ontario it was bountiful, and Ontario was then our principal competitor. Again, we had on hand a large surplus from 1895 at reasonable prices, and were thus enabled to barely hold our own. The crop of 1897 was small in Manitoba, and the prices are high, with a strong tendency to go still higher. Oats are plentiful and low in price in the States, and oatmeal is being offered on the Winnipeg market at a figure which absolutely shuts out the Manitoba miller, and the mills are, therefore, closed down.

The injustice suffered by us is in the relative disparity between the raw material and the manufactured article, in the tariff, which was certainly fixed upon insufficient evidence. The tariff on oatmeal should be increased immediately to a protective degree. This would mean no hardship to the consumer, as the producing facilities in oatmeal in this province are much ahead of the consumption, and competition for the limited demand is keen, and this will keep the price of oatmeal within reasonable limits for a long time to come.

INSTEAD OF BUTTER.

A good many years ago, when orange marmalade was first introduced into England, some of the dealers advertised it as "an excellent substitute for butter," so says a British journal.

A Lancashire workingman's wife, seeing such an advertisement in a shop window, concluded to give the novelty a trial. She bought a two-pound jar. The next morning she entered the shop in a state of high indignation.

"You old villun!" she exclaimed to the grocer. "What did you mean by selling me that stuff? I pretty nearly poisoned my old man with it."

"How were that?" asked the innocent shop-keeper.

"How were that! Didn't you say it were a substitute for butter?"

"Yes, I did."

"Well, it is a grond substitute! I used some of it to fry a bit of fish with, and it made us all sick as we could be!"

THE CURRANT SITUATION.

A SHORT time ago W. H. Gillard & Co., of Hamilton, requested Mr. D. Pasqua, of Patras, Greece, to prepare a special report for them in regard to the currant situation. This he has done, and an interesting report it is.

Mr. Pasqua states that last year's yield has been a great disappointment, both in quantity and quality; the latter in consequence of the peronospora, which disease has had the effect of making the fruit soft and sticky, as if some foreign substance had been sprinkled upon it, and while the fruit, after being picked, may present a good color and form, as soon as handled and pressed it loses its former brilliancy and dry appearance. All shippers have had to complain of results similar to the above, and it is due to the unhealthy condition of the tree, affected, as it has been, by the disease.

With regard to the position of the market Mr. Pasqua directs attention to the fact that the total of the fruit still existing in Grecce is under 17,000 tons. Out of this 2,000 tons will go to the retention service (15 per cent. of the amount exported), and there is, therefore, 15,000 tons maximum to deal with between this and the new crop.

"You must observe from the list of shipments," says Mr. Pasqua, "that our consuming markets are still far from having purchased what they require for their yearly consumption. Take England in the first case. England's home consumption is on the average 56,000 tons, plus 7,000 tons she exports to the colonies, India, China, etc., making a total of 63,000 tons. She has bought, up to date, 50,000 tons, and will, therefore, require a further 13,000 tons, so that at the end of the season not one ton will be left to carry over.

"The United States and Canada have taken on an average, during the last three years, over 16,000 tons, whilst these two countries have not yet purchased 10,000 tons. Holland and Germany buy on an overage 40,000 tons, and they have not yet had one-half of the yearly supply.

"It must, therefore, be admitted, as a natural consequence, that our 15,000 tons will be dearly paid for by those who require currants, and there are numerous buyers in the field. Our prices will have to go higher, and will be much higher than our present quotations before the last ton has been disposed of. We have yet seven months before the new crop and the greater delay in shipments the higher will be the tone of this market.

"Provincial fruit is now selling in England at 24 to 25 shillings, duty paid (2 shillings duty), and you will see the price 30 shillings ere long."

LONDON RETAIL GROCERS.

A MEETING of the Retail Grocers' Association of London was held on the evening of Jan. 18. The officers were all present, and there was a better attendance of members than usual. It was the regular meeting, but several questions of importance to the trade were on the slate for discussion.

The first on the list was the exemption of the salaries of civil service employes from attachment for just debt. It was pointed out that Government employes were generally receiving good salaries, but many of them were not as prompt as they should be in paying their accounts, and the question of petitioning the Government to so amend the Garnishee Act that the salaries of civil service employes may be attached for just debt was unanimously adopted. This question has been discussed by the association at various meetings in the past, and now the members are pleased to know that other associations throughout the Dominion are also taking up the question and that deputations will wait on Parliament at its coming session and present the petitions asking for the desired amendment in the Act. The secretary was requested to prepare the petition for signature, and a committee was appointed to arrange for presenting the same at the coming session of Parliament.

Another question that has been discussed for some time past by this association, and the attention of Parliament called to it some two or three years since, is the system of charging fees for inspection of weights and measures. We are pleased to notice that the grocers' associations of other cities are also falling into line on this question, and will co operate in petitioning the House of Commons to place the inspectors on salaries and do away with collecting fees for inspection. The secretary was instructed to prepare petitions for signature and to send copy of same to all other associations, asking co-operation. The inspection of weights and measures is more particularly in the interest of the public, and it is felt that the present system of charging fees is an injustice to the merchants.

Questions of local interest were discussed. Among others, it was suggested that there is room for improvement in the market house and square, and it was decided that, as it was getting too late in the evening to fully discuss this question, a special meeting will be called for the purpose of preparing plans and suggestions to present to the City Council. The secretary was instructed to answer communications from Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec associations, and the meeting adjourned at 10 p.m., to meet again at the call of the president.

SULTANA RAISINS DEARER.

A cable from Smyrna received this week noted an advance of 2s. 6d. on two-crown grade of Sultana raisins, making the cost to lay down 9.70 duty paid. Total receipts last year for the crop were 247,000 boxes. To the present time this year the receipts have been 121,000 boxes, while the probable receipts for the balance of the season, under the high prices ruling on the other side, liberally estimated, will not, it is said, exceed 20,000 boxes, which would show a deficit in receipts of over 100,000 boxes.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

MISSISQUOI CHEESE SYNDICATE.

THE annual meeting of the Missisquoi Cheese Syndicate was held in Cowansville, Que., on Saturday, the president, Mr. Jas. Mackinnon, manager of the Cowansville branch of the Eastern Townships Bank, in the chair.

The report of the inspector, Mr. Arthur Macfarlane, contains some very interesting information. It shows that there were nineteen cheese factories and one butter factory in the syndicate last year. These were supported by 617 farmers, who brought the milk from 7,119 cows. The amount of cheese made was 1,345,516 pounds, or 19,220 boxes. The amount of milk used up in this manner was 13,791,514 pounds. The butter made amounted to 57,204 pounds, which required 1,315,629 pounds of milk. The money value of the cheese produced was $114,368.86, and of the butter $9,216.64, a total of $123,585.50 worth of goods made by the twenty factories. The inspector made 4,477 tests of milk. The average per cent. of fat was 3.8. The average yield per cow was greater than last year, but the inspector finds that there are many dairies where the average, even in the best part of the season, is only ten pounds per cow. Some give as high as 26 pounds per cow, but the usual run is from 15 to 18 pounds per cow. The report was adopted.

There was a discussion as to the possibility of discontinuing Sunday cheese making, and it was generally admitted that this matter rests with the makers themselves, as it has been shown that there is no difficulty in the farmer holding his Sunday's milk until Monday morning, if he does not otherwise use it. In fact, most of the factories now do not make on Sundays, but there are still a few who do, and an effort is to be made to get those to agree not to do so. One factoryman said that by refusing to make cheese on Sundays he had lost two patrons, but had gained two others for the same reason. This question and that of the price that should be charged by the makers per pound for cheese will again be brought before the dairymen's convention, resolutions having been adopted to that effect.

There was considerable dissatisfaction last year over the methods of payment adopted by the buyers. Payment is made after the cheese has gone to Montreal, and this gives the exporters a chance to make reductions for alleged faults or for other reasons that are very irritating to the factorymen, but which they have to put up with. As an attempt to rectify this, the following resolution was passed: "That this syndicate recommends that the manner of payment for cheese now in practice be changed to payment at Cowansville on the day shipment is made, and that this matter be brought before the cheese board at its next meeting."

The old board of officers was re-elected as follows:

President, Jas. Mackinnon, Cowansville; vice president, E. G. Welch, Farnham. Directors—C. M. Harvey, W. O. Perkins, East Dunham; E. A. Russell, Jared Hawk, North Stanbridge; W. H. Tilson, Farndon. Secretary, C. P. Taber, Cowansville.

HIS HOST WAS PREPARED.

A well-to-do Georgia farmer invited a merchant friend to dine with him. The merchant was known for his crankiness, and had once tried to shoot people for imagined wrongs. The farmer had considerrble business dealings with him, and they were on the best of terms. However, the farmer always kept a wary eye on him.

Several days after the dinner at the farmer's house the merchant said to him: "I can't account for the queer feelings and impulses I have occasionally. For instance, the other day when I was dining at your table it suddenly came into my mind to kill you, though I had nothing in the world against you. I had a pistol in my pocket at the time, and once I had my hand on it, when the strange feeling passed from me."

"Don't let that bother you," said the farmer. "I knowed all about your failin's in that line, an' I wuzn't asleep when I saw your hand go to your hip. My Son, John, was standing in the hallway with a shot-gun leveled at you, an' you just did save your bacon by changin' your mind. Ef yer hadn't he'd er blowed daylight through you."—Atlanta Constitution.

ORIGIN OF "DEADHEADS."

Very few of our readers are probably aware of the origin of the word "deadhead," which is so frequently used in connection with theatrical representations. It is stated to be as follows: Many years ago, at the time of turnpikes, the principal avenue of a town passed close to the entrance of a road leading to the cemetery. As this cemetery had been laid out some time previous to the construction of the road it was arranged that all funeral processions should be allowed to pass along the latter free of toll. One day as a well-known physician, who was driving along this road, stopped to pay his toll, he observed to the keeper, "Considering the benevolent character of our profession, I think you ought to let us pass free of charge." "No, no, doctor," said the gate-keeper, "we can't affard that, you send too many deadheads through as it is." The story traveled around the country, and the word "deadhead" was eventually applied to those who obtained free admission to the theatre.—New York Ledger.

FIGHTING DEPARTMENT STORES.

The dealers in Denver, Col., in single lines of goods are combining against the department stores. The retail butchers, grocers and pharmacists have already taken action, and have appealed to all other lines of business to aid them. A bill is before the City Council known as the "Department Store Ordinance," and the retail associations are moving to secure the enactment of the ordinance. They have also resolved to give all the assistance possible to the daily newspapers which have refused to reduce their advertising rates in accordance with the demands of the department store combine.

BRITISH TRADE FOR 1897.

The Board of Trade returns for 1897 show that while imports from all countries increased 2 per cent. from 1896 the imports from Canada increased 25 per cent. The chief increases are: Wheat, £782,000; cheese, £760,000; butter, £105,000; eggs £15,000; timber, £1,303,000; cattle, £437,000; fish, £91,000. The decreases were: Wheat, flour, £13,000; sheep and lambs, £30,000; bacon, £172,000; hams, £105,000. Exports to Canada decreased nearly 6 per cent., and exports to all countries over 2 per cent.

LEANS TO PREFERENCES.

JUDGING from a remark which he passed on Saturday last when a deputation of business men waited upon the Dominion Government re insolvency law, the Hon. David Mills objects to doing away with preferences because the banks would thereby be prevented from receiving collateral security for advances. "You would then," he declared, "prevent parties from receiving accommodation."

Mr. Mills is taking an exaggerated view of the situation. Denied the right to make preferences the banks would undoubtedly be more careful in advancing money, but it by no means follows that they would cease to give accommodation.

Any and every sound business house could get accommodation, with an insolvency law in existence, just as it can now with none in existence. And it would be a sad commentary upon the business condition of the country if the possibility of securing accommodation from a bank would vanish with the enactment of an insolvency law which made illegal the giving of preferences.

Preferences are unsound in a business sense, and tend to evil in a moral sense. A banker or a merchant is certainly better secured when he ranks as a preferred creditor. But that does not alter the fact that it is wrong in principle.

"By their fruits ye shall know them." And the fruit of the preference system is bad, flagrantly bad. The tree which bears it must be cut down. Business men are almost a unit in regard to this point. The only people as a class who are against it are the bankers.

There is no question about the evil effects of preferences, and even the interests of the bankers should not save it from extermination.

Although the tendency of the day is toward the cash system of doing business, yet it can only obtain within a certain limit. The great bulk of the world's trade and commerce will always necessarily be done on credit, although as civilization expands and the different parts of the world are drawn closer together, there will just as necessarily be a shortening of the terms of credit. And as long as a large proportion of business is done on credit, just as long will it be necessary that there shall be adequate laws for the regulation and protection of the same.

Preferences are a hindrance rather than a help to trade. They have been a source of protection to the few, but a source of much injury to the many.

The design of the insolvency bill, which it is proposed to introduce at the next session of the Dominion Parliament, is to afford better protection to Canadians doing business with each other and to British and foreign merchants doing business with Canadians. A part of the plan of the proposed law is the extermination of the preference evil; and an insolvency law which does not do this will, like a modern rifle with an ancient flint lock, be useless.

SHOW THE TENDENCY OF TRADE.

The earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway during 1897 aggregated $24,046,792, compared with $20,681,598 in 1896, an increase of over 16 per cent.

The earnings of the Grand Trunk during the same period were $23,471,172, against $22,705,869 in 1896, an increase of over 3 per cent.

If straws show which way the wind blows, railway earnings just as faithfully show which way trade is tending.

CANNED GOODS SITUATION.

PRICES of tomatoes on the Toronto market are becoming more uniform, houses which, two weeks ago, were willing to accept $1 per dozen now being firm at $1.20. The lowest quotation we have been able to get is $1.15, and that is from one house, while the highest is $1.25, and that is asked by several houses.

At the high prices ruling, there is not much business doing, but if wholesalers were willing to shade their figures there would be no difficulty in finding customers.

The key to the canned tomato situation is undoubtedly the demand on British Columbia and the Klondyke account. As far as Ontario is concerned, retailers have, as a rule, good stocks, better even than usual, and it would not be surprising to see consumers buying below the wholesale figures.

But there is no question regarding the large quantity of tomatoes and other descriptions of canned vegetables which will be wanted for those going into Canada's new gold fields in the far north. Thousands of United Statesers, Canadians, to say nothing of those from Europe, etc., will be found wending their way there next spring. We learn that Cook's Agency in London, England, has already booked something like 30,000 passengers to go into the Klondyke in the spring. All these will want canned vegetables, and enormous quantities, too, so that, as far as the situation in Ontario is concerned, it can scarcely be accounted a factor.

Strong, however, as is the canned vegetable situation in general, and the canned tomato situation in particular, the fact must not be overlooked that canned vegetables have not the market altogether to themselves: Quantities of evaporated vegetables, such as celery, potatoes, cabbages, turnips, carrots, onions, etc., are being put upon the market in concentrated and convenient form for the Klondyke trade. These are certain to find a good sale, and as they are somewhat approaching a substitute for canned vegetables they will, of course, to some extent be used in place of the latter.

This will not prevent high prices ruling for canned goods; it will only tend to prevent their value from appreciating to the extent it otherwise would.

A QUESTION OF PROFITS.

MERCHANTS, both wholesalers and retailers, should make an effort to get the benefit of any advances in the market price of goods which they may have in stock. Business common-sense demands it.

Unfortunately the efforts of most merchants, when the market price of any commodity advances, appear to be concentrated on a persistent effort to sell at the old figures such stocks of the particular commodity they may have in their warehouses or stores, notwithstanding that to replace them more money will have to be paid.

It is only business that if a merchant can take advantage of any advance in price that he should do so. When there is a drop in the market on a staple article, nine chances to one he will have to follow it, notwithstanding he loses money thereby. And if the merchant has to follow the market on the down grade, why should he not follow it on the up grade? In justice to himself, in justice to his creditors, he should. It is only an evening up process. Merchants are not in business for charity. They are in business at least to make a living.

Sometimes, owing to the existence of large stocks, it is not possible to take advantage of an appreciation in values, but where this condition does not obtain there is no excuse for failure to follow the market when it is tending upward.

At present currants are steadily advancing, but we see wholesalers filling orders at prices lower than it would cost to lay down similar grades to day. It is the same with canned goods. In sugar they have been following the market, but this is because they have an agreement among themselves as to the price of this commodity.

The retailers are even greater sinners In this respect than the wholesalers. Most of them are selling canned tomatoes at away below what they could replenish their stocks. Sugar—well that is a commodity which retailers are never supposed to make any profit upon: At any rate, as a rule.

The few merchants who are conducting business on business principles, as far as prices are concerned, are making money.

We know, for example, of one well-known Toronto retailer who, by taking advantage of the recent advance of one-eighth in the price of sugar, made one hundred and fifty dollars more than he otherwise would.

This is the only proper way to do business, and the merchant whose course is to the contrary will enjoy little, if any, success.

The merchant who fails to reap the advantage of an advancing market is like unto a mariner whom bad weather compels to shorten sail, but who neglects to adjust his sail to the favorable conditions when good weather obtains.

Merchants who sell for cash deserve credit for common sense.

VALUING STOCK.

WHEN a thing becomes a millstone around the neck of a business it should no longer be accounted an asset.

An asset tends to upbuild; a millstone around the neck tends to pull down. And yet there are business men who persist in retaining as an asset that which is a hindrance to business and no longer a help.

When taking stock it naturally causes some qualms to write off as valuless that for which money, more or less large in amount, was paid. But it is better that many dollars worth of goods should go by the board than that the whole business should be wrecked.

There is at present in Toronto a loan company, which is in the process of liquidation, whose affairs are in a deplorable condition, and yet it has all along been able to show, on paper, a goodly surplus of assets over liabilities. And the reason, forsooth, was that it persisted in placing a value on properties, etc., which had become a tax upon the company instead of a source of revenue.

This has been a lesson to other companies, for THE CANADIAN GROCER could cite some which are writing off everything which has no longer any value and setting down at its proper value every asset which has depreciated.

It is hoped it will also be a lesson to business men who are at present engaged in stock-taking.

Not to put a proper value upon the assets is to put a fictitious value upon them. And that is about as sensible as it would be for a man who has had one leg cut off at the knee to declare he was in limb perfect.

A PEEP INTO DEPARTMENTAL STORE METHODS.

DEPARTMENTAL stores will not gain in popularity by the revelations which the court proceedings in the John Eaton Co., Limited, are making.

The proceedings, it will be remembered, are being brought by the Bank of Toronto against the insurance companies for recovery of the amount of the insurance on policies which had been assigned to it by the John Eaton Co., Limited, a few days after the fire which destroyed its stock and premises.

During the process of the investigation some interesting details are being brought to light which reflect anything but creditably upon the business methods of the defunct firm.

There is only one point which it is our intention to touch upon at present, and that is in regard to the advertising methods which were adopted to cajole the public. For instance, one of the members of the late firm, under cross-examination, acknowledged that when a certain article had been advertised at five cents as being worth 29 or 39c., the value was purely imaginary and fictitious, and given for the purpose of contrast. He further confessed that this practice was also followed in regard to other articles.

This may or may not be the practice of other departmental stores, but there is no question about its being practised by the John Eaton Co., Limited, and the general public will not run away with the idea that this particular departmental store is the only sinner in this respect.

Imaginary and fictitious values are lying values, and nothing can warrant departmental or any other stores from calling them to their aid in business building. A merchant who holds to the contrary and puts imaginary and fictitious values upon his goods for the purpose of contrast is no less foolish than the man who builds his house upon sand.

Everyone who is conversant with values has for a long time been aware that this practice of giving imaginary and fictitious values to goods for the purpose of catching the public is only too prevalent among departmental stores. And now that the fact has been made so obvious to the public, benefit should accrue to the ordinary retailer. But retailers should also be careful that they do not "in moments of weakness" become sinners like unto unscrupulous departmental store men.

BAD FLAVORED BUTTER.

THE experience this season with the receipts of winter creamery in Montreal has certainly not been satisfactory.

A large percentage of the butter has shown a distinct stable flavor; in other words, the patrons of some factories in milking their animals did not exercise sufficient care.

This question of stable flavor is one of the greatest drawbacks in the case of winter dairying, and if it is to be carried on successfully, that is, if the goods are to command the best prices, every farmer must exercise the greatest cleanliness in milking and in the care of the milk while it is on the way to the factory.

There is nothing more susceptible to impure odors than milk, and it stands to reason that if a farmer has a close, ill-ventilated stable, the milk from such a farm wil taint the butter into which it enters with the undesirable stable flavor of which there have been so many complaints recently.

It all goes to show that one careless, dirty patron can ruin the reputation and curtail the revenue of the other clean farmers of the district. The latter should exert some moral or other suasion upon these offenders.

THE KLONDYKE DID IT.

The excitement over the Klondyke gold fields is benefiting other people as well as Canadians. Here is an instance:

A firm in Germany has for something like fifteen years been evaporating onions, cabbages, potatoes, carrots, turnips, etc., but there has been practically no market for them, only a few thousand dollars' worth having been disposed of during all those years.

Quite recently, however, the New York representative of this German firm made a trip to the Pacific Coast, and in that one trip sold no less than $200,000 worth of these evaporated goods. Now he is making a tour of the chief business centres in Ontario, and good orders are being secured there, too, from the different wholesale houses.

WILL APPLE PRODUCTS ADVANCE?

SOME sanguine expectations are expressed by holders regarding the future course of values on all apple products. These are based on the acknowledged strong statistical position of goods of this nature.

At this time last year green apples were a drug on the market, almost every fruit dealer having a large stock. This year, as everyone knows, green apples are almost as scarce as the fabled "Roc's" eggs and are firmly held. Yet, with a small crop, Great Britain, as the exports recently show, is drawing larger supplies from Canada than she did last winter when there were bountiful stocks.

These is, therefore, the two bull conditions of a largely decreased crop and an increased foreign demand to be considered.

Of course, the aggregate exports, for obvious reasons, are less than last year, but for the first week of January Great Britain took 34,197 barrels of apples against 29,298 in 1897, an increase of 4,899 barrels.

These strong conditions, however, are exerting no influence whatever on retailers, who appear to be entirely unconcerned whether prices will advance or not. This, no doubt, is due to the fact that they have enough stock to go on with and that they did not make money on the said stock, because the market declined last season after they had loaded up.

This time next year it is quite probable that they will be ready buyers, for, as illustrated above, canned and evaporated apples promise to be good property during the coming spring and summer, as with no green apples available, the canned and evaporated substitutes are bound to take their place.

This is a peculiar trait with the average retail buyer, that after a year of small profits or rather no profits on any given article, he is apt to ignore ruling conditions and err on the side of caution; whereas, after a year of good demand and good margins he errs in the other direction of rushing in to buy as early as possible.

In a word, many retailers seem determined to ignore the fact that there is a law of reaction in commercial matters, and that the proper time to speculate, if one must speculate at all, is when a certain article is on the rebound, and not when the said rebound is over.

However, the fact remains that buyers are cautious at present, while holders are not urging sales at all, being confident that prices are bound to advance.

THE RECENT DROP IN SUGAR.

THERE were a couple of contributory causes to the recent weak turn in the sugar market.

The one was the continued mild weather on the continent of Europe which kept the canals open and allowed deliveries of sugar to be made at Hamburg, which would not otherwise have been made for some months later. The market is, therefore, actually at the moment suffering from the pressure of actual sugar.

Then in Cuba there has been some pressure to effect ready sales of sugar, there being an anxiety, on account of the disturbed state of the country, to make shipments as quickly as possible.

Furthermore, there are 68 central sugar factories grinding in Cuba compared with eight last year, while the sugar crop of the island is estimated at 400,000 tons, compared with 231,000 tons last year.

The tone of the market is, however, a little better than it was, slightly higher prices ruling in London.

It may, perhaps, not be uninteresting in this connection to note that progress is being made in the movement for abolishing the sugar bounties in Europe, although the society of German sugar producers, at a meeting held in Berlin on the 16th inst., adopted a resolution declaring the abolition of the bounties would only be acceptable provided all countries abolished both direct and indirect bounties.

CAN SELL PATENT MEDICINES.

Subject to the sanction of the Legislative Council, grocers in the Provice of Quebec may sell "non-official" patent medicines henceforward, the Legislative Assembly having on Friday adopted Mr. Gouin's bill to that effect. For the information of the uninitiated, it may be stated that "non-official" medicines includes all such as are not included in the list of those described in the British Pharmacopœia.

BREAD-MAKING QUALITIES OF WHEAT.

IT is pretty generally understood that there is a great difference in both the food value and the bread-making qualities of flour made from different grades of wheat.

Tests before the Minnesota University Agricultural Experimental Station show that in flour made from samples of wheat from many different countries there is a great difference, principally in the gluten.

The gluten of wheat is composed of two parts. One of the parts is called gliadin, and resembles gelatine. It binds together the flour particles to form the dough, enabling the dough to retain the gas and become light when the bread is raised. A certain amount of this gliadin is essential, yet an excess amount may cause a soft, sticky dough, and produce a poor quality of bread. The other part is the glutenin, or the material to which the gliadin attaches itself.

Besides the glutenin in wheat there is a small percentage of albumen and water proteids, which are not essential to making bread, and which are not muscle forming or vital nutrients.

Two samples of wheat may have the same amount of gluten, yet the quality of bread produced from one of them may be much superior to that produced by the other, because one sample may have the right proportion of gliadin, and the other may not have the right proportion.

The most valuable wheats for both food and bread-making purposes are those rich in protein, of which 80 to 85 per cent. is gluten and in which the gluten is composed of about 60 per cent. gliadin and about 40 per cent. glutenin.

In a table published in the bulletin issued by this experimental station it is seen that northern grown hard spring wheat is rich in protein and contains the right proportion of glutenin and gliadin. In the northern grown soft wheats there is from 7 to 13 per cent. more of gliadin and a corresponding less amount of glutenin. Wheat from India and Chili showed a very low percentage of protein, and the gluten is of an entirely different character from that of hard northern wheat. An excess of gliadin in flour or gluten otherwise poor can be detected in the following way :

To an ounce of flour add a sufficient amount of water to form a stiff dough ; after allowing an hour for the physical qualities of the gluten to develop, place the dough in a small linen or fine cotton bag, work the mass gently with the fingers, while a small stream of water is allowed to flow on the bag. This is continued until the water that drains from the bag is clear, which indicates that the starch has been washed out. The qualities of the gluten can then be observed. Good gluten is elastic, and when pulled the threads are long and rope-like. Good gluten is not sticky, when flattened it has a good power to recoil, and it can be kneaded into a thin transparent mass. Poor gluten is dark in color, very sticky ; when pulled, the threads readily break and are flat and tape-like. Poor gluten has but little power to recoil.

Bread made of flour from which the gliadin has been extracted does not "rise" properly, and when baked is not half as big as a loaf made from the same quantity of flour from which the gliadin had not been extracted but it weighs about as heavy as the same bulk of rubbber.

GOOD ADVICE TO CLERKS.

THE Montreal retail grocery clerks held their third lecture in St. Joseph Hall Jan. 16, given by Mr. L. Cete, editor of Moniteur du Commerce. He took for his subject the necessity of bookkeeping.

Mr. Cete stated that no business could run successfully unless one could account for every item. The only way to be able to do this is to keep a set of books, in which one should be careful to have all the entries clear and well written. He explained how in many cases it was the direct cause of failure by not keeping an inventory. The lecturer gave his idea of an inventory. The first item to estimate, in his opinion, was one's self. There are many ways of knowing one's self, but everyone in business, to a certain extent, depends upon the honesty of one another. A merchant should, at the end of the first year, look into his own character, health, etc., whether the strain will be too much for his brain or not. Next make a thorough examination of your conscience, bring back all the deeds and misdeeds which happened during the year and have a balance. If this was done one would be in a better condition to know what to do and would have more confidence in himself.

Next, make an inventory of the store and goods. In this he should get and keep his exact standing, and when furnishing wholesale houses with the same always give a clear and true statement of your affairs. "The statement should be taken and given the date when you are negotiating for goods, you would then find it quite easy to get credit."

The lecturer also dwelt upon the market quotations. He said that many clerks did not bother their heads about anything of that kind. This would be the most important part if they ever intended going into business for themselves. The necessity of studying the output of different manufacturers was touched upon, for in that way one can post himself as to whether the prices are liable to go up or down.

THE USES OF AMMONIA.

Few people have any idea of the numerous uses to which ammonia may be put, says an exchange. The preparation known as aromatic ammonia is exceedingly valuable in many ailments—for example, 10 or 20 drops in a wineglass of water will revive a fainting person as quickly as brandy, and is an excellent stimulant in cases of nervous depression and approaching headache, restoring the circulation and often helping a weak heart. It is so cheap and satisfactory a remedy that there is no excuse for not having it handy. A few drops of ammonia poured into hard water makes it as soft to the hands as milk, and this takes the dirt off paint more quickly than any other, takes the stain out of carpets better than anything, except ox-gall, cleans combs and hairbrushes, and makes gold and silver look as good as new. Ammonia rubbed with a piece of flannel on the outside of the throat is excellent in cases of sore throat from colds.

TRAVELERS' SAMPLES.

Customs collectors have received a memorandum of the revised and consolidated regulations as to what goods are to be admitted free of duty as travelers' baggage or travelers' samples. All personal baggage which is necessary for the traveler and is not merchandise or intended for others is to be admitted free. With regard to travelers' samples the regulations are very stringent and admit free of duty only cut samples of cloth, edgings, textile fabrics and buttons of various patterns and other articles which show clearly they are of use as samples to sell by only. Portfolios, boxes, trunks or other articles used in displaying samples, if it is possible to use them for any other purpose, are dutiable, and samples such as those carried by commercial travelers are dutiable except such as are of no commercial value.

The Daily Mail, of London, Eng., says : "The delay in action regarding the West Indies and sugar is due to dissension in the Cabinet. Mr. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, favors countervailing duties, but other Ministers, fearing opposition from the free traders, prefer the policy of assuming a portion of the West Indian liabilties and subsidizing other industries."

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

PRICE AND CONSUMPTION OF CURRANTS.

The market for currants is again very strong, and a considerable business has been done at an advance of 6d. per cwt. for all descriptions. So far as can be seen there is every prospect that holders will endeavor to raise prices still further.

Unfortunately, the higher range of prices has had its effect upon consumption; and it is feared that, if values are driven so high as to prevent the grocers from distributing the fruit at 3d. per lb. with a reasonable trade profit, it will be still more marked. The duty payments of the last three years are as follows: 1897, 24,200 tons; 1896, 25,444 tons; 1895, 27,493 tons; while those of the four autumn months are 11,852 tons, 13,307 tons, and 13,997 tons. These figures, it must be admitted, are most disappointing, and go to prove, if, indeed, any proof be necessary, that the higher rates which have prevailed have lessened the consumption; and it should be realized that the trade requires to be helped and fostered to the utmost possible extent, and that nothing should be left undone which will aid and assist in pushing the article.

As against these figures it may be argued, and with a certain amount of reason, that during the recent season of high prices the grocers have not felt inclined to buy with great freedom, and that their stocks are on this account somewhat smaller than is usually the case. There is, doubtless, something in this argument, but it is hardly possible that the entire difference can be made up in this way; and it must unfortunately be realised that many articles are, to some extent, usurping the place formerly held by currants.—Produce Markets' Review, London.

BRITAIN'S FROZEN MEAT TRADE.

An annual review of the frozen meat trade of Great Britain during 1897 shows that the expected shortages in arrivals were not seen, and the anticipated advances of prices did not occur. Increased receipts of all descriptions of frozen meat were accompanied by prolonged periods of depression. The unsatisfactory character of the results generally is attributed to over-supply. Moreover, cargoes arrived in a more or less damaged condition. On the whole, however, the imports of mutton and lamb were of better quality than in 1896. The British Empire is not yet able to furnish a supply of beef sufficient for the wants of consumers in the United Kingdom, but the supplies of mutton now drawn from the Continent, South America and the United States could, without much difficuly, be replaced by increased shipments from New Zealand, Australia and Canada. About 60 per cent. of the mutton and lamb imported now comes from the colonies. During 1897, more than 6,000,000 frozen sheep and lambs were received at the ports of the United Kingdom from all quarters, an increase of 540,000 carcasses, or about 10 per cent., on the receipts in 1896. The great bulk of the expansion has taken place during the second half of the year, the net increase up to June 30 having been only 25,000 sheep and lambs.

W. H. Seyler & Co., of Toronto, have received a number of satisfactory orders for concentrated vinegar, evaporated vegetables, etc., for shipment to British Columbia.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Jan. 20, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade this week is not noted for its interesting features. The volume of business is probably smaller than it has been for a number of weeks, but it is only natural little should be doing just now. Compared, however, with this time last year trade is much more satisfactory in every way: Not only are more goods being sold, but, what is still better, wholesalers are making a great deal more money. This latter condition is particularly true in regard to canned goods and sugar. The demand for canned goods has been checked somewhat by the high prices, which have further appreciated during the week. Sugar is quiet and unchanged in price locally, although the outside terminal markets have been easier. Coffees are meeting with a fairly good demand, and prices are, as a rule steady. Currants are firm and in good demand, but there is no particular feature in regard to other foreign dried fruits. Rice and tapioca are meeting with the usual demand. Increased attention is being given to teas, although the volume of business is still small.

CANNED GOODS.

Prices of tomatoes continue to strengthen. Firms which a week ago were asking $1.10 are now firm at $1.20, and the ruling wholesale figures are now $1.20 to $1.25, although one house is quoting $1.15 as its minimum price. The lowest price for good corn is 80c., and for peas, 90c. There is not a great deal doing in canned vegetables, the high prices having apparently checked consumption, particularly in tomatoes. More business could, however, be done if wholesalers would consent to shade prices. A few canned fruits, principally cherries, peaches and strawberries, are being turned over, but not much business is looked for in this line for some weeks yet. Canned salmon is meeting with a moderate demand. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.15 to $1.25; corn, 80 to 85c.; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1 to $1.10; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 60 to 95c.; peaches, $2 to $2.60 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.40 to $1 70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c.; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand; cohoes, 95c. to $1; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.70 for tall tins; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

COFFEE.

A continued firmness in Rio and Santos coffees is to be noted, although there is still in New York a slightly unsettled feeling in regard to these growths. Local wholesalers report a good demand for coffees, particularly Rios. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c.; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Not much doing, either on the part of wholesalers or retailers. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Trade is quiet. Advices from New Orleans state that the market is firm. We quote as follows: New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c.; ditto. half-bbls., 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-bbls., 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Refiners' agents report that wholesalers show no interest, and the former are, in consequence, doing little or nothing. Since our last review there has been a sharp decline in the raw market, but there has since been a slight reaction. Local wholesalers report the demand for this time of the year fair, some carload lots having changed hands. We quote wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days: Granulated (Redpath, St. Lawrence, Acadia), 4½c.; ditto,

TEAS.

There has been a steady movement in low-grade teas of Indian and Ceylon growth. Low-grade China green teas are wanted, but there are none to be had. Fine green teas are in moderate supply, but there is a scarcity in the finest grade, and it has been found necessary to import some from New York and pay the 10 per cent. duty. There has been a good demand for low-grade China Congou teas showing good cup quality. Wholesalers report that the demand for teas generally, on retail account, is improving. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indias and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The market continues firm, with an upward tendency. The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, of Tuesday last, says that at present prices ruling in Patras it would cost 6½c. to import ordinary Provincials and 6¾c. for the finer grades. We quote: Provincials, 5¾ to 6c.; Filiatras, 6¼c. in bbls; 6⅜c. in half-bbls and 6¼c. in cases. Patras, 6¾c. in bbls.; 6¾c. in half-bbls. and 6⅞c. in cases. Vostizzas, 7½ to 8½c. in cases.

PRUNES—Wholesalers are quoting new "Sphinx" prunes, but there is no demand for them. The little business that is being done in prunes is nearly altogether in those of California growth. We quote: "Sphinx" at 6½ to 7c.; B, 7½c.; A, 8½c. California prunes, 40 to 50's, 10 to

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE past week has been rather quiet in the general grocery market, the situation being almost precisely as it was a week ago. Retailers are only operating cautiously, and appear to be well supplied for the time being, this condition applying to all staple lines of goods. There has been no further change in sugar, values ruling steady at the decline. Syrups are moderately enquired for, while holders maintain their firm stand on Barbadoes molasses. Rice, spices and coffees are as last noted, and there is only a small enquiry for low-grade Japan teas. Canned vegetables of all sorts are quite strong in their disposition, this being particularly the case in 3-lb. and gallon apples, but the fact does not appear to induce any increased enquiry from retailers. Dried fruits are quiet but steady, and the same can be said of nuts. Fish and country produce continue much as they were a week ago.

SUGAR.

There has been no further change in the sugar market since last report, trade ruling quiet, both from first and second hands, as retailers seem to be pretty well supplied. Outside the disposition of values, both on raw and refined, has been fairly steady. Prices, however, are steady at the decline, and we quote: Standard granulated, 4 5-16c.; Canadian German granulated, 4c.; Austrian and German granulated, 3 15-16c. in bags, and domestic yellows, 3½ to 4c., the outside price being for extra bright stock.

SYRUPS.

There has been a quiet demand for syrup, but only in the merest hand-to-mouth way. We quote prices steady at 2 to 2½c.

MOLASSES.

The firm disposition of the molasses market is well maintained, and prices continue as last quoted. Demand is only moderate, however, buyers operating quite cautiously. We quote the jobbing range on Barbadoes at 28c. in puncheons; 30½c. in barrels and 31½c. in half-barrels; car lots 1c. less.

RICE.

There is a moderate demand at steady prices. We quote: Imported Japan, 4⅞ to 5½c.; standard B rice $3.40 to $3.50; ditto, grade S, $3.30 to $3.40; Patna, $4.75 to $5; choice Burmah, $4; and ditto Java, $4.25.

SPICES.

Business continues quiet with values generally steady. We quote as follows: Black pepper, 9 to 15c.; pure white, 15 to 20c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar (French), 25 to 27c.; do. best, 30c.; allspice, 14c.; and nutmegs, 50 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There has been little change in the coffee market, business ruling quiet and prices steady. Prices on Maracaibo range from 13 to 15c.; Santos, 11½c., and Rio 10 to 10½c., while Java and Mocha are held around 30.

TEAS.

There has been a fair enquiry for tea, but orders are for small quantities of goods. Enquiry chiefly centres in Japan goods ranging from 14 to 15c., other descriptions being comparatively neglected. We quote: Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest; China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned vegetables continue to be the most interesting feature of the market, particularly tomatoes and corn, and while values show no change they are firmly held. Canned apples also, while quiet, furnish strong indications of higher prices, and it is a surprise to many in the trade that the fact does not cause an increased demand. The only explanation to offer is that retailers have all they want for the time being and will not buy ahead. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; corn, 90c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1.15; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb.do., $1.10 to $1.20; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25; "Clover Leaf," $1.25; Lowe Inlet, $1.20, in tall tins; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25 to $4.50.

DRIED FRUIT.

The advices on currants from Greece are quite firm, but there has been no change on spot. In London the market is bare and prices are higher. We quote: Fine Vostizzas, half-cases, 6½c.; Patras, half-cases, 6¼c.; choice Filiatra, do., 6c.; fine do., half-cases, 5⅞c.; Filiatra, half-cases, 5¾c.; do. half-bbls., 5½c.; do., bbls., 5⅜c.; fine Provincials, half-cases, 5⅝c.

Valencia raisins meet a quiet, steady enquiry at former prices. We quote: Off-stalk, 4½c.; fine do., 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5¾ to 6c., and 4-crown layers, 6 to 6¾c.

California are much the same on spot, but there is some irregularity exhibited in the quotations received from outside markets. Demand is steady at 6 to 6¾c. for 2-crown; 7¼ to 7¾c. for 3-crown, and 8¾ for 4-crown fruit.

The firm disposition on Sultana raisins is maintained abroad, and we quote spot values 8¾ to 9c., while loose Spanish muscatels are steady at 6 to 7c.

The prune market is quiet and steady. We quote: Austrian, 6½ to 7c.; French, 4½ to 5½c., and Californias, 7½ to 10c., as to grade.

Figs are steady. We quote: Eleme, 10 lbs., 10 to 11c.; case lots, 9c.; 12-oz. boxes, 7½c.; 14-oz. boxes, 9c.; 25 bag lots, 3¼c., and bags, 3½ to 4c.

Dates are quiet at 5½ to 6c.

NUTS.

There is a quiet trade doing in nuts. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 8½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 16 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 7 to 8½c., and pecans, 9 to 10c.

FISH.

Under ample supplies trade in most lines of fish has been exceedingly quiet, and prices in some cases are lower than they were. In fresh fish haddock and cod in case lots sold at 2¾ to 3c.; tommy cod, $1 to $1.25; Manitoba dore, 5½c., and B C. pipe, 3½c.; winter trout, 6½ to 7c.; salmon, 12 to 17c.; fresh herrings, $1.50 per 100, and steak cod, 3½ to 4c.

Pickled and preserved fish were all steady. No. 1 herring, 4¼c.; C. B., $4.75; ½-bbls., do., $2.15 to $2.65; No. 1, green cod, large, 4¼c.; No. 3, 3¼ to 3½c.; No. 2, $2.25 to $2.40.; No. 1 lake trout, 4 to 4½c.; No. 1 whitefish, $4.75 to $5.

Dressed cod sold quickly at 4¼ to 4½c.; dried, 3½c., and boneless, 4½ to 5c. Haddock and cod sold at 5½c.; Yarmouth and Bay bloaters sold at $1 to $1.25, with herring $10 to $11.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES.

There is a quiet, steady enquiry for these at 6½ to 7c., while evaporated meet with a moderate enquiry at 9½ to 10c.

APPLES.

Exports continue heavy, and with steadily decreasing stocks we can get as good apples off the street.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been no change in green fruit. We quote: Lemons, $2.50 to $3; Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6; California, $3.50 to $4; Valencia, $4; Almeria grapes, $5 to $6.50; Cape Cod cranberries, $7.50 to $8.50, and Nova Scotia, $7.50 to $8.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was an improved demand for eggs to-day in small lots and the market was more active and firm. We quote fresh stock 23 to 25c.; Montreal limed, 15 to 16c., and western limed, 13 to 13½c. per dozen.

POULTRY—A fair trade was done in poultry, but the market on the whole was quiet, and prices show no change. We quote: Turkeys, 8½ to 9½c.; chickens, 5 to 8c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c., and geese at 5 to 6c. per lb.

GAME—Receipts of partridge were small for which the demand was fair, and prices ruled firm at 70 to 75c. for firsts, and at 40 to 45c. for seconds per brace.

BEANS—The demand for beans is limited at 80 to 90c. for primes, and at 95c. to $1 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—The market for honey is quiet and steady. We quote as follows: White clover,

Beak Sharpener

Did you ever notice a canary rubbing his beak in the wire corners? Place a cake of Bird Bread in the cage and he will take advantage of what was especially provided for this purpose—the scalloped edges of the tin holder. A beak sharpener much appreciated by birds. It is only one of the many advantages enjoyed by birds fed on Cottams Seed. Manufactured under six patents. Sold by all wholesalers.

12½c.; dark clover comb, 10 to 10½c., and dark 7 to 8c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

There was an improved demand for pork and lard and a fairly active trade was done, but there is no change in prices to note. We quote: Canadian pork, $15 to $16 per barrel; pure Canadian lard in pails, at 7 to 7½c., and compound refined at 5 to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10½ to 12c.; bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

The market for dressed hogs shows no material change, supplies are large and the tone is easy, but holders have evidently confidence in the future, as no actual decline in values has been recorded yet. A fair trade to-day was done in a jobbing way at $6.50 to $6.75 for light, and at $6.25 for heavy per 100 lbs.

SALT.

Steady and unchanged: Coarse Liverpool, in 165-lbs. bags, 38 to 45c., and Trepani, $1.10 per bag of 215 lbs.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

A fair trade continues to be done in flour, there being a good demand for small lots from both local and country buyers, and prices show no change. We quote: Winter wheat, patents, $4.65 to $4.85; straight rollers, $4.30 to $4.40; bags, $2.10 to $2.15; best Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; second do., $4.50, and low grades, $2.70; Hungarian patents, $5.30.

The demand for meal continues slow and the market is quiet with no change in values to note. We quote: Rolled oats, $3.40 per barrel, and $1.65 per bag; standard meal, $3.25 per barrel, and $1.57½ per bag.

The demand for Manitoba shorts and bran at northern and western points continues good, and further sales were made to-day of the former at prices equal to $17 to $18 and of the latter $15 to $16 per ton, including bags here.

GRAIN.

There was nothing new in the situation of the local grain market except that the feeling in peas is just as strong as ever and the very inside figure holders on spot will accept is 64c. afloat May delivery, and in some cases even higher is asked. At country points there continues to be a steady demand and the small lots coming forward meet with a ready sale. The demand for oats is also good and prices are firm with an upward tendency. In wheat a fair trade was done on foreign account and the market on the whole is fairly active for the season.

BALED HAY.

In May a fair trade was done, there being a good demand for small lots, but supplies are increasing on account of liberal receipts and the tone of the market is easy. There is no actual change in values, however, to note yet. We quote: No. 1 at $10.50 and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market exhibited no striking change, business being rather quiet, but the firm disposition is fully maintained. There are practically only three holders of cheese on this market now, and they do not appear to be in any hurry to realize, except at their own terms. These at present are 8⅝c. for colored and 8¾c. for white.

The butter market is rather dull and offers of winter creamery have been made at rather less money than last week. The chief difficulty appears to be in the scarcity of strictly finest goods. Prices range all the way from 18½ to 19c. according to grade, on creamery, while seconds run from 16 to 18c. Townships dairy is quotable at 16 to 17c.

The exports of cheese and butter for the week were as follows:

Ports.	Cheese.	Butter.
Liverpool	11,998	1,244
London	11,041	1,285
Glasgow	....	214
Bristol	13,892	445
Manchester	....	122
Total	36,931	3,311
Total same week, 1897	28,816	1,619
Total since close of navigation	182,832	23,666
Same period, 1897	159,625	20,872

MONTREAL NOTES.

The sugar market has been steady at last week's decline.

There have been offers of molasses from the Maritime Provinces, but no business of importance has resulted.

There is a firm tendency to all apple products, especially canned goods, though the demand from retailers is light.

It is rumored on good authority that Mr. D. Masson, of the firm D. Masson & Co., and Mr. L. Boivin, of Boivin, Wilson & Co., will run for the presidency of the Chambre du Commerce, Montreal, on Feb. 1.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 17, 1898.

WHOLESALE business continues to be quiet, and will be for some little time. There is some interest beginning to be shown in tea. Stocks have been reduced, and, particularly in Ceylon and Indian, fair sales are being made. In cream of tartar there has been quite an advance in primary markets, and present feeling is firm. There is much interest here in the pulp industry, and at least one mill is being built.

OIL—There is little to report. In burning oil there is a limited movement. Prices are held firm at the advance. In lubricating and cod oil there is little or nothing doing. It is too early for the former and too late for the latter. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18 to 19c.; Canadian water white, 16½ to 17½c.; Canadian prime, 15 to 15½c.; cod oil, 22 to 24c.

SALT—Arrivals, since my last report, in Liverpool coarse salt amount to about ten thousand bags. As the market was well supplied before the stock is now too large, and there is but light sale. It is surprising the quantity which is distributed from here. Prices are easy. Those needing a supply this spring would do well to give the matter consideration. Liverpool fine salt and Canadian also find this a quiet month. We quote: Coarse, 44 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; rock salt, $5 to $6 per ton.

CANNED GOODS — In vegetables, the prices still climb, and it would seem as if there would be no stopping them, except as the high prices will cut off the demand. Gallon apples are also dear. Lobsters have the same tendency, but they are very scarce. Canned meats, though moving slowly, are increasing in value. The western demand for oil sardines is good. Salmon tend rather firmer. Finnan haddies are easy. We quote: Corn, 80c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1; tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; gallon apples, $2.75 to $2.85; corned beef, Canadian, $2.35 to $2.40; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.60; 1-lb. tins, $1.35 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.60; 2's, $1.50 to $1.65; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.50; fruits in glass, $4 to $4.25; salmon, $1.15 to $1.20; ditto, flats, $1.25 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, $1.00 to $1.10; clams, $4.50 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.50 to $2.75 for 2 doz,; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT — The wholesale dealers are having their annual holiday. Except in oranges and lemons, with a fair demand for apples, there is nothing doing. Oranges and lemons, particularly the latter, are low. The former, particularly Valencias, have good sale. Cape Cod cranberries are too high for much business. Malaga grapes have but fair demand. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $4 to $5 per box; do., California, $3.00 to $4; do., Florida, $4.50 to $5; do., Dominica, $3.25 per bbl.; apples, $2.50 to $3.50; bananas, $2 to $2.25; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $6; native bog cranberries, $4 to $5.50 per bbl.; Cape Cod cranberries, $10 to $10.50 per bbl.; shaddock, $3 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3 per bbl.; sour limes, $1.75 per box; sweet limes, $2.50 per box.

DRIED FRUIT — The wholesale grocer finds this his quiet line. Currants are rather higher with light stocks; market will likely see higher prices. Evaporated and dried apples are high, and they show but light sale. One of the best lines is California prunes, but since Christmas they have been quiet. They will have good demand later, and prices will likely be higher. Raisins are easy and little doing. In onions we quote prices higher and market firm. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5 to 5½c.; California L. M., 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; London layers, $1.40 to $1.50; Imp. cabinets, $1.75 to $1.80; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.30; Dehesa layers, $2.50 to $2.75; currants, cases, 6 to 6⅛c.; bbls., 5⅜ to 5⅝c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¾ to 8c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¾ to 7c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 10c.; dates, 5 to 5½c.; dried apples, 6 to 6½c.; evaporated apples, 9 to 10c.; onions, $2.40 to $2.50 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 8 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 9 to 10c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7½ to 7¾c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 11 to 12c.; new Valencias, layers, 5¾ to 6c.; citron peel, 18c.; lemon peel, 12c.; orange peel, 13c.

SUGAR—While there is a rather easier market, it is doubtful if lower prices will rule. However, the feeling has rather interfered with business, as, while buyers are offish, holders are not inclined to shade prices. Stocks here are light. We quote: Granulated, 4⅜ to 4½c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅝c.; Paris lump, 5½ to 5¾c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—Market tends higher, and this week's figures are above those of last. This is particularly the case with Barbadoes, which is light stock, and for which there is considerable outside demand. Porto Rico shows less change, and is fair stock. There is little New Orleans molasses moving this season. Syrup is also quiet. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 26c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 30c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE — Eggs continue to move up. Stocks are light; receipts small. This is all that keeps price where it is. It was expected the price would have gone off before now. In butter there is no improvement. Stocks are large. There is a fair sale for best quality. A few new rolls are being received. Cheese is slow at price. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 18 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 20 to 23c.

FISH—While demand is rather quiet, yet there is an improvement looked for as Lent is coming in sight. A rather better market in frozen fish is to be noted this week, but herrings are still scarce. Better receipts and rather lower prices are expected. In smelt, St. John business is light, fish being shipped direct from the north shore to the American market. Catch is smaller than usual. Pickled herring are a little easier. Prices are likely not to show much change. Boneless fish has a good sale and finnan haddies move freely. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.80 to $1.85; Bay herring, $1.80 to $1.85 per half-bbl.; smoked, 6½ to 7c.; Shelburne, $3.75 to $3.80; Canso, $5 to $5.25; boneless fish, 3½ to 4½c.; cod, 6 to 6½c.; frozen cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; pollock, 1 to 1¼c.; herring, $1 to $1.10 per 100; smelt, 3 to 5c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 4⅛ to 5c.

PROVISIONS—Clear pork is low. Dealers are anxious to sell, and prices are lower than goods could be replaced. Mess pork is firm and shows fair business. In plate beef there is little doing, but the market is firmer and prices must go higher. Lard is held firmer, and higher prices are looked for. The low price of pure has for some time almost shut compound out of the market. As prices go up there is rather more enquiry. We quote: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15; mess, $14.00 to $14.50; plate beef, $13.50 to $14.50; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 9½ to 10c.; pure lard, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 6¾c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—While the flour market is easy the fact that prices did not follow advance in outside markets leads to no change in quotations here. Dealers are light buyers. Meal keeps its price and shows a fair sale. Feed is hard to get and is high in price. New Brunswick oats continue to have a good sale here, being quoted under Ontario prices. Hay is dull. Barley, split peas and beans are in fair demand, with stocks light, except, perhaps, in beans, of which a few holders have still quite a few, bought at the low prices. We quote: Manitoba $5.70 to $5.75; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.75 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.75; cornmeal, $1.90 to $2; middlings, $16 to $16.50; bran, $14.50 to $15.00; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; barley, $2.90 to $3.10; round peas, $1.25; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.75.

The C.P.R. inform THE CANADIAN GROCER that their patrons will have the same privileges as those the I.C.R. enjoy, and that they will not be charged storage unless flour be not cleared in the ten days, as formerly.

Many unkind remarks are heard about the U.S. Customs collectors, and particularly the collector at Vanceborough, by the citizens here. No Christmas gift of any value escaped them, and full duty was collected from the receivers. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, R. Muir; vice-president, H. D. Metcalfe; secretary-treasurer, C. N. Bell.

EUROPEAN SUGAR BOUNTIES.

Austria and Germany have intimated their willingness to attend the proposed conference at Brussels to discuss the abolition of sugar bounties. France is also showing an inclination to join, so an early meeting is probable. The export of sugar to the United States has almost stopped. During the last quarter of 1897 only $27,000 worth of sugar was shipped from Hamburg, the principal sugar port of Germany.

TO SUBSIDIZE VESSELS.

The new Government of Newfoundland has announced its intention of subsidizing sailing vessels that engage in seal fishing by granting to their owners a bounty of $4 per ton. The aim is to encourage the investment of capital and labor in their unequal competition with the powerful fleet of steamers that has almost driven sailing vessels from the trade.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 17, 1898.

IT is with deep regret that we announce the death, yesterday, of Mr. Jas. Thompson, of the firm of Thompson, Codville & Co.

The second annual banquet of the Winnipeg Retailers' Association took place on the 11th instant. The attendance was large and very fairly represented the retail business interests of the city. The usual patriotic and loyal toasts were duly honored but the chief interest of the evening centred in the speeches made by G. Fowler and D. W. Bole, in response to the toast "Commercial Interests."

On the 13th instant the Winnipeg Grain Exchange held its 10th annual meeting. The retiring president, Mr. N. Bawlf, gave a capital address summing up the work of the year, and pointing out the rapid increase of the grain business in the country. Speaking of Fort William as a shipping port, Mr. Bawlf gave the following table :

Shipped from Fort William.	Bushels of Wheat.
During the season 1895	10,587,866
During the season 1896	12,689,000
During the season 1897	17,600,000

Mr. R. Muir was elected president for the ensuing year.

On Thursday evening, the 14th inst., the ex-president, Mr. Bawlf, according to established custom, entertained the members at dinner. There was, however, a pleasant departure, as the dinner, instead of being given at one of the city hotels, was given in Mr. Bawlf's own handsome residence, Mrs. Bawlf, with several lady friends, cordially welcoming the guests.

The wheat situation is without change. During the week, one of the elevators belonging to Reid & Co., of Cypress River, was destroyed by fire. The wheat in store was a total loss, but the amount was not large, and was covered by insurance.

In the general grocery market there is nothing new. Business is quiet, prices steady with few indications of change.

SUGAR—In sympathy with the east, this commodity is a shade easier, having dropped about ⅛c. during the week. Granulated is now quoted at 5 to 5 1-16c., and yellow at 4¼c. Syrups are 3 to 3¼c. per lb. Stock is mostly American, with the exception of 2 and 8-lb. tins from the Canadian refineries.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Dried apples are a little firmer, with an advance of ⅛c.; they are now quoted at 6⅝ to 6¾c., according to quality; evaporated apples, 11 to 11¼c. There is practically no change in California stocks, excepting that prunes are perhaps a shade easier, the price running from 4¼c. up. Raspberries, 22c.; pears, 11½c.; plums, 10c.; apricots, 11c.; yellow nectarines, 10c.

CANNED GOODS—The canned vegetable situation remains the same. Market is stiff, with indications of further rise. Tomatoes, $2.35 ; corn, $1.60: peas, $1.80 ; beans, wax and string, $1.60; pumpkin, $2. Canned fruits are not yet in demand, so that there is no change in price. The fruits are as plentiful as vegetables seem to be scarce.

RICE—No No. 1 Japan to be had ; No. 2 has been offering, but fulfilment of contracts are not guaranteed, so that it is difficult to see how there can be any Japanese rice on this market for at least sixty days. Some small lots have been offered from Vancouver, but both price and quality are unsatisfactory. There is, however, every indication of receipts of Rangoon rice at reasonable figures. Nominally, the price is 4¼c.; China rice, No. 1, is quoted at 5c.

CEREALS—Granulated oatmeal is particularly scarce, none of the local mills having any. Rolled oats are also scarce. Present stocks are all being purchased in the United States. Rolled oats $2; granulated, $2.25 ; cornmeal, $1.50; split peas, $2; pot barley, $2.25.

CHEESE—Supply small. Late September make is worth 11c.

EGGS—Strictly fresh are worth from 18 to 20c., with demand very far in advance of supply.

BUTTER—Market very firm, with no heavy stocks. Strictly gilt-edged dairy is worth from 17 to 19c., and second grade, 15 to 17c. It is known that one firm paid as high as 18c. for a carload going to the Crow's Nest Pass.

FISH—Market quiet. Fresh herring, 35c. per doz.; smelt, 9c.; finnan haddie, 6½c. per lb.; Labrador herrings, half-barrels, $3.25 ; oysters, extra selects, $2.10 to $2.20; standard, from $2 to $2.10. The stock reaching Winnipeg this year is superior to any that has been on this market for the last three or four seasons.

GREEN FRUIT—Travelers are out on the road just gathering up fresh orders. All stock sent out since Christmas has been by express heated cars, and will begin to run out again this week. Prices are unchanged with the exception of oranges. These are now quoted : Mexicans, $4 to $4.50, and navels, $4.50.

CURED MEAT—The markets are a little stiffer, but there is no change in price.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Parsons, of Guelph, maker of the celebrated Stilton cheese, died, on Sunday, at the age of 95.

Mr. Windsor, of the Windsor Canning Co., is making a tour of the west. He was in Toronto this week.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES THOMPSON.

A THUNDERCLAP from the clear, frosty January sky would hardly have been as startling to the citizens of Winnipeg as the announcement, in Grace Church, on Sunday morning, of the death of Mr. Jas. Thompson, founder and head of the wholesale grocery firm of Thompson, Codville & Co. All day Saturday Mr. Thompson was about his usual business, hearty and vigorous, carrying his 67 years with such ease that it was a surprise to many to find that he had so nearly reached the allotted span. During Saturday evening he felt faint, gradually sank, and died at 4 a.m. Sunday.

Mr. Thompson has been a resident of Winnipeg for something over ten years, going there when the head office of the firm was moved to the west ; and during those ten years he has enjoyed the respect and confidence of all who knew him. A singularly quiet man, he was one of the strong men of that city. His business integrity was of a very high order, and when the news of his death circulated through Winnipeg to many lips came the familiar scripture quotation, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

To his many friends in Quebec and Montreal his death will prove a great shock. Much sympathy is felt for the widow and family. Deceased had four sons—Mr. W. J. Thompson, who was associated with him in the business, and between whom and the father there existed, in addition to the paternal tie, a peculiarly strong, deep friendship, in fact they were much more like brothers than father and son ; one son in St. Paul, another in Chicago and the fourth in Montreal. It is likely the body will be sent to the city of Quebec for interment.

CHEESE BOARD FOR CORNWALL.

A deputation of influential farmers and dairymen, representing all sections of Stormont County were in Cornwall on Friday. They came over the Ottawa and New York, and were headed by D. P. McKinnon, of South Finch. They came to interview the Town Council with a view to the establishment of a local cheese board in Cornwal' for the sale of cheese manufactured in Stormont and Glengarry. These two counties are among the richest dairying districts in Ontario, and the farmers have long felt it a disadvantage that there has been no board at a central point for the sale of their cheese. At present the cheese is sold by each factory to travelers for Montreal firms. The Town Council promised to provide rooms in the Town Hall for the accommodation of the board, and it will accordingly be organized in March, before the opening of the season of 1898.

UNFAIR BUSINESS METHODS.

IT IS a business man's privilege to increase his trade by every honest and legitimate means in his power, but we must protest against the unfair and dishonest means that are being employed by traders in the United States to rob the business men of this country of the trade that rightly belongs to them. We are, with more than a spirit of fairness, putting American miners on a footing with our own people, giving them the protection of our laws, and, in fact, dividing with them our heritage of gold. This would seem, in all conscience, sufficient to satisfy any reasonable people, but the people of the United States are not reasonable—they want it all. These thoughts are suggested to us by an article that appears in a New York trade paper under the head of "Advice to Miners Fitting Out for Klondyke," and which reads as follows :

As a rule the men who have gone to the Klondyke have fitted out at Victoria. Here is the first mistake.

Victoria is not as handy or as cheap as Seattle. The merchants of Victoria have been spreading the report that it paid to buy there, as the miners would then save the duty that is put on all American goods. This is a transparent untruth. In the first place, nearly all supplies carried by a miner are staples shipped from the United States to the Victoria merchants, who are required to pay the same duties on these goods that the miners would have to pay; hence, Victoria merchants have to sell the goods to the miners with the duty added. And then, goods sold in Victoria have to be put in charge of a United States deputy collector while in the territory of the United States. This costs $5 a day, and the packages cannot be opened until British territory is reached. This creates trouble and hardship, besides being very expensive if the miner is delayed in crossing the pass. Goods bought in Victoria cannot be sold in Alaska. If the miner should desire to sell out in order to return to the United States he will find that the law would not enable him to do so. By purchasing at Seattle, the miners can use their outfits where and when they like, either before or after crossing the British line. A small duty is paid on all luggage in excess of 100 lbs. This costs between $9 and $35 on an outfit.

For deliberate misrepresentation and perversion of facts we think this article takes the palm. To anyone who knows anything about our trade in British Columbia the article needs no comment. That our Government has been too lenient with the American miner and his American outfit is a fact, but that we do levy duties is not a transparent untruth, as our Customs returns will show.

"That nearly all supplies carried by a miner are staples shipped from the United States to Victoria merchants, who are required to pay the same duties on these goods that a miner would pay" is simply a deliberate falsehood without the slightest foundation, except that it is founded upon malice and greed for what does not belong to them, and envy of our manufacturers, who, from their vast experience of outfitting for a northern trade, are in a much better position than the Americans can be to compete for that trade, and there is no language too strong to condemn the employment of such methods for obtaining trade.

That the American Customs authorities have tried to hamper our trade by most unneighborly behavior we believe is true, and as we have the means of protecting ourselves against this we should soon be able to stop it. If we do not we deserve to suffer. There is one comfort—we know exactly what we have to meet, and "forewarned is forearmed," although it is extremely humiliating to have our opponents show us their hand with such apparent confidence in our childlike simplicity, regarding us, as they must from actual experience, as too weak or too cowardly to strike back.

This article should have the effect of hastening us in getting two or three all-Canadian routes to the gold fields. It is a well-known fact that either the Stickeen River, Ashcroft, B.C., Edmonton land and water routes, or the latest and not the least desirable, the water route via Prince Albert, which we mention in an interview with Mr. McLeod of that place, are all and each better and much more comfortable and desirable ways of getting at our gold than the crossing of any of the Alaska passes or glacier-covered mountains of that inhospitable country, or by taking the long water trip via St. Michael's which is 4,450 miles in uncomfortable, overcrowded steamers where only a limited amount of baggage and supplies can be carried.

We appeal to the boards of trade and business men in this country to hold what we have got and what is ours by right of inheritance.

WHY SOME MEN FAIL.

SOME men make excellent clerks, says an exchange. They are honest, reliable and industrious, but are lacking in executive ability and the qualities necessary for the management of details. They are all right if they have some one to plan the campaign. They can then carry it out, but they are entirely at sea when compelled to depend upon their own resources.

Laziness causes many a man to miss that success which he might obtain were he alert. Many men start well, and make some progress, but as they see things going along smoothly, they think they can now "take it easy," and so leave the management of their stores to irresponsible clerks while they go on a hunting or a fishing trip, or spend many hours loafing around hotels when they should be behind their own counters.

A man cannot make a business success in this way, and he will be surprised to see how his trade is drifting away from him.

A man to succeed in these days of keenest competition must work hard. He must have a constant oversight upon the minutest details of the business, and though he may not perform every task himself, he should know that it has been done properly by his subordinates.

Extravagance ruins many a man who otherwise might have achieved fortune. Young men on a salary are content and save a portion of it. But when these same men start in business, they are not content with their former pay. They fail to realize that in its initial stages every dollar left in the business is worth more than two dollars when a business is fully established.

WHO OWN THE RETAIL STORES?

The Liverpool Grocers' Association have rendered a distinct service to the trade in addressing a circluar to the whole of the grocers' associations of the country, calling their attention to the importance of exercising some control over the display of show cards, tablets, letters and lamps advertising the goods of manufacturers and receiving nothing for this work in return. It has long been a matter of surprise to thoughtful and successful traders that so many grocers were willing to turn their shops and outside walls into advertising stations without payment. If a manufacturer wishes to place a bill upon a posting station, he has, according to the prospectus of a recent company, to pay at least "1d. per double crown sheet per week" for the privilege.

An ordinary grocers' shop has in it from 10 to 20 double crown sheets in the form of show cards continuously, whilst on his outside walls he has likewise another half-dozen or so in the form of iron tablets. Then there are opal letters on his windows, which prevent his customers from seeing the display he makes, whilst frequently his gas globes are ornamented with the manufacturer's device. His bill heads are advertising sheets likewise. To so large an extent is this now done that it is sometimes difficult to distinguish the name of the shopkeeper from the manufacturer's, and reminds one of the story of the Japanese who knew but little English, and on his return from a visit to England told his friends that almost all the railway stations in England were called "Colman's Mustard." This is a serious thing for the trader, who certainly ought to remember that one of the secrets of success is to make his name well-known.

If manufacturers wish to do this extensive advertising in and outside shops, it is but reasonable that they should pay for the privilege. They have to pay for it at the railway stations, and inside refreshment bars, and why not in grocers' shops? But there is another side to it; the shopkeeper is responsible to the public in the event of any of these outside tablets being insecurely fixed. Not long ago a large manufacturer's advertisement board was blown down in a leading London thoroughfare, and narrowly missed striking a foot passenger, who, if he had been caught by it must have been killed. The shopkeeper would have had to pay the damages, which would probably have been claimed, and yet he gets nothing for the board. Many of the tablets are put in a very unsatisfactory fashion, and the insecure fixing adds a new risk to the shopkeeper's already long list of responsibilities in carrying on his business. We hope the Liverpool Association circular will be very carefully discussed, and action in defence of the shopkeeper taken upon it.—London Grocers' Monthly.

FRUIT FLAVORS FROM LEAVES.

M. Jacquemin, a French pharmacist, has, according to an exchange, invented a process by which he says he can form from the leaves of various fruit-bearing trees and shrubs the flavors that are characteristic of the fruits themselves. From apple tree leaves, crushed and fermented, he obtains a liquid possessing the fragrance and taste of apples, and from vine leaves a beverage resembling wine. His theory is that the peculiar flavor of apples, pears, grapes and berries is prepared in and derived from the leaves of the plant.

ONTARIO FLOUR FOR BRITAIN.

A well-known miller in Ontario, who believes he has better facilities for arriving at conclusions on the crop question than the Government, gives it as his opinion that Ontario raised a crop of over 45,000,000 bushels in 1897. Consequently this province is in a better position to supply the British market with flour than Manitoba is, and hence the reason for the larger quantities of flour being shipped from Ontario than from Manitoba. It is pleasing to know that Canadian flour, which used to be classed as American in the English market, is now sold there on its true merits and is so well appreciated.—Bradstreets.

BUTTER SHIPMENT TO BERMUDA.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co., of Toronto, have this week made a large trial shipment of butter to the Bermuda Islands, West Indies, and it is hoped a steady trade in this article may be opened. Last year the United States exported 119 tons of butter to Bermuda, as compared with 13 tons shipped from Canada. As it has been clearly demonstrated that Canada can make good butter, and as the freight rates are as low from St. John as from United States ports, a good trade should be opened up.

A UNIQUE SOAP DISPLAY.

G. Ballentine, who opened up a grocery store at 268 Queen street west, Toronto, has a novel soap display in his window this week. He has a number of boards cut out in the shape of a man, with bars of soap nailed in front of them in such a way that the soap seems to be standing alone. On the top of the display is a false face, which makes the appearance of the whole display very grotesque, and attracts much attention.

Mr. W. G. Bender, at one time with the Eby, Blain Co., Limited, has been appointed manager in Canada for Mr. L. Schepp, the shredded cocoanut manufacturer, with head office at Toronto. Mr. Bender is well known in the trade and has a good many friends. He should do well, and THE CANADIAN GROCER wishes him success.

THE RICE CROP IN JAPAN.

THE following brief forecast on the rice crop of the year is based on reports forwarded by the Government Local Experimental Farms and published in the official gazette :

Tokio and its Vicinity.—In consequence of the various adverse influences, as, for example, low temperature, abundance of rainfall, storms, etc., the rice crop of this year, as compared with the average year's yield, will show a fall of 10 to 20 per cent. The yield of upland rice will not differ from that of the average year.

Kei-Han.—Owing to the ravages of injurious insects and unfavoaable weather, the harvest will fall in yield by 10 to 20 per cent. as compared to the average year's yield. That of upland rice may be expected to be at least equal to the average yield.

Eastern Osha. — The early varieties appear to promise an inferior harvest, the middle varieties are somewhat better, while those of later growth may be expected to yield the average harvest. However, as farmers in this section of the country mostly cultivate the middle varieties the harvest may show, on the whole, a somewhat better result as compared to the average year.

Hokuriker Districts.—The farmers of this region generally prefer to cultivate the middle varieties, as do those of the abovementioned districts. Unfortunately the injurious insects that made their appearance with special virulence from about the middle of August wrought considerable damage. This untoward incident also hastened the maturing period by four to seven days. It is, therefore, surmised that the harvest of the year will fall to 60 or 70 per cent. of that of the ordinary year. The case of upland rice is probably worse, due to unfavorable weather and also to a kind of parasitic disease. The harvest will give about one-half of the average yield.

Sanyo Districts.—Here the harvest is expected neither to fall below nor to rise above that of the ordinary year. Upland rice is expected to be far better than usual.

Shikoka.—The harvest of the middle and late varieties is on the whole very good, though the early varieties may show a little fall, owing to the ravage of insects. Upland rice also is expected to yield a better harvest than in ordinary years.

Kyushu.—Though the period of maturity was delayed five or six days the harvest on the whole promises to be excellent. The probability is that the yield will surpass that of ordinary years. The harvest of upland rice similarly promises well.

O. U. Districts.—The growth of the rice plant was not bad, but the ravages of insects and vegetable parasites must have considerably affected the harvest. It is estimated that it will fall below that of the ordinary year by about 15 per cent.

Tokaido Districts.—The growth ts excellent on the whole, though the upland rice will fail in yield by about 20 per cent. of that of an average year. We ought to add here that all these reports are based on the existing state of things, as investigated on the 23rd of last month (October). Since writing the above the following latest advices, which have reached the Noshomusho, are to hand: Osaka expected not to fall below the average year's harvest. Ibaraki and Nara the same. Miye good. Yamanashi expected to be about 1⅓ per cent. less than the average harvest. Shiga and Toyama the same. Miyagi and Okayama expected to fall below the last year's harvest. Iwate about 20 per cent. less than last year. Shimani and Kagawa about 20 per cent. less that the average harvest. Tokushima and Kumomoto more than 20 per cent. increase as compared with the average year. Fukuoka an increase of 10 to 20 per cent. Kagoskima more than 10 per cent. increase. Miyazaki between 30 and 40 per cent. increase.—Japan Weekly Times.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

Departmental Stores.

It is interesting to note the difference in the views that various retailers take of the effect of departmental stores on their individual business and the business of the grocery trade as a whole. Some maintain that departmental stores are not working and never did work much mischief in the trade, that the people know they do not give any better bargains than the ordinary dealer, and that they only buy in these stores once in a while when they go to get some article not easily procured elsewhere. Others express their belief that these stores are wrecking the grocery trade, surely and steadily, though not by the bargains they offer. The general belief seems to be, however, that these stores have done by their cutting, reckless advertising, etc., much injury to the trade, but that there is not much prospect of them doing any more than they have done, as the conditions of trade generally are improving. There is much less bad credit given now than formerly, the relationship between the wholesale and the retail merchants has improved, and now the percentage of profit is so small that departmental stores cannot afford to cut below the regular price of the up-to-date retail grocers in the cities and in many of the country towns. There is no doubt that the persistent agitation of the past couple of years has made the general public more wary of buying in these stores. It strikes me, however (and I know there are many interested in the business who think with me), that this talk of special legislation, which occupied many minds last year, is not calculated to help the regular retailer. It seems a characteristic of the Saxon that he will have fair play, and "special" legislation is in disrepute here. And there is no need of legislation to disproportionally increase the taxes of a merchant who carries more than one line of stock, as was at one time suggested. Justice demands, of course, that these merchants should be taxed in proportion to their sales, yet any legislation going further than that would not be supported by the general public, and might react in favor of the departmentals. And as in legislation, if in conversation a retailer takes too strong a view, he is apt to weaken his cause. There are many things about a departmental store, which, viewed from the standpoint of the general public, are wrong in principle, their recklessness of advertising and their monopolistic tendency for instance. The small grocers on even the out-of-the-way corners have their place as well as the departmental, and are not going to be crushed by this great monster. Yet, if a customer does take advantage of such close prices, there is nothing to be gained by trying to impress such a customer with the idea that the principle of buying in such a store is wrong. The public are, rightly or wrongly, going to look at this matter from a consumer's standpoint, which is not necessarily the same as the retailer's idea of things. The way to keep a departmental or any other store from crushing one is to conduct one's business on the best, most modern business methods, buying and selling as much as possible for cash, and using printer's ink in something the same manner as the departmentals, though with less recklessness in regard to truth than has been displayed by some of these institutions.

REJECTION OF TEAS.

Some of the reports regarding the rejection of teas are being received at the Treasury Department at Washington, and are in more detail than the report of the collector at New York. The total entries at Chicago from May 1 to December 31, 1897, were 7,516,483 lbs., and the number of pounds entered at other ports, but examined at Chicago, was 1,248,686. The rejections included 60,523 lbs. of tea entered at Chicago, of which 42,554 lbs. of Japan tea were rejected out of 5,396,755 lbs. entered, 17,444 lbs. of green tea were rejected out of 1,233,245 lbs. entered, and 525 lbs. of India tea were rejected out of 538,141 lbs. entered. The small quantities of Oolong and Congou entered were all accepted. The teas examined at Chicago from other ports included 16,209 lbs. of Congou, of which 6,579 lbs. were rejected. There were no other rejections under this class of entries. The reports from the Pacific stations show heavy importations of tea. The entries at Port Townsend covered 14,387,549 lbs. for consumption and 5,118,649 lbs. for transportation in bond. Most of this tea was China tea, and there was no report of rejections. The San Francisco entries were 5,005,456 lbs. of China tea, 8,888,859 lbs. of Japan and 157,188 lbs. of British. The rejections, which were reported in bulk, were 225,000 lbs. The entries at Portland, Oregon, covered 708,871 lbs. of Japan and 135,529 lbs. of China tea. The rejections were 34,000 lbs. of Japan and 10,158 lbs. of China.

SPOKE WELL OF THE OIL.

"The new oil made at Sarnia is a revelation," remarked an oil man to THE CANADIAN GROCER. "Canadians have been buying American oil for years past, when it were possible for them to have made better oil at home. It is now beyond any possible doubt that Sarnia water white and prime white lamp oils are superior to the best water white American oil. The trade should see that the barrels are branded 'Sarnia water white oil, the Queen City Oil Co., Limited, Toronto.' This will insure the best oil. The public will be interested in testing this matter for itself. It's another feather in the cap of our Canadian industries," he concluded.

CEYLON and INDIA

The annual consumption of Ceylon and Indian Teas consumed in Great Britain is now

203,000,000 lbs.

while of Chinese teas only 25,000,000 lbs. are consumed.

The reason for this is that Ceylon and Indian teas are British grown and made on modern, clean principles; also because they are purer, healthier, more invigorating and more economical than the cheap, adulterated teas of China and Japan.

HE KNEW IT WAS HER.

Mr. and Mrs. J. came to town the other day, says a Louisville paper. The madam is a large, muscular-looking woman, and is evidently the boss of the ranch, while Mr. J. is a cowed, effeminate-looking creature, who seems to be afraid when the madam is around. While Mrs. J. went into Goldnamer's to do some shopping the little man slipped off to Bell's to get a drink. While he was down there he heard the telephone ring and enquired what it was. The mysteries of the instrument were explained, and Mr. Bell offered to call up his wife at Goldnamer's and let him talk to her. This seemed to please him very much, but just as he got the trumpet to his ear the lightning struck the wire and knocked him down. Staggering to his feet he said, "That's her; it sounds just like her."

A NEW OIL.

The oil obtained by the steam distillation of the leaves of the Sydney peppermint, Eucalyptus piperita, has been known for a very long time. It was first prepared in 1778 by Dr. White, who found it a very useful substitute in medicine for oil of peppermint.

The oil has recently been examined chemically by Messrs. Baker and Smith, of the Sydney Technological Museum, the results having been communicated to the Royal Society of New South Wales.

The most important constituent found is a substance resembling camphor, named "eudesmol" by the authors, which crystallizes in needle-shaped crystals, and melts at 74 deg. C. It is obtained by fractionally re-distilling the crude oil, and collecting the fraction boiling between 265 deg. C. and 270 deg. C. The physiological properties of the substance are now being examined.

The oil of Eucalyptus piperita has a specific gravity of 0.9096, and contains, in addition to the eudesmol, a considerable quantity of "eucalyptol," a substance which also occurs in oil of Eucalyptus globubus and oil of cajeput. The amount of oil obtained from the leaves by distillation is comparatively large; no difficulty about supply is therefore likely to be experienced should it prove to be of any practical value.

THE CHEESE CASE.

ARTHUR P. TIPPET & CO. - MONTREAL.

NOVA SCOTIA SALMON.

SERIOUS complaint comes from Nova Scotia that the salmon fisheries of that province are in danger of depletion by the illegal manner in which fish are taken from the rivers.

As is well known, the home of the salmon is the sea, yet for the propagation of its kind it annually visits certain rivers that it may deposit its ova on suitable breeding ground. A gravel bed in a shallow and gently flowing stream of clear, fresh water seems the favorite resort. When first hatched the young fish are most curious and helpless objects, having a thin, long transparent body, hardly visible when immersed, and bearing the yoke of the egg attached to the abdomen. This egg, of a bright orange color, speckled by little blood vessels of bright scarlet, remains visible for about seven weeks. Up to this time, when the supporting vesicle is absorbed, the little fish requires no feeding, but now it has to get its own living, and grows fast into a pretty little fish, bright brown and barred with dark patches on the sides. When about two years old a wonderful change comes over him. He puts on a flashing suit of silvery scales and makes for the ocean. He remains in the sea for a certain period feeding voraciously and growing with marvellous strides, almost incredibly fast. Then, at last, when in the best of condition, imperious instinct draws him back to his native river for the propagation of his kind.

If the rivers were closed to salmon, they would be unable to propagate their kind, and would die off. As they make for the rivers from the depth of the ocean fishermen's nets are strung out in the bays to stop them. This is the legal and right method of catching these fish, and the value of the industry is now $90,000 per annum. It is when the fish reach the river that the mischief is done. Nets are spread across the mouth of the river by poachers, though often the work is done in the daytime. Impossible dams and inoperative fishways give an opportunity to those reckless of the future of the industry to kill in every way possible. Rivers have been dynamited and fish speared even in their spawning beds, when the fish are scarcely edible, they being often thrown to the hogs. This foolish and inhuman slaughter of the fish doubtlessly has a great effect of hindering the growth of the salmon fisheries.

The Halifax Herald, which has interested itself in the matter, says that the remedies suggested are simple and reasonable. The end to be gained is the guarding of the female fish at breeding time. The method is to have special constables devote all their time to patrolling the important rivers at all hours. First-class fishways should be built in all dams, with a fair depth of water at their termination. Trap nets should be abolished, as they have been in Norway. The license is but $40, yet many do not pay this sum, and the quantity of fish slaughtered in this way is very great. It is contended that with these remedies effected the value of the industry could be increased from $90,000 to $900,000 in a few years.

NEWFOUNDLAND CODFISH.

Information from reliable sources is to the effect that the demand for codfish at St. John's, Nfld., is firm. The stocks on hand there are estimated at 300,000 quintals, or 150,000 less than at this time last year. There is a better demand in Brazil, and it is confidently anticipated that prices will go up there. Holders at St. John's decline to sell at the prices now being offered. The West Indies, after a long period of depression, also show signs of improvement. A somewhat similar state of things prevails in Nova Scotia, where stocks are much below those of last year, according to The Halifax Herald. In this vicinity alone stocks on hand are said to be 25,000 quintals short of last year's. The spring promises to see decided improvement in prices and a good demand for fish.

Luncheon Beef

This is a canned meat which we alone prepare; the name "Luncheon Beef" is copyrighted, and no one else has a right to use it. We employ a method which is unknown to other canners; the result is the distinctive flavor which LUNCHEON BEEF alone enjoys. The effort has been to avoid that cured, hard taste which corned beef sometimes has, and to substitute therefor a mild, delightful flavor such as is found in some home-cooked meats. We have been particularly fortunate in suiting the public taste. Our Luncheon Beef should be carried by every grocer who caters to a refined, discriminating trade. Order of your jobber, and if you don't receive the goods, write to us or to our agents named below.

TRADE WITH THE WEST INDIES.

AS our readers are aware, Canada is desirous of securing a greater share of business with the West Indies. Efforts have frequently been made to develop this trade, but the success which has attended these attempts has not been as satisfactory as they deserved.

The C.P.R., with a desire to increase this trade, sent its commercial agent, Mr. J. H. VanZile, to investigate the possibilities of extending trade in the desired direction. Mr. VanZile visited the various islands, and the result is a 24-page report.

In the report the point is raised that as as the freight rates are the same to St. John as to New York or Portland, and the steamship rates the same from St. John to the West Indies as from these United States ports, Canadian merchants should have a much better share of this trade. The C.P.R. is to be commended for the energy it has shown in thus seeking to extend Canadian trade.

The following are extracts from the report :

ST. THOMAS.

St. Thomas, a Danish island, has a population of about 12,000, who import the larger portion of their goods from New York. This island does not export anything excepting bay rum, which is distilled there, and sold at $3.50 (gold) in cases of 12 quart bottles ; 20,000 barrels American flour and 3,000 barrels cornmeal, the latter costing $1.80 per barrel of 196 lbs., were consumed last year. The impression exists that Canadian cornmeal is not ground as fine as that imported from the United States, and on that account United States meal is preferred.

Oats are received mostly from Prince Edward Island on consignment, prices based on New York quotations. Yellow corn is shipped in bags of 112 lbs.; white oats in bags of 160 lbs.; split peas in barrels of 210 lbs. Freight from New York at the following rates : Oats, 40c. per bag ; corn, 20c.; peas, 60c. Very little hay or straw is imported.

The butter used on this island is mostly from Halifax ; oleomargarine comes from New York. Pork, from 3,000 to 3,500 barrels, is imported from New York at a cost of from $7 to $9 per barrel of 200 lbs.; 20,600 lbs. lard, in barrels of 200 lbs., tierces of 300 lbs., and tins of 25 lbs.; also about 4,000 bushels of black and red-eyed peas, all of which are imported from New York. There are about 10,000 lbs. Canadian butter used on this island yearly ; it is well liked, and no doubt the amount can be increased. About 4,000 36-lb. boxes of common soap, purchased in Liverpool at from 3½ to 4c. per lb., are used annually.

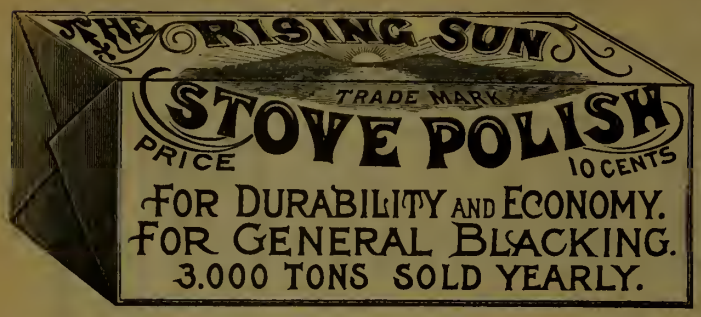
Danish butter is sold there in 1-lb. tins at 50c., 2-lb. tins 90c., 28-lb. tins at 35c. per lb.; American butter in 5 and 25-lb. tins at 14c. per lb. delivered at St. Thomas ; Halifax butter, imported in tubs of 25 lbs. each, costs, landed at St. Thomas, 17½c., and is sold for 20c. per lb.; it is considered a better butter than American, but will not last as long on account of the latter being put up in better packages.

The American lard, in 5-lb. tins, costs at St. Thomas 37c., and in 25-lb. tins 6c. per lb. This lard costs them net in New York $5.10 per 100 lbs. in 25-lb. tins and $6.10 per 100 lbs. in 5-lb. tins.

Biscuits, Harris', New York, "Pilot" and "Navy," in barrels averaging 75 lbs., at $1.75 to $2 per barrel. All canned goods are imported from England, except corned beef, which is put up in Chicago. "Ferris'" New York hams sell from 16 to 18c. per lb. Cheese, a very small amount used, but there should be a market for Canadian cheese put up in 7 or 8-lb. packages, which would retail at from 20 to 22c. per lb.

Carriages, not more than 6 or 8 per year imported, and mostly second-hand. Hardware, from $1,500 to $2,500 worth imported from the United States each year. Furniture, a small quantity, very inferior white pine, imported from New York. Boots and shoes, about 10,000 pairs imported per year from the United States, mostly a cheap, inferior quality.

The business on this island is done mostly by actual sale to merchants, they paying for their goods in drafts of 30 to 60 days.



Coal, ice and vegetables are free of customs duty. All other goods are subject to duty of 3 per cent. on the declared value at place of purchase.

BERMUDA.

The reader will note from the above that but a small proportion is from Canada, compared with that from the United States. There were only 29 bbls. flour from Canada in the year 1896, as against 20,886 bbls. from the United States; other goods in proportion.

The cost of goods varies according to the condition of the market, and is governed by New York quotations. Dealers on this island purchase direct, and are continually getting quotations from manufacturers in all parts of the world. Very few goods are shipped there on consignment.

Bermuda admits all Canadian goods, except tobacco, wines and spirits, at 5 per cent. ad valorem.

The rate on flour from New York is practically 40c. per barrel. Corn is shipped in two-bushel bags; oats 96-lb. bags; split peas in barrels; hay in pressed bundles of from 100 to 120 lbs. each.

There are also shipped to this island a large number of beef cattle for supplying the military post; they are shipped in lots from 20 to 30 head per month and slaughtered there. This contract is awarded yearly, and generally to a resident butcher, who purchases the cattle delivered at Bermuda. to be slaughtered by him there. A contract in also awarded for supplying the military post with bread, and the baker filling this contract uses about 400 barrels per month.

ST. CROIX.

St. Croix, a Danish Island, has a population of about 20,000. Of this number 10 per cent. only are white.

There are 20,000 bbls. flour used on this island per year; the price is based on New York quotations; the freight is 50c. per bbl. Goods for this island are principally imported from New York, with the exception of about 500 bags of oats from Canada, and a small quantity of butter, which compares very favorably with Danish butter. They import about 200,000 lbs. butter, 10 per cent. of which being high grade, and the balance mostly oleomargarine imported from New York at a cost of from 7 to 8c. per pound in that city. Groceries, dry goods and hardware are all imported from New York. Very little demand for furniture, as it is mostly manufactured there.

Import duties average about 12½ per cent. on the value of the goods landed on the island.

The exports from the island are about 12,000 tons sugar and 1,000 puncheons mo-

Groceries and Supplies for the Klondike

A great deal of the grocers' attention is now taken up in fitting out parties for the Klondike. For years past we have been supplying grocers in the mining districts, and points where parties fit out. With all the necessary groceries required for this style of business, it is not new to us, and grocers who entrust us with their business, can do so, feeling assured that we have in stock what they will require, that our prices are right, and that we are thoroughly conversant with this class of trade and its requirements. . . . . .

We have large, assorted stocks of Evaporated Soups, Extracts of Beef, Evaporated Vegetables, Evaporated Coffees, Coffee Essences, Cocoas, Evaporated Cocoa and Milk, Evaporated Milk, Evaporated Cream, Concentrated Vinegar, Saccharine, etc., etc., and shall be pleased to give any of our friends quotations and any information required.

Early in December we made several shipments of German Evaporated Onions, Potatoes, Saccharine, Extract of Beef Tubes, Evaporated Soup Tablets, etc., some of which are now on the ground in the West.

Rogers, the Chas. Rogers Sons Co., furniture, Yonge street; 1st vice-president, Mr. Wm. Trowern, of B. & H. B. Kent, jewellers, Yonge street.

Rossland and Kaslo have been made ports of entry.

TRADE CHAT.

THE Dresden correspondent of The Chatham Banner writes : "During the past season 14,870 live hogs have been weighed on the town scales and shipped from this place. This means that local buyers have paid about $120,000 into the hands of farmers in this vicinity. This covers only a portion of the number of hogs shipped, as our buyers buy a large percentage of their stock in lots without weighing. The 14,870 taken at the average weight means that 2,602,250 pounds of pig has been weighed. The shipments of dressed hogs have also been exceptionally large."

The Ethel cheese factory made 117,755 pounds of cheese in 1897, and sold it for $10,047.25.

Thieves recently broke into the Weston Trading Store, Weston, Ont., and stole a quantity of canned goods, etc.

The Newmarket Advertiser gives figures showing the shipments from that station for the week to be 20 cars, and to that station 17 cars.

J. & R. Robson, millers, Brantford, have acquired the Draper Roller Mills, and intend to keep them running day and night for some time at least.

There has been quite a demand for Manitoba flour in the Old Country, and the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. are shipping a large quantity to Ireland.

At a meeting of railroad officials in Brantford, last week, it was decided to strictly enforce the rule charging merchants and others for delay in unloading freight from cars.

The Government will place some 95,000,000 whitefish in Lakes Ontario, Erie, Huron, and St. Clair next summer. The eggs are now being hatched in the Sandwich Hatchery.

The proprietor of a small grocery store in Kingston is said to have the following words attached to crape on the front door : "On account of the death of my father, go to the back door to do business."

The action of the Dingley tariff has caused a crisis in the orange and lemon trade in the southern provinces of Italy and in Sicily. In many places prices are so low that the fruit does not pay for the picking.

There is in the north of England a very good demand for Canadian creamery butter, and in Manchester choicest qualities have brought from 21½ to 22¾c. wholesale, thus exceeding the Australian prices.

The latest shipment of cheese from the Warkworth cheese factory, together with the steamer and all other accompanying freight, has gone to the bottom of the ocean. The shipment consisted of over four hundred cheese and was insured for eleven cents per pound. The patrons will possibly realize more money out of the shipment than had it reached its destination. — Express, Colborne.

The shortage of the harvest in Austria-Hungary is much greater than has been anticipated. Advices from good quarters indicate that it will be necessary to import 20,000,000 pounds of food supplies.

The receipts of the Newmarket Dairy Association, for 1897, were $16,000.73; the total quantity of cheese made was 186,252 lbs., valued at $15,742.50. The assets of the association are $3,189.39, and the liabilities $650.

The Ontario Game Wardens think that Klondyke supply merchants are inducing settlers to kill deer for the sake of their hides, to sell to miners. The Deputy Warden at North Bay has seized a number of deer skins and deer horns.

E. J. Madden, of Newburgh, is dead, aged fifty years. He had been engaged in cheese manufacturing, and also as a cheese buyer, in Kingston, Napanee, Belleville and Peterboro' districts for about twenty years. He owned a factory at Newburgh, also one at Camden East.

The merchants of Windsor have been making a protest against the practice of allowing smallwares to come in without payment of customs duty. People go across to Detroit for a day's shopping and the evasion is an easy matter. The Customs officers at that point have been given orders to let nothing pass without payment of duty.

There is a Klondyke awaiting development here in the Eastern Townships. It is the export butter business. Several large creameries, established at central and convenient points, would yield hundreds of thousands annually and leave the soil as rich as ever. Now is the time for men of enterprise to join hands with farmers and push the matter.—Examiner, Sherbrooke.

Canadian Dealers too Often Deceived

It is of vast importance that every dealer should exercise the greatest caution when buying Paste Stove Polish.

The QUICKSHINE has attained such immense popularity that unscrupulous people have gone into stove polish business and are manufacturing polish that pays them tremendous profits. The materials employed in the composition of these imitation packages are so poor and cheap that the woman who buys them can never get the results she desires, and in this manner, to a certain extent, injures the sale of the good article.

When stove polish is required for domestic use ask your dealer or wholesale grocer for QUICKSHINE STOVE POLISH, and accept no substitute in the way of imitation package polishes, or polishes that are two-thirds soap and one-third polishing material.

If your wholesale dealer does not sell QUICKSHINE, send direct to us for same, stating the wholesale dealer you wish us to send it through ; or if you prefer it sent direct, we will forward same at once. Price per 3-doz. Case, $2.25.

GRATIFYING TRADE RETURNS.

CANADA'S foreign trade for the fiscal half year ending Dec. 31 last is of a most gratifying character, and is another proof that the financial and commercial condition of the country is becoming much more satisfactory.

One of the most pleasing features is in regard to the exports, the products of the country. These aggregated $89,790,407, against $69,891,422 the same period 1896, an increase of over 28 per cent. And one of the striking features in regard to this increase is that it is shared in by every branch of trade, except that which is classified under "Produce of the fisheries" and "Miscellaneous." This is shown by the following table:

EXPORTS, THE PRODUCE OF CANADA.

Produce of the mine	$ 7,534,175	$ 5,146,066
" " fisheries	7,013,323	7,066,648
" " forest	19,320,247	18,623,061
Animals and their products	31,067,346	25,231,623
Agricultural products	19,545,481	8,960,541
Manufactures	5,248,150	4,763,418
Miscellaneous	71,685	100,065
	$89,790,407	$69,891,422

It will be noticed from the above table the increase is $2,388,009 in produce of the mine, $697,186 in produce of the forest, $5,835,723 in animals and their products, $10,584,940 in agricultural products, and $584,732 in manufactures. The increas of over 96 per cent. in agricultural products is little short of phenomenal. All Canada's industries are evidently in a fairly healthy condition.

Exports alone are not, however, indicative of a country's prosperity. The United States, for instance, during the time of its severest depression, largely increased its exports. The nature of the imports must also be taken into account in order that a proper estimation may be arrived at. Canada, in this particular, is not found wanting.

The total imports for the six months were $59,968,813, against $53,624,067 the same time last year. The increase in dutiable goods was 7.3 per cent., and in free goods about 18 per cent., while the increase in the duty paid was $462,576, about 4¾ per cent. The percentage of duty paid on the dutiable goods imported, was 29.22 in 1897, and 30.27 in 1896, a difference of 1.05 per cent.

The following is a list of the imports of dutiable goods, of direct interest to the grocery trade, for the half-year periods of 1897 and 1896 respectively:

Tobacco leaf	114,444	.....
Vegetables	109,421	96,503

The increases of 1897, compared with 1896, are as follows: Rice, $83,714; fish, $2,025; fruits and nuts, dried, $202,680; oranges and lemons, $19,102; other fruit, $39,507; pickles, $14,849; provisions, $308,964; butter and cheese, $7,747; seeds and roots, $11,691; soap, $6,117; spices, $22,028; spirits, $4,145; vegetables, $96,503. The decreases are: Sugar, $1,808,376; molasses and syrup, $107,282; wines, $3,579.

The large decrease in the importation of sugar is rather a surprise in view of the fact that during the last few months large quantities of German, Dutch, and Austrian granulated sugars, have been coming into this market. But it must be remembered that a year ago refiners largely anticipated their wants in raw sugar, in view of an early session of Parliament and a possible increase in the duty, while only one out of the three refineries in the Maritime Provinces have been running on full time for some months. It is probable that in these facts are to be found the explanation for the decreased sugar imports. Our figures, it should be noted, include both raw and refined sugars.

The free imports during the first half of the fiscal year of 1897, ending with December 31, were $25,618,788, against $21,634,396 in 1896. The imports appertaining to the grocery and allied trades for these two periods were:

FREE IMPORTS.

Broom corn	$ 43,203	$ 46,376
Coffee	948,241	273,837
Fish and their products	432,937	373,496
Fruits—pineapples, bananas, etc	215,834	185,240
Grease for soap making	68,932	89,804
Salt	152,792	235,137
Tea	1,511,161	1,906,317
Tobacco leaf	16,989	860,878
Hides and skins	1,563,278	1,136,566
Corn	2,633,452	.....

A decrease in the importation of tea during the half-year from July to December last was only to be expected. In the first place, the trade imported large quantities early in the year, in anticipation of a duty being put on for revenue purposes, and, while a market was subsequently found in the United States for a good deal of this, yet the effects of this buying are still in evidence, although only to a slight extent indeed. Then, another factor was the attention which was being paid to the United States markets by tea shippers, who were anxious to get their goods into that country before the new inspection law went into operation, while the quantities sent to Canada were, in consequence, smaller than usual. The enormous quantity of free corn brought in is one of the features of the above table.

VANCOUVER'S FOREIGN TRADE.

During the calendar year, 1897, there were collected, at the Vancouver Customs House, duties to the extent of $462,037.74; inland revenue to the extent of $185,032.89 and $2,375.53 in other revenue, making a total revenue of $649,445.16. In February, the smallest amount, $43,066.30, was collected, but the next month, March, brought up the average with the largest total of the year, $83,609.54. The imports for the year were valued at $2,378,372 and the exports at $1,285,320.

BIG PURCHASE OF TOMATOES.

THERE is a good deal of speculation in tomatoes. One house has secured about 30,000 cases, but, as it is known to be furnishing supplies for British Columbia and the Yukon, it is more than likely that the bulk of its purchases will go west.

This firm has paid as high as $1.10, f.o.b. Ontario points, to packers and jobbers.

The top price was paid for 3,000 cases of a well-known and popular brand.

The buyer of the Alaska Commercial Co. is on his way east, and sellers are expected to receive heavy orders.

FINEST GREEN TEAS SCARCE.

A scarcity of the finest grades of China green teas, as well as of the low grade descriptions, is being experienced on this market.

Indirectly the cause of this is the rush of last summer to get teas of all descriptions into the United States before the new tea inspection law went into operation; also before the threatened duty was placed upon this commodity.

On account of this, fewer green teas of the finest grades were brought into Canada, and now that there is a demand for them not enough is on the market to supply requirements.

So urgent has been the demand that some of these finest teas have been brought on from New York during the past week or two, notwithstanding the 10 per cent. duty, which has added a couple of cents per pound to the price in some instances.

A MATTER OF "BARGAINS."

Devious are the ways of the retailers of "bargains." Often it is a matter of wonder to even shrewd, progressive merchants to see their neighbors offering for sale some staple article at a lower than wholesale price. In some cases a sale of this kind would be a legitimate "snap," where the retailer goes in to lose money for the advertising thus derived. But, as a rule, the honesty of the bargain is questionable.

There is so much of imitation and counterfeit nowadays that there cannot be too close a scrutiny of any goods thus sold. There have been cases, too, of scales being so arranged that the cream has been taken from the "snap" by poor weight. Recently a grocer was arrested for giving such short weight on a so-called bargain in sugar that from 1¼ to 2 lbs. less than advertised were given with each $1 worth.

Many dealers hesitate to question the honesty of their competitors in a matter of this kind, yet cases of such dishonesty are not so rare but that a dealer who finds any of his customers are attracted by such a sale is justified in warning such customers to make comparison regarding the value of the goods offered, and to make sure of getting the full weight advertised. Above all things, an honest dealer should never try to match at his own game a competitor for trade who is tricky or unscrupulous. Honesty is the best policy.

LOOKING FOR CANADIAN BACON.

During the last week a representative of a large importing firm in Liverpool has been in Toronto endeavoring to make arrangements with local packers to supply them with smoked meats, etc.

This firm imports about 1,000 boxes of over 400 lbs., or about 200 tons, of these meats weekly from United States firms, but they are anxious to place this order with Canadian packers, because of the excellent quality of their product.

This is another proof of the favor with which Canadian pea-fed pork is received in Great Britain.

It behooves Canadian dealers, and especially breeders, to see that the quality of our pork is still further improved rather than allowed to deteriorate.

THE EGG MARKET.

The present indications are that holdings of eggs will, at the present rate of consumption, last but a short time. After that, the sale will have to depend on current receipts, and, as, so far, these receipts have been light, dealers predict that a scarcity of eggs is inevitable.

Though the price of eggs will probably go up, it would be poor policy on the part of shippers to hold stocks for a rise, as not only is there danger of deteriorating, but better results are, as a rule, obtained by taking good prices when they are to be had. And the price for strictly fresh laid is good now.

THE INSOLVENCY LAW QUESTION

THE question of an insolvency law for Canada has been so freely ventilated that no new plea or argument is possible.

Every business man recognizes that the present condition of affairs is shameful, yet only the few are bestirring themselves to have our laws amended. The truth is, ou standard of commercial morality is far below that which prevails in Great Britain.

Here, gentlemen who settle at 25 to 40c. on the dollar are often recognized as possessing genuine business ability, while the man who pays up and acts honorably is considered a poor, weak-spirited creature, quite out of place amongst up-to-date business men.

In Great Britain the foolish old prejudice in favor of honesty still exists, and men are compelled, not only by law, but by public opinion, to be upright.

In the counting-house of Keen, Robinson & Co., London, the great mustard manufacturers, there hang framed letters, telling each its own story of business failure, resulting from causes impossible to prevent, and yielded to only when no other course was open. The insolvents were honorably discharged, and embarked in business again.

The second venture was a greater success than the first, and the business was placed on a paying basis. With the very first available funds, every penny of their former indebtedness was paid off. These are not isolated cases; they are common, every-day occurrences.

No wonder British and Canadian business men do not see eye to eye.

It may be foolish, and quite out of keeping with modern American methods, which we are copying in Canada, but if we cultivated a belief in and high regard for greater honesty in business, there would be less need for insolvency legislation. Some kind of legislation of this character would be an aid in developing better business principles in Canada.

BRANTFORD BOARD OF TRADE.

At the annual meeting of the Brantford Board of Trade, held on Tuesday night, the following officers were elected for the year:

President—Harry Cockshutt,
Vice-President—T. H. Preston.
Secretary-Treasurer—Geo. Hately.

ANOTHER ERROR REGARDING CANADA.

ONE of the brightest trade papers in the United Kingdom is Commerce, published in London. Judging from the character of its articles it has a good grasp of matters, financial and commercial, in Great Britain, and in the European, Asiatic and African countries; but it has, like many other journals in the Motherland, a great deal to learn in regard to Canada.

In a recent issue the journal in question had an article in reference to the action of the Ontario Government in stipulating that after May 1st, next, when existing licenses must be renewed, all logs cut in the province must be cut into lumber in the province, and in that article it, among other things, said:

> The Dominion Government propose to compel American owners of Ontario timber forests to saw the logs obtained from them within the province. This will hit the Michigan lumbermen very hard indeed, and the policy of Dingley will scarcely commend itself in their eyes in the future. Possibly the strictly correct thing for Canada to do would be to start saw mills of their own which should "lick Creation," but a young country is impatient of new methods, and such mills could not be put up to-morrow or the day after.

In this extract, Commerce exhibits its ignorance of Canadian affairs in a two-fold sense.

The Dominion Government, in the first place, had no more to do with the regulations which stipulate that the logs shall be sawn before being taken out of the province of Ontario than had the editor of Commerce himself. The regulations were devised by, and will be enforced by, the Government of the province of Ontario.

The Dominion Government might, if it is so disposed, put an export duty on logs, but it has nothing to do with the regulations appertaining to Ontario's timber lands. The Government of the province of Ontario has, on the other hand, no power to place an export duty on logs, but it can create whatsoever regulations it sees fit in regard to the timber lands within its territory.

With regard to the suggestion that "possibly the strictly correct thing for Canada to do would be to start saw mills of their own," Commerce again exhibits its ignorance.

By the word "Canada" we presume our contemporary means Ontario, for the regulations, of course, only apply to that province. But, whatever it means, the suggestion is an empty one: We have saw mills, and a number of them. It is true that, owing to the mill men in the United States being able to tow logs with such facility from Canadian forests across Lakes Huron and Michigan to their own mills, a number of saw mills in Ontario are idle, but that does not follow that we have none.

We might state, for the further information of our contemporary, that some of the mills in operation in Ontario, and other parts of Canada, are enormous concerns, and large quantities of their product yearly find their way both into Great Britain and the United States. Last year, nearly $25,000,000 was taken by these two countries together.

We have gone to greater length in regard to this matter than we intended, but the mistakes, which are so commonly made by the British press, are most irritating, because they are, as a rule, entirely inexcusable.

British newspaper men are as intelligent and as capable as any under the sun, but in matters appertaining to Canada they presume too much and trouble themselves too little in ascertaining the facts upon which they are writing.

CREDIT AND CASH PRICES.

Merchants who sell goods on credit at a cash price will ultimately fail to make the revenue and expenditure ends of their business meet.

Wherever there is a credit business there must be losses: There are losses from bad debts and losses on interest account.

Losses from these sources, when they are not provided for in the price of the goods sold, are the canker worms which have eaten the heart out of what appeared to be many a prosperous business.

The wide-awake merchant endeavors by legitimate means to lessen the first cost of his goods: He studies the markets; he saves his discounts; he sells for cash; and if perchance he has to do a little credit he adds a slight percentage to the selling price of the article which is so sold.

Business is business; and it is only by hewing to the line of strict business methods that a merchant can hope to compete successfully with the departmental stores and his up-to-date confreres.

PROPOSED SUGAR AGREEMENT.

THE proposed Dominion agreement to govern the sale of sugar is still hanging fire. It is now over a month and a half since the proposition was first drawn up, and was submitted to the trade in different sections of the country. This delay is rather lengthy, for it seems reasonable to expect that a business man would not take all this time to make up his mind.

Many of the firms who were anxious to see the reform put in force are so disappointed at the hitch that has arisen, that they have threatened, from time to time, to throw up the whole matter and issue instructions to their representatives to accept orders for sugar, irrespective of any arrangements that might be made.

After some persuasion they consented to delay their action, but this week some of the leading houses in Montreal have given out an ultimatum that if after a certain date—which is said to be the end of the present month—no decision has been arrived at, they will instruct their travelers to go ahead on the old freelance policy.

It is not unnatural that they should feel disgusted, but, at the same time, it will be a matter of general and extreme regret if the proposed reform, which every right thinking trader would like to see introduced, falls through.

The chief stumbling blocks are a house in Montreal, and one in Kingston, who have so far declined to adopt the proposed arrangement. The houses in Quebec city also have taken the same stand, but if the two firms already mentioned could be induced to fall into line, the wholesale trade elsewhere is prepared to go through with the arrangement, whether the traders in the latter city agree or not, because it believes they are too far east, to seriously interfere with business west of Three Rivers or Sorel.

It is to be hoped that the two reluctant traders may, even at the last moment, be induced to agree, and the proposition given a fair trial if nothing else.

Following is the very latest news item from Klondyke: "A grocer was recently lynched for adulterating sugar with gold dust." This beats Joaquin Miller's remark, "I'm sick of seeing so much gold."

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

AN exceedingly fine range of Japans, retailing at 25, 30 and 35c., which could not be replaced to-day under 2 to 3c. higher, are selling freely with the Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

H. P. Eckardt & Co, have "Log Cabin" succotash in flat tins.

The Wm. Ryan Co., Limited, have a large number of orders for barrel pork and long, clear bacon.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are selling an imported, pure castile soap in bars at a low price.

Choice Ceylon and Indian teas, about 18c., are now in store with Lucas, Steele & Bristol in half-chests.

Buyers of figs can get their wants supplied from a stock of Comadras, in taps, held by H. P. Eckardt & Co.

In evaporated apples and white beans, Lucas, Steele & Bristol are offering what they report are splendid values.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, are offering a particularly good value this week in a choice Barbadoes molasses.

Van Camps' celebrated tomato soup and catsup, pork and beans, macaroni and cheese, in store with George Foster & Sons.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, report large sales the past three weeks of their "Diamond" syrup, in half-barrels and pails.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, report a good demand for California fruits, more particularly in apricots and cheaper grades of prunes.

"We are offering syrups in half-barrels, cheap," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol; "also our 'Bargain' and 'Tiger' brands of molasses."

A fresh shipment of Singapore pearl tapioca is now on the way for the Eby, Blain Co., Limited. Arrival expected in a week or two.

Seven hundred mats of choice figs are just to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol; also a full assortment of California prunes, apricots, peaches, etc.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, quote close prices on codfish, whole and blocks, and Labrador and No. 1 split herring in barrels and half-barrels.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co.'s local and shipping orders for butter have been large this week, which fact enables them to return good prices for all shipments.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are quoting Sultana raisins, from their large stock, at close prices as to grade.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. report a good trade in all kinds of produce, but that the great bulk of butter now offered lacks quality. Good butter is in demand.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, direct buyers' attention to their offerings in Japan teas, all grades. They are also quoting low on Japan dust, just arrived.

Laporte, Martin & Cie are offering genuine Labrador herrings at reasonable prices. This herring had disappeared from the Canadian market during the last three or four years.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, offer late fall caught trout and whitefish at low prices, f.o.b. Midland, and, as stock is moving rapidly, intending buyers will do well to take note.

"We are offering bargains in fish of all kinds for Lenten time," say Laporte, Martin & Cie. "The fish has been bought at the right price, and our clients can have the benefit of it."

Clemes Bros. have just received from California a new brand of navels, the "Heap Good," which they state to be the best selected stock they have seen on the market this season.

George Foster & Sons have just received a consignment of "Magnolia" Ceylon tea in chests and caddies. This is a high grade of excellent style and cup quality. Samples may be had on application.

The Dawson Commission Co., Limited, have a car of fancy Senora oranges on the market this week. They have also received a car of fresh sea herring which arrived in excellent condition.

George Foster & Sons report being able to offer exceptional values in molasses. Dealers whose stocks are low will do well to get their quotations, as there is a strong advance in this line in the primary markets.

SILLY HONEY STORIES.

The silly stories, seen from time to time in the papers, about artificial combs being filled with glucose and deftly sealed over with a hot iron, have not the slightest foundation in fact. For years there has been a standing offer, by one whose financial responsibility is unquestioned, of $1,000 for a single pound of comb honey made without the intervention of bees. The offer remains untaken, and will probably always remain so, for the highest art of man can never compass such delicate workmanship as the skill of the bee accomplishes.—Bee Culture,

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report a gratifying increase in the sales of their "Diamond" and "Special Label" baking powders during the past year, and the trade is advised that the firm's facilities for putting out the most effective and purest powder, at the least possible price, are greater than ever.

SALES OF DATES IN NEW YORK.

At the auction sale in New York, on Monday, the bulk of the offerings of Persian dates were withdrawn, it is reported, less than 400 cases being sold at 3¾c. for Hallowees, 3⅜c. for Khadrawees and 2¾c. for Sairs. The Tunis dates sold at 9½c., but only about 25 per cent. of the quantity offered was disposed of. Of the Persian dates, the purchases at auction, as reported, were 200 boxes of Hallowees, 170 boxes of Khadrawees and 20 boxes of Sairs.

THE HALIFAX BOARD OF TRADE.

The annual meeting of the Halifax Board of Trade was held on the 18th inst. Mr. Geo. Mitchell, M.P.P., was elected president and W. A. Black and J. E. DeWolf, vice-presidents. Council also elected.

A vote of thanks was with great unanimity passed to the retiring president, Mr. G. J. Troop; everybody seemed in accord with the view of the great services he had rendered in that capacity. It was suggested, and will probably be acted on, that a special meeting will be called to discuss important matters dealt with in the annual report, among which were: The tariff, the West India trade, extension of trade in agricultural products, fire protection on Waterside, Provincial Exhibition, the Queen's Jubilee, visitors, Maritime Board of Trade, fast line service, Halifax and Guysboro Railway, sugar tariff, cable communication with the West Indies, marine insurance, steamships, proposed legislation with respect to insolvency, etc., cold storage, winter port. It was a very satisfactory meeting, in point of attendance and interest manifested.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Jan. 27, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale trade is still quiet. It is, of course, usually so at this time of the year, but, as business was so unusually brisk the first week or two of the new year, some disappointment is being expressed because it has not been maintained. However, so far, the month's trade is more satisfactory than it was a year ago. Profits are much better, and the volume of business is larger. Nothing new has developed in canned goods, but prices are still firm, particularly on tomatoes. Pepper and cloves are dearer in the primary and terminal markets. Locally, the sugar market is quiet and unchanged ; the outside markets have been irregular. The tea market is gradually assuming more activity, and prices are ruling steady. Currants are firm and in rather good demand. Other kinds of foreign dried fruits are quiet and featureless.

CANNED GOODS.

There is not much doing in canned goods, but there is no change in the situation. Prices for tomatoes are firm at quotations, but the high figures ruling have, for the time being at least, checked consumption. Canned salmon is meeting with a fair demand for this time of the year. We quote as follows : Tomatoes, $1.20 to $1.25 ; corn, 80 to 85c. ; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1 to $1.10 ; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40 ; beans, 60 to 95c. ; peaches, $2 to $2.40 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80 ; strawberries, $1.40 to $1 70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70 ; cherries, $1.75 to $2.25 ; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c. ; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand ; cohoes, 95c. to $1 ; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.70 for tall tins ; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70 ; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40 ; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50 ; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25 ; 14's, $15 to $16 ; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

COFFEE.

The local demand continues fairly good for Brazilian descriptions of coffee. Advices received from the European markets in regard to Brazilian coffees were of a discouraging nature, and this had a depressing effect on the New York market. The cause of the unsatisfactory feeling is the reported large crop of the Santos description. East India coffees rule firm. Jobbers quote green in bags : Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade ; East Indian, 27 to 30c. ; Santos, 12 to 18c. ; Java, 30 to 33c. ; Mocha, 27½ to 30c. ; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c. ; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There is only a limited enquiry, with transactions small. We quote : Dark, 23 to 25c. ; medium, 28 to 35c. ; bright, 32 to 42c. ; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Very little doing locally. Advices from New Orleans report the market there steady, with the demand fair. We quote as follows : New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c. ; ditto. half-bbls., 25 to 37c. ; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls. ; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c. ; half-bbls., 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The past week has witnessed a great deal of fluctuation in the outside markets, and local buyers have, in consequence, been extremely chary of entering the market in its unsettled condition. Business has, therefore, been restricted. Since our last report, the English market has declined 2¼ to 3d. in best sugar, and ¾ to 2d. in cane, while in New York, on Monday, refined sugars were reduced ⅛c. per lb., in order to adjust prices on a parity with those of raw sugar. The London market was steadier on Monday, but Tuesday's cables again noted an easier turn. The local market is unchanged. We quote wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days : Granulated (Redpath, St. Lawrence, Acadia), 4½c. ; ditto, Dutch, in bags, 4⅜c. ; ditto, German of Canadian make, in bbls., 4 3-16c. ; ditto, imported, in bags, 4 3-16c. ; yellows, 3¾c. upwards.

NUTS.

The situation is much as before. Jordan shelled almonds are reported from New York rather easier. We quote: Brazil nuts, 12½ to 14c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 23 to 25c.; Tarragona almonds, 9 to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 9½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

Trade continues steady, with Japan rice being firmly held in the outside markets. We quote as follows: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Pepper has advanced another ¼ to ⅜c. per lb. in the London market, where spot goods are quoted lower than shipments to arrive. Advices from London report a strong demand for cloves at gradually stiffening prices owing to unfavorable reports from Zanzibar. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 14c in kegs, pails and boxes, and 15c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 12c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 24 to 26c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 20 to 22c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 20 to 22c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 16c.; cassia, 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

TEAS.

While the tea market is still quiet, it is gradually improving, an improved demand for low grade Indian and Ceylon teas having developed during the week. Young Hysons are wanted, but they cannot be obtained, and we know of one shipping firm which has instructed its agent here to withdraw all offers, better prices being expected later. There have, however, been a few transactions in Young Hyson teas. Japans seem to be going forward a little more freely. Low grade Japans are firm and scarce. It is estimated that the quantity of Japan tea on the Canadian market is only about 10 per cent. of what is usually held here in first hands at this time of the year. There are not many Indian and Ceylon teas held on spot, but the few which are held are lower in price than they could be laid down to-day. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indias and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The market is still strong. Canadian buyers are again entering the market, realizing that the present basis is likely to be maintained. Local wholesalers are still experiencing a good demand. We quote: Provincials, 5¾ to 6c.; Filiatras, 6¼c. in bbls; 6⅜c. in half-bbls and 6¼c. in cases. Patras, 6¾c. in bbls.; 6¾c. in half-bbls. and 6⅞c. in cases. Vostizzas, 7½ to 8½c. in cases.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Quiet. We quote as follows: New goods—Off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 6 to 6½c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—Advices from the Coast state that the market is firm on prime stock, with offers limited, but prices are unsettled on rain-damaged stock. We quote: 3-crown, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb.; 4-crown, 8¼ to 8½c. per lb.; 1-lb. cartoons, 20c.; 2¼-lb. cartoons, 35c.

DATES—Quiet, at 5½ to 5¾c. for Hallowees and 5½c. for Kadrowees.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market continues to show the quietness usual at this time of year. The principal feature during the last few weeks has been an advance in Valencias, the price of which has risen to 7s. on the Liverpool market during the last three weeks. They have advanced 25 to 50c. on spot during the last week, and are likely to go still higher. California navels have declined 25c. Mail advices, however, report free buying at primary markets. EVAPORATED APPLES—We hear of a medium-sized round lot being turned over at about 9c. Toronto. The jobbing price is still 8 to 9c. in an ordinary way, however.

BEANS—There have been a few transactions, but trade is, on the whole, quiet. A round lot of prime changed hands at figures slightly under quotations. We quote 80c., in 5 and 10 bag lots, with hand-picked at about 85c.

PROVISIONS.

There is nothing new in the situation. Prices continue firm for anything sold now. Dealers will not quote present prices for two weeks or a month hence. Lard is the strong article on the list, with prices firm and upward tendency. We quote:

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of dairy butter consist principally of large rolls. Pound prints are coming forward freely. The demand is good for all kinds, especially large rolls. Creamery continues firm, with receipts of prints being readily sold on arrival, tubs, however, not being in special demand. Many dealers complain that much of the dairy butter offered has not a good flavor. We quote as follows: Dairy, large rolls, 14 to 15c.; pound prints, 14 to 15c.; tubs, best grade, 15 to 16c.; second grade, 13 to 14c.; low grade, 11 to 12c.; creamery, early make, tubs, 17 to 18c.; late make, tubs, 18 to 19c.; prints, 20 to 21c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has been dull and uninteresting in the main during the past week, as the actual movement in nearly every department is confined to a mere hand-to-mouth business. In fact, some of the largest jobbers complain that business is quieter, even for January, than it has been for a number of years, and are at a loss to explain it, considering the fact that the general conditions appear to be healthy enough. Values, as a rule, are steady, but retailers are entirely oblivious of the fact. Refiners state that they can't entice any orders out of jobbers for either sugar or syrups. Molasses is firm and the arrivals from the Maritime Provinces have been light, and have had little effect on the local situation. Spices and coffees are steady, and there is a firmer disposition noticeable on low-grade teas of all descriptions, with some large transactions for first hands. The firm disposition of canned goods is fully maintained, but the fact does not induce any demand from retailers. Dried fruit, nuts, fish, and produce of all sorts are generally steady.

SUGAR.

Business in refined sugar here has been extremely quiet during the past week. Refiners report that despite the decline it is impossible to induce jobbers to operate, and the latter assert that retailers are equally dilatory. As a result the actual movement is of the merest hand-to-mouth character. Values, as a rule, are unchanged and we quote: Standard granulated, 4 5-16c.; Canadian German granulated, 4c.; Austrian and German granulated, 3 15-16c. in bags, and domestic yellows, 3½ to 4c., the outside price being for extra bright stock.

SYRUPS.

Very little either from first or second hands, and prices are steady, as last quoted, at 2 to 2½c.

MOLASSES.

This market continues quite firm, and, while the change has not been of a very appreciable kind, there has been more trade passing both in a wholesale and in a jobbing way. Efforts to bring any supplies from the Maritime Provinces have not been successful, for only a few small lots have arrived from that quarter, and the quality of some of them has caused complaint. In a jobbing way prices are unchanged for Barbadoes as follows: puncheons, 28c.; barrels, 30½c.; and half-barrels, 31½c. per gallon; car lots 1c. less. Porto Rico is in slow demand around 26 to 27c., according to quality.

RICE.

There is a quiet, steady trade in rice and prices ars unchanged. We quote: Imported Japan, 4⅞ to 5c.; standard B rice $3.40 to $3.50; ditto, grade S, $3.30 to $3.40; Patna, $4.75 to $5; choice Burmah, $4; and ditto Java, $4.25.

SPICES.

There is only a very moderate demand for spices, but values rule quite steady: Black pepper, 9 to 15c.; pure white, 15 to 20c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 30c.; allspice, 14c.; and nutmegs, 50 to 90c.

COFFEE.

Very little actual trade is doing in coffee, the only movement being some small lots of Maracaibo between wholesalers, from 11 to 12c. We quote: Maracaibo, 12 to 15c.; Santos, 11½c., and Rio 10 to 10½c., while Java and Mocha are held around 30.

TEAS.

There has been more doing in low-grade Japans, China greens and blacks, quite a large quantity of stock having changed hands at various prices. The general tone of the market is steady, as evidenced in the refusal of one or two holders to part with teas for 12c. that only cost them 10½c. some time ago. They believe that jobbers will want more of these low-grade goods shortly, and are confident of higher prices later on, on all descriptions of goods of this class. Retailers are only operating very sparingly, according to jobbers. We quote: Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest; China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

The firm disposition of canned goods is strongly maintained, especially on corn and tomatoes, while apples are also strongly held. Retailers, however, still continue backward buyers, but holders expect an improvement in this respect in the course of a few weeks. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; corn, 90c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1.15; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb. do., $1.10 to $1.20; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25; "Clover Leaf," $1.25; Lowe Inlet, $1.20, in tall tins; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25 to $4.50.

DRIED FRUIT.

The currant market continues firm outside with an advancing tendency, and it would necessitate pretty high prices to lay down any fresh supplies here. There is no change, however, in spot prices, the actual movement being light. We quote: Fine Vostizzas, half-cases, 6½c.; Patras, half-cases, 6¼c.; choice Filiatra, do., 6c.; fine do., half-cases, 5⅞c.; Filiatra, half-cases, 5¾c.; do. half-bbls., 5½c.; do., bbls., 5⅜c.; fine Provincials, half-cases, 5⅝c.

There is little doing in Valencia raisins, and prices are steady. We quote: Off-stalk, 4½c.; fine do., 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5¾ to 6c., and 4-crown layers, 6 to 6¾c.

California raisins continue quiet, while prices are steady at 6 to 6¾c. for 2-crown; 7¼ to 7¾c. for 3-crown, and 8¾ for 4-crown fruit.

There is no change in Sultanas on spot, prices ranging from 8¾ to 9c., while loose Spanish muscatels are quoted at 6 to 7c.

There is a fair business in prunes, both in European and Californian, but, if anything, the former are having the preference. We quote: Austrian, 6½ to 7c.; French, 4½ to 5½c., and Californias, 7½ to 10c., as to grade.

Figs are quiet and steady. We quote: Eleme, 10 lbs., 10 to 11c.; case lots, 9c.; 12-oz. boxes, 7½c.; 14-oz. boxes, 9c.; 25 bag lots, 3¼c., and bags, 3½ to 4c.

Dates are dull but steady at 5½ to 6c.

NUTS.

There is nothing to report, business ruling quiet. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 8½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 16 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 7 to 8½c., and pecans, 9 to 10c.

FISH.

The fresh fish trade is quiet, and the curtailing of the season for the observance of Lent by the Roman Catholic religious authorities no doubt accounts for the quiet demand now experienced. In most cases the market is overstocked, and it will take fully a month of trade to dispose of the stock on hand. Haddock and cod are selling at 2½ to 3c., steak cod at 3½c., and herrings at $1.40 for good and $1.20 for medium, while tommy cods range from $1 to $1.20.

The only change in pickled fish has been an advance of 25c. per bbl. in the price of white fish. We quote: Green cod, No. 1, large, $4.25; No. 1, ordinary, $3.25 to $3.50; No. 2, $2.25 to $2.40; herrings, No. 1, N.S., $4.25 to $4.50 per bbl., and $2.15 to $2.65 per half-bbl.; Cape Breton, $4.75 per bbl.; B.C. salmon, $11.50 per bbl.; No. 1 trout, $4 to $4.25 per half-bbl., and No. 1 white fish, $4.65 to $5.

The feature in smoked fish has been the scarcity of Yarmouth and Bay bloaters and prices have advanced 10 to 25c. per box to $1 to $1.25. Haddies continue to sell at 5½ to 6c. per lb., and smoked herrings at 10 to 11c. per box.

The demand for preserved fish is slow, and prices are unchanged. Dressed cod fish are selling at $4.25 to $4.50 per case of 100 lbs.; dried cod, at $3.50 per cwt.; boneless cod fish, at 4½ to 5c. per lb., and boneless fish, 5c. per lb.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES.

Continue quiet, but very firm, at 6½ to 7c. for dried, and evaporated, 9½ to 10c.

APPLES.

Cables on apples from Liverpool this week have been rather easier, quoting 2s. decline, but it is believed that this is only temporary, and is caused by the recent very heavy arrivals ex Carthagenian on the 28th at Liverpool, and Grecian on the 1st at Glasgow. On spot, prices are as firm as ever.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market has had another quiet week. Oranges continue in fair demand, Valencias being held firm in sympathy with the advance. Lemons and other lines are precisely the same. We quote as follows: Lemons, $2.50 to $3; Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6; California, $3.50 to $4; Valencia, $4; Almeria grapes, $5 to $6.50; Cape Cod cranberries, $7.50 to $8.50, and Nova Scotia, $7.50 to $8.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand for eggs to-day in small lots was somewhat better and a fair trade was done. The tone of the market was about steady, and prices show no further change. We quote fresh stock 22 to 23c.; Montreal limed, 15 c., and western limed, 12½ to 13c. per dozen.

POULTRY—The poultry market continues quiet, the demand being chiefly for small lots of fresh killed stock, of which receipts are small and prices show no actual change. We quote: Turkeys, 8½ to 9½c.; chickens, 5 to 8c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c., and geese, 5 to 6c. per lb.

BEANS—The demand for beans is slow and the market is quiet at 80 to 90c. for primes, and at 95c. to $1 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—Business in honey is slow. We quote as follows: White clover, 12½c.; dark clover comb, 10 to 10½c., and dark at 7 to 8c.

PROVISIONS.

There is an improved demand for pork and lard and a fair trade done at steady prices. Smoked meats were quiet and unchanged. We quote: Canadian pork, $15 to $16 per barrel; pure Canadian lard in pails, at 7 to 7½c., and compound refined at 5 to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10½ to 12c.; bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

There was a steadier tone to the market for dressed hogs this week owing to an improved demand and smaller receipts. In a jobbing way a fair trade was done at $6.60 to $6.75 for light, and at $6.40 to $6.50 for heavy per 100 lbs.

SALT.

Quiet and steady: Coarse Liverpool, in 165-lb. bags, 38 to 45c., and Trepani, $1.10 per bag of 215 lbs.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

There was a firmer feeling in the flour market for Ontario grades, and holders generally were asking a slight advance over present quotations, but no actual change was reported. In Manitoba grades a very fair business was done on local account and a few orders were also received from the Maritime Provinces and Quebec for small lots. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, patents, $4.60 to $4.85; straight rollers, $4.25 to $4.30; bags, $2.05 to $2.10; best Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; second do., $4.50, and low grades, $2.70; Hungarian patents, $5.30.

A firmer feeling prevailed in the meal market, in sympathy with oats, and an advance in prices is anticipated daily. The demand, as yet, does not show much improvement, and business is still quiet. We quote: Rolled oats, $3.40 per barrel, and $1.65 per bag; standard meal, $3.25 per barrel, and $1.57½ per bag.

There continues to be an active demand for feed, and, as supplies are light, the tone of the market is very firm, with prices tending upward. We quote: Ontario bran, $12; shorts, $13 per ton in bulk. Manitoba bran, $13.50 to $14, and shorts, $15 to $16 per ton, including bags.

GRAIN.

The steady improvement in prices at American wheat centres during the past few days, and the strong advices from abroad created quite a demand for grain this week here, and an active business was done, especially at shipping points along the lines. A large line of Manitoba wheat changed hands on Saturday for western account, afloat Fort William at p.t. Ontario red wheat sold for export in fair sized lots, at country points, at 84c., which means 95 to 96c. store here. Oats were also in good demand and prices advanced ¼c. per bushel with sales of round lots on the basis of 28¾c. store. Buckwheat is firmer at 36½ to 37c. and feed barley at 35c.

BALED HAY.

Business in hay was slow and the market is quiet with no change in values to note. We quote: No. 1 at $10.50 and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE.

The cheese market exhibits no improvement, and it does not seem natural to expect that the present quietude can obtain much longer. The season is too far advanced, and if demand does not improve, the chances are in favor of the buyers; and that sellers will have to meet their views, or else carry their cheese until the opening of the new season. This latter process does not usually pay. Shippers protest that it is impossible to elicit orders over the cable at limits that permit of meeting the present views of holders, and certainly the absence of activity bears them out. Mail advices are the reverse of encouraging. While some may be a bit too bearish for acceptance, their general tenor does not give the idea of radical advance sufficient to warrant holders incurring extra carrying charges, in the hope of recouping themselves later on. In Liverpool on the 15th demand was set down as quiet, with prices about steady, and the same reports are received from Bristol, Manchester and London. The pronouncedly bearish advices above referred to come from the latter market, and speak confidently of large consignments of Australian cheese during February. It will be shown pretty soon whether the wish is father to the thought, as we are almost into that month now. Values on spot are purely nominal, buyers' extreme views for finest being 8½c., whereas holders want ⅛ to ¼c. advance on that price.

BUTTER.

If the export outlook for cheese is uncertain, that for butter is unmistakably discouraging, to those who are of a sanguine disposition. In fact, all advices go to show that the home demand will have to be mainly depended on to absorb our domestic make of winter creamery between now and the new season. Mail advices of ten days ago speak of declines at all the English markets, owing to the large arrivals of continental and other butter. At Manchester, for instance, prices gave way to the extent of 4s. per cwt.. or over 1c. per lb., and it is stated that Australian and New Zealand were pressed for sale at the reduction, while Canadian creameries, in order to be cleared, had to accept an average reduction of 2s. per cwt., or about ½c. per lb., the quotation for them ranging from 98s to 100s., finest Danish offering at 100s., and Australian at 94 to 98s. In London the latter were monopolizing the market, and were likely to do so for some time to come, yet demand could not be induced to keep pace with the arrivals, and under continued pressure values were easing still further. These advices do not hold out much hope of improved export demand, and factorymen, who were in town to-day, did not find traders very anxious buyers. They made a canvass of several, and found that 18½c. was an extreme price for finest creamery, and that buyers were very particular as to "finest" quality, if they conceded that figure. Western dairy rolls were easy also at 14c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Poirier & Ethier, retail grocers of Montreal, have dissolved partnership. The business will be carried on by Paul Ethier.

The expected receipts of Barbadoes molassess from the Maritime Provinces have not materialized, only a few small lots arriving.

Batterbury, Chard & Jackson, Montreal, have been appointed agents in Canada for the well-known firm of J. P. Pemartin Xerez de la Fronterd.

Herdt & Co. have commenced as general commission merchants, 13 St. John street, Montreal. They have taken over the ageney of the Chocolat Menier for the Dominion of Canada.

There have been some fair sized lots of low grade teas moved from first hands, and holders are disposed to hold on, as they believe prices are bound to advance on these descriptions.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 26, 1898.

THERE is little of interest to note. A few weeks ago we referred to the bad debts which some of our merchants had made during the past year, which, in some cases, are above the average, though others made very few. It is the Nova Scotia trade that has shown the poorest results. In the city dealers report collections slow. There has been much interest during the week in the new United States law regarding sealskins entering that country. The wives of two of our leading wholesale grocers, who, intending to take a short holiday to the States, and who took every precaution to have proof that their sacques were such as might be allowed entry, were unable to get any satisfaction from the United States officials, and, so, fearing to have their garments confiscated, turned back before reaching the border.

OIL—Such trade as there is, is largely confined to burning oil. Orders are being booked for lubricating oils, and the prospects are for good business. There is little change in values. Turpentine and castor oil are both firmer. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18 to 19c.; Canadian water white, 16½ to 17½c.; Canadian prime, 15 to 15½c.; cod oil, 22 to 24c.

SALT— There continue to be free arrivals of coarse salt. Shipments to the different fish centres in Nova Scotia and down the bay are being made, and the wants of the fisherman for the coming season are being supplied. They are buying their salt at low prices. Very little factory-filled is arriving. Prices are easy and light sale. In Canadian salt there is fair sale, largely in wood boxes of 20 and 10 lb. sizes. We quote: Coarse, 40 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 85c. to 95c.; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; rock salt, $5 to $6 per ton.

CANNED GOODS—There is a fair movement in vegetables, and holders can sell freely if they cut prices. There are fair stocks here, and the general feeling is that values will be higher, so, as a rule, dealers are holding goods. Owing to the condition of the market, Canadian canned meats have been freely sold Already prices show quite an advance. Oysters are having better sales, and the outlook is for higher figures. Canned fish are having quite a sale west. A quantity of kippered herring passed through here this week. While salmon are still low, better values are looked for. Lobsters are scarce and high. Fruits, except apples, are low. We quote: Corn, 85c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1; tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; gallon apples, $2.60 to $2.75; corned beef, Canadian, $2.50 to $2.60; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.65 to $2.75; 1-lb. tins, $1.45 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.60; 2's, $1.50 to $1.65; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.50; fruits in glass, $4 to $4.25; salmon, $1.15 to $1.20; ditto, flats, $1.25 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, $1.00 to $1.10; clams, $4.50 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.50 to $2.75 for 2 doz,; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples and oranges are about the only lines moving. Apples, for best stock, are high and scarce. There is a fair quantity of second and third grade fruit, but quality is such that it has little sale. Oranges, Valencias, are higher. There is a good business doing. Californias are quiet; in Floridas, season is about over. Lemons are dull. Only a few Bananas are moving. Grapes are light stock, and have but fair sale. Cranberries are high. Cape Cod are the only ones in the market of good quality. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $5 to $6 per box; do., California, $2.75 to $3.50; do., Florida, $4.50 to $5; do., Dominica, $3.25 per bbl.; apples, $2.00 to $4.50; bananas, $2 to $2.25; Malaga grapes, $6.00 to $7; native bog cranberries, $4 to $5.50 per bbl.; Cape Cod cranberries, $9.50 to $10 per bbl.; shaddock, $3 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3 per bbl.; sour limes, $1.75 per box; sweet limes, $2.50 per box.

DRIED FRUIT—This is still a quiet line. There is a rather a better enquiry for evapoated apples, but dealers buy in small quantities. Dried are dull. Raisins have light sale. A car of 4-crown California loose muscatels arrived this week. They were bought at low price. California prunes have already begun to advance. They have been low. A good demand, at better prices, is looked for. Currants are light stock. Onions are quoted higher. Stocks are getting into few hands. Seeded muscatels are rather easier, but, as market in loose is turning higher, there is not likely to be much change. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5 to 5½c.; California L. M., 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; London layers, $1.40 to $1.50; Imp. cabinets, $1.75 to $1.80; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.30; Dehesa layers, $2.50 to $2.75; currants, cases, 6 to 6⅛c.; bbls., 5⅜ to 5⅝c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¾ to 8c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¾ to 7c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 10c.; dates, 5 to 5½c.; dried apples, 6 to 7c.; evaporated apples, 10½ to 11c.; onions, $2.20 to $2.35 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 8 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 9 to 10c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7½ to 7¾c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 11 to 12c.; new Valencias, layers, 5¾ to 6c.; citron peel, 18c.; lemon peel, 12c.; orange peel, 13c.

SUGAR—The presence of second grade granulated tends to keep market easy. The best second grade to be offered here was shown this week by one of the Montreal refineries. Our dealers prefer the standard. In yellow values are held firm. There is only fair business doing. We quote: Granulated, 4⅜ to 4½c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅞c.; Paris lump, 5½ to 5¾c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—Our market is strong, but there is still a fair supply of Porto Rico here. Barbadoes is scarce and advancing. Holders are looking for higher prices all round. Now would seem to be a right time to buy Porto Rico. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 27c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 30c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE — In butter, the market is flat. It is difficult to get any good, while the market is full of poor. Cheese is also quiet. While stocks are not large there is little demand. Eggs have a ready sale, even at the high prices asked. Very few are being received. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 18 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 20 to 23c.

FISH—Trade is rather better. Receipts of frozen herring were larger this week than at any time during this season, so prices, which have been high, are quoted lower. There is a good demand for all that can be got. Frozen cod and haddock move freely with supply and demand about equal. In dry fish prices are firmly held, and rather better business is looked for. There are fair supplies of pickled herring. Grand Manan fish prices are at least no higher. Smoked fish are quiet, except haddies, which find steady demand. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.75 to $1.85; pickled herring, $1.80 to $1.90 per half-bbl.; smoked, herring 6½ to 7c.; Canso, pickled, $5 to $5.25 per barrel; boneless fish, 3½ to 4½c.; cod, 6 to 6½c.; frozen cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; herring, 75c. to $1; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.

PROVISIONS—There continues to be but little doing. At this season packers here, as a rule, are buying freely of Ontario hogs, but this year they cannot get them, except at too high a price for packing. Mess pork is high, being almost the same price as clear. The latter keeps low in this market. In smoked meats prices are firmly held. Lard shows a further advance this week. Fair stocks are held here. Plate beef is firm and prices will go higher. There is limited sale. We quote: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15; mess, $14.00 to $14.50; plate beef, $13.50 to $14.50; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 9½ to 10c.; pure lard, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—There is a fair flour business, but prices are easy. At present there is quite a difference between Ontario and Manitoba flour, more, in fact, than for some time past. In feed, prices are high, and it is difficult to get any. Oats are firm with the demand, on account of the lower price for New Brunswick oats, light. Hay is dull. Cornmeal is low, and shows large sale. In barley prices are are higher, and a firmer feeling is expected. Split peas are scarce. In oatmeal, while prices have been shaded some, the outlook is for higher figures. Beans show a rather better demand at somewhat easier figures. We quote: Manitoba $5.70 to $5.75; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.75 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.75; cornmeal, $1.90 to $2; middlings, $17 to $18.50; bran, $15.00 to $16.00; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; barley, $3.20 to $3.25; round peas, $1.25; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.75.

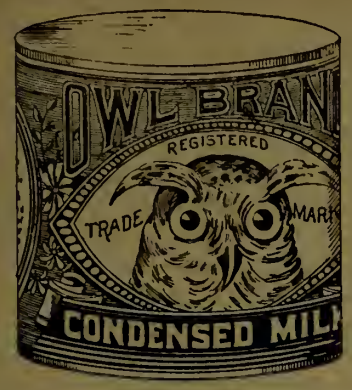
ST. JOHN NOTES.

Dearborn & Co. this week landed a car of 4-crown loose muscatels and seeded California raisins.

The Government is richer by $150 because of the arrival of three Coreans by the steamer Taymouth Castle.

Bowman & Angevine this week received a shipment of "Royal Paragon" cheese. These goods are taking well.

The largest shipment of apples to leave Halifax this year went forward to London by the steamer St. John City. There were 8,000 barrels.



It is said a steamer will be put on this summer between St. John and Halifax. This will be a great convenience for St. John merchants doing business along the south shore of Nova Scotia.

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Charlottetown Board of Trade: Horace Haszard, president; W. D. Aitkens, vice-president; E. T. Higgs, secretary-treasurer.

Bund & Peters are landing the first car of California evaporated fruits and prunes to come to any one dealer in this market. The shipment also contains the first evaporated fruits and prunes to come here.

New Brunswick is becoming quite a centre for the bottling of aerated mineral waters. The Sussex Mineral Spring Co. are making arrangements to ship some of their product to the upper provinces during the coming season.

Guaranteed to keep in any climate.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 24, 1898.

AMONG the festivities announced for next month is the annual concert, supper and ball of the City Travelers' Association, which will be held at the Manitoba hotel on February 15th. This association is composed exclusively of the city travelers, and has only been organized about four years. It has now a membership of 44. All their efforts at social entertainment have been successful, so that the coming ball is looked forward to with the pleasant assurance of a good time.

Thompson, Codville & Co. announce for sale by auction (to the trade only), the stock recently purchased by them at the sale of the estate of the Turner, Mackeand Co. The sale will take place at the old warehouse of Turner, Mackeand on the 7th of February, and subsequent days until the stock is sold. This sale has, no doubt, been arranged to suit the large number of country merchants who will be in town about that time attending the bonspiel. By the way, the great theatre attraction for that week will be "1492."

The Klondyke fever grows apace, and every day adds to the parties going from this city or passing through it en route to the "golden north." Some are buying their outfits in Winnipeg, but the majority get them nearest the bounds of civilization. Many Americans, coming in to go by the Edmonton route, find on reaching Edmonton that supplies brought with them are not what they really need, and have to sell or exchange them at great loss. In the matter of food and clothing, it is held by many, who ought to know, that they can be bought to the best advantage here, as there are those here who know what is serviceable, and the choice is larger than in the small places further west and north. It is quite amusing to see the number of dog trains that turn up in the city. It seems like 1882 again to see them trotting up Main street.

The importation of corn to supply the shortage of oats continues, but not to such an extent as would appear from some of our contemporaries. Grain dealers find there is too little in it to be very keen on handling it. At the same time there has been quite a market for American corn in Manitoba this year.

The wheat situation is unchanged. Deliveries are nil, but price remains stiff and appears likely to do so. Millers are kicking at present, as they claim they cannot compete for markets east or west, owing to the fact that they have had to pay a much higher price for their wheat than millers in the coast states west or the millers in Ontario.

In prices generatly there have been no changes for the week. Markets are quiet, but in most cases steady.

BUTTER—The last lot of creamery butter held in the province was closed out at the factory holding last week; the price was 19¼c., point of shipment, and the lot amounted to some 21,000 lbs. Sufficient dairy is coming to satisfy present requirements. No stocks are held through the country, and all that is coming is fresh made winter butter. Dealers are paying 15½ to 16c. for rolls, and 16c. for fairly good tub.

EGGS—Owing to the mild weather of the past three weeks, the egg market is weakening. Jobbers are paying 16c. and selling at 17 to 18c., according to quality.

POULTRY—There is very little doing in this line. Prices are: Turkeys, 12½c.; geese, 11c.; ducks, 10c., and chickens, 9c.

CURED MEATS—Market firm, with no change in prices. Hams, smoked, 12c.; bellies, ditto, 12c.; backs, ditto, 10½c.; shoulders, 8½c.; spiced rolls, 8½c.; American hams, smoked, 11½c. Dry salt meats—Long clear bacon, 8c.; short clear, American, 7½c.; square cut shoulders, 8c.; boneless, 8c.; backs, 9c.

LARD—Pure, 20-lb. pails, $1.60; 50-lb. ditto, $4.

FISH—Market quiet, with prices unchanged. Finnan haddies, 6½c.; cod, in bundles, 6c.; 25-lb. B. & S. boxes, 6½c.; Labrador herrings, half-barrels, $3.35; oysters, extra selects, $2.10 to $2.20 per gallon; standards, $2 to $2.10.

GREEN FRUIT—This market is practically at a standstill. No new lines are coming just now, and prices remain unchanged. Some very heavy stocks of Canadian apples are carried in this market; in fact, stocks in all staple lines are pretty full, and this precludes much possibility of change for the next three or four weeks, when the changes occasioned by reduced freight rates will begin to be apparent. Mexican oranges, $4 to $4.50; California navels, $4.50; bananas, $3 to $3.50 per bunch; California lemons, $4.50 to $5 per box; apples, Ontarios, $4 to $4.75 per bbl.; southern, $4 to $4.25; Cape Cod cranberries, $7.50 to $8; sweet potatoes, $5.25 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—Tomatoes have advanced to $2.50 per case by some houses, but advance is not yet reported as general, though no doubt it will be, before this goes to press. Other lines of canned goods and fruits remain unchanged, but there is more indication of a move in the canned fruit line, though orders are principally sorting orders.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Remain without change, and this applies also to dried fruits, coffee, tea and tobacco.

TO THE YUKON BY STEAM SLEIGH.

A party of nine from Chicago, Yukon bound, arrived on last train. The names of the members of the party are: J. A. Harling, W. N. Sherman, H. Freeman, H. Groath, D. Burns, T. Hartigan, H. Miller, F. Terrel and Dr. J. B. Howe. An interesting feature of their outfit will be a steam sleigh which they intend to use to transport themselves and their supplies from here to the Yukon, going by way of the frozen waterways wherever practicable. The machinery for the sleigh is now on the way having been shipped from Chicago on the 8th. The motive power of the sleigh will be furnished by an engine which revolves a heavy iron drum attached to the underpart of the first bob. The drum alone weighs 373 pounds and is provided with spikes to catch on the ice and snow. They state that on the level ground and a good road the machine will travel 15 miles an hour, so even if delayed on rough places on the river, they calculate to make up the lost time on reaching level ice such as Great Slave Lake and the Mackenzie River should offer. The contrivance is similar to those used in Michigan lumber camps, where they draw heavy loads, and are found very satisfactory. The projectors of the enterprise have rented Duplessis' blacksmith shop and are busy making special runners of heavy material on which the machinery is to be placed on its arrival. The members of the party are practical men and are hopeful for the success of their project.—Bulletin, Edmonton.

CANNED GOODS MEN IN SESSION.

QUITE a number of canned goods packers were to be noticed around the Walker House, Toronto, on Wednesday and Thursday last. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association. The attendance was fair, and the president, Mr. W. A. Ferguson, of Delhi, was in the chair.

Those present were: David McCaulay, of Miller & Co., Trenton; Wellington Boulter, of W. Boulter & Sons, Picton; A. C. Miller, Picton; James Anning, Belleville; W. M. Miller and W. Matthews, Lakeport; J. E. Flynn, St. Catharines; W. A. Ferguson, Delhi; D. Marshall, Aylmer; W. P. Innes, Simcoe; W. C. Breckenridge (secretary), Hamilton.

President Ferguson, in his annual report, commented upon the favorable condition of the canned goods trade for the past season. Also as to the favorable condition of the association. He said the past year ended most favorably to those who carried stocks of canned goods, and that the prospects were favorable for all the goods now in holders' hands, as they certainly would be consumed before the new goods could come upon the market in competition with them. This, he said, was in strong contrast to the position of canned goods in former years, when large stocks were usually carried over with the result of prices being depressed. Another favorable feature was that those wholesale dealers who had the nerve to place orders in the early part of the season, were now reaping handsome profits. Proceeding, he referred to the rumors of new canning factories being started up in various sections of the country, and stated that if one-tenth of those which contemplated starting did so, there would be such an over-production that the result would be injurious to trade, and defeat what is now the prospect of a good season. He suggested that the Executive Committee take this matter in hand, and point out to those who contemplate starting these new canning factories the risk they ran. The practice of some canners of offering futures, before they had begun to pack, was referred to and condemned in the strongest terms.

The report was received.

The action of the wholesale grocers and others in the maritime provinces regarding the desirability of having the date on which canned goods were packed on the label of the tin, came up for consideration, and the Executive Committee was instructed to oppose all legislation in this direction. It was pointed out that a can full of water was heavier than a can full of fruit or vegetables, and that, therefore, the weight of the can was no indication as to whether there was a sufficient quantity of fruit or vegetables in the same.

Some of the members present claimed that they had not been fairly dealt with by some of the companies, which guarantee canners from loss through injury received by employes, and it was decided that the association would hereafter support any of its members in an action against any of those companies which attempted to break faith.

The matter of curtailing the pack for the coming season was taken up and discussed. It was, however, decided to delay the matter until something more definite was known in regard to the starting up of new factories, for it was felt that if these proposed new factories came into existence, the members of the association should have a free hand and be allowed to pack up to the full capacity of their factories, as it would be a short-sighted policy on their part to curtail the pack, and thus leave a field open for the advantage of any new factories which may start up.

These officers were elected for the ensuing year: W. A. Ferguson, Delhi, president; vice-president, W. I. Matthews, Lakeport; secretary-treasurer, W. C. Breckenridge, Hamilton. Executive Committee—W. B. Innes, Simcoe; H. J. Matthews; W. Coulter, Picton; A. C. Millar, Picton; D. Marshall, Aylmer. Auditors—Wm. Millar, Port Hope; W. H. Matthews, Clinton.

WHAT WILL YOUR BUSINESS YIELD?

Just what you put into it and look for. If energy, hard work, push, intelligence, perseverance and economy are put into the business you are sure to take out the inevitable reward of such action, viz.: Money, popular favor, and the satisfaction of having won success.

Generally we get out of life what we look for. If we seek the best things we find them, whether exiled on an island or located in a great city. If we crave the association of honorable men we will, if honorable ourselves, have that, just as certainly as the man of low tastes finds his companions in the dog pits, saloons and gambling hells.

Like begets like. The fundamental law of biology is that "like begets like," and that law is also the foundation of success in business.

"Who drives fat oxen should himself be fat," said famous Sam Johnson, and the same principle applies to everyday affairs. The grocer's patronage will be just what he resolves it shall be. He will not sell fine goods unless he is a lover thereof. His credits will be what he makes them, and much akin to his own credit. His service to others will be of the sort he demands for himself. He will get out of his occupation just what he works and looks for. If your desire is for the best results, put the best there is in you into your business.—American Grocer.

POSSIBILITIES IN SPARE MOMENTS.

THE present time is the raw material out of which we make whatever we will. Do not brood over the past, or dream of the future, but seize the instant and get your lesson from the hour. The man is yet unborn who rightly measures and fully realizes the value of an hour. As Fenelon says, God never tries but one moment at a time, and does not give a second until he withdraws the first.

Lord Brougham could not bear to lose a moment, yet he was so systematic that he always seemed to have more leisure than many who did not accomplish a tithe of what he did. He achieved distinction in politics, law, science and literature.

Doctor Johnson wrote "Rasselas" in the evenings of a single week, to meet the expenses of his mother's funeral.

The wise Cato said that he regretted only three things in life—telling his wife a secret, going once by sea when he could have gone by land, and passing one day without doing anything.

Lincoln studied law during his spare hours while surveying, and learned the common branches unaided while tending store. Mrs. Somerville learned botany and astronomy and wrote books while her neighbors were gossiping and idling. At eighty she published "Molecular and Microscopical Science."

The worst of a lost hour is not so much in the wasted time as in the wasted power. Idleness rusts the nerves and makes the muscles creak. Work has system, laziness has none. President Quincy never went to bed until he had laid his plans for the next day.

Dalton's industry was the passion of his life. He made and recorded over 200,000 meteorological observations. He seldom lost a moment.

In factories for making cloth a single broken thread ruins a whole web; it is traced back to the girl who made the blunder, and the loss is deducted from her wages. But who shall pay for the broken threads in life's great web? We cannot throw back and forth an empty shuttle: threads of some kind follow every movement as we weave the web of our fate. It may be a shoddy thread or wasted hours or lost opportunities that will mar the fabric and mortify the workman forever; or it may be a golden thread which will add to its beauty and lustre. We cannot stop the shuttle or pull out the unfortunate thread which stretches across the fabric, a perpetual witness of our folly.

Don't defer your good deeds until you have time to do them. Very little good was ever done during hours of leisure. It is the men and women who are crowded with work who build hospitals, churches and orphan asylums and do the great charities of the world.

No one is anxious about a young man while he is busy in useful work. But where does he eat his lunch at noon? Where does he go when he leaves his boarding-house at night? What does he do after supper? Where does he spend his Sundays and holidays? The way he uses his spare moments reveals his character. The great majority of youths who go to the bad are ruined after supper. Most of those who climb upward to honor and fame devote their evenings to study or work of the society of the wise and good. For the right use of these leisure hours, what we have called the waste of life, the odd moments usually thrown away, the author would plead with every youth. Each evening is a crisis in the career of a young man. —Pushing to the Front.

SETTLES DOWN IN VANCOUVER.

Mr. J. D. Roberts, than whom there is probably no better known knight of the gripsack on the road, is now in the city, and his friends will be glad to learn that he will make Vancouver his permanent home, and will bring his family here shortly. Mr. Roberts has been appointed agent for British Columbia for "Blue Ribbon" tea, of which popular brand Messrs. G. F. & J. G. Galt, the well-known wholesale grocers, of Winnipeg, are the proprietors. In order to introduce this tea into Vancouver, Mr. Roberts has hit upon a novel scheme. He has rented a store in the Arcade, which he is fitting up in an elegant manner, and in a few days cups of this delicious beverage will be served free to callers. "Blue Ribbon" is a good name for the beverage that cheers and does not inebriate, and those who have used it say that its quality is of the very best. —News-Advertiser, Vancouver.

KLONDYKE NOTES.

The Peninsular Mining and Development Co., which has been organized at Windsor, proposes to send eighteen men into the Yukon country, the start to be made on February 15, under Major Johnson, of Leamington.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review says that a party of Woodstock men is organizing to go to the Klondyke. If arrangements can be satisfactorily made they will not wait for spring.

The Pilot Mound Sentinel says: "No one fully realizes the immensity of Canada's resources till he studies the many and diverse Canadian towns which are beyond all doubt the best starting point of a road to the Klondyke gold fields."

TRADE WITH ENGLAND.

DURING the deliverance of an exhaustive address at the annual meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade, on Tuesday, the retiring president, Mr. Edward Gurney, had this to say in regard to Canada's trade with the Mother Country:

It is gratifying to note that by the concurrence of a good crop and advanced prices the assets of all classes of traders, either in money or merchandise, have been sensibly increased in value, which, as it affects the whole country and every interest, is in its effect similar to the addition of that amount of capital to the resources of the country, well spread throughout its length and breadth. In the general business arousement we have come to recognize that all we need is to bridge the Atlantic; and we have done it. Look at the tonnage of the last year, and compare it with that of the preceding years, and if you want to enjoy a spell of intoxication, such as a bird feels when introduced into a jar of oxygen, just have an hour with, say Mr. F. B. Girdlestone, and hear him talk of the future of Canada as a shipper to the English markets; and we are not confined to this outlook to the east—we may look for trade to the west, to the south, and to the Oriental nations. We are, in a word, able to see that England is not any further from us than we are from her; that if we are true to ourselves in supplying to her the article which we sell, that if we go to her with a good equivalent, and not as a poor, begging, country cousin, we may expect a preference, such a preference as she may give without loss to herself. Unlike our friends to the south, she will glory in our achievements, in our enterprise, and in our triumphs, if we grow big enough to overrun her markets and practically monopolize them with the product of our farms, etc., we shall stir no jealous instinct there, and provoke no legislation to exclude us from her markets when once acquired, as has been the case when we have established trade in the United States.

It is important that the present sentiment in favor of Canada exhibited by the British people should be promptly followed up. Boards of Trade should be alive to the necessity of providing, so that as far as practicable Canadian products reaching those markets shall be uniformly excellent. There, as here, a single shipment of inferior goods does infinite harm to the maker; but in the present situation of affairs, just at the initial point of a large trade development, a shipper of goods, inferior to promise or sample, hurts the whole country. In butter and cheese we have achieved an enviable notoriety. Our name in this connection is a synonym of excellence, in cheese especially; but there is no guarantee to the good manufacturer of these products that his relation to the trade will not be hazarded by the marketing of considerable quantities of inferior goods. I have been informed that certain European countries, our large competitors for that trade, provide inspection of these and similar goods with Government classification.

I am informed that there is a large market for Canadian goods, in canned goods, sauces, etc., of the very best class, and incidental information is coming to us frequently, of which this is a type, which leads me to believe that Canada needs to have as soon as may be a commercial agency in Great Britain—perhaps more than one commercial office, but certainly one, and preferably in London. It should be non-political in the last degree—this one office should be reserved. I have no disposition to depreciate the present Canadian office in London. It has its functions, social and diplomatic, but it has nothing, and can have nothing in common with this mission, the establishment of which I advocate; and the attempt to make the one an attachment or subordinate to the other would, I feel sure, make the one ridiculous and the other a failure.

I would earnestly recommend to the incoming Council, and to Boards of Trade generally, that a united effort should be made to bring about a change in the method of collating the Dominion statistical returns.

ESTIMATED YIELDS OF CEREALS.

In the new Journal of the Board of Agriculture there is interesting information upon the estimated local yields of the cereal crops at last harvest. For England, as a whole, it will be remembered that the estimates pointed to yields per acre of 28.98 bushels of wheat, 32.48 bushels of barley, and 40.26 bushels of oats. The highest average yield of wheat is estimated at 31.37 bushels per acre over the area comprising the counties of Norfolk, Lincoln, and the East Riding of York, and as these collectively grew 366,713 acres of wheat, or fully one-fifth of the entire English area of the bread cereal, their relatively high estimated yield necessarily has considerable effect in raising the average for the whole country. The next highest local estimate is 30.62 bushels for the area embracing the six north-western counties of Cumberland, Westmorland, Lancashire, Cheshire, Derby, and Stafford, none of which are important as wheat growers. In the group of eastern counties lying south of Norfolk and north of the Thames, which includes nearly one-fourth of the wheat acreage, the estimated yield per acre is 28.23 bushels, or 0.65 bushels below the general average. The lowest local yield is estimated at 26.26 bushels for the south-western group of counties, embracing Somerset, Dorset. Devon, and Cornwall.—Commerce, London.

TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE.

These are the officers elected at the annual meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade, held on Tuesday last:

President—Elias Rogers (acclamation).
First Vice-President—A. E. Kemp (acclamation).
Second Vice-President—M. C. Ellis.
Treasurer—A. E. Ames.
Harbor Commission—W. A. Geddes, J. T. Matthews.

Council—Edward Gurney, W. D. Matthews, E. B. Osler, H. N. Baird, Stapleton Caldecott, D. R. Wilkie, W. G. Gooderham, Peleg Howland, M. McLaughlin, J. Herbert Mason, W. C. Matthews, Thos. Dunnett, Jas. D. Allan, George Keith and Henry Pellatt.

DON'T FEAR COMPETITION IN MOLASSES.

Traders who expected large arrivals of Barbadoes molasses from the Maritime Provinces, in Montreal, as a result of light stocks throughout the Province of Quebec, have been disappointed. So far only a carload or so has arrived, and buyers who wanted large quantities have either done without or filled their wants on the Montreal market, and paid the price that sellers asked.

It is asserted by one who has looked into the question of stock, that a buyer would have some difficulty in picking up 250 barrels of Barbadoes in the territory east of Montreal.

In any event, the holders in the metropolis announce their determination to protect their market, and are prepared, in case of necessity, to meet any prices offered from down below. But, from the look of things at present, they do not expect any serious competition from that quarter, and expect to realize good margins on the Barbadoes they have in hand.

There are, of course, supplies of Porto Rico, but, as has been pointed out before, grocers in Quebec accept these goods with reluctance. They have been educated to a taste for Barbadoes, and are naturally conservative, and, unless prices are abnormally disproportionate, will have nothing else.

Another point worthy of note is that the experience with the receipts of Barbadoes already received from St. John has not been satisfactory. In the case of one small lot, one-fourth of the quantity was out of condition.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. C. P. Law, manager of the Eastern Japan Trading Co., Yokohama, was in Toronto this week. Mr. Wm. Dane is the company's agent in Toronto.

EARLY CLOSING FRUIT MEN.

A number of the wholesale fruit dealers of Toronto have decided to close their places of business at one o'clock on Saturdays during January, February and March. The following firms have so far agreed to do so: Clemes Bros., the Dawson Commission Co., Limited, S. K. Moyer, Husband Bros. & Co., C. Kimpton, W. H. Smith, White & Co., H. J. Ash, T. Vance and J. Coutts.

CEYLON and INDIA

The annual consumption of Ceylon and Indian Teas consumed in Great Britain is now

203,000,000 lbs.

while of Chinese teas only 25,000,000 lbs. are consumed.

The reason for this is that Ceylon and Indian teas are British grown and made on modern, clean principles; also because they are purer, healthier, more invigorating and more economical than the cheap, adulterated teas of China and Japan.

PETERBORO' GROCERS ORGANIZE.

A RETAIL grocers' association has been formed in Peterboro', Ont., and a meeting of the association was held on Thursday, 20th inst, some 20 persons being present.

The association, according to The Peterboro' Review, is not formed to fix a scale of prices, but chiefly to promote good fellowship and a better understanding among the members of the trade. The customers are expected to receive as much benefit from the association as the merchants.

Mr. H. J. Miller, manager for Mr. Geo. Carton, was in the chair, and Mr. Chas. Rishor acted as secretary.

Mr. Miller in opening the meeting stated that he was sorry that there was not a larger attendance as there were important matters to be submitted to the secretary. He hoped that now the association was organized they would all take part and make the meetings interesting.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and approved.

The secretary then read communications from the Retail Grocers' Association in Hamilton and other places, giving copies of their by-laws, and explaining their methods of benefiting their members, especially in the collection of bad debts.

The aims and objects of the organization were read by the secretary. These are in brief :

To foster a more social feeling among the members of the trade.

To patronize such wholesale houses as do an exclusive wholesale business.

Keeping a list of such persons as are unworthy of credit, for the information of members.

An intelligence bureau where members may be aided in securing reliable help.

Watching all legislation affecting the trade.

To secure, through the municipal legislature, better laws in licensing pedlars, and other matter affecting the trade.

Protection against the adulteration of goods, fictitious labels and false weight and measure.

Shortening the hours of labor.

To recommend the adjustment of all trade disputes by arbitration whenever practicable.

Mr. Allison thought that the regulation of debit and credit would be of great advantage to everybody. The chief object was not to fix prices on goods, but he felt that something ought to be done to regulate the credit system. He thought that all the grocers should join the association, as it would be the most beneficial of any association to them.

A short discussion took place as to by-laws, committees, days of meeting, etc. It was moved and seconded that Messrs. Henry, Moore and Allison be a committee to draft by-laws for the association, and this carried.

ARTHUR P. TIPPET & CO. - MONTREAL.

OTTAWA RETAIL MERCHANTS.

THE Retail Merchants' Association of Ottawa met on Thursday evening, 20th inst., and, although only a few of the members turned up, a number of important civic questions were discussed. Mr. H. H. Lang, vice-president, occupied the chair, and those present were: W. H. Mills, J. A. Ashfield, S. McCleneghan, T. Burns, T. Addison, C. Prevost and J. Watters.

The appointment of Mr. W. H. Mills as secretary was ratified.

The question of the city's appointment of a solicitor was again introduced by Mr. Lang, who said he had spoken to a number of legal men on the matter, and from what could be learned he did not think the business of the city large enough to keep a man constantly employed. It would be found better to have the solicitor spend at least three hours per day at the city hall.

Several other members spoke on the question, and all appeared to be of the same opinion.

Mr. Stewart McClenaghan brought up the Waterworks Committee's proposition to "add an additional 5 per cent. to the discount for prompt payment," and thought the association should take some action on it.

Several of the members expressed their views against the proposition. C. Prevost favored the increase to 25 per cent., but did not see why others should get the benefit.

Mr. McClenaghan did not see why anyone should be allowed a discount for paying what he was obliged to pay, and argued that the present system was a benefit only to the wealthy, and in the end worked against the poorer and smaller taxpayers.

Others thought that the system of charging should be reorganized and that the water rates should be paid according to the assessment, not according to the amount used or the number of people occupying the house. No action was taken.

Mr. McClenaghan thought that something should be done to make the meetings of the association more interesting and suggested a series of lectures. He also thought a supper would be an excellent item in increasing the interest in the work.

The question of overhanging signs was brought up and discussed at some length. The opinion of those present appeared to be divided on the matter and no vote was taken.

ADVANCE IN CALIFORNIA PRUNES

Telegrams received last week from their principals in California instructed a commission house here, which is credited with being one of the chief holders of prunes in this market, to advance prices as no more goods were to be had on the Coast at less than 3c. f.o.b. for Santa Clara fruit, and the stock of northern and southern prunes was closely controlled by speculators.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

TOMATOES IN THE STATES.

The Trade, a Baltimore paper devoted to the canned goods interest, says: "In all of our experience with the canned goods business we have never known the market to be in a similar position to what it is to-day. It is a position also that not only affects present dealings and prices but bears materially upon what will be done during the year that is ahead of us. Whether purposely or accidentally, tomatoes have been used during the past two months to create an ever accelerating condition of excitement among sellers and buyers of canned goods, until, at present, the situation can only be described as a maelstrom in which all things are moving around a common centre by a species of natural drift from the force of a current operating outside the whirlpool. The favorable feature of the condition is that this whirlpool does not create a down tending vortex. It should, therefore, properly be more carefully described as a waterspout. Whether like a waterspout it may burst at at any day we cannot tell, but from the very nature of it this would seem impossible,"

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

Jan. 27, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday. The prices are solicited for publication, and are for such qualities and quantities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

Quotations for proprietory articles, brands, etc., are supplied by the manufacturers or agents, who alone are responsible for their accuracy. The editors do not supervise them. If a change is made, either an advance or decline, it is referred to in the market reports as a matter of news, whether manufacturers request it or not.

A Popular Starch.

All laundresses agree on this one point, that in order to obtain the best results, a high-class starch is indispensable. Celluloid has long been recognized as the Laundresses' reliable friend, whose verdict in its favor has been so unanimous that it has won for itself, as a cold-water starch, a reputation which is world-wide.

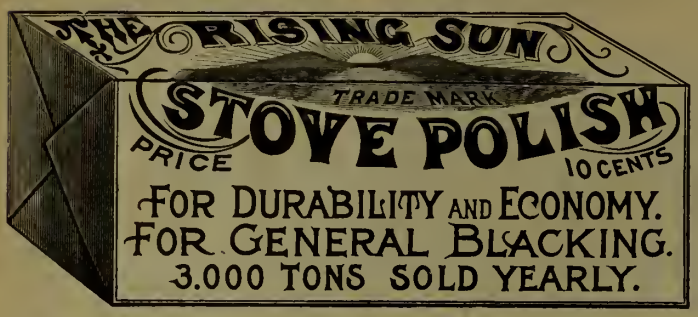
TRINIDAD.

This island is a British colony, with a population estimated at 245,000 ; of this number about one-third are East Indian coolies. Trinidad does a large export trade of general produce and merchandise (imported to Trinidad from other countries) with Venezuela.



Of imports there were 153,539 bbls. flour from the United States, principally the "West Indian Belle," "St. Lawrence," and "White Light" brands. No flour was imported from Canada during 1896. The regular freight rate on flour is 30c. per bbl. (this is the only island where the merchants do not object to flat hooped barrels, but prefer round).

The importation of corn for 1896 was 25,513 bushels ; oats, 102,100 bushels. All of the corn and 30,000 bushels of oats were imported from the United States, and 48,600 bushels of oats from Canada ; the balance from Holland and Germany. Corn is put up in bags of 112 lbs. net ; oats in bags of 160 lbs. ; split peas in barrels of 210 lbs. The latter are largely Canadian split peas, imported via New York through New York commission houses.

Hay is imported in pressed bundles of from 100 to 110 lbs., principally from New York, at 30c. per 100 lbs, freight.

Canned salmon, put up in 1lb. tins, 4 doz. tins to the box, are imported from New York. Boxed meats and smoked hams—hams weighing from 8 to 10 lbs. each, neatly covered with paper and canvas—are sold largely there packed in crates containing from 100 to 120 lbs.

Oatmeal in 1lb. tins is imported mostly from Scotland and the United States. Cornmeal, in bbls. of 212 net, is imported from the United States.

248,094 lbs. cheese, in 28 to 30lb. packages, imported, 20,927 lbs. being made in Canada, 180,337 lbs. in the United States, and the balance in small quantities from France, Germany, Holland, and Venezuela.

Butter, 678,440 lbs. were imported. Of this Canada supplied 2,128 lbs., France 467,640 lbs., and the United States 75,027 lbs. The choice butter is put up in 1 lb. tins; the cheaper butter in 33 and 66 lb. kegs.

Lard, 1,407,404 lbs., being principally imported from the United States, put up in 25lb. tin pails, 4 in a case.

Hardware is principally imported from the United States and England.

Furniture is principally imported from Europe; a small quantity of a very cheap quality being imported from the United States.

Dry goods are principally imported from England. Merchants say that English cottons are much better than United States cottons, on account of their being better filled, making the goods much stiffer. Large quantities of the staple dry goods bought in New York are summer goods purchased in the fall of the year, frequently at a discount of 50 per cent. on the actual cost.

Potatoes are principally imported from Nova Scotia, the price depending entirely upon the supply on hand. Potatoes have sold there at $1.25 per bbl., but at times, when there is a scarcity, prices advance to $4 and $4.50 per bbl.

Boots and shoes, fine and fancy goods, are imported from England; rubbers of a cheap quality are imported from the United States, and small lots from Canada.

Woodenware is used only to a small extent. Timber, white pine and spruce, from Canada; the largest quantity of the white pine comes via New York.

Whiskey, Canadian rye, is used to a very limited extent; Scotch and Irish preferred, imported in cases of about two imperial gallons. Lager beer largely used, but German brand preferred. American lagers are being sent to this island in small quantities by quick steamers, generally in good condition, pints in cases or barrels of 6 to 10 dozen preferred; duty 18c. per doz. pints, less allowance (4 per cent.) for breakage. Ale, very limited consumption, principally Bass and Scotch ales; stout largely used, chiefly from Scotland.

Horses: there is a limited demand for good, serviceable horses, weight about 1,000 lbs., 15½ hands high, used principally for carriage horses; mules and asses are used for teaming.

The business of this island is done principally by consignment.

BRITISH GUIANA.

This is an English colony, with a population of about 278,328; of this 4,558 are whites, and 105,463 coolies. The imports for the year 1896 were:

Flour, 174,803 bbls., of which 173,588 bbls. were imported from the United States, and 150 bbls. from Canada. Pillsbury's "Best XXXX," "St. Lawrence," "Knickerbocker," and "Retriever" are the principal brands, sold at from $6.25 to $6.40 per bbl.; freight rate 25 to 30c. per bbl. from New York. The complaint is that Canadian flour in that climate turns sour, while that from New York retains its sweetness.

Corn, 22,925 bushels were imported from the United States in bags of 112 lbs. net; oats, 410,824 lbs., 116,824 lbs. of which were imported from the United States, 107,960 lbs. from Canada (P.E.I.), and 186,000 lbs. from the United Kingdom.

Oats for this market should be very heavy, not less than 40 lbs. to the bushel, and very clean, put up in bags of 160 lbs. net.

Split peas, 112,900 bushels were imported, in barrels containing 210 lbs. net, freight from 25 to 30c. per bbl., and on corn 15c. per bag. These commodities were all imported from New York.

Hay in pressed bales of from 100 to 150 lbs., about 517 tons imported; 454 tons from the United States, and 63 tons from Canada. No demand for straw.

Biscuits, 450,384 lbs, of which 406,912 lbs. were imported from the United States. "Maddies" and "Pilot Brown" are the principal brands used, put up in bbls. of 56 to 60 lbs. net. There is also a local biscuit factory in Georgetown.

Canned lobsters are imported from Canada direct in 1 lb. tins; but canned salmon is imported only via England.

Smoked hams, 296,714 lbs. imported; of this Canada supplied 720 lbs., the United States 222,692 lbs., and England 73,242 lbs.

Canned meats in 1 lb. tins, 98,054 lbs. were imported, of which 81,537 lbs. were from the United States.

Oatmeal in bbls. containing 180 to 200 lbs., cornmeal in bbls. of 200 lbs. net; the total amount imported of these was 1,071,480 lbs., of which 960,936 lbs. came from the United States.

Of potatoes Canada supplied 30,256 bbls.

PACKAGES.

In introducing Canadian goods into the West Indies, manufacturers should be very particular in regard to the packages in which the goods are done up, and see that the outside of same is neat and attractive.

There seems to be an impression in many of these islands that Canadian flour will not stand the climate, on account of its not being sufficiently kiln-dried. But this may in a measure be due to misrepresentation of competitors. One reason, however, may be that the barrels are too large, and the flour is not compressed sufficiently in the barrel to exclude the air, the flour being loose in the barrel. Then the barrel should be of hardwood. American barrels are mostly made of oak, with round hoops; Flat hoops do not seem to be strong enough to hold the packages together so that the flour will not sift between the staves. The barrels should be neatly branded, as the brand and the appearance of the package has much to do with the sale to many of the people of these islands. The empty barrels are used for packing sugar, fruit, etc.

Grain and hay should be put up in uniform packages. It is a mistake to ship hay in bundles over 100 to 125 lbs. weight. Merchants say they have lost the sale of good hay on account of it being in bundles of from 200 to 250 lbs. The people have been educated to buying hay by the bundle, and do not expect it to contain more than 100 to 125 lbs.

Canned Goods.—The wooden package containing canned goods should be of planed lumber and neatly branded, to compete with American goods, as the American manufacturer pays a great deal of attention to the neatness and strength of his packages for this trade. The West Indian merchant receiving a consignment of canned goods and other merchandise in cases desires to put them in a conspicuous place in his store for advertisement. Particular attention should also be given to the marking or stenciling of the packages.

Cheeses of over 28 to 30 lbs. weight should never be shipped to those islands, for merchants do not like them, as they cannot find ready purchasers for larger packages among retail trade, and the packages containing 30 lbs. are stronger and not so likely to be damaged in transit.

Butter—There is a good market for a first-class article, not too salt, and slightly colored, put up in 1-lb. tins, hermetically sealed. If possible, these tins should be so made that they can be readily opened and closed, as the better class of consumers prefer their butter in tins of this size, it keeping better. In most of the islands it retails at 48 cents per lb.

Lard should be put up in 25-lb. tin pails, with an inside cover, hermetically sealed, as when the package is opened by the consumer he removes the inside cover, uses the outer cover to keep the lard clean and protect it from the climate until the pail is empty. The empty pail is afterwards used by many for a water pail.

Square wooden packages, such as those used for canned meats, lard, etc., should in all cases be bound on the ends with band iron. Packages handled on steamers must necessarily be much stronger than those used for transporting goods by rail, as in most cases the steamers load and unload in the harbor from and into lighters. Sometimes the weather is very rough, and these packages have to be handled in slings by derricks, and unless properly fastened, they are liable to be damaged or broken.

French, Dutch and Spanish islands, and the Island of Hayti, all of which deal principally with New York.

To merchants and manufacturers intending to extend their business into these islands we would suggest that they give the closest attention to keeping the quality of their goods fully up to the standard of that first introduced into the market. We find in some cases goods that were successfully introduced eventually were driven out of the market by the failure on the part of the manufacturer to keep up the standard of the quality of his brand.

CATALOGUES, BOOKLETS, ETC.

In the issue of Jan. 21, appeared a notice of the handsome hanger which the Canada Milk Condensing Co., Ltd., is distributing to its friends, but the brand of the company's product was given as "Cow" instead of "Owl."

"Young man," said a merchant, "do you want employment in my establishment?"

"Certainly," was the applicant's reply.

"That's all right, then," was the rejoinder, with a sigh of relief. "I was afraid you just wanted a position."

OUTFITTING FOR THE YUKON.

AT the last meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association, of Winnipeg, the question of the Yukon outfitting trade was discussed. It was felt that Winnipeg merchants were in a position to handle this business more advantageously than some other places that are bidding for it. It was pointed out at the meeting that the experience of Winnipeg merchants in furnishing outfits for the northern latitudes, during the past twenty years, enables them to understand better the requirements of people going to Yukon, than merchants can in other parts of the Dominion. It was further pointed out that the great demand for goods at certain points had resulted in an advance in price, and that goods could be purchased there at a saving of from 10 to 25 per cent. After debating the question for some time, a committee was appointed to wait on the board of trade, to solicit their co-operation in disseminating information on these points in the eastern provinces.

Acting on a suggestion of President Bole, made at the recent banquet of the retail association, the question of settling the vacant lands around Winnipeg was taken up, and it was decided to petition the Minister of the Interior to appoint a resident agent to promote settlement in this district.

The committee appointed to consider a proposal to amalgamate with the Caterer's Union, reported progress. A report of the banquet committee was also presented and adopted.

WILL SUGAR PRICES BE CUT?

A New York daily paper says: "With the completion of the new refineries owned by the Arbuckle interests, the war on sugar prices may be expected. The Havemeyers having knocked the profits out of the coffee business by the development of the Woolson Spice Company, the Arbuckles are now prepared to turn the tables with an assault on Havemeyer sugar. Within two years the price of coffee has been reduced from 15½ to 8½ cents a pound, and the former profits of from 100 to 150 per cent. have been simply wiped out. This means to the Arbuckles a loss of about $525,000 a year, it is said. The consumers have reaped some benefit from this, and when the cut in sugar begins they will benefit still further. In other words, the strife of competition is calculated to bring about that reduction of the price which legislation was powerless to effect. So much for the 'economic harmonies' and the self-regulating capacity of trade. The effect on the stock market will be worth watching."

CHEESE UNSETTLED.

THE export cheese market is in an unsettled state at present, and it is difficult to predict what the future may develop.

At present, business is at a standstill because buyers and sellers cannot agree upon what is the proper price to pay for the goods now carried by Canadian owners.

Indications are not wanting in this connection that there is something going on beneath the surface, the intention of which is to further depress prices.

Aside from straggling lots in weak hands there has been very little cheese forced for sale by these tactics.

The large holders, while admitting that the demand is dull, contend that there is nothing in the situation at present to make them sacrifice their cheese, which is what it would mean if they consented to accept some of the offers that are being made. Consequently, as practically all the stock controlled by Canadians and for sale on this side is in strong hands, there is strong possibility of the present stagnation being long drawn out, some of the most conservative observers not expecting any move in the market before the middle or end of February. That is, provided the market does not mend and bids approach somewhere near buyers' views of the proper price.

There have been some low-priced sales lately. For instance, Quebec fall makes sold at 7¾c. and Ontarios at 8c. in Montreal. In both cases, however, they were small lots of 200 boxes, and not owned by houses who do an export trade. The quality in each case also could not be classed as finest, and for this reason the majority of exporters attach little importance to them. In fact, holders assert that they would not be dissatisfied if even lower prices were made, because they believe that the fact would start the demand again, and that any operator who was over-confident enough to go short to a radical extent at a low price would have a "hot time" covering his sales.

It may be noted that mail advices bring many reports of these low prices, and it is a peculiar fact that a number of them are attributed to firms who cleared out their holdings some time ago, and do not at present control any cheese. As they were for all the way from 9,000 to 10,000 boxes, it is obvious that they were purely speculative. It is not learned whether they were taken up or not, but it is considered unlikely that if they were, the parties in question would close for the quantity named at 8c., which was about equivalent to the price specified.

Even admitting that the market is heavy, it would be dangerous for any speculator to go short on finest goods at this low price.

Quite naturally, owners of cheese contend that these low offers, coupled with the large estimate of the world's visible stock, given at the first of the year, have a good deal to do with the present condition of demand from Great Britain.

There is one point that the British people are apt to mislead themselves on, and that is, the stock of cheese in Canada.

In previous seasons, stocks in this country have been greatly underestimated, but while there is some difference of opinion as to the actual figures, traders agree that they are not this year.

An estimate from a reliable authority places the stock west of Toronto at 40,000 boxes. Between Toronto and Montreal about 20,000 to 25,000 are held, and in Montreal itself 140,000, or, in other words, 225,000 to 230,000 boxes in the whole of Canada.

Of this quantity only a small proportion is held for sale on this side, the bulk being controlled by English houses, who are having it sent forward as they direct. The latter may, under certain circumstances, try and resell on this side, but there appears to be little apprehension in this respect.

Owners of cheese place a certain amount of faith, also, in the fact that grain and other provisions are on the rise, and are now quite high, whereas cheese is low, and that this, in the natural course of events, ought to encourage consumption of the latter. Quite naturally, the bears "pooh-pooh" all this, so that the future course of the market is awaited with considerable interest.

GROCERY CLERKS' ASSOCIATION.

The Toronto Grocery Clerks and Drivers' Association recently held its annual meeting and elected the following officers: President, E. W. Lee; vice-president, J. Cameron; treasurer, F. J, Ferguson; recording secretary, Arthur Donohue; corresponding secretary, W. J. Butchart; sentinel, A. Taylor; sergeant-at-arms, A. Smith.

It was decided to hold the third annual excursion on May 24, and a committee was appointed to find out a suitable town or city for the outing.

The association then adjourned till Thurs day, last week, when this committee reported in favor of Guelph, Ont., as the most desirable place to visit. The fare, including railway ticket and admission to the Guelph Park, would be 85c. The report of the committee was adopted. Therefore, the association will hold its third annual excursion, on May 24. to Guelph, Ont. A concert will be held there in the evening.

THE SHIPS OF ST. JOHN.

Smile, you inland hills and rivers!
Flush, you mountains in the dawn!
But my roving heart is seaward
With the ships of grey St. John.

Fair the land lies, full of August,
Meadow island, shingly bar,
Open barns and breezy twilight
Peace and the mild evening star.

Gently now this gentlest country
The old habitude takes on,
But my wintry heart is outbound
With the great ships of St. John.

Once in your wide arms you held me,
Till the man-child was a man,
Canada, great nurse and mother
Of the young sea-roving clan.

Always your bright face above me
Through the dreams of boyhood shone;
Now far alien countries call me
With the ships of grey St. John.

Swing, you tides, up out of Fundy!
Blow, you white fogs, in from sea!
I was born to be your fellow;
You were bred to pilot me.
At the touch of your strong fingers,
Doubt, the derelict, is gone;
Sane and glad I clear the headland
With the white ships of St. John.

Loyalists, my fathers, builded
This grey port of the grey sea,
When the duty to ideals
Could not let well-being be.

When the breadth of scarlet bunting
Puts the wreath of maple on,
I must cheer, too—ship my moorings
With the ships of grey St. John.

Peerless-hearted port of heroes,
Be a word to lift the world
Till the many see the signal
Of the few once more unfurled.

Past the lighthouse, past the nunbuoy,
Past the crimson rising sun,
There are dreams go down the harbor
With the tall ships of St. John.

In the morning I am with them
As they clear the island bar—
Fade, till speck by speck the midday
Has forgotten where they are.

But I sight the vaster sea-line,
Wilder lee-way, longer run,
Whose discoverers return not
With the ships of grey St. John.

AN APT ILLUSTRATION.

Too many of the "cutters" resemble the old apple woman who sold her wares at 10 per cent. below cost whenever a customer took a dozen, because she believed in quick sales and small profits, but it's a dollar to a doughnut that most of them don't know what "cost price" is. They don't properly reckon up the items of rent, insurance, store service, depreciation of fixtures, various leaks, such as losses in weighing goods, and paper and twine, and in consequence they often sell below cost while they fondly imagine that they are earning a small but sufficient profit. Still, "cutting" has its uses. It serves the very useful purpose of removing the incapables from the business. —Merchants' Review.

Canadian Dealers too Often Deceived

It is of vast importance that every dealer should exercise the greatest caution when buying Paste Stove Polish.

The QUICKSHINE has attained such immense popularity that unscrupulous people have gone into stove polish business and are manufacturing polish that pays them tremendous profits. The materials employed in the composition of these imitation packages are so poor and cheap that the woman who buys them can never get the results she desires, and in this manner, to a certain extent, injures the sale of the good article.

When stove polish is required for domestic use ask your dealer or wholesale grocer for QUICKSHINE STOVE POLISH, and accept no substitute in the way of imitation package polishes, or polishes that are two-thirds soap and one-third polishing material.

If your wholesale dealer does not sell QUICKSHINE, send direct to us for same, stating the wholesale dealer you wish us to send it through; or if you prefer it sent direct, we will forward same at once. Price per 3-doz. Case, $2.25.

CANNED TOMATOES.

THE quantity of canned tomatoes in the hands of packers is said to be only about three thousand cases, and while there is talk of higher prices ultimately, ruling figures remain much as they were before.

We hear of two lots being offered on the Toronto market this week. For the one, equal to $1.21, Toronto, was asked, and for the other $1.25 was wanted. These prices, however, are above the views of the wholesalers, who do not appear to be willing to pay more than $1.10, at least, until the spring demand sets in, when a better estimate of the future of the market can be made.

At the moment there is scarcely anything doing in tomatoes. The best brands are quoted by wholesalers at $1.25, but there are some second grade goods which are quoted as low as $1.15.

While the position of the market is undoubtedly strong, it is worthy of note that one speculator has, during the week, been canvassing the trade with a view to getting an idea as to the future of the market.

What we have said before, we repeat: the future of the market depends upon the demand on British Columbia and Klondyke account. If that demand is brisk, in a month or so hence, higher prices than those even now ruling will probably obtain. It is expected, of course, that the demand will be brisk, but should these expectations not be realized, a further appreciation in values is scarcely possible, for while there are but a few thousand cases in the hands of the packers, there are some held by speculators, and speculators are only too easily alarmed, as a rule.

CANADIAN MUTTON IN ENGLAND.

IN another column we publish an extract from The Canadian Gazette, London, England, in which Canada is urged to take more vigorous steps to secure a share of the British mutton trade.

Canada needs a great deal of urging in this respect. The country may not, in all respects, be as well suited for mutton raising as Australasia, but there is no question as to the excellent quality of its mutton. There is also no question as to our indolence in cultivating the British market for fresh mutton.

According to the trade returns, Great Britain, during the calendar year 1896, imported 324,257,696 lbs. of fresh mutton, valued at $22,963,737. Exactly what Canada contributed, we do not know, but, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, according to the official returns of the Dominion, we exported to Great Britain 400 pounds, valued at $75, against $4,297 worth to the United States, $522 worth to the little island of St. Pierre, and $2,555 worth to Newfoundland. In other words, the market of greatest possibilities is our smallest customer.

Although we, in 1896, only sent $75 worth of fresh mutton to Great Britain, it was better than we did in 1895, for in that year we did not send a dollar's worth.

Canada, with her ability to raise good mutton and her proximity to the Motherland, ought, in time, to do a large export trade with Great Britain in fresh mutton.

An ice syndicate has been formed in Brazil. It will probably try to freeze out the "other fellow."

THE YUKON RAILWAY DEAL.

A RAILWAY from Glenora on the Stickeen river to Teslin lake, a distance of about 125 miles, will not only give an all-Canadian route to the Klondyke, but will make the route, of which this railway is a link, the chief avenue of travel for passengers and freight going into and returning from the now famous Eldorado—for travel, like trade, follows along the line of least resistance.

Since the announcement was made that the Dominion Government had decided to clothe Mackenzie, Mann & Co. with the authority to build and operate the road, the question has come in for a great deal of criticism.

Unfortunately a great deal of the criticism is not born of a desire to consider the question on the basis of business common sense. On the contrary, political animus is too often the motive force in the adverse criticisms, and fealty to party is too often the motive force in the favorable criticisms.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is influenced by none of these things. It cares not whether the Government of the country be in the hands of the Conservatives or in those of the Liberals. All it cares for is good government, which is business-like government, of course.

In this matter of the Yukon railway the Government is to be commended for its wisdom in the selection of its location and the comparative promptness, as the promptness of Governments goes, with which it has acted in awarding the contract for building the road.

Whatever is done in the way of building such a railway must be done quickly. The mining in the Klondyke is placer mining. And we all know that placer-mining localities flourish for a few years and then die out, those who have denuded them of gold again returning to the ordinary centres of civilization. True, the Klondyke is the richest gold-yielding district yet revealed to man; but it is a placer-mining district, none the less. Possibly it may be found to be rich in quartz mining. Some claim it will be. That, however, has yet to be demonstrated. So far, we only know it as a placer-mining district, and, consequently, as a railway is to be built, it must be built immediately.

And just as it is necessary that the railway should be built promptly, just as necessary is it that it should be built with the least possible cost, for in a decade or two the causes which induced its building may no longer exist. The strip of land between the Stickeen river and Teslin lake is probably the best place that could be selected for the road under the circumstances. The distance is but 125 miles, or thereabouts, while we have it upon the authority of Mr. W. Ogilvie and other authorities, who have gone over the ground, that it is well wooded, is level, and offers no obstacles to railroad building. With this completed, a missing link will be supplied and a comparatively easy route to the Yukon provided. There will be no passes to climb, for the Stickeen river has cut a pathway through the mountains, and when the traveler steps off the boat at Glenora it is to get on a train, which he leaves at lake Teslin to continue his journey to Dawson City by water, part of which will be by steamer.

We only wish we could be as satisfied in regard to the terms upon which Mackenzie, Mann & Co. are to build the road, as we are with the site selected and the promptness of the Government in starting upon the construction of the road.

It is true there is no cash subsidy, which is a great deal to be satisfied at, but it is just questionable as to whether or not the grant of 25,000 acres of mining lands per mile of railway is not o'er liberal. With the line 125 miles long this would mean 3,750,000 acres. This land can be taken anywhere in the Klondyke district, or in any part of the Northwest Territories north of the 60th parallel and west of the Mackenzie river.

The land grant to the C.P.R., for building our great trans-continental railway, was about 8,000 acres per mile, estimated on the building of 3,000 miles of road; but in addition to this, the railway received a subsidy of over $26,000,000. Most of us have since come to the conclusion that we were too liberal in our treatment of the C.P.R., both as to subsidies and powers granted, but while granting that, it must be remembered that there were great physical obstacles in the way of the construction of the road, while there was some doubt as to the commercial success of the enterprise. With the Yukon railway there are no physical difficulties in the way of construction, while supplies can be easily laid down.

It is true that in the gold lands the construction company may select some blanks as well as prizes. But there is little doubt that its members have already done some prospecting. They are sharp, shrewd men, and are not in the habit of buying a pig in a poke.

Some paying gold lands they are sure to secure, while the rush of people over their road into the Klondyke is certain to be large for some years to come, for there is no question regarding the richness of the country in gold.

The concession in regard to royalty is another thing which seems to be somewhat overdone. The ordinary miner will have to pay 10 per cent. on all the gold he takes out, while this company will only be taxed to the extent of 1 per cent.

Then, as to the monopoly clause of the agreement. That is a decided objection. We have too many railway monopolies in the country, and what we want is not an increase in their number, but rather a diminution.

The railway will undoubtedly be a good thing for the country, for it gives the Dominion the chief highway to her own territory in the Klondyke; but at the same time it looks as if it is also a good thing for the railway company, and rather too good a thing too.

However, the people will be inclined to forgive the Government a great deal on account of its comparative promptness in taking practical steps to secure the construction of the road.

In remembering the Stickeen river route it is to be hoped the Government will not forget all others. There is the Edmonton route for instance. It is known as the poor man's route. Those who have traversed it speak highly of it, and it is to be hoped the Government will not neglect to take such steps as may be necessary to improve its condition.

TO CULTIVATE WILD GINGER.

The ginger plant grows wild in some parts of Mexico, and its cultivation on the elevated plateaus is to be encouraged. An estimate of the value of the crop may be gleaned from the fact that one acre's yield brings in about $300 in gold.

THE DUTY ON SUGAR.

IT is understood that the sugar refiners in Canada are making strenuous efforts to persuade the Government to place an additional half cent per pound on the duty of refined sugar. What the outcome of it will be remains to be seen.

In view of the large quantity of foreign refined sugar, which have been coming into the country during the last few months, an opinion has been gaining ground that it is possible the Government might be persuaded to increase the duty, and now that the refiners are importuning the latter, fresh interest is added to the matter.

As far as can be learned, there has been a cessation of the orders for foreign granulated sugar, as importers are in a quandary as to what the Government may do during the session of Parliament which opened yesterday, an increase in the duty before their shipments arrived probably meaning a loss of profit.

What likelihood there is of the duty being increased we cannot say. One thing, however, which should not be lost sight of, is the fact that the Government has now no need of increasing the duty in order to augment the Customs revenue, the latter, during the first half of the present fiscal year, having increased nearly half a million dollars, compared with the same period in 1896-97.

SUPPLIES FOR THE KLONDYKE.

People in the United States who are preparing to go to the Klondyke are learning that it is cheaper to get their supplies in Canada, as they thus avoid paying Customs duties.

A couple of weeks ago the British Columbia papers noted that a Chicago prospector, who was bringing over 2,000 men, had placed an order with the Hudson's Bay Company at Vancouver for $500,000 worth of supplies, while a Rochester, N.Y., man was spending $10,000 for the same purpose in Victoria. These are two of many instances.

This week Toronto wholesale houses are in the receipt of enquiries from Buffalo and Detroit as to prices, as parties for the Klondike are being formed in these places, which intend fitting out in the "Queen City."

A PROFITABLE PRACTICE.

IT pays to be honest all the time. It never pays to be dishonest at any time.

There are times when the opposite would appear to be true: Business men, clerks and others, by an honest act, lose money for which they apparently never receive any other reward than that which comes of a conscience void of offence. However, a conscience void of offence is reward enough to stimulate any man to honest deeds.

But, again, we assert it always pays to be honest. The successful man in business is he who has a reputation for fair dealing; but a reputation for fair dealing is not born of one honest act. It is a series of such acts that builds up a man's good name.

One dishonest act will, however, sometimes ruin a reputation which has hitherto been promising. This fact alone should cause the greatest care to be exercised. It is hard to establish a good character, but it is easy to lose one.

As an instance of the truth of the maxim that honesty is the best policy, a case which recently came under our observation may be cited.

The Government of one of the provinces of the Dominion—it is not necessary to say which—had a most important position in its gift vacant. The position was not only important, but it was one which required a man whose honesty was unquestioned and who had the force of character to withstand any and whatsoever temptations that might be brought to bear upon him to induce him to prostitute his office. And the Government was particularly careful to secure the right kind of man, from the very fact that against the previous occupant of the office something like one hundred and fifty charges were resting.

Of course there were a good many applicants for the office; but the man who got it was not an applicant at all. He was traveling in Europe and had been for some time. And the reason he got it was because of his reputation for honesty.

His profession was one which afforded many opportunities for questionable transactions, but he consistently steered an honest course, when, in some instances, by so doing, he lost money and was seemingly unrewarded. But by hewing to the line of honesty he eventually established a reputation for honesty, which got for him, unsolicited, a position which others were clamoring after.

It paid this particular man to be honest. It pays every man to be honest.

This killing cold weather should give life to trade.

HIGHER PRICES ON JAPAN TEA.

THAT the strong tone of the Japan tea is no fairy tale, has been unmistakably demonstrated this week by the refusal at Montreal of good sized orders, amounting in all to several thousand packages of tea.

The buyers in the case bid 12½c., at which they secured the same teas last year, but this season, importers wanted 14 to 15c. for the same grade of goods, and refused the orders.

This looks pretty strong, and holders are confident that the advance they ask will be actually established in the near future, though buyers at present are reluctant to concede it. Business is restricted as a result of this difference of opinion.

The statistical position as regards this continent is certainly strong. Advices from Japan state that up to December 21 the total shipments to Canada were 8,334,693 packages, against 9,952,971 in 1896 and 9,141,402 in 1895. Our imports of Japan tea are, therefore, 1,618,281 packages less than for the previous year.

The United States also, despite the heavy importations early in the year, falls behind this year. The total figures up to December 21 were 32,496,717 pounds, against 33,666,916 for 1896 and 38,482,826 for 1892, a decrease of 1,170,199 compared with the previous year and 5,986,109 pounds with 1895.

The detailed figures show some interesting facts. For instance, New York imported more tea direct this year, viz., 9,206,121, against 6,567,204 in 1896; but less by the Suez canal, the figures being 2,524,930 and 5,964,637 for the respective years. San Francisco increased her exports in 1897 to 4,971,636 pounds, against 4,358,373 in 1896, whereas Chicago and the west decreased theirs from 21,393,308 in 1895 and 16,540,723 in 1896 to 15,671,764 in 1897.

A QUESTION REGARDING SALT.

AN article, which had its origin in Toronto, has been going the rounds of the daily press the past week, in regard to the salt manufacturers in Western Ontario, which is erroneous in many respects.

It is true, there is an agreement among the two concerns, which control the output in Ontario, but the agreement is not of recent origin, as the article referred to would indicate. It is three years old at the least. And readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER will remember that the details of the agreement were at that time dealt with in the columns of this journal. This is error No. 1.

Then the item said: "Up to a few years ago, the only method of drying salt used in the Ontario salt wells was by evaporating in open pans. Recently, however, a western firm began using a new process by which the salt was dried by steam." This is in part true. The improved system referred to, is that which is known as the vacuum, and instead of the process being of recent origin, it has been in operation at least six years. This is error No. 2.

Next, the article goes on to say, that the firm using the vacuum or steam process cut prices when it made its advent. The grocery trade will remember this is the very opposite from the fact. This is error No. 3.

As to the advance in price. That did not take place last week. It took place the first week in December and now we are in the first week in February. This is error No. 4.

The advance, it will be remembered, was 5c. per barrel.

As to increased importations of salt, as a result of the advance in price, it is true, as far as Toronto is concerned, that there has been an increase in the importation of Liverpool salt, but those in the trade deny there has been an increase in that of the United States production. The trade returns for the Dominion for January are, of course, not yet procurable, but those for December last show the imports of salt to be $2,434 less than in the same month in 1896.

FISH AS BRAIN FOOD.

Some think that clam chowder does grow upon trees,
But I'll bet you a dollar it don't;
And that fish will make any sized brain that you please,
But I'll bet you a dollar it won't!
For if put to the test you will find that it fails,
As our statesmen like chickens, and oysters, and quails,
When you'd think, by their brains, they eat nothing but whales,
But I'll bet you a dollar they don't.

Others think a fish diet will sure make them bright,
But I'll bet you a dollar it don't;
That their heads will increase till their scalps are too tight,
And I'll bet you a dollar they don't!
For I've noticed fish—that's just in my line—
And observed that the mackerel when rotten do shine,
So these chaps, to be bright, must eat these all the time,
But I'll bet you a dollar they won't!

By authority, which I do not remember to have seen disputed, informs us that there are Many men of many minds,

Many fish of many kinds, and it would be logical to conclude that there must be a fish which is adapted to each mind.

With this in view, I would submit the following species as suitable brain food for different individuals:

Carp for the critic.
Sole for the shoemaker.
Plaice for the office-seeker.
Swordfish for the soldier.
Sawfish for the carpenter.
Whiff for the smoker.
Pipefish for the plumber.
Chub for thin persons.
Suckers for pump-makers.
Drum for commercial travelers.
Pilot-fish for sea captains.
Houndfish for hunters.
Sculpin for sculptors (no bouquets for this).
Bellows-fish for blowers.
Black bass for the basso of a minstrel troupe.
Smelts for a Limburger cheese-maker.
Doree for idiots who go to Europe in little boats.
Gudgeons for people who grumble on the cars.
Archer-fish for those who practise the "witchery."
Alewives for pretty bar maids.
Angel-fish for—we won't tell her name.
Angler for fellows who "snake" fish over their heads.
Balloon-fish for gasbags.
Bullfish for collectors.
Bullheads for—you put in his name.
Cats for sailors.
Charr for cremators.
Coachmen for liverymen.
Cod for express companies.
Ribbon-fish for the girls.
Rays for electric light men.

TALKS ABOUT STOCK-TAKING.

THIS week I had a large number of conversations with retailers in various parts of Toronto in regard to stock-taking, and received, what was to me, some interesting information. One of the first places I called at was Caldwell & Hodgins'. 248 King street west, which firm, in answer to the question, "Do you take stock every year?" replied with a decided affirmative, "Certainly! Why, surely, there are no grocers of any consequence who do not take stock every year." This firm is of the opinion that any dealer who does not annually take stock either has a "one-horse" business, or is "slip-shod" in his methods. Caldwell & Hodgins put stock-taking on a par with bookkeeping, counting both extra work, but work which keeps business on a proper basis, and is a practical necessity to a business of any size.

T. Guay, Queen street west, is also in the habit of taking stock regularly. He gives as his principal reason for so doing that, after he has carefully taken stock and made up his books, he knows just how he stands, and feels a fresh interest in his business. It seems to liven up each person in the store, and gives business a renewed impetus. When making up his books Mr. Guay follows a plan which should be generally adopted There are on his books, as on those of all other merchants, the accounts of people who, for one reason or another, have stopped dealing with him. These accounts are put on a separate sheet and are marked "doubtful," and are not counted when adding up the assets.

W. S. Fry, 634 Queen west, is a thorough believer in annual stock-taking. He finds that, besides straightening up his accounts, and finding out for himself the profits of the year and his present financial worth, stock-taking frequently brings into prominence articles which have found their way to the back of shelves, or some other out-of-the-way place. These articles are, in some cases, not advisable to keep in stock, and are sold at a low price.

These three firms agree that there should be no looseness in this work, that everything should be accurately gauged. Yet, in many cases, this work can be done in such a way as to save much time. For instance, where biscuits, teas, or other articles, are kept in boxes of equal weight, it is much quicker and better to weigh an empty box, and subtract its weight from the weight of each box, full or partially filled, than to empty out and weigh the contents of each box. By thus saving time, it has been found quite possible to take stock in a large store between closing time one evening and opening time next morning.

I called on a number of other merchants on Queen street, whose experience was much the same as that of the firms named, but one merchant has had a somewhat different experience to these. He has found that stock-taking has kept his store in a confused state for thirty days, and that wholesale firms, seeing his store in such a state, have become uneasy, and have displayed a desire to have all accounts settled as speedily as possible. On account of these facts, this dealer came to the conclusion, some time ago, that for him there would be no more stock-taking.

T. R. Morris, corner Bellwoods avenue and Arthur street, on the other hand, has not regularly taken stock, but has decided that it is beneficial to do so, and will do so in the future.

One of the firmest believers in stock-taking I encountered was J. Milton Cork, 456 College street. Mr. Cork's policy is to take stock every six months. After enlarging on the reasons for stock-taking already given, he informed me he finds by it very largely what is his net profit, how various articles are selling, and whether it is advisable to increase or decrease the selling price of these articles. It also shows where his money is invested, and gives him definite information for insurance companies.

Stock-taking is not only beneficial, but essential, to the carrying on of a successful business, and much more so for the increasing of one's trade. It means work, but the worker wins.

NEW SYSTEM BOOKKEEPING.

Mr. J. B. E. Poirier has just invented a new system of bookkeeping, which does away with pass-book, day book, ledger, and journal. The new idea is a book of bons, payable in goods at So-and-So's store.

The amount the book contains is regulated according to what each customer purchases during the month. These bons are tickets, each book containing a number of five-cent, ten, twenty-five, fifty and dollar tickets. The customer's name is stamped on each ticket.

The books are given out to the customers, and when they want goods they give these tickets for the amount purchased, instead of writing it down in the pass book. At the end of the month the amount left in the book is added, and subtracted from what the book first contained.

Every merchant knows about the amount each customer buys during the month, and can give him a book with that amount in. The next lot of books will run from one cent up to a dollar.

Mr. Poirier has tried this system, and found it to work well, having saved money thereby. Mr. Poirier is getting out a patent.

MIDDLETON BOARD OF TRADE.

AT the annual meeting of the Middleton, N.S., Board of Trade, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, G. V. Gross; vice-president, J. H. Charlton; secretary, F. E. Cox.

Other members of the council—H. E. Reed, W. G. Parsons, A. J. Morrison, O. A. Rogers, J. A. Gates, F. E. Bentley, Geo. Smith, and Dr. S. N. Miller.

The board considered the establishment of a pork packing factory, and decided to offer a free site and tax exemption for 20 years to such industry. It is said that 25,000 hogs per year will be guaranteed.

It was also decided that Middleton would be a suitable place for the establishment of a canning factory, and a committee was appointed to obtain a guarantee of the products required and of a free site with tax exemption, and to solicit capital for the establishment of such a factory.

A committee was appointed to advertise Middleton as a tourists' resort.

PARAGON CHEESE.

One of the most satisfactory evidences of good taste and judgment on the part of the consumer and the grocery trade is the remarkable growth of demand for Millar's "Paragon" cheese. The "Paragon" is the first and original potted cheese put up in Canada, and though several imitators have endeavored, and partly secured a footing, the excellent quality, purity, and absolute perfection of "Paragon," is rapidly and effectively crowding competitors off the market. The handsome package adopted by the Millar Cheese Co. makes it a perfect table adornment, and the quality of the cheese is such that once used it becomes a necessity. Business is reported exceptionally good from the factory, numerous and large orders being continually received from the United States and Great Britain, as well as all parts of Canada.—Advt.

SEND AND GET ONE.

The Dominion Brewery Co., Toronto, is distributing among the trade one of the most useful souvenirs of the year. It is a vest-pocket memo booklet giving, among other information, a list of winners and records on the turf, in athletics, rowing, cycling, yachting, canoeing, cricket, curling, shooting, ten pins, lacrosse, baseball, football, quoiting, skating, bowling, etc. It also contains the game and fishing laws, rates of postage, etc. On receipt of a request on a postal card they will be glad to send one to any of our readers or their customers.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 3, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE has, perhaps, been a slight improvement in business during the past week, but, generally speaking, trade is not satisfactory, not being as brisk as it was anticipated it would be. Canned goods are quiet, although firm in price, particularly as far as canned vegetables are concerned. Teas are probably the most active line in the grocery trade, and the primary and terminal markets rule firm. There is scarcely any sugar selling. Currants are moving well, and there is a demand for both California and Bosnia prunes. A few orders on Klondyke account are being taken, and some of the houses are in correspondence with people in Buffalo and Detroit, who are organizing parties for the Klondyke and want supplies.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market is materially unchanged. Wholesalers are still holding first-class brands of canned tomatoes at $1.25 per case, with some second quality goods being held at $1.15. Canned fruits are beginning to move. Large quantities of gallon apples have been moved lately. Some wholesale houses appear this season to be not handling canned apples at all, either gallon or 3's. In the way of canned fruit the demand at the moment is chiefly for cherries, raspberries and strawberries. There is not much doing in canned salmon. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.15 to $1.25; corn, 80 to 85c.; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1 to $1.10; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 60 to 95c.; peaches, $2 to $2.40 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.40 to $1 70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c.; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1 25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand; cohoes, 95c. to $1; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.70 for tall tins; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

COFFEE.

There are still a good many green Rio coffees selling. There are some green Rio coffees being sold as low as 7 to 7¼c.; but the quality is held to be poor; 8c. is about the idea for a good, even coffee of this description. The accounts of the large receipts at Rio and Santos, together with unfavorable reports from Europe, have induced a rather easy market. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c.; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Both the demand and the offerings are light. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There have been a few transactions in New Orleans molasses, but business is, on the whole, quiet. New Orleans molasses is strong, and advices from the primary market state that all offered is being taken at firm prices. We quote: New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c.; ditto. half-bbls., 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-bbls., 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar trade is still decidedly quiet. London cables are more encouraging, beet sugars having advanced fractionally. The tone of the New York market is firmer in sympathy, although not much business is being done. Locally, prices are unchanged at last week's quotations. We quote wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days: Granulated (Redpath, St. Lawrence, Acadia), 4½c.; ditto, Dutch, in bags, 4⅜c.; ditto, German of Canadian make, in bbls., 4 3-16c.; ditto, imported, in bags, 4 3-16c.; yellows, 3¾c. upwards.

NUTS.

Locally there is no feature to note. In the outside markets Jordan shelled almonds and Naples walnuts are reported easier. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 12½

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

There is the usual demand. Advices report the foreign rices steady as to prices. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½ to 4½c.

SPICES.

A cable quotes cloves about 1½c. per lb. dearer than a week ago. The pepper market continues strong. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 14c in kegs, pails and boxes, and 15c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 12c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 24 to 26c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 20 to 22c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 20 to 22c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 16c.; cassia, 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

TEAS.

Business is a little better than it was a week ago, although the value is still rather light. We hear of a few transactions in Congous and Young Hysons. The s.s. Cromarty, which was lost a few days ago at or near the Azores, had on board 13,000 packages of green teas, 12,000 packages of Formosa and 2,000 packages of China blacks. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans. 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indias and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Locally the situation is unshanged, business being good and prices firm. Cable advices estimate stocks in Greece at from 12,000 to 16,000 tons and prices there are steady. In New York, however, the market is unsettled, on account of sellers who were holding at prices above those ruling, being willing to conform to the general market. We quote: Provincials, 5¾ to 6c.; Filiatras, 6¼c. in bbls; 6⅜c. in half-bbls and 6¼c. in cases. Patras, 6¾c. in bbls.; 6¾c. in half-bbls. and 6⅞c. in cases. Vostizzas, 7½ to 8½c. in cases

VALENCIA RAISINS — The market in Denia is reported to be 2s. higher. Locally the market is quiet and unchanged. We quote as follows: Off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 6 to 6½c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—Business is quiet, both locally and in the primary market. Advices from New York state that prices there are being affected by the competition of seeded raisins. We quote: 3-crown, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb; 4-crown, 8¼ to 8½c. per lb.; 1-lb. cartoons, 20c.; 2¼-lb. cartoons, 35c.

DATES—Quiet, at 5½ to 5¾c. for Hallowees and 5½c. for Kadrowees.

FIGS — Dull. We quote as follows: 4-crown, 10 to 11c.; 5-crown, 11 to 13c,; 7-crown, 13 to 14c.; 9-crown, 15 to 16c.; natural figs, in bags, 4½ to 5c.; mats, 3½ to 4c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

The only article moving this week is Canadian onions. Of these four cars have been shipped during the past week to Western Ontario towns and cities. The cold weather has kept the local demand for green fruits quiet. California navels have declined 25c. There are no Tangarines on the market this week. We quote as follows : Almeria grapes, $5 to $7.50 per keg; lemons, Messina, $2.75 to $3.25 a box ; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 a sack and 60c. per doz.; oranges, Valencia, 420's, ordinary, $5 to $5.50 ; 420's, large, $6.50 to $7 ; 714's, large, $7 to $7.50 per case ; California navels, $3.25 to $3.50 per crate ; Tangarines, $1.50 to $2 ; bananas, $1.50 to $2 ; Cape Cod cranberries, $8 to $8.50 per bbl., and $2.75 to $3 per box ; Jersey cranberries, $8 to $9 per bbl.; Canadian cranberries, $5.50 to $6 per bbl., and $2.50 per box ; Canadian apples, spies, fancy red, $3.75 to $4 ; others, $2.50 to $3.50 per barrel and 40 to 50c. per basket ; Canadian onions, red or yellow, in 80-lb. bags, 65 to 75c.; pickling onions, 75c. per basket; celery, 25 to 50c. a dozen ; winter pears, 60 to 75c. per basket ; grape fruit, $5.50 to $6 per box.

EGGS—New laid eggs are coming in a little more freely, consequently the price has eased off somewhat. Holdings of pickled are small, and the price has advanced 2c. We quote : Fresh-laid, 20c.; held, fresh and cold-stored, 18c.; pickled, 15 to 16c.

POTATOES—There is a quiet demand, with prices easier. We quote : Carload lots at 58 to 60c., and small lots on the market at 65 to 70c.

DRIED APPLES—Some dealers are buying freely on speculation. The price, on account of a great range in quality, varies from 3½ to 4½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There seems to be a general movement in evaporated apples now. The general price is about 8 to 9c., though some jobbers report sales at 9½ to 10c.

G.F.& J.GALT 42 SCOTT St TORONTO. PACKERS OF THE CELEBRATED BLUE RIBBON TEAS

Tea-Packing Machine

THIS is a correct cut of our new Tea Packer. This machine does not pound or break the tea. We claim it is the most simple, durable, easy to work, speedy, the best made in all its parts, and the cheapeat Tea Packer yet invented.

The plunger is permanent and the tea is pressed up against it to the desired size. In all other Tea Packers the tea is simply poured into a hole and pounded on the top, the same as being struck with a heavy hammer, making a tremendous noise. Our machine is almost noiseless. The simplicity of this machine does not need any description. A glance at the cut shows all the parts so simple that any person can understand it. A boy can work it all day and does not need to change every half hour, as is the case with the old-time Pounders.

There is only one lever to work. This is done with the foot. The sizer is swung around with the hand. The action is quick, so rapid that a smart boy can pack from 10 to 12 packages a minute, and keep it up all day, thus proving it to be the most speedy Tea Packer ever invented.

The frame of this machine is made of hardwood, the working parts of steel and iron, and the Tea Tubes are made of tinned steel. One of these machines, with constant use, will last a lifetime. There is nothing to wear or give out about it.

Package tea in sealed lead packages is the only way to hold your customers, and if you don't sell your own tea in this way you will soon be obliged to sell tea for some person else or lose your tea trade.

Ninety per cent. of the tea that is consumed in Great Britain is sold in lead packages, and it is the only way to preserve the flavor. All original packages of tea are put up in sealed lead or iron, and should be handed to the consumer in equally air-tight packages, in quantities that may be required.

Patented in Canada, Oct. 16, 1897

The price of this machine is $60.00, net cash. We will make draft 10 days after shipping.

Yours truly,

A. H. CANNING & CO.

A. H. CANNING, ESQ., City: TORONTO, Jan. 20, 1898.

DEAR SIR,—We have been handed a circular of your Tea Packer, in the third paragraph of which, as we take it, you reflect on the "Ideal" Machine; and state that your Packer, being able to turn out 10 or 12 packages per minute, is the most speedy in use.

Now, we shall wager you $100.00 that you cannot pack 10 or 12 packages a minute for five minutes in succession, with three boys working at the machine, that is, with a weigher, a wrapper and boy at the machine.

Then we shall wager that our "IDEAL" Machine, with the same number of boys, CAN turn out 10 or 12 packages per minute for five minutes. Or we shall wager you that we can turn out two packages to your one in a day's work of eight hours, or three packages for your one in a week's work. In fact, if you want competition of any kind, we are quite willing to meet you in a fair spirit, as it would be a good business move for the winner.

We would not have thought of issuing the above challenge but that the circular that you issued of your machine is certainly a reflection on our "IDEAL"; and, as we hold that the matter is not according to the strict truth, we take the liberty of sending you this letter. If you do not accept it, we shall feel at liberty to publish it well, unless you withdraw the circular at once, and acknowledge that what you state is not correct: viz., that a boy can turn out 10 or 12 packages a minute on your machine, and that it cannot be done on another.

We have no ill-feeling towards you at all, but we feel we must defend what is to us a valuable property, viz., our patent in the "Ideal."

We might say that it would please us better to devote the winnings to the Sick Children's Hospital.

We are, yours truly, P. C. LARKIN & CO.

MESSRS. P. C. LARKIN & CO., Toronto: TORONTO, Jan. 22, 1898.

GENTLEMEN,—Your letter of the 20th received, and, in reply, we beg to accept all your challenges.

1st. We accept your wager of $100.00 that we cannot pack ten packages in one minute with our machine. We claim we can, and are prepared to defend the statement.

2nd. We claim YOU cannot pack FIFTY packages in five minutes with your machine, and accept your wager of $100.00.

3rd. We accept your wager of $100.00 that you can pack twice as many packages as we can in a day's work of eight hours.

4th. We accept your wager of $100.00 that you can pack three times as many packages as we can in a week's work of six days, eight hours per day.

We accept your own stipulations, viz.:

One boy to weigh, one to wrap leads and one to operate the machine. The boys are not to change positions. The one that starts to operate the machine to stay at it continually during the contest.

A day's work to consist of eight hours, four consecutive hours in the forenoon and four consecutive hours in the afternoon.

Yours truly, A. H. CANNING & CO.

ARMEDA vs. SALADA

Mr. Canning Ably Replies to Mr. Larkin.

He accepts Mr. Larkin's Challenge and Planks the Cash. Mr. Larkin Shuffies and Leaves Everything to His Own William Lawson, as Will Be Seen by His Last Letter.

TORONTO, Jan. 24, 1898.

A. H. Canning, Esq., city :

DEAR SIR,—We have your favor of the 22nd to hand, and we note you have accepted all our challenges, as per our letter to you of Jan. 20, a copy of which letter you have inserted in your advertisement in The Toronto World of the 24th inst., and which we acknowledge is quite correct.

We thank you for the acceptance, and we have placed in the hands of Mr. James Watt, secretary-treasurer of The Globe, $400. Will you please cover it at once, when we can arrange when the contest is to begin, which we would like within the next day or two ? We are, Yours truly,

P. C. LARKIN & Co.

P.S.—We would be glad to donate the winnings to the Sick Children's Hospital, if you will agree to this.

P. C. L. & Co.

TORONTO, Jan. 26, 1898.

Messrs. P. C. Larkin & Co., city.

GENTLEMEN,—We have this day deposited a marked cheque for four hundred dollars with Mr. James Watt, secretary-treasurer of The Globe, to cover your deposit of a like amount as advised in your letter of Jan. 24, 1898. Yours truly,

A. H. Canning & Co.

TORONTO, Jan. 26, 1898.

Messrs. A. H. Canning & Co., city :

DEAR SIRS,—I beg to acknowledge your letter of the 26th.

I note you have deposited your marked cheque for $400 with Mr. James Watt, which will cover mine. If you will let me know by telephone, when I can meet Mr. Canning, or if he could call here, I would be glad to see him at any time, and arrange particulars.

I presume there is nothing to prevent the five-minute contest from coming off practically at once, that is, to-morrow, and we might arrange then for the day's work to come off on the day following. We are ready now to commence any or all of the contests, if you can arrange it.

The week's contest we would be willing to postpone for a week or so to meet your convenience, but we are ready at any time to commence ; in fact, on receipt of this would suit us as well as any time. Yours truly,

P. C. LARKIN.

TORONTO, Jan. 26, 1898.

Messrs. A. H. Canning & Co., city :

DEAR SIRS,—Referring to our conversation on the street to-day, we want nothing but what is fair, upright, honorable and decent in the settlement of this dispute, notwithstanding your remark on the street this afternoon, which, we think, was entirely uncalled for.

To commence at the first challenge, and end the last, would be the ordinary way of settling this dispute. You recognize the first challenge we issued as the first ! why not commence it first ?

However, to get this dispute settled, we are anxious and willing to make any sacrifice to reason. Therefore, we shall quite willingly depart from this, if the umpire whom we agree to appoint states that yours is the proper way to begin it ; in fact, we shall leave everything to him.

Now, there is no reason for delay, we must get on with it at once. We are prepared to commence it to-morrow, but we think it would be only reasonable to allow you a few days. We are not willing that none of the challenges should be settled for a month, as you suggest, because this would leave the machines on a par, in the meantime, in the eyes of the public ; and we want to prove to the public, at once, that what we assert is correct.

Therefore, if you will please let us have a letter in reply to this, stating where Mr. Larkin can meet you, and what umpire you would suggest, for the settlement of this dispute, we shall leave it to him (the umpire) as to when the matter is to be decided, and everything else concerning it. Yours truly,

P. C. LARKIN.

Re Tea Packing Dispute.

From Toronto World, Jan. 27, 1898.

Mr. A. H. Canning has at last deposited his cheque to cover that of the owners of the "Ideal" machine ; and the latter now want the appointment of a disinterested person to see the dispute settled ; they being willing to leave everything in the hands of the referee.

TORONTO, Jan. 27, 1898.

Messrs. P. C. Larkin & Co., city :

GENTLEMEN,—Your letters of Jan. 26 to hand this a.m., and in reply we wish to remind you of the fact that you issued the challenges, and it is our privilege and right to set the time and also to state which challenge we will meet you in first.

The first challenge we will contest is the week's work of six days, eight hours per day, and will commence the contest Monday, Feb. 14, 1898.

The second challenge we will contest is the day's work of eight hours, on Monday, Feb. 21, 1898.

The other contests we will arrange after.

We will not, under any consideration, commence the contest earlier than Feb. 14, but if this date is not convenient for you we will make a later date.

We will be pleased to meet you and a third party to complete details in connection with the first two contests to be tried.

Yours truly,

A. H. CANNING & Co.

TORONTO, Jan. 28, 1898.

Messrs. A. H. Canning & Co., city :

DEAR SIRS,—We have your favor of the 27th to hand.

We note that you do not look upon this matter in what we consider a businesslike way. What we want is that you should appoint an umpire ; we appoint one now, Mr. William Lawson ; he, and the one you choose on, are to appoint a referee ; the referee and the two umpires shall settle on everything.

As far as Feb. 14 next goes, this date would suit us, but, in all fairness, all of the contests should come off within a reasonable time. However, we place everything in the hands of the referee that shall be appointed, and he will settle on when the contests shall take place.

We think this is only a fair and upright way of doing the thing; you cannot surely expect to be a contestant and the judge as well ? As to the suggestion you make, that the last challenge issued should be commenced first ; well, if the referee agrees to that, we agree to it, but we repeat that the proper way is to allow everything to remain in the hands of the referee appointed by your umpire and mine. We are sure that if you have the slightest desire that the contest should come off, you will at once see the fairness of this.

Yours truly,

P. C. LARKIN.

Mr. Larkin issues the challenge, Mr. Canning names the weapons. Mr. Larkin puts his William forward and disappears. This, we presume, is the end.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of all kinds of butter but low grade dairy in tubs are increasing. The quality of much of the dairy butter now offered is complained of, especially the large rolls. On account of the Old Country market weakening, creamery tubs have declined 1c. per lb. We quote as follows: Dairy, large rolls, 14 to 15c.; pound prints, 14 to 15c.; tubs, best grade, 14 to 15c.; second grade, 13 to 14c.; low grade, 11 to 12c.; creamery, early make, tubs, 16 to 17c.; late make, tubs, 18 to 19c.; prints, 20 to 21c.

CHEESE— The stocks laid in by the grocers throughout the city seem to have been inadequate, so the large holders report a steady trade in small orders. The prices are easy at, from 8 to 9¼c., according to make.

PROVISIONS.

Lard continues to be the leading feature in the pork product market. There is a good, steady demand for all lines. Some dealers state that the indications for British Columbia trade are favorable, as many enquiries have been received, and a number of sales have been made.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11½ to 12c.; rolls, 8½c.; hams, large, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 10½c.; small, 11c.; shoulder hams, 8½ to 9c.; backs, 10½ to 11½c.; with 1c. less for all meats out of pickle.

DRESSED HOGS—We quote: $5.90 to $6 for heavy, and $6.25 for light hogs.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The demand has been good, whitefish, trout, cod and haddock selling especially well. Sea herring are scarce, and prices for them have advanced. We quote: Oysters, $1.25 per gal.; fresh trout, 7to 7½c. per lb.; steak trout, 7c.; fresh steak cod, 6 to 6½c. per lb.; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; pike, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; perch, 3c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $3.25 per half-bbl.; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; sea herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per 100; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; ciscoes, 75c. to $1; Manitoba frozen whitefish, 7½c. per lb.; smelts, No. 2, 4c.; No. 1, 6c.; extras, 10c.; flounders, 5c. per lb.. haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.; pan frozen haddock, small, 4c.; large, 5c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — The market is firm, an advance being noted in all grains. Red wheat has advanced 2c.; white wheat, 2½c.; goose wheat, 3c.; peas, 1c.; rye, 2c.; oats, 3½c.; barley, 5c. We quote the street market as follows: Wheat, red, 90 to 91c.; white, 80 to 92½c.; goose, 80 to 82c.; peas, 56 to 58c.; rye, 47 to 49c.; barley, 34 to 39c.; oats, 31½ to 32½c., Toronto freights. No. 1 hard wheat is quoted at $1.04, Toronto freights.

FLOUR — The market is firm. The price of flour has not advanced in proportion to the advance in wheat, but will likely soon advance in sympathy with present prices, unless the latter declines in the meantime. We quote: Manitoba patents, $5.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $5; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $4.85; straight roller, $4 to $4.20, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Trade continues brisk with advances in rolled wheat, oatmeal and rolled oats. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.70 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.75 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.35; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.

SHEEPSKINS—Trade is active, with prices steady. We quote at $1.15 to $1.25.

WOOL—There is a steady demand for pulled wools, the price quoted remaining at 20½c. for fleeces and tub-washed.

SEEDS.

Offerings of alsike are limited, with values ranging all the way from $2 to $5. Dealers are paying for prime to extra choice red clover, northern seed, $3.50 to $4, on board at point of shipment, and $3 to $3 50 for western seed. Timothy is moving more freely at $1 to $1.50 for machine threshed, and $1.75 to $2 for strictly choice to fancy bright unhulled flail-threshed seed.

SALT

Trade is active with prices unchanged. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B.. barrels, 75c.; sacks, 50c.

MARKET NOTES.

Pickled eggs are $2 dearer.

California navel oranges have declined 25c.

Fancy red spies are now quoted at $3.75 to $4.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade has been passing through an extremely quiet week in this market. In addition to the fact that several of the large houses have been stock-taking, the severe storm of ten days ago interfered more seriously with traffic in the country districts of the province than was at first supposed, and as it has been supplemented by another, almost as severe, this week, no material improvement in the actual distributing trade is looked for for a week or ten days. There have been few changes in values, which, as a rule, are steady, notably so in molasses and teas. In fact, commission men and importers have refused large orders for Japan teas, because prices were not high enough to suit them.

SUGAR.

There has been an easier feeling on sugar in several of the outside markets, but the fact has not affected spot prices at all. Buyers, however, are indifferent about purchasing, and the market has an unsettled tone in consequence. Jobbers also have quite ample supplies on hand for current trade, and as demand is quiet, it constitutes another influence against activity. Indeed, until stocks both in second and third hands are worked down a bit, no activity is looked for. We quote: Standard granulated, 4 5-16c.; Canadian German granulated, 4c.; Austrian and German granulated, 3 15-16c. in bags, and yellows, 3½ to 4c.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in the syrup market, demand ruling quiet, but as stocks are in firm hands prices rule firm at 2 to 2½c.

MOLASSES.

The Barbadoes molasses market continues strong, and holders have refused pretty high bids this week for round lots of stock, 27c. having been declined for a lot of 100 puncheons the other day. Altogether the situation is a very strong one, and it looks very much at present as though the expectations, that have been previously referred to in this column, of high prices going to be realized. In a jobbing way prices are unchanged for Barbadoes as follows: puncheons, 28c.; barrels, 30½c.; and half-barrels, 31½c. per gallon; car lots 1c. less. Porto Rico is in slow demand around 26 to 27c., according to quality.

CANNED GOODS.

Business is quiet in canned goods, but there is no alteration in the firm situation of the market for vegetables or fruit, and prices are firmly held all round. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; corn, 90c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1.15; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb.do., $1.10 to $1.20; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25; "Clover Leaf," $1.25; Lowe Inlet, $1.20, in tall tins; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25 to $4.50.

TEAS.

Actual business in tea is light, but there is no lack of enquiry, especially for Japans. In fact, if buyers and sellers could only agree on a price an active trade would result for jobbers, clearly showing that they want the supplies, but are not prepared to pay what sellers are asking. We quote: Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest; China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

SPICES.

A quiet, steady trade is doing in spices, and prices are unchanged. Black pepper, 9 to 15c.; pure white, 15 to 20c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 30c.; allspice, 14c.; and nutmegs, 50 to 90c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market is steady, and some sales of Rio and Java and Mocha have been made in a small way at rather better prices. We quote: Maracaibo, 12 to 15c.; Santos, 11½c., and Rio 10 to 12c., while Java and Mocha are held at 28 to 31c.

RICE.

There is no material change in the rice market. Advices from abroad are exceedingly strong, and in some instances indicate a short crop for the present season. We quote: Imported Japan, 4⅞ to 5c.; standard B rice $3.40 to $3.50; ditto, grade S, $3.30 to $3.40; Patna, $4.75 to $5; choice Burmah, $4; and ditto Java, $4.25.

DRIED FRUIT.

The currant market is still very strong abroad, but there is only a quiet trade doing here, and outside conditions have no influence on values. We quote: Fine Vostizzas, half-cases, 6½c.; Patras, half-cases, 6¼c.; choice Filiatra, do., 6c.; fine do., half-cases, 5⅞c.; Filiatra, half-cases, 5¾c.; do. half-bbls., 5½c.; do., bbls., 5⅜c.; fine Provincials, half-cases, 5⅝c.

Valencia raisins are unchanged as follows: Off-stalk, 4½c.; fine do., 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5¾ to 6c., and 4-crown layers, 6 to 6¼c.

The market is quite firm in California raisins, but there is only a quiet trade passing. We quote: 6 to 6¼c. for 2-crown; 7¼ to 7¾c. for 3-crown, and 8¾ for 4-crown fruit.

Sultanas are steady at 8¾ to 9c., and loose Spanish muscatels, 6 to 7c.

Prunes are quiet and steady. We quote: Austrian, 6½ to 7c.; French, 4½ to 5½c., and Californias, 7½ to 10c., as to grade.

Figs are unchanged. We quote: Eleme, 10 lbs., 10 to 11c.; case lots, 9c.; 12-oz. boxes, 7½c.; 14-oz. boxes, 9c.; 25 bag lots, 3¼c., and bags, 3½ to 4c.

Dates are dull but steady at 5½ to 6c.

NUTS.

There is no change in nuts. We quote as follows: Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 8½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 16 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 7 to 8½c., and pecans, 9 to 10c.

FISH.

There has been only a moderate business transacted in fresh fish, and prices generally are as last quoted. Haddock and cod are selling at 2½ to 3c., steak cod at 3½c., and herrings at $1.40 for good and $1.20 for medium, while tommy cods range from $1 to $1.20.

Pickled fish are quiet at last week's range, and we quote: Green cod, No. 1, large, $4.25; No. 1, ordinary, $3.25 to $3.50; No. 2, $2.25 to $2.40; herrings, No. 1, N.S., $4.25 to $4.50 per bbl., and $2.15 to $2.65 per half-bbl.; Cape Breton, $4.75 per bbl.; B.C. salmon, $11.50 per bbl.; No. 1 trout, $4 to $4.25 per half-bbl., and No. 1 white fish, $4.65 to $5.

In smoked fish, supplies of bloaters are more ample, but prices are steady for Yarmouth and Bay at $1 to $1.25. Haddies are unchanged at 5½ to 6c., and smoked herrings at 10 to 11c. per box.

Preserved fish are quiet. Dressed cod fish are selling at $4.25 to $4.50 per case of 100 lbs.; dried cod, at $3.50 per cwt; boneless cod fish, at 4½ to 5c. per lb., and boneless fish, 5c. per lb.

DRIED APPLES, ETC.

Dried apples rule quiet and steady at 6½ to 7c., and evaporated, 9½ to 10c.

APPLES.

Cables this week from Liverpool state that the market is barely steady and prices realized there will net about $3 in the west. On spot, prices are steady at $3 to $4, as to grade.

GREEN FRUIT.

The heavy snow storms and cold weather of the past ten days have seriously interfered with the country demand for fruit. We quote as follows: Lemons easier at, $2 to $2.75; Jamaica oranges, $5 to $5.50; California, do., $3 to $3.50 for firsts, and $2.25 to $2.75 for seconds. Valencia oranges are firmer at $5 to $5.50, while Almeria grapes are unchanged at $5 to $6.50, and Cape Cod cranberries, $7 to $9.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A fair amount of business was done in eggs in a small way, and the market was moderately active, with no change in prices to note. We quote fresh stock 23 to 25c.; Montreal limed, 14 to 15c., and western limed, 13 to 13½c. per dozen.

POULTRY—The demand for poultry was limited, and the market was quiet and steady. We quote: Fresh killed turkeys, selling at 9½ to 10c.; chickens, 7 to 7½c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c., and geese, 5 to 7c. per lb.

BEANS—There was no change in beans, selling at 80 to 90c. for primes, and at 95c. to $1 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

We are receiving Valencias, Mexicans, Bahama and California Navel Oranges in quantities. Valencia Oranges are better at this season of the year than they have been for many years, owing, no doubt, to favorable season for quality. HONEY—In honey, trade continues slow at steady prices. We quote: White clover, 12½c.; dark clover comb, 10 to 10½c., and dark at 7 to 8c.

PROVISIONS.

Owing to the near approach of the Lenten season, the demand for provisions is chiefly in small lots, to fill actual wants, at steady prices. We quote: Canadian pork, $15 to $16 per barrel; pure Canadian lard in pails, at 7 to 7½c., and compound refined at 5 to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10½ to 12c.; bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

A fairly active trade was reported in dressed hogs, there being a good demand for small lots, and prices rule steady at $7 for light, and at $6.50 for heavy per 100 lbs.

SALT.

There is no change in salt. We quote: Coarse Liverpool, in 165-lb. bags, 38 to 45c., and Trepani, $1.10 per bag of 215 lbs.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

There is no material change in the situation of the flour market. The demand was active from local and country buyers, and a large volume of business was done. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, patents, $4.60 to $4.85; straight rollers, $4.40 to $4.45; bags, $2.12½ to $2.15; best Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; second do., $4.50, and low grades, $2.70; Hungarian patents, $5.30.

A fairly active trade was done in meal, and the tone of the market was firm at the recent advance. Private despatches from Ontario millers to-day reported the market stronger, and noted a further advance of 10c. per barrel for rolled oats, but no further change has taken place here. We quote: Rolled oats, $3.60 per barrel, and $1.75 per bag; standard meal, $3.60 per barrel, and $1.75 per bag.

easier feeling prevailed in the local market, but in the absence of any important transactions values show no material change. The demand for all lines was slow, buyers having dropped out of the market for the present, and are waiting to see what course will be followed after this break. Ontario red wheat along the line is quoted at 90c., or $1 here in store. Peas, 63c. in store; 65 to 66c. afloat, May delivery; oats, 30 to 30½c. in store, or 33½ to 34c. afloat May, and buckwheat, 37 to 37½c. store.

The demand for feed continues good, and the market is fairly active and firm. We quote: Ontario bran, $12; shorts, $13 per ton in bulk. Manitoba bran, $13.50 to $14, and shorts, $15 to $16 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.

There was no change in hay. The demand is fair for good to choice stock, but lower grades move slow. We quote: No. 1 at $10.50 and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE.

The cheese business is still in statu quo, and is likely to remain so for some time, as buyers and sellers will not come together. The former demand substantial concessions, which the latter will not accede to. Trading, therefore, is extremely limited, and confined chiefly to scattered lots that can be picked up at a bargain. A carload or so of Ontario goods, it is understood, changed hands around 8c., but holders of finest want 8½c., while, for Quebec, 8⅜c. is spoken of, and it is understood that one lot of 500 boxes was sold, over the cable, at 8¼c. The sum and substance of the matter appears to be that holders would have no difficulty in finding a buyer for their goods if they were willing to sacrifice them, but this they will not consent to do. The mail advices, on Saturday, were of an indifferent character from Great Britain.

BUTTER.

Butter rules quiet and steady, and there is only a small local trade doing. Finest is selling steady in this connection at 18½c., with under grades down to 17c, while western dairy rolls range from 14 to 15c. English mail advices do not hold out much prospect of improvement in the export outlet, stating that the Danes had reduced their official quotation 10s. altogether, and that they announced their determination to cut it even lower to keep out Canadian creamery.

The exports of cheese and butter, through and local, were :

MONTREAL NOTES.

Demand for provisions has slackened on account of the observance of Lent, but prices generally are steady.

There is a firm feeling on Japan teas and importers are refusing business because they will not accept the prices bid.

Most of the large French wholesale grocers are busy stock taking this week, and business generally is quiet.

Cables on apples do not exhibit so buoyant a tone in England. Recent account sales give figures that will net about $3 per barrel in the west.

The extreme cold weather and heavy snow storms have seriously influenced trade in green fruit, and prices, as noted in our market reports, are generally lower.

The grocers of Montreal will regret to learn that Mr. Scanlan was defeated as alderman for St. Lawrence Ward. Mr. Eker polled 1,020 votes, Mr. Scanlan 626, and Mr. Weir 590.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 28, 1898.

THE week, from the point of business, has been a rather quiet one. Many of our wholesale grocers have been taking stock. After this, they will be more open to buy. The particular interest of the week has been flour. Our dealers, however, have not been large buyers, they feeling that wheat is higher than it is likely to hold. There is more interest in tea, from week to week. China teas are quiet, with a firmer tendency. The chief interest is in Indias and Ceylons, in which this is the active season with buyers. Low-priced teas, of good value, are in demand, while for the medium grades there is little sale. While our market does not take many of the high-priced teas, they are found, owing to demand elsewhere, to tend to higher prices. In the spice market, values are higher. The demand at this season is, however, not large.

OIL—While there is some demand for burning oil, sales are light. Owing to keen competition, city prices are rather lower than country quotations. The travelers are giving their attention to the making of contracts for lubricating oils, in which there is a large business here. Values show no change. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18 to 19c.; Canadian water white, 16½ to 17½c.; Canadian prime, 15 to 15½c.; cod oil, 22 to 24c.

SALT—There continues to be a fair movement in Liverpool coarse. The business has changed somewhat in the last two years, being now done largely in the winter, because of the direct Liverpool steamers coming here, by which very low freights can be obtained. Formerly, it came by sailer in the spring. It is sold largely on arrival, and, to induce buyers to take it so long before they need it, very low prices are quoted ex steamer. In other grades there is limited sale at present. We quote: Coarse, 40 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 85c. to 95c.; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; rock salt, $5 to $6 per ton.

CANNED GOODS—There are no changes this week. The position is a firm one. Canners are either not offering, or only at full prices. Local holders, who have fair stocks, are not pushing sales, feeling stocks are good value. There is a rather better inquiry for canned meats, both because of season and a prospect of higher prices. The wholesale men each year buy more freely of Canadian goods. New lobsters are now offered by canners. Ten dollars is the price asked and obtained. Owing to the low price of Canadian peaches, but few Americ[illegible] are being sold. We quote as follows: Corn, 85c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1; tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; gallon apples, $2.50 to $2.65; corned beef, Canadian, $2.35 to $2.50; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.75; 1-lb. tins, $1.45 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.60; 2's, $1.50 to $1.65; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.50; fruits in glass, $4 to $4.25; salmon, $1.15 to $1.20; ditto, flats, $1.25 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, $1.00 to $1.10; clams, $4.50 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.50 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Business is light, though in apples and oranges a fair movement is reported. Valencia oranges are higher. There are a few Californias held, but sale is slow. In lemons, there is limited business; prices are low with quality good. Lemons are all bought in Boston and New York. Stock of apples light, and for best grades full prices are asked. In grapes, the few Malagas here are but fair quality and move slowly. Green lettuce is offered. A few Cape Cod cranberries are in the market, but price is high and little doing. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $5 to $5.50 per box; do., California, $3 to $4.50; do., Florida, $4.50 to $5; do., Dominica, $3.25 per bbl.; apples, $2.50 to $4.00; bananas, $2 to $2.25; Malaga grapes, $6.00 to $7; Cape Cod cranberries, $9.50 to $10 per bbl.; shaddock, $3 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3 per bbl.; sour limes, $1.75 per box; sweet limes, $2.50 per box.

DRIED FRUIT—There is rather improved business, though movement is still light. Holders Valencia raisins are sellers, though prices are firmly held. In California, prices are rather higher, but little change has yet been made here. California prunes are also higher, and movement is upward. There is a good demand. Currants are light stock, and values are moving up. There is a fair sale reported. There is a somewhat better enquiry for evaporated apples, and at shaded prices sales can be made, but it is hard to get full figures. Onions are moving upward, but there is little change as yet. Peanuts are higher. The Norfolk prices have advanced ½c. during the past two weeks. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5 to 5½c.; California L. M., 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; London layers, $1.40 to $1.50; Imp. cabinets, $1.75 to $1.80; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.30; Dehesa layers, $2.50 to $2.75; currants, cases, 6 to 6⅛c.; bbls., 5⅜ to 5⅝c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¾ to 8c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¾ to 7c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 10c.; dates, 5 to 5½c.; dried apples, 6 to 7c.; evaporated apples, 9½ to 10½c.; onions, $2.20 to $2.25 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 8 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 9 to 10c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 3 crown, 6½ to 6¾c. 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7½ to 7¾c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 11 to 12c.; new Valencias, layers, 5¾ to 6c.; citron peel, 18c.; lemon peel, 12c.; orange peel, 13c.

SUGAR—The firm feeling continues. There is quite a range in quotations. There is only a fair business doing. No doubt, this line will have more attention after stock-taking is over. We quote: Granulated, 4⅜ to 4½c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅝c.; Paris lump, 5½ to 5¾c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—Stocks here are getting low, particularly Barbadoes. Market has already shown some advance, and rather higher prices are looked for. There is some enquiry for small packages. About the only thing here is a little New Orleans. In this grade it continues to be difficult to get good values. Very little syrup has been offered this season. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 27c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 30c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—The country storekeeper is largely to blame for the bad butter with which this market is overstocked. In the first place, he pays the same price for good and bad butter. Then much of that of which was good is spoiled by the carelessness with which it is kept. The market is dull. In cheese everything is quiet and prices easy. There is nothing to make a market. Eggs are a feature, or rather the lack of them, for they are very scarce and high, with a good demand. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 18 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 23 to 24c.

FISH—The chief attention is given to frozen fish. So far it has been a quiet season. Owing to lack of stock, herring have the best demand. There were very few to hand this week. In cod and haddock there are fair receipts. Dry fish showed a larger movement and full prices are obtained. Pickled herring are rather easier, though stocks are not large. There is a good demand from the west for boneless fish. Smoked herring keep low. Smoked haddies are a good supply and find free sale. Bloaters and kippered herring are about out of the market. A few lobsters are seen. Some to hand this week were particularly good. Full prices are asked. Smelts, frozen, are higher. The shipments are not as large as usual. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.75 to $1.85; pickled herring, $1.80 to $1.90 per half-bbl.; smoked, herring 6½ to 7c.; Canso, pickled, $5 to $5.25 per barrel; boneless fish, 3½ to 4½c.; cod, 6 to 6½c.; frozen cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; herring, 75c. to 80c.; smelts, 5 to 6c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; lobsters, 10 to 12c.; small 4 to6c.

PROVISIONS—There is a somewhat better business on account of the outlook for higher prices. Much of the old clear pork which was held here has been sold. This has very much improved the market. For mess pork there is a good demand at the higher prices. Beef, while higher, shows little sale. In lard there are fair stocks here; movement is light; prices rather higher. Some Prince Edward Island lard was offered this week quite a little below Ontario prices. We quote: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15; mess, $14.00 to $14.50; plate beef, $13.50 to $14.50; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 9½ to 10c.; pure lard, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour has proved the feature of the week; but while a fair business has been done, our buyers were not inclined to follow the market in upward tendency, it being felt that the present price of wheat is high. Oatmeal and oats are high, with a rather quiet market. Feed continues high and scarce. Cornmeal, however, is still held at the low figure. There is a large and steady sale. Beans are in light supply, but the market is rather easier. Both barley and split peas are higher. We quote: Manitoba $5.75 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5.10 to $5.15; medium, $4.90 to $5.00; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.80; cornmeal, $1.90 to $2; middlings, $18 to $19.00; bran, $17.50 to $18.00; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.05; prime, 90 to 95c.; barley, $3.20 to $3.25; round peas, $1.25; split peas, $3.25 to $3.40; yellow eye beans, $1.75; oats, 36 to 38c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Connors Bros., of Black's Harbor, expect to can this season ten thousand cases of lobsters. They are getting $10 per case.

Fresh herring are scarce at Grand Manan. A number of Grand Manan vessels have gone to Magdalen Islands and Newfoundland for fish.

Mr. Walter R. Miles, representing Peek Bros. & Winch, London, who has been on his regular yearly trip to England, arrived back this week.

W. C. Clawson, agent for Clarkson's corned beef, has had a busy week booking orders. Canadian canned meats are growing in demand here.

New Brunswick boys who go away from home usually give a good account of themselves. The first Mayor of Sandon, B.C., is E. R. Atherton, formerly of Fredericton.

With the city retail grocers, Knox's gelatine is becoming a standard line since its introduction, but a few months ago. Sales have steadily increased. C. & E. Macmichael are the distributors for this city.

The Woodstock Board of Trade does not fall in with the idea that the date of packing should be put on canned goods, thinking it would cause a prejudice against goods, if only one year old, in the minds of the consumer, for which there is no ground, and would interfere with trade, causing a loss to holders, which they should not be called on to bear.

The grocers' picnic committee entertained a large number of the retail grocers at an oyster supper one evening last week. It was pronounced a great success. Among the guests was the Mayor, Mr. Geo. Robertson, who for many years was one of the leading retail grocers of the city, and is now in the wholesale business.

ENAMELINE GROWING.

About February 1, J. L. Prescott & Co., the proprietors of "Enameline," the well-known stove polish, will remove their New York offices from 11 Jay street, to the Gerken building, corner of West Broadway and Chambers street, which building has become the centre of the New York jobbing grocery trade. This change became necessary on account of an enormously increasing demand for the product of this house.

The new offices of "Enameline" are being elegantly fitted up with all the latest improvements, and will be a credit to the owners of one of the most popular proprietary articles in the grocery trade of America.

One of the features of the new offices will be the export department, to meet the requirements of the constantly increasing European trade, which has, according to the firm, already reached proportions never before attained by any proprietary article in the grocery trade of the United States.

The new offices will occupy the eleventh storey of the Gerken building, where the outlook from the windows is one of the most superb in the city of mammoth office structures.

A FEATURE IN BUTTER.

A remarkable feature of the butter market in Toronto this season is that low-grade dairy butter, in tubs, had been cleared off the market before the end of January.

Generally, the commission dealers have been overloaded with this article, which has remained on their hands through the whole winter.

Mr. Park, of the Park, Blackwell Co., Limited, states that in his experience of over 30 years he never knew the market to be so free of this butter at this time of the year.

Some dealers express the opinion that butter-makers are becoming more skilful or more careful, and consequently do not produce as much "bad" butter as formerly. Others are of the belief that the increase in the number of winter creameries has had the effect of decreasing the amount of dairy-made, the poor stuff specially.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31, 1898.

TRADE, which quieted down immediately after the holidays, is now picking up again, and business is quite brisk for this season of the year. The weather has turned colder than we have had it all winter, and business seems to be better on that account.

The Hudson Bay Co.'s stores have a very smart appearance, now that the new metallic ceilings are finished. The design is square panels and the pattern a very handsome one. Another improvement is the removal of the inside windows, thus leaving the large show windows open to the store. This arrangement gives more light and adds to the apparent size of the store. In one of these windows, your correspondent noticed a tasteful arrangement of Peak, Frean & Co.'s fancy biscuits, a line seldom, or never, seen here. There were the opera wafer, celery wafer, dinner wafers, wavelets, German macaroons, and about twenty other varieties, all in fancy glass boxes. Speaking of biscuits, the H. B. Co. make a great specialty of a traveler's biscuit, which is now much in demand for Klondyke trade, or, in fact, any long-distance travel where carrying is a consideration. It is composed of flour, oatmeal, shorts, vegetables and meat, and will keep for an indefinite length of time, and there is no doubt it is one of the most nutritious biscuits made, and is also very palatable.

The canned tomato situation here is decidedly peculiar. Factory prices in the east are $1.25 per dozen, and this would mean $3.10 per case if laid down here to-day, and yet latest lists, issued by Winnipeg houses, show a range of prices from $2.30 to $2.45 per case. Peas and corn are higher, but are somewhat in the same position as the tomatoes, as some wholesale houses are offering them for less than the price in the east to-day, not speaking of freight. It seems strange that Winnipeg jobbers do not take advantage of a rising market for these goods. To reduce a price is always easy enough, but here dealers seem loth to raise the price in proportion to market advances in the east. Markets have not shifted much during the week.

SUGAR—Market remains about the same as last week, with no indications of an immediate advance in price. Granulated, 5 1-16c.; yellow, bright, 4¼c.

EVAPORATED FRUITS.—This market is firm and steady. Apricots show no signs of decline at to-day's price of 11c. Prunes in small sizes are scarce, with every indication of higher prices. To-day's market at 4½c. gives the impression that there will be a sharp advance within two weeks. The larger sizes are offered more freely, but prices are based on the price of the small fruit. Peaches are cheap at the prices offered, and there is a very reasonable prospect of an advance proportionate with the advance in prunes. Fancy peeled, 17c.; unpeeled, 10 to 12c., according to quality. Pears are cheap, as there is never much demand for them in this market; price, 10 to 11c., according to quality. Apples are firm. Dried have advanced ⅛c. since last week, while evaporated apples are worth 11½c.

DRIED FRUITS—In Valencia raisins, this market is not heavily stocked, owing to the large importations of California muscatels. Fancy Valencia layers are worth $2.15 per box; fine off-stalk Valencias, $1.75 to $1.80; California muscatels, 3-crown, 6c. Currants are higher with no apparent possibility of a decline. Price 6½ to 7c. according to quality and package. Figs are without change.

NUTS — Filberts, 10c.; fancy Grenoble walnuts, 13c.; almonds, fancy Tarragona, 12½c; Brazils, large size, 13c.; Peccans, 2-crown, 13c. Valencia almonds, market is bare and prices higher, being now 28c. Jordan almonds, sales are small; market firm and price advancing. No. 1, 45 to 50c.

BUTTER—Market is without change. As the season advances dealers are buying only in small quantities.

EGGS.—Market is without change. Market is largely controlled by one house, and though the weather is colder, there is no likelihood of any advance in price.

CURED MEATS—This market is still stiff with no indication of decline, though new price lists will probably be out in a few days. The following quotations apply to American meats: Extra short clear, 8⅛c.; extra short clear, dry salt, 7½c.; breakfast bellies, boneless, 11c.; backs, 10½c.; hams, 11 to 11½c., according to average; shoulders, 8¾.

FISH—In this market there is no change, and very little stock will move before Lent.

COFFEE—Rios, market dull and prices exceptionally low. Standard No. 5, 10 to 11c. Javas and Mochas remain at about the same. Fancy Preanger Java (green), 25½c.; Fancy Aden Mocha (green), 25c.

TEAS—This market has very few changes. There is no question that package tea is becoming popular, and it stands to reason that, to a certain extent, it affects the sale of bulk teas, and while this is, no doubt, detrimental to the retail grocer, he is obliged to carry a certain stock of package teas.

RICE—It seems impossible for any No. 1 Crystal rice to be got into this market. The market here is perfectly bare, and it is a nice question when the next lot will be obtained. No. 2 Japan was offered last week, but sales could not be consummated. China rice is in good demand at a higher figure. Siam, 5c.; Rangoon (B), 4¼c.

CEREALS.—This market is without change for the week. All stocks at present, or nearly all, are American goods. Beans are $1.20. This seems a low price for the time of the year and there is probability of an advance.

GREEN FRUIT.—Price is unchanged and market steady. Considerable interest is being taken here in the question of prohibiting American fruit. This prohibition would be a serious thing to Manitoba as the great bulk of our soft fruits come from the American side. Ontario has never yet laid them down here in good shape, and B.C. is very little better, and beside B.C. could not meet the demand. The consumption of fruit in Manitoba is always enormous in spite of high prices.

ROUND BOYS IN SQUARE HOLES.

YOU cannot look into a cradle and read the secret message traced by a Divine hand, and wrapped up in that bit of clay, any more than you can see the North Star in the magnetic needle. God has loaded the needle of that young life so it will point to the star of its own destiny; and though you may pull it around by artificial advice and unnatural education, and compel it to point to the star which presides over poetry, art, law, medicine, or your own pet calling, until you have wasted years of a precious life, yet, when once free, the needle flies back to its own star.

"Rue it as he may, repent it as he often does," says Robert Waters, "the man of genius is drawn by an irresistible impulse to the occupation for which he was created. No matter by what difficulties surrounded, no matter how unpromising the prospect, the occupation is the only one which he will pursue with interest and pleasure. When his efforts fail to procure means of subsistence, and he finds himself poor and neglected, may, like Burns, often look back with a sigh and think how much better off he would be had he pursued some other occupation, but he will stick to his favorite pursuit, nevertheless."

Civilization will mark its highest tide when every man has chosen his proper work. No man can be ideally successful until he has found his place. Like a locomotive, he is strong on the track, but weak anywhere else. "Like a boat on a river," says Emerson, "every boy runs against obstructions on every side but one. On that side all obstruction is taken away, and he sweeps serenely over a deepening channel into an indefinite sea."

Only a Dickens can write the history of "Boy Slavery"—of boys whose aspirations and longings have been silenced forever by ignorant parents; of boys persecuted as lazy, stupid, or fickle, simply because they were out of their places; of square boys forced into round holes, and oppressed because they did not fit; of boys compelled to pore over dry theological books when the voice within continually cried, "Law," "Medicine," "Science," "Art," or "Business"; of boys tortured because they were not enthusiastic in employments which they loathed, and against which every fibre of their being was uttering perpetual protest.

It is often a narrow selfishness in a father which leads him to wish his son a reproduction of himself. "You are trying to make that boy another you. One is enough," said Emerson. John Jacob Astor's father wished his son to be his successor as a butcher, but the instinct of commercial enterprise was too strong in the future merchant.

Nature never duplicates men. She breaks the pattern at every birth. The magic combination is never used but once. Frederick the Great was terribly abused because he had a passion for art and music, and did not care for military drill. His father hated the fine arts, and imprisoned the boy. He even contemplated killing his son, but his own death placed Frederick on the throne at the age of 28. This boy, who was thought good for nothing, because he loved art and music, made Prussia one of the greatest nations of Europe. — "Pushing to the Front."

NO GEM JARS THERE.

A gentleman, according to The Farmer's Sun, of Toronto, who has just returned from England, says that he did not see a single gem jar during all the time he was over there. He saw some canned apples, but this was the only kind of canned fruit that he found. He says there is any amount of preserved fruit on the market, but none prepared in the manner of that put up in sealers in this country. He says he intends going back to England for the purpose of establishing this industry there.

THE PORT WINE YIELD.

Feuerheed, Bros. & Co., 47 North Lane, London, E.C., write their agents in Montreal, Battersbury, Chard & Jackson, as follows, regarding the situation in port wine:

"The port wine district has produced only a small quantity this year, but the wines are of good quality. The vines showed an exceptional quantity of bloom, due to the perfectly matured young wood of last season; but cold, ungenial weather during the flowering caused considerable damage, and only a small proportion of the grapes were set. All that remained, however, matured to perfection during an exceptionally fine warm summer, whilst the gathering season was equally well favored.

"We estimate the product at somewhat less than 30,000 pipes.

"The prospects of the Douro district are improving year by year, many of the finest vineyards are replanted and bear the appearance as of old, whilst the large plantations on new soil afford additional proof of the future port wine production being fully assured.

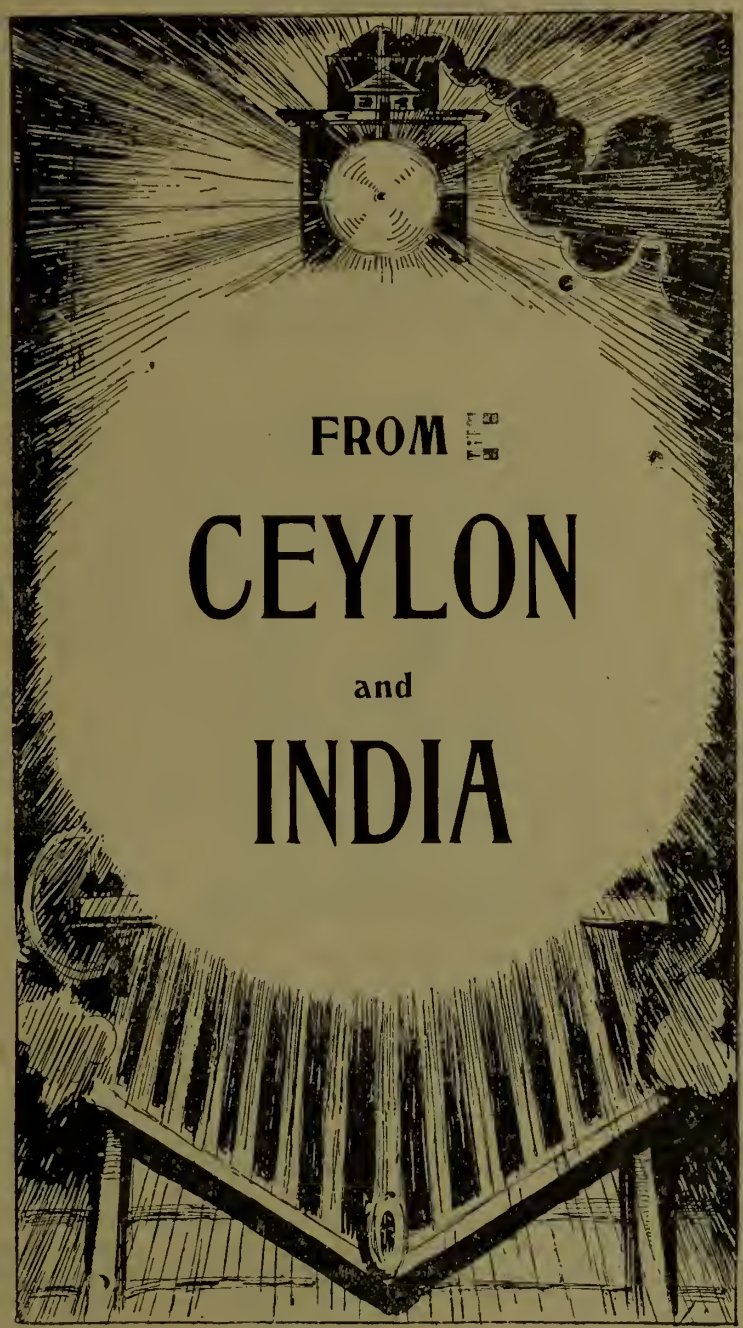
"Formerly it was estimated that the Douro district was capable of producing 100,000 pipes per year, and, even now, we think we are not far out in assessing it at 80,000 pipes.

"In the other Portuguese districts a moderate quantity of wine was made, sufficient for the home consumption of Portugal, but scarcely enough for the manufacture of wine spirit at moderate prices.

STATISTICS OF THE LAST TEN YEARS.

	Estimated Production. Pipes.	Exportation to all Countries. Pipes.
1887	50,000	71,511
1888	66,000	85,309
1889	52,000	85,211
1890	56,000	84,652
1891	54,000	89,569
1892	60,000	114,653
1893	36,000	93,329
1894	48,000	82,062
1895	60,000	91,129
1896	40,000	104,098
1897	30,000	.....

"The exportation of any particular year does not, of course, correspond to the estimated Douro production, since the wines are not shipped in the year of their growth.



"The aggregate exportation exceeds the total estimated Douro production considerably, as the former includes all wines shipped from Oporto, and of these a large quantity are the products of other districts, sent, for the most part, to Brazil."

SENKE AND THE MERCHANTS' DINNER.

DID I not possess the ocular proof of a fan and a few souvenirs, I could believe the fete which I saw to have been but a midsummer's night's dream. A club of the great merchants of the city, wishing to do honor to two Tokio officials, devised a dinner, or geisha party, and included their American friends. The evening was one of the heaviest, hottest, and sultriest of the Kiota summer, and, after the sun sank in a bed of mist, swarmed with myriads of mosquitoes. Later, the full moon poured down a flood of silvery light that seemed to quiver with heat, yet, apparelled in our uncomfortable regulation costume, we found our way through the lanes to the dark gateways of Nishi Otani's long approach. The broad, stone path lay marble-white in the moonlight between rows of gigantic trees, the tall stone lanterns looked like ghostly sentries, and fire-flies floated through the still, hot darkness. At the foot of the avenue a line of red lanterns hung glowing and motionless in mid-air, like so many strange fruits on the black branches. When we passed into the open, moonlighted court of the Gion temple and under its giant torii, we were received at a wide doorway by the master of the feast and the whole tea-house staff.

All the screens of the upper floor had been taken out, and three sides of the room were open to the night. We were conducted to seats at one end, the company gravely dropped upon the cushions ranged along either side, and the master of ceremonies, a great silk merchant and manufacturer, made a formal speech of welcome, and begged us to accept the poor repast they were about to offer. Every one bowed three times, a proper response was made, we all bowed again, and a file of nesans in dark silk gowns brought in tiny cups of tea. Then followed 10 of the most famous maiko of Kioto, dazzling beauties, who advanced noiselessly, two by two, in exquisite kimonos of painted crape and obis of woven sunshine, and with coronals of silver hair-pins on their heads. As they drew near, all gliding with the same slow grace, they knelt and sat before us the ozens, or low lacquer tables, holding cups, bowls, chopsticks and napkins.

The maiko advanced in a broad line, two of them bearing in a large tray on which lay a magnificent carp, still breathing, and with his scales shining as if just drawn from the water. The master of ceremonies advanced, and, receiving the tray from the maiko, set it on the mats and turned it slowly around for all to behold. As the maiko retired all leaned forward to watch the noble carp, as it lay quivering on its bed of moss and cresses, with a background of greenery like a true Japanese garden. The custom of serving the living fish at a feast is a survival of a traditional usage that foreigners seldom witness. Morsels of the fish were presently lifted from its back and passed to the company. To us the performance was a kind of cannibalism possessing a horrible fascination, but the epicures uttered sounds expressive of appreciation as they lingered over the delicious morsels. A sudden jar or turning of the tray made the carp writhe, and left upon us a sense of guilty consent and connivance which lasted for days. Rice and eels were next served, another soup, more fowl, and then, with sponge cake, fruits and additional cups of tea, the feast concluded.

At midnight, when a monastery bell was softly booming from the mountain slopes, we began our adieus. Nearly 140 bows were to be made by each of us, for, after bowing three or four times, and saying "sayonara" to each of our hosts, we had to bid adieu to the lovely maikos, and acknowledge the salutations of the tea-house attendants. When we sat down at the doorway to have our shoes put on, we were dizzy enough to be grateful for the fanning that the tea-house girls bestowed upon us. A chorus of sayonaras accompanied us as we followed the coolies with their long lanterns out through the torii and into the black shadows of the temple grounds.

THE HALIFAX-JAMAICA CABLE.

The Canadian Pacific telegraph, by means of its new direct cable between between Halifax and Jamaica, which is now ready for business, has reduced the cost of sending a message from $1.19 per word to 48c. per word. Heretofore there has been endless delay by the old route via New York, to Florida, over the Western Union lines, and from there over the International Ocean Cable Co.'s lines to Cuba, and on to Jamaica. Press and market reports will now go direct from Canada. The more rapid communication, with cheaper rates, should do a good deal towards increasing trade between Canada and the West India Islands.

PURE FOOD CONGRESS.

A call has been issued for a national pure food congress to meet in Washington, March 2, for the purpose of considering, agreeing upon and recommending legislation to "check the growing evil of adulteration in food, drink and drugs."

The apportionment of delegates is made so as to embrace, as far as possible, every interest involved in the production, manufacture and sale of food, drug and liquor products in proportion to the numbers engaged therein, and embraces the scientific and health departments, as well as those who have charge of local laws in the various states and territories.

H. Gilbert, general storekeeper, Mansfield, has, during the past season, enlarged his store two-thirds, and has now one of the largest country stores in his district. It will be filled with staple goods. Mr. Gilbert reports business good.

HOW TO SELL, THAT'S THE QUESTION.

The following clever parody was incorporated in a talk on credits by a Syracuse business man :

To sell or not to sell?
That is the question.
Whether it is better to sell the goods
And take the risk of doubtful payment,
Or to make sure of what is in possession,
And, by declining, hold them.
To sell ; to ship, perchance to lose—
Aye, there's the rub?
For when the goods are gone,
What charm can win them back
From slippery debtors?
What of assignments, what of relatives,
What of uncles, aunts and mothers-in-law ;
What claims for borrowed money?
What of exemptions, bills of sale, and the compromise
That cooly offers a shilling a pound ;
And of lawyers' fees
That eat up even this poor pittance?
Yet sell we must,
And some we'll trust
But we skip the wust,
Or we'd surely bust.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

Keep a neat Delivery Cart.

It is no wonder some dealers find it almost impossible to secure and keep customers from the wealthier neighborhoods. Their store may be neat and clean, their stock the the best on the market and at an easy margin, yet it seems that such customers will not deal with them. They call in frequently and get a bottle of pickles or a jar of marmalade, yet they persist in carrying it home themselves. The cause in many such cases will be found in the delivery rig used by these dealers. Most people desire to "keep up appearances," and when a grocer sends an order to a house in a cheap, second-hand rig, drawn by a cheaper, forty-second horse, it is not surprising that no more delivery orders come from that house. But when the delivery is sent in a neat, up-to-date rig, with a horse well fed and well groomed, it is natural the preference should be given the dealer sending goods in such a rig, even though the price be a cent or two higher. Cheapness that carries its marks with it, does not pay.

THE RAMBLER.

THE CURRANT SITUATION.

Mail advices from Patras, dated January 15, state that the shipments of currants from Greece, to all parts, from the beginning of the season to that date aggregated 87,391 tons, as compared with 110,850 tons for the corresponding period of a year ago. Of this quantity England took this year 48,438 tons, as against 43,201 last year; the United States 9,532 tons, against 10,877 tons; Canada, 1,438 tons, against 1,220 tons; Germany 20,009 tons, against 20,585 tons. The greatest disparity in the shipments are in those to Russia and France. The statement furnished shows no exports from Greece to Russia this season so far, while last year that country took to the middle of January 21,553 tons. France this season has imported but 680 tons against 3,349 tons last year.

Cable advices from Patras give the estimates of stocks of currants remaining in the country at from 12,000 to 16,000 tons.

GROCERS FRATERNIZE.

The grocers of St. John were given a supper by the grocers' picnic committee of that city on Thursday of last week.

The chairman of the evening was Ald. McPherson, the vice-chairman F. S. Bonnell, and the principal guests, Mayor Robertson, Ald. Tuft, and James Moulson.

Mayor Robertson, who is a grocer himself, complimented the grocers of St. John on the improvements made in the grocery business during recent years, and on their standard as a class of men. He counselled the organization of a grocers' association, and that every business man ot St. John should push the interest of that city as a winter port.

Ald. Tuft made a stirring speech emphasizing the loyalty of the grocers and other citizens of St. John, and the greatness of the British Empire.

James Moulson and Scott E. Morrell also delivered interesting speeches. The usual toasts were proposed and responded to most heartily. It is intended, if possible, to make the picnic and the supper annual affairs.

"If there be anything in the world I hate," said the proud plutocrat, "it is being patronized." "There's nothing I like better," said his acquaintance, who keeps the corner grocery.—Detroit Free Press.

A COCOA MAN'S WILL.

A recent Boston despatch says: "There was a great celebration in the suburban town of Milton to-night, when a cheque for $100 on the local bank was given to each of about 425 working people, beneficiaries under the will of the late Henry L. Pierce. Mr. Pierce was identified for many years with the Walter Baker Chocolate Company, and the recipients of the cheques are those who were employed by this company at the time of his death.

"The celebration to-night took place at one of the mills, where a banquet was given, after which W. L. Putnam, executor of the will, gave out the cheques. The bank has provided itself with about $50,000 in new bills to meet cheques if presented to-morrow, but as many of the beneficiaries are fairly well to do, it is not probable there will be an immediate rush for the money. A special legatee is Nathaniel Humphrey, who received $2,000 to-night. He is 80 years old, and was an employee of the mills long before Mr. Pierce went there."

Women of experience in ordering coffee from their grocer are careful to specify Chase & Sanborn's Seal Brand Coffee, which comes in pound and two-pound tin cans, knowing that satisfaction accompanies every can.

SEIZURES OF TOBACCO.

THAT smuggling is carried on extensively along the international boundary line is a well-known fact to the Customs and Inland Revenue officers. This is particulary so in the district between Gretna and Morden, where coal oil, tobaccos, apples, and other goods bearing heavy duties are brought over in wagon loads and sold throughout the Mennonite reserve. One official said yesterday that fully 30 per cent. of the tobacco used in the Mennonite reserve was smuggled. Cans of tobacco are purchased in the United States at the rate of three for a dollar, which is 6c. less per can than the duty imposed by the Inland Revenue Department, so that the temptation to smuggle is strong. Last Sunday one of the officers went down from the city and seized several cans of tobacco, which were not stamped in accordance with the Inland Revenue Act. Two seizures were made Sunday and one on Monday morning, but by noon couriers were dispatched all over the district and the inhabitants had been warned by neighbors and messengers of the danger, so that further investigation was useless. The three men accused of misdemeanor was summoned to state their case. Two voluntarily paid fines of $50 apiece. One case was in the village of Summerfeld, where a man was accused of unlawfully having in his possession tobacco not put up in packages and stamped in accordance with the Inland Revenue Act. Another case was for unlawfull selling tobacco not put up in packages and stamped in accordance with the Act. Both acknowledged having brought over the tobacco from the United States without having paid the duty. The third case was at Rosenheim village, where the accused had manufactured tobacco in his possession not stamped. He was brought before two justices of the peace at Rosenfeld and $50 penalty imposed. The law provides that the penalty for these offences must not exceed $500 and not less than $50, so those tried this week got off with light fines.—Free Press, Winnipeg, Jan. 28.

A CLERK A MENDER OF WATCHES.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is in receipt of a letter which reads as follows :

"I want to find a position as clerk with some country merchant. I can repair watches, clocks, and jewellery, and this ability would come in handy in some places remote from large centres, and my eyes are not good enough to work at it all the time. If you will interest yourself in mine and your customers' interests, I will bestow a present therefor of considerable value. I am a single man, 36, and a small salary would content me."

THE VALUE OF ADVERTISING.

During Christmas week one of our merchants, says The Orillia Packet, received direct evidence of the indirect value of advertising. He had for several years past made a practice of holding Christmas sales, and advertising them pretty extensively. This year, however, he did not do so But a gentleman who had come to town from the north walked in one day and said : "You hold special Christmas sales, don't you?" "Well, we have," replied the merchant. "Where did you hear of it, may I ask?" "Oh, I don't know about this year," said the visitor, "but for the last two years I have noticed that you have advertised special reductions at Christmas. I did not want what you were advertising then, but I do now." And the merchant made a good sale. "Now, that is a case," said the delighted advertiser to a Packet reporter, "where I have direct proof that my advertising, though it did not bring me this customer at the time, made such an impression that when he did want something in my line, though it was a year after, he came to me. And for one case of the kind that I hear of I calculate that there must be many who never mention where they have learned of my business. This is in addition to the direct and immediate returns from the advertising, which were very satisfactory."

POSSIBILITIES FOR CANADIAN MUTTON.

A REVIEW of the dead meat trade during the past year suggests several considerations worthy of note from a Canadian standpoint. Despite some adverse circumstances, the volume of trade continues to grow, the increase in 1896 being substantially 10 per cent. The supplies of American chilled beef were considerably heavier than in the previous year, whatever may be the facts as to the shrinkage of the United States herds. The point to notice above all others is, however, as Dr. Fream observes in the Times, that though the resources of the Empire are not capable of furnishing a supply of beef sufficient for the needs of the United Kingdom, there can be no doubt that the supplies of mutton now drawn from the Continent, South America, and the United States could be replaced by shipments from Canada, New Zealand, and Australia. At the present time the colonies supply us with nearly 60 per cent. of the mutton imported, and they could probably supply the remaining 40 per cent. without seriously depleting their flocks. If, however, Canada is to make the most of her opportunities in the chilled meat trade, she must see to it that she profits to the fullest possible extent by the experience of her competitors. Thus, Australian traders are taking effectual steps to cope with the problem of damaged cargoes. In this matter Australia has suffered seriously, but a remedy will, it is thought, be found by arranging with the shipowners for the appointment by the Underwriters' Association of inspectors to see that all necessary precautions are taken before the shipment of the meat, and that the refrigeration appliances on board are in all senses satisfactory. Is there not a hint for Canada here?—Canadian Gazette, London, Eng.

A PICKLE FIRM'S LIBERALITY.

One of the most noted resorts on the Atlantic seaboard is Atlantic City, New Jersey. A pleasant feature of the season there consists in promenading on piers extending out into the ocean, and listening to the music, accompanied by the ever-booming waves. The only detriment to the pleasure of these piers as promenades has been that visitors have had to pay for using them. The H. J. Heinz Co., pickle manufacturers, Pittsburgh, Pa., has secured possession of a pier extending 1,000 feet into the ocean. This pier will be open to the public, and an orchestra will perform day and night. Visitors to this pier will also be enabled to view the World's Fair exhibit of the H. J. Heinz Co.

A Popular Starch.

All laundresses agree on this one point, that in order to obtain the best results, a high-class starch is indispensable. Celluloid has long been recognized as the Laundresses' reliable friend, whose verdict in its favor has been so unanimous that it has won for itself, as a cold-water starch, a reputation which is world-wide.

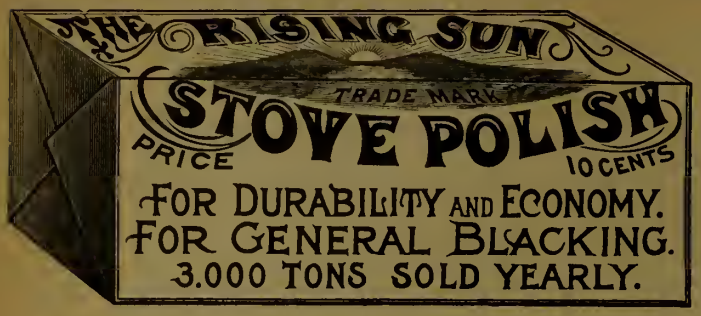
LOBSTER CANNING IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

THE canning of lobsters for export in Prince Edward Island, writes J. E. B. McCready, in Halifax Herald, began a long time ago, probably 50 years, but in a small way compared with its subsequent development. In those days, as I learn from Hon. Daniel Davies, one of the pioneers, and subsequently an extensive operator in the lobster fishery, the waters surrounding this pretty and fertile island of the gulf were literally swarming with these now much-prized crustaceans. The man who wanted lobsters simply drove down to the shore with a cart, at low tide, and with a fork, pitched in as many as he wanted and drove homeward again. After a great storm the shores were frequently lined with thousands of huge lobsters killed by the violence of the contending winds and waves against the rocks. The live fishermen of those times were sorely troubled with the lobsters who bit at their hooks and sometimes "every third fish" the lineman would draw in would be a huge lobster, whose weapons of offence and defence made him a formidable subject for removal from the barbed hook. They were got rid of and thrown into the sea as worthless, not without many an awkward nip, or scratch from their formidable claws, and if reports speak truly, the fishermen of those days, like our army of Flanders, "swore terribly" at times, and most frequently at the superabundant lobsters. Lobsters were everywhere in the shore waters, and were looked upon as a nuisance that there was little prospect of ever becoming abated. The nuisance has been baited to some purpose since then!



I have spoken of the pioneer lobster canner of 50 years ago, who made some money in the business though conducting it in a very crude fashion, but it was not till about THIRTY YEARS SINCE THAT the business began to develop and extend as a considerable industry in these parts. In those days the entire circuit of the island shore, the adjacent shores of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and the shores of the Magdalen Islands, far to the northward, were swarming with lobsters, a crustacean multitude, numberless as the leaves of Vallambrossa. Hon. Daniel Davies began a lobster fishery in connection with his other extensive fishing operations. At first the shellfish were caught and killed by "gaffing," as they swarmed along the shore. They were boiled and canned, and as the business was found profitable it was organized on a proper basis and the modern lobster trap introduced as the means of gathering this hitherto neglected harvest of the sea. Mr. Davies' factory, one of the earliest and a very successful one, still in operation, was established at Murray Harbor. Now there are about 15 factories within a distance of 12 miles along that shore, some 150 to 175 at various points around this island, and from 40 to 50 more around the shores of the Magdalens.

In those early days of the lobster fishery, back in the sixties, the lobsters were mainly large. A single one would fill two or three cans. The smaller lobsters were reckoned to be of no account, and when taken from the traps were returned to the sea as not being worth the labor of canning. Now, so greatly have the fisheries depleted the older lobsters that the fishery is wholly dependent upon a class of lobsters similar to those which then were thrown away as worthless, and it takes from seven to eight to supply the meat for a one-pound can.

Shortly after the time when Mr. Davies established his cannery in Murray Harbor, the Portland Packing Co. commenced operations here, which have since developed very extensive proportions. The lobster FISHERIES OF NEW ENGLAND HAD BECOME DEPLETED, and enterprising American fishermen had turned their attention to Nova Scotian waters. Thence they extended their operations to P.E. Island. Gradually the number of factories increased and multiplied. Farmers and their sons, acquiring a knowledge of the industry from being employed with the larger operators, and having shore rights, set up canning lobsters on their own account. Usually two or more neighbors joined together, built a small factory, and got together the necessary outfit of traps, boats, ropes, etc., and they, with their families, supplied the labor. They were, and still are, able to carry on the factory without greatly interfering with the work of the farm, and in good seasons found the harvest of the sea more productive than that of the land.

The number of these smaller factories, carried on as an outside business by men engaged mainly in farming, is very considerable, and being conducted with small outlay for labor, has been profitable where it was conducted with reasonable skill, but what was true of all the pioneer canneries, has been true of many of these—there has been large loss from unskilful canning. As for the business in general, it has been pursued with varying fortunes. Some of the operators have been successful in accumulating wealth, though, perhaps, all have had seasons in which the business was unprofitable. Thousands, and even tens of thousands of dollars have been made in a single season, only to be swept away by the losses of the following season. A big storm tears the traps by hundreds from their moorings, causing great loss. Again, after elaborate and extensive preparations for the fishery, the lobsters are scarce, or fail to come inshore in numbers sufficient to make the business profitable. And again, there has been great loss from discoloration of the meat, rendering it unsaleable. This last cause of loss has been pretty well eliminated in our best factories with more skilful packing. All who are in the business are now more or less familiar with the methods propounded by Dr. McPhail (an island man, by the way), for the prevention of discoloration. As to the merits and practicability of this there are various opinions. One packer tells me that he regards Dr. McPhail's system as needless and involving much labor and difficulty. With skilful packing, without the new method, the loss from discoloration is small. One packer told me that in a total packing of 800 cases, from his factory this year, there was absolutely no loss. Another packer, also largely engaged in the export trade, tells me that he regards Dr. McPhail's method, or some modification of it, such as has been adopted by some island packers,

AS ABSOLUTELY INDISPENSABLE AND INVALUABLE.

This is not the place nor the time for an extended diicussion of that matter, however. Suffice it to say that there has been very great loss from discoloration of island lobsters, no doubt due in large part to unskilful methods of the smaller packers, and any practicable remedy that will prevent the recurrence of such losses would be hailed with pleasure by both canners and shippers.

As I have said, the owners of small lobster factories among farmers owning shore lots, where the crustaceans abound, mainly supply their own outfit and labor. An exception must be made of the cans, which they purchase. A number of the larger operators manufacture their own cans. They also separate the business of catching the lobsters from that of canning. The owner of the factory usually supplies the traps, ropes, etc., while the fishermen supply their own boats. This is convenient for the latter, many of whom spend a portion of the year in catching herring, mackerel, etc. When they turn their attention to lobsters, during the lobster season, they attend upon the traps belonging to the owner of the factory and are paid a stipulated rate per hundred for the lobsters they bring in. By this method, if the shellfish are found to be plentiful both the fishermen and the canners share in the profits, and if otherwise, they, to some extent, divide the loss.

The following table, for the greater part of which I am indebted to Horace Haszard, president of the Charlottetown Board of Trade, shows the number of cases of canned lobsters shipped from P.E. Island in the years named, and approximately the number of lobsters required to fill the one-pound can. There are four dozen one-pound cans in the ordinary case. Down to and including the year 1879 it is estimated that the average would not exceed three to the one-pound can :

	Cases.	No. per can.
1879	40,947	3
1880	82,750	3½
1881	115,165	4¼
1882	101,387	4¾
1883	65,934	5½
1884	72,875	6¼
1885	75,701½	6½
1886	64,357	6½
1887	52,585	6¾
1888	37,193	6¾
1889	45,283½	7
1890	32,776	7¼
1891	19,129	7¼
1892	27,515	7½
1893	46,583	7½
1894	45,751	7½
1895	46,923	8
1896	48,302	8

It ought to be observed in regard to the foregoing table that it is not guaranteed to be officially accurate, though generally correct. I have taken the figures for 1886, 1891 and 1892 at second-hand from non-official sources. And the exports here frequently include a portion of the pack from canneries on the north shore of New Brunswick. The number of lobsters to the can is, of course, an estimate, and therefore not absolutely reliable, but is sufficiently true to show the general trend of the business as to the decreasing size of the lobsters taken and the increasing depletion of the fishery.

DECREASING SIZE AND INCREASED NUMBER REQUIRED.

What is true of the fishery here in regard to the decreasing size of the lobsters taken and the increasing number required to fill a package is probably much the same as in the other provinces. It is terribly significant of the manner and extent to which the lobster species is being assailed by their human foes. Not only is the number of cases packed greater than it was 18 years ago—though with many fluctuations in the meantime—but it takes two and a half to three times as many fish to the can. One pack of 40,947 cases in 1897 was made of about six million lobsters ; a pack of 48,302 cases in 1896 involved the destruction of probably eighteen and a half millions of the shellfish. This is on a basis of eight to a can, but while one or two packers with whom I have conversed give that, or a slightly less average, there are others who estimate as high as nine or ten, which is probably true of certain localities. And we may make some allowance for a dispositon on the part of packers to underrate, rather than overrate the size of the lobsters they utilize. It is true that in an exceptional year like 1881, when the total pack was more than twice that of 1896, the destruction of lobster life was as great as in the latter year, but after making all proper allowances it must be apparent to those concerned in the continuance of the fishery that we are moving at a rate which threatens the practical extinction of a valuable fishery at a not far distant date.

The increased prices of this year afford a powerful incentive to prosecute the lobster fishery with increased enterprise and industry. I have not quoted prices here, as The Herald has already dealt with that branch of the question, and ours would not materially differ, in the different years, from those you have quoted, although some packers here claim to have realized as high as $10 per case. Is the slaughter to go on until this valuable industry, of which the maritime provinces and Newfoundland have a monopoly, is destroyed by over-fishing? No province has so much at stake in the matter as Nova Scotia, which now, and for many years past, has produced the lion's share of the Canadian pack, and it is not pleasant to contemplate the prospect of seeing our lobster fishery reduced from large proportions to the depleted and forlorn condition of the same industry in New England.

A WELL-KNOWN CHEESE MAN.

ASSOCIATED with Canadian dairying are the names of some of Canada's ablest citizens, but none are deserving of greater mention than Mr. A. F. MacLaren, M.P. Mr. MacLaren has been closely identified with our dairy interests from his early boyhood days. It has been said of many people that "they were born with a silver spoon in their mouths." In the same way it might be said of Mr. MacLaren that he was born with a piece of good Canadian cheese in his mouth, so closely has he been associated with every progressive movement for the advancement of our cheese industry.

Though he has lived in Western Ontario for many years, Mr. MacLaren was born in the town of Perth, in Eastern Ontario, and came with his father to Perth county when only two years of age. His education was obtained at the common school, and it is in noways discreditable to Mr. MacLaren to state that his early education was very limited indeed, and that his present wide knowledge of dairy matters and the important positions which he now occupies, both in connection with the dairy associations and in the field of politics, have been due to his own ability, perseverance and push. He worked on a farm till he was sixteen, when he began cheese-making at the Fullarton cheese factory, in the county of Perth. He spent four years as a maker, during which time he had charge of the Bryanston factory, in London township, at the same time that Prof. Robertson, now Agricultural and Dairy Commissioner for the Dominion, had charge of his first factory at North Branch, in the same township. It is worthy of note that these two men, so prominently identified with everything that has been progressive in Canadian dairying, began their early training in practical cheese-making about the same time and in the same locality.

In 1878 Mr. MacLaren entered the wider field of cheese buying, in which he has continued with marked success till the present time. Unlike some of the buyers, who go through the country inspecting cheese, Mr. MacLaren always had a word of advice for the makers, and many of those who are today making fancy cheese owe much of their success to his counsel and instruction. In 1892 Mr. Maclaren began the manufacture of "MacLaren's Imperial Cheese." In this venture he has been particularly successful, and "MacLaren's Imperial" is known in every city in America, where a really delicious fancy is fully appreciated.

Mr. MacLaren is considered to be one of the best judges of cheese in Canada, and is in demand at the leading exhibitions to judge dairy products. His ability and experience in this regard were fully recognized during 1893, when he was appointed judge of cheese at the World's Fair. Every dairyman fully appreciates the splendid service rendered to Canada by Mr. MacLaren in this capacity.

For many years he has been closely identified with the Western Dairymen's Association, and has been one of the prime movers in the many advanced movements which have characterized the work of that organization in recent years. He has filled every position in the gift of its members, and for two years has been the association's able and esteemed president. Mr. MacLaren has been specially honored outside of the dairy, and is the representative of North Perth in the Dominion Parliament, to which position he was elected in 1896.

Mr. MacLaren's genial manner, natural ability and splendid generosity have won him many friends, who hope that he may long enjoy the popularity and esteem which he has deservedly won. Farming has nothing but good to say of a man of Mr. MacLaren's ability and standing, and trusts that his services may long be available in promoting the dairy interests of Canada.—Farming.

DEATH OF MR. PATRICK COOKE.

Mr. Patrick Cooke, a well known and highly esteemed member of St. Patrick's parish, Montreal, whose venerable figure was so familiar during the recent renewal of the mission under the auspices of the Redemptorist Fathers, passed away peacefully at his late residence, 2067 St. Catherine street, last week. Mr. Cooke was a native of Dublin, Ireland, and came to Montreal nearly half a century ago.

He leaves four daughters and three sons, the latter being well known in commercial and athletic circles. They are Mr. R. J. Cooke, confidential clerk and office manager for Caverhill & Kissock, who also for many years occupied the office of president of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club; Mr. Frank Cooke, and Mr. T. J. Cooke, of the firm of T. J. Cooke & Co. The funeral took place on Monday morning at 7.30 to St. Patrick's church, where a solemn requiem mass was chanted, after which the remains were transferred to Cote des Neiges cemetery for interment in the family burial plot.

THE BURGLARS DRANK WINE.

Mr. John Scanlan's grocery store, Ontario and Bleury streets, Montreal, was broken into by burglars early Wednesday morning. They evidently had a good time, as they ate and drank the best to be found in the store.

The burglars cut out the lock of the front door by means of chisels. Once inside, they had been in no hurry, but had helped themselves to biscuits and cheese and the choicest liquors.

Mr. Scanlan says he is unable to say just how much his loss will be, but estimates it at about $100. The burglars had confined their attention to food supplies, for there is nothing missing except hams and wines, with exception of biscuits and cheese, which were evidently eaten in the store.

LUMBER IN THE STATES.

THE Northwest Lumberman gives statistics showing that the lumber cut in the Chicago, Minneapolis and Duluth districts of the United States was 6,233,454,000 feet in 1897, as compared with 5,725,763,035 feet in 1896, an increase last year of over 500,000,000 feet. At the end of 1897 there was a decrease of over 50,000,000 feet in the stocks on hand, which shows that the demand increased even more largely than the supply.

The Chicago district seems to be on the decline as a producing area, a decline of 22,000,000 feet being noted during the past year, even though the cut in 1896 was 326,000,000 smaller than in 1895.

The centre of activity seems to be Minneapolis, in which city 477,269,000 feet were cut last year, as compared with 322,169,000 in 1896, an increase of 153,169,000 feet. Below the city the cut increased by 170,000,000 feet. Above it a gain of 65,000,000 feet was made. In the Duluth district an increase in the output of 150,000,000 feet was effected.

This cut included 462,230,000 feet of hemlock, besides 5,771,224,000 feet of white and Norway pine.

The hardwood production of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota is steadily increasing, especially where settlement is increasing or pine is becoming scarce. The total hardwood cut for the year was 464,380,000 feet, as compared with 357,266,000 feet in 1896, an increase of 107,114,000 feet. As the business of handling hardwood is steadily getting into the hands of strong firms, a steady increase of their production may be expected.

BOUND FOR THE KLONDYKE.

Messrs. Gus. Dennler and Joe Keller, Middleton, N.S., intend to go to the Klondyke.

Two young men have started from Woodstock this month for the Klondyke and five others will start in a few days. They have nine trained dogs to draw their supplies, which will be purchased on the Coast. They go via Skagway, Teslin lake and up the Yukon to Dawson City.

Centennial Alaska Transportation Co. will put on two boats from Vancouver to Dyea and Skaguay. The company has purchased the Taksago in Japan for $50,000 and rechristened it the Centennial.

A party of ten left Wallaceburg, Ont., this week for Vancouver. Messrs. S. Somers and Thomas Crow left some time ago intending to purchase supplies at Chicago, but have since determined to outfit at Vancouver to save duty.

An Owen Sound party, consisting of Ezra Brown, Henry Brown, Wm. Adams, Jas. A. Frost and J. C. Griffiths, will start on Tuesday next for the far off Klondike gold fields. The party will go by way of Edmonton, and will first explore the district bordering on the Peace river. All the supplies, even to the harness of the horses, which will be purchased at Edmonton, have been bought from Owen Sound merchants.

There is a likelihood of a keen rivalry between the C.P.R. and the other western railroads for Klondyke business. The C.P.R. intends to keep Canadian rates $7.50 for first class, and $5 for second class less than any of the other lines. Rates are now low, but the prospects indicate even lower rates.

Messrs. Andrew McRae, James McRae, and John Lundy, left Guelph last week for the Yukon. They will be joined at Victoria by Messrs. Coleman, Crocker, Moore, and Capt. Le Blanc, of that city. They go via Dyea, the Chilkoot Pass and Tagish lake to Teslin lake, and will start prospecting on the Nisullin river.

An Almonte correspondent of The Ottawa Journal says: One of the latest victims of the Yukon gold fever has purchased a complete Klondyke outfit, including a sleeping bag, which latter apparatus he tested by sleeping in his garden last night while the mercury stood at 20 below zero. He reports having spent a very comfortable night, and seems none the worse for his Arctic experience.

THE PRESERVATION OF EGGS.

THE question of preserving eggs, in other words, of devising some scheme by which the hen product could be kept indefinitely, has probably been the subject of greater research than almost any other mentionable branch of investigation along similar lines. Dozens of men have thought that they had something by which they could preserve eggs from decay, but up to this time, all of these wonderful discoveries have proven worthless when put into practice. Nearly all of the "treatments" consist in sealing up the pores of the egg-shell. By several of these schemes eggs can be kept for several weeks, or even months, but when finally broken, they bear no resemblance to a fresh egg.

The latest of the ideas, whose strong point is to seal the egg against the inroads of the air, has been devised by one M. Bournof, a Frenchman, whose method is as follows.

Dissolve in two-thirds of warm olive oil one-third of beeswax, and cover each egg completely with a thin layer of this pomade applied with the tip of the finger. The egg-shell by degrees absorbs the oil, and each of the pores becomes filled with the wax, which hermetically seals them. The discoverer also thinks that the germ may be preserved in this manner for a considerable length of time.

During the past week The Grocery World has received a report of certain experiments made by the National Agricultural School of Germany into the efficacy of all the principal methods of preserving eggs. At the beginning of July twenty fresh eggs were treated by each method, and examined on the following February. All of the eggs which were soaked with brine, one of the commoner methods, were found to be unfit for use through having been saturated with salt. The reports on the other methods tried, here presented, give the percentage of eggs which the method in use failed to keep :

	Per cent. spoiled.
Wrapped in paper	80
Kept in a solution of salicylic acid and glycerine	80
Rubbed with salt	70
Packed in bran	70
Coated with paraffine	70
Painted with a solution of salicylic acid and glycerine	70
Immerse in boiling water 12 to 15 seconds	50
Treated with a solution of alum	50
Kept in a solution of salicylic acid	50
Coated with soluble glass	40
Coated with collodion	40
Coated with varnish	40
Rubbed with bacon	30
Packed in wood ashes	20
Treated with boric acid and soluble glass	20
Treated with potassium permanganate	20
Coated with vaseline and kept in lime water	All good
Kept in soluble glass	All very good

From this it appears that only two methods out of the nineteen tried were really able to preserve the eggs.

HAMILTON RETAIL GROCERS.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hamilton Retail Grocers' Association was held in the association rooms, No. 100 King street east, with Mr. C. J. Bolligan, president, in the chair, and a fair attendence. It was suggested that in order to increase the attendance the names of the attending members be put in a box and the last name drawn out each evening receive a year's subscription free. There was a strong feeling shown in favor of abandoning the giving away of calendars, which, it was said, has become about as big a nuisance to the trade as the old Christmas present trouble. The question of limiting credit was discussed, and a sub-committee was appointed to deal with it. The wholesale trade has been reducing discounts and shortening time for payments, and the retailers feel that they must take action also.

The coupon system was strongly denounced and shown to be decidedly against the interests of the grocers. In some parts of the United States the evil has grown to such an extent that legislation is being introduced to deal with it.

It was decided to meet at 8 o'clock, instead of 8.30, hereafter.

Mr. A. Ballentine was appointed to go to Ottawa to interview the Government, in company with delegates from other retail grocers' associations, to ask that the Act be amended so that civil service employes' salaries be made attachable for just debts ; also that fees for the inspection of weights and measures be abolished.

ATTENDANCE AT MEETINGS.

The Hamilton Retail Grocer's Association is considering a scheme for the encouragement of a better attendance at the association's monthly meetings. The idea is to put into a box the names of the members present at every meeting, and at the close of the meeting the members' names are to be drawn, the member whose name is on the last paper to receive his yearly fee of $2 in return. The names of the successful members are to be kept secret till the end of the year.

The demand for "Salada" Ceylon tea is so great that the growth of the business in Montreal is assuming enormous proportions. An enlargement of premises, with increased facilities for handling the trade, has become imperative, and extensive alterations are under way at their St. Paul street depot, Montreal.

CALIFORNIA PRUNE SITUATION.

Stocks of Santa Clara prunes on the Pacific coast are reported to have been more closely cleaned up than ever before at this season, and the choice of buyers is said to be restricted to the sizes between 50's and 70's. Forties, according to recent reports, are almost out of the market, while sizes smaller than 70's are said to be equally scarce, and as the demand runs chiefly on the fruit that is now in smallest supply, holders, it is reported, are able to get a premium on them. The four sizes, in bags, are not to be had below 3c., f.o.b. for the Coast, and some holders are now asking 3⅛ to 3¼c. It has been intimated that an effort has been made to bear the market by eastern parties it being hinted that there was some concert of action between a number of large buyers in this direction, and that while it has so far failed it has not been entirely abandoned. The cheaper southern prunes, it is also intimated, have been used as a means to keep down the price of Santa Clara stock. However this may be, remarks The New York Journal of Commerce, the fact remains that prices here are below the figures at which the stocks could be renewed at the present cost of similar goods in California.

GROCER SANG A SONG.

A certain Danbury groceryman entered the house of a customer the other morning, says an exchange, and was immediately greeted by the matron of the house with a strange question.

"Can you sing or whistle ?"

He replied that he could, while a look of almost blank astonishment spread over his features.

"Well," said the woman, without paying any attention to his astonishment, "what is that slow tune they sing at funerals, and sometimes at the beginning and end of meetings. It's an awfully old tune, real old-fashioned one, but I can't think how it goes ?"

The groceryman is a Yankee, and can turn his hand to almost anything, so he tackled this task with his usual good nature. After trying several, he puckered up his mouth for a last try, and started on "Old Hundred."

"That's it, the Doxology," she said. "I've been trying to think of that for two or three days."

The groceryman says that he has been asked to do almost every kind of an errand, but this was the first time that he had to give a concert.

A large party is gathering in Belleville for the Klondyke. It will go by the Chilkoot Pass route.

Canadian Dealers too Often Deceived

It is of vast importance that every dealer should exercise the greatest caution when buying Paste Stove Polish.

The QUICKSHINE has attained such immense popularity that unscrupulous people have gone into stove polish business and are manufacturing polish that pays them tremendous profits. The materials employed in the composition of these imitation packages are so poor and cheap that the woman who buys them can never get the results she desires, and in this manner, to a certain extent, injures the sale of the good article.

When stove polish is required for domestic use ask your dealer or wholesale grocer for QUICKSHINE STOVE POLISH, and accept no substitute in the way of imitation package polishes, or polishes that are two-thirds soap and one-third polishing material.

If your wholesale dealer does not sell QUICKSHINE, send direct to us for same, stating the wholesale dealer you wish us to send it through; or if you prefer it sent direct, we will forward same at once. Price per 3-doz. Case, $2.25.

THE CRIMINAL LENIENCY OF CREDITORS.

DOLLARS make cowards of us all. Men fail in business regarding whose dishonesty there is no question. The evidence as to fraud is not even circumstantial. It is positive. And yet creditors draw the curtain around it as if they were the guilty instead of being the victims of the guilty.

There have been lately some of the most flagrant cases of dishonesty. Emboldened by their previous fraudulent actions, men have clearly planned, apparently without any attempt to cover their tracks, to rob their creditors, but not a hand has been laid upon them.

This leniency on the part of creditors is not born of any desire to throw their cloak to those who have robbed them of their coat. Rather it is dollars which have made them cowards.

It costs dollars to carry a case into court, and it is better that the biggest rogue born should be allowed to escape punishment and again be permitted to continue in business than that they should get a few cents on the dollar less.

From a dollar and cents point of view this may be all right, but from a moral point of view it is all wrong.

If one man sees another commit a crime and assists by his silence, or in some more practical way, the perpetrator of it to escape, he is considered an accessory after the fact and punished accordingly.

But it appears to be a horse of another color when it comes to dealing with debtors who deliberately rob their creditors.

The man who deliberately robs his creditors is no less a criminal than the man who breaks into his neighbor's house and steals his goods.

The present loose method of dealing with fraudulent debtors is a premium upon dishonesty. And not only that, but it helps dishonest men to go back to business and repeat the operation of knifing honest merchants who pay one hundred cents on the dollar.

Where fraud is obvious, it is the duty of creditors to assist the law in placing those guilty thereof behind prison bars, instead of behind their own counters again. And the results would, in the long run, be beneficial to the creditors themselves, as well as to those merchants who would be protected from the competition of dishonorable men.

ADVANCE IN SUGAR.

ALL refined sugars were advanced 1-16c. per lb. by the Canadian refiners on Tuesday last. The advance began with yellows, but before the day closed it was extended to the granulated descriptions.

The appreciation is in sympathy with the outside markets. Two or three fractional advances have taken place in London, Eng., during the past week, while in New York an improved business is experienced, with all refined sugars ⅛c. per lb. higher.

The key to the sugar situation at present appears to be Cuba. It is thought that the crop there is not as large as it was expected to be, the latest estimates placing the yield at 300,000 tons, which is about 100,000 below former estimates. In consequence of this owners are holding on to their sugars and prices are advancing.

The belief is still common in the trade that the Dominion Government will increase the duty on refined sugar, particularly in view of the fact that, taking into consideration the German export bounty of ⅜c. per lb., the protection enjoyed by refined sugar is only about ⅛c. per lb.

THE ISSUE IS BUSINESS.

GOOD government does not depend upon the success of any one of the two great political parties which exist in Canada. It depends upon the character of the rank and file of the men who are sent as representatives from the different constituencies.

The Government itself is in reality a committee of management selected from the great body of representatives elected by the people. And, unless the great body of representatives be wisely and well chosen, it is not possible to get a good Government. If the source of the stream be impure it is not to be expected that the main body will be pure.

Less than three weeks from now the people of Ontario will be called upon to elect representatives to the Provincial Legislature. The opportunity will not come to them for another four years. And it behooves them to exercise well their franchise.

The business men of the province should be particularly interested in getting good representatives. Bad representatives mean bad government, whether it be Liberal or Conservative in complexion, and bad government is in turn a bad thing for the business interests of the country.

Representative government is still on its trial. So far the evidence has not been as strongly in its favor as it was anticipated it would be. And the reason, forsooth, is that the men sent to the various representative institutions have not as a rule been fitted for the positions they have been sent to fill.

Men do not gather figs from thistles nor grapes from thorns. And here we have been sending professional men to the Senate, to the Dominion Parliament, and to the Provincial Legislatures who were rich in party trickery and poor in business common sense; deeply concerned about the welfare of party and unconcerned about the welfare of country when it clashed with party exigencies. How could good results be expected under such conditions?

The business men of this country owe nothing to party, Conservative or Liberal. Politicians are politicians. Their names may be different; but there is no dissimilarity in their methods.

If there is a debt owing by any one it is by the politicians, and the creditors are the business men of the country who have suffered because of their mismanagement and their ignorance of the duties entailed upon them.

The principles which underlie the management of a mercantile or manufacturing establishment should underlie the management of the affairs of a country. But too often they are the very opposite.

In an ordinary business the concern of the head of each department is for the interests of his employer. He lays out every penny with the hope that it will return other pennies. His staff of assistants he assays to keep to the minimum point without impairing its efficiency.

The concern, too often, of those ministers who are at the head of departments in governments, both provincial and federal, is not how few assistants commensurate with public welfare they can get along with, but how many they can crowd in without stirring up the indignation of the public.

The Ontario Legislature, just dissolved, was composed of 94 members. Out of this number only 17 were merchants, while there were 38 farmers, 14 lawyers, 7 doctors, 5 journalists, 5 lumbermen and 8 miscellaneous. In the cabinet itself the proportion of lawyers is much larger than it is in the House: Out of seven ministers five are disciples of Blackstone.

The farmers and lawyers between them comprise over 55 per cent. of the whole. And we all know that farmers, as a rule, array themselves against wise business legislation, because they believe business men to be cumberers of the ground and little, if any, better than robbers, while lawyers are about as impracticable a class of men as one could meet. They know something about law, but they know nothing about business.

THE CANADIAN GROCER does not advocate a legislature for business men; but it does advocate a legislature of men endowed with business common sense.

The management of a province is as much a business matter as is the management of a grocery, hardware, dry goods or any other kind of business. If we delegate this duty to farmers, lawyers and other descriptions of professional men we cannot expect efficient and economical administrations.

Put the farmer in the field, the lawyer in the court room, the doctor in the sick room, but delegate business to business men.

If the business men of Ontario will exercise their influence on behalf of and vote for business men the next Ontario Legislature will contain much better material than did its predecessor.

Never mind whether this or that candidate be a Liberal or a Conservative. The crucial point should be, has he good business ability. If he has, vote for him.

There should not be any qualms of conscience about sacrificing party feeling. No great party questions are at stake. Protection or Free Trade are no more an issue than the Corn Laws. If there be an issue it is Business, and business men ought to have strength enough to clear themselves from party influence and vote that ticket.

The employes of the great biscuit combination, which has been formed in the United States, will be allowed to purchase stock in the concern. In other words, a sop is being thrown to the working man, to try and keep him quiet.

QUESTION OF SEALED PACKAGES.

The Montreal Board of Trade have appointed a committee, composed of Henry Miles, W. B. Matthewson, and H. Laporte, to deal with the question of sealed packages.

This action was taken at the request of the St. John, N.B., Board of Trade, which has been petitioning the Inland Revenue Department to have all sealed packages of provisions, such as teas, tinned fruits, vegetables, etc., stamped with the exact weight of their contents and the year in which they were packed. The Commissioner of Inland Revenue seconded the request of the St. John board for a committee to enquire carefully into this important matter.

The committee appointed is composed of gentlemen well able to handle the matter in all its details, and it is certain that the department will receive some useful information as a result of their deliberations.

The suggestions of the St. John people are pertinent, and members of the jobbing trade, who have been spoken to, state that a closer supervision of the making and sealing of a lot of the goods in question is badly needed.

A QUALIFIED BUSINESS MAN.

HOW little business qualifications are considered by party caucuses met to nominate candidates for parliamentary honors is exemplified in the consistency of Glengarry in the pending Ontario general election.

This constituency was represented in the late house by Mr. David McPherson. Mr. McPherson has the instincts of a practical business man. As far as we are aware he never kept a store, but he has for a number of years been the moving spirit in the cheese industry of that part of the country in which he lives. To such an extent has that been recognized that he is known far and wide as the "Cheese King."

But in spite of all he has done for the cheese industry of his own district in particular and that for the country in general, his old party will have none of him, but prefer in his stead another who has had neither business nor parliamentary experience to qualify him. The constituency will, however, have an opportunity of retaining him as its representative, for he will run as an independent candidate.

If the electors of Glengarry are wise they will elect Mr. McPherson as their representative. The ability he has displayed in promoting the cheese industry of the country has alone entitled him to the support of all those who recognize the value of having men of business common sense in the House. But Mr. McPherson has shown by his action in the Provincial Parliament, and particularly as a member of the Public Accounts Committee of that institution, that the business quality did not desert him when he was inside the House.

That which has been tried and proved true to the test should not be cast overboard.

SHORTAGE IN CASSIA.

Advices from London, England, indicate that cassia is tending the way of most spices. At the end of 1897 there were only 41,650 packages there, compared with 64,500 in 1896, 103,900 in 1895, 136,450 in 1894, and 151,000 in 1893.

The decrease in the supply is due to the severe frost in China away back in 1892. It is estimated by authorities on the matter that the yield will continue to decrease and prices to increase for another couple of years.

A DUTY ON TEA.

TEA buyers are getting nearer to sellers' ideas in the matter of prices, but are not yet close enough to permit of any extensive business being done. If current indications are reliable, they are going to gain nothing by holding off, for the tendency seems rather toward advance than decline. Demand for Japan teas, worth from 15 to 16c, in the United States, is taken to be a sign in this direction, and it is worthy of note that importers or commission men who control any of this grade in Canada express a disinclination to send them across the lines, as they feel that they will be wanted at home.

One of their chief reasons for this belief is the fact that the expectation is again gaining ground that the Canadian Government may impose a duty on tea during the present session of Parliament. This opinion is based on the assumption that when the Finance Minister brings down his estimates it will be found that, owing to the preferential clause of one-eighth having been so widely extended, expenditure and revenue will not meet.

The difference will have to be made up promptly, and the most expeditious way of doing so is to impose a specific duty on tea of, say, 5c. per pound.

If this is done it will have a tendency to decrease the importations of cheap teas.

Canada's consumption of tea is estimated at 20,000,000 pounds per annum, and a duty of 5c. would mean a revenue to the Government of $1,000,000.

Tea importers, as a rule, are in favor of a duty, and contend that it would not be a hardship to the consumer. The retail price would not be materially affected by it, and if the consumer had to buy a higher grade and dearer tea he would find that a given quantity of it would go much further than the same quantity of a poorer article.

STRONG OUTLOOK FOR PIMENTO.

The outlook for pimento is strong. It is estimated that the Jamaica crop this campaign will be only about 22,000 bags.

The import of this may be gathered from the fact that the crop of late years has averaged about 65,000 bags.

Not only is the new crop light, but the same is to be said of stocks of last season's goods in the terminal markets. For instance, in London the stock is only 6,650 bags against 20,000 the same time last year. Stocks in Hamburg, Bremen and Treiste are exceedingly small, and these ports are trying to buy. Supplies in New York are also small.

In view of the present statistical position of the market, higher prices are confidently looked for.

CALIFORNIA ORANGES.

Mr. A. S. Westfall, of Westfall Bros. & Co., New York, who has returned from California, says that in his estimation there are 7,000 or 8,000 cars of oranges yet to be shipped from the state this season. The bulk of the fruit for the balance of this season, he says, will run choice on account of the extreme cold weather they have had there.

THE CLOVE SITUATION.

What the future of the clove market will be, on account of the abolition by the British Government of slavery in Zanzibar, is a problem difficult to solve.

The average supply of cloves received from Zanzibar for the period between 1892-95 was 135,000 bales per annum. In 1895 the quantity ran as high as 166,500 bales.

Slavery was abolished two or three years ago, and since then there has been a gradual falling off in the yield, for the owners of the estates whereon the cloves were raised have had to pay such high prices for their labor that they have not been able to go so extensively into clove cultivation as they formerly did. As a result, large portions of estates which were formerly devoted to clove culture are now covered with rank undergrowth and grass.

During the season 1896-7 the output had shrunk to 85,000 bales, while the estimates for the season of 1897-8 are only 35,000 to 40,000 bales.

In London, England, according to advices received this week in Toronto, stocks were only 71,700 bales, against 78,300 the same time in 1896, and 80,000 in 1895.

Prices are steadily appreciating. One day last week alone there was an advance of 1c. per pound.

PENALTIES RE WORD "LIMITED."

SOME misunderstanding seems to exist as to what action was taken by the Ontario Legislature, at its recent session, in regard to the Act governing limited liability companies.

It will be remembered that by the Act of 1897 the abbreviation of the word "Limited" was prohibited on signs, business paper, cheques or, in fact, any documents whatsoever, heavy penalties being prescribed for violation thereof. The irritating character of this, together with the loss entailed, is known to everyone.

The amendments made to the Act during the last session are designed to remove the unjust and irritating features thereof.

One wise provision suspends the operation, as far as companies incorporated before April 13, 1897, are concerned, until January, 1900, of the clause imposing penalties for abbreviating the word "Limited." The suspensory clause reads as follows:

> In the case of companies incorporated before the thirteenth day of April, 1897, this section shall not take effect so as to render any such company, or the directors or officers thereof, liable to the penalties or liabilities hereby imposed by reason of such company using the abbreviation "Ltd." or any other abbreviation of the word "Limited," or to companies lawfully incorporated without the word "Limited" forming part of the name or style thereof, until after the first day of January, 1900; but this shall not relieve any such company from any penalty to which it would have been liable prior to the passing of the Act passed in the 60th year of Her Majesty's reign, chapter 28.

Another proviso makes the use of the word "Limited," in its full form, on bales and packages, optional.

A clause which will give a great deal of satisfaction, especially to those companies which have been harassed by pettifogging lawyers, reads:

> The penalties provided by the said Act shall be recoverable only by action at the suit of, or brought with the written consent of, the Attorney-General of the Province of Ontario.

Thanks to the amendments to the Act, joint stock companies will now be able to use up their old stationery, signs, etc., in which the word "Limited" is abbreviated, while every Tom, Dick and Harry with a desire for money and notoriety will be precluded from instituting proceedings at his own sweet will.

But the Legislature should have made all these wise provisions when the Act was under consideration ten months ago.

Some people imagine the universe revolves around them; but the only thing that revolves around them is themselves, and that is small, indeed.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. are making a specialty of putting up honey in 5, 10, and 60-lb. tins, suitable for shipment to the Klondyke. This commodity is an excellent substitute for butter or fruit, and cannot be injured by frost.

DEMAND FOR CHEESE.

The London Grocers' Gazette, speaking of the cheese situation says: The market for cheese has been passing through one of its spells of dulness again, but this time the dull period has been protracted to a somewhat inordinate and trying length, having lasted for several months. The trade has been an unsatisfactory one all round, both as regards the demand and as to results to importers, whose operations have been for the most part the reverse of remunerative. The commencement of the restriction of the demand seems to have dated from about the time when buyers here began to show anxiety to secure the autumn make "forward," and this had the effect of driving prices up beyond the limit at which cheese sells freely. The reason why such anxiety should have been displayed this season is difficult of explanation, as the knowledge was pretty general at the time that the largest make ever known in Canada was then in progress, and that stocks were already beginning to accumulate. The ultimate consequence, however, was that a collapse came, and in a few weeks c.i.f. prices were down 10s. per cwt., and purchasers lost money heavily. Another result of this system of buying was the unusually large number of arbitration cases held, which, apart from the trouble and worry they in themselves caused the parties involved usually ended with feelings of soreness on both sides. Altogether it almost looks as if the old-fashioned method of buying goods on the spot was the best after all.

TORONTO

TO SELL TEA IN THE NORTHWEST.

MR. STEPHEN HUSTWITT, the subject of this brief sketch, came to Canada about 1870, and has been identified with the grocery and tea business ever since, he having received a thorough, practical knowledge of the business while in England. Since being in Toronto he has represented some of the best known firms, and can lay claim to being the pioneer grocery traveler of Toronto, and also one who had a large patronage, and was held in high esteem by the city grocers. During all these years he has devoted special attention to the study of teas, and from reports gathered from both wholesale and retail men, it is questionable whether there is a better judge of tea in Canada. He will be remembered, perhaps, by most of our readers by his contributions to THE CANADIAN GROCER on the subject of "Packet vs. Bulk Teas," and in the prize essay contest on "The Buying, Selling and Handling of Teas," he was selected as one of the judges.

Mr. Stephen Hustwitt

Mr. Hustwitt has just severed his connection with the Eby, Blain Co., Limited, Toronto, to represent T. B. Greening & Co., tea and coffee importers, of Hamilton, to take charge of their Northwest branch, from Winnipeg to British Columbia.

He left for his new scene of labor yesterday (Thursday), and he will doubtless establish for himself in the west that reputation as a tea expert which he enjoyed in the east.

LARGE TEA LABEL ORDER.

The Salada Ceylon Tea Co. gave an order to a Toronto firm of lithographers for 2,870,000 labels. This is perhaps the largest order of any kind that has ever been given to any lithographer or printer in Canada.

A NEW TEA-PACKING MACHINE.

With the increase in the tea package trade has naturally come an increase in the number of tea-packing machines. The latest arrival in the field is one that is being put upon the market by A. H. Canning & Co., 57 Front street east, Toronto, a cut of which appears on another page.

The machine is simply constructed, and it is claimed that one boy can work it all day without being relieved, so easily is it manipulated. The plunger is permanent, and the tea is pressed up against it to the desired size. There is only one lever, and it is worked with the foot. The frame of the machine is of hard wood, and the working parts of iron and steel. The tea tubes are made of tinned steel. Prices and descriptive circulars can be obtained from the manufacturers.

GROCERY CLERKS' CONCERT.

Under the auspices of the Toronto Grocery Clerks' and Drivers' Association, Mr. W.E. Ramsay, the well-known entertainer, will give two concerts, one to-night (Friday) and one to-morrow night, and a matinee to-morrow afternoon, in the Auditorium hall, corner Queen and James streets, Toronto. During the evening, cinematographe pictures of the Queen's Jubilee will be shown as an additional attraction. As Mr. Ramsay's entertainments are first-class, and as the concerts are in aid of the Sick Children's Hospital, a large audience may reasonably be expected.

NOVEL MEMORANDUM BOOK.

Frequently one hears of romantic or sentimental notes written on eggs, but this week a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER, while watching a Front street, Toronto, dealer unpacking a case of eggs saw an egg which some presumably practical person had made use of as a memorandum book. A list of nearly a dozen articles was carefully written, so that the short memory of the person who went to market should not be the cause of a shortage of tea, sugar or black spools in the house.

MR. DIXON IS COMING.

Mr. Cecil Dixon, who is now representing Lucas, Steele & Bristol, of Hamilton, in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia, is widely known "out west," and few men possess a more extended acquaintance and knowledge of the country he visits than he does. He enjoys the esteem of the house he represents, and he has been a successful salesman and a good business man. Mr. Dixon's old customers will be glad to see him when he visits them.

According to The American Grocer, efforts are being made by very prominent Columbia river interests to form the packers on that river into an association. Some ten packers have agreed to come in, and there is talk of making Mr. Charles Morris president of the association. Pressure is being brought to bear on certain packers, who have not consented to the arrangement, to come in. It is to be hoped, in the interest of the trade, as well as of the packers, that some sort of a strong organization may be formed.

MR. COLSON RETURNS.

MR. C. E. COLSON, of Montreal, arrived home on Friday, Feb. 4, after an extended visit to England and Scotland. He came by the s.s. Teutonic to New York, and reports a rough passage, which, however, does not appear to have had any serious effect upon him, as he is looking as hale and hearty as ever. Splendid weather and other things of an agreeable nature have evidently combined to make his visit to his old home exceptionally enjoyable.

He expressed the satisfaction of Messrs. Crosse & Blackwell, whom he represents, at the amount of business done by them in Canada during the past year, it being considerably in excess of any previous year, and they attribute no small degree of this success to the judicious advertising done by Mr. Colson in THE CANADIAN GROCER. Messrs. Epps & Co. are also much pleased with the increase in their Canadian business, it having more than doubled during the past year, and the prospects for even a greater trade in their cocoas are most promising.

Mr. Colson was much struck with the expressions of good feeling toward Canada and Canadians which he heard from men of all grades of society and all branches of business, and is convinced that much closer relations, both from social and business standpoints are now more possible than ever before.

Canadian produce ranks high on the English markets, and a little more care in the packing aud shipping of our eggs, butter, bacon, etc., will place them on the top rung of the ladder on the other side of the water.

The chief obstacle to an extension of trade between Great Britain and Canada is the lack of an insolvent law here which will ensure justice and a fair return to all creditors. Many English and Scotch merchants mentioned this feeling to Mr. Colson, and expressed the hope that this bar to increased trade between the two countries would be speadily overcome by the adoption of a Dominion insolvent law.

Mr. Colson, jr., leaves about the end of this month for an extended business trip throughout Ontario and the west.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. T. Kinnear, of T. Kinnear & Co., Toronto, is visiting in New York this week.

Mr. Roddy McCrimmon, of Warren Bros. & Co.'s sample room, is again back to business after an illness extending from August last.

Mr. T. O. Leonard, of Detroit, representing Kingsford's Oswego starch, was in Toronto this week. He reported that January's business, in his territory, was the best for any corresponding month for some years.

Nature

You can't improve upon the flavor that Nature gives to flowers and fruits—Nature knows her business and needs, and asks no help from anyone.

It is easily possible to adulterate and to add inferior artificial essences to a flavoring extract, yet YOU gain nothing but a single profit on the first sale—you can't sell a harshly strong or an artificially weak Flavoring Extract more than once to the same woman.

Greig's Crown Flavoring Extracts

(40 Different Flavors)

are pure Flavoring Extracts having that rich, delicate, natural flavor that perfect purity alone can yield. Let a housekeeper alone for finding out their economy—she needs no more help than nature does. You are absolutely safe in recommending them.

A single bottle of Greig's Flavoring Extracts goes nearly, if not quite, twice as far as any other—of nearby merit. Nature provides this great strength. "One touch of nature makes the whole world kin." Think of the friendship your store will gain if you sell Greig's Crown Brand Flavoring Extracts.

NO. 100.

THIS IS TOO GOOD TO KEEP.

We have just received a letter from a large western house in which there is a confirmation of what we have said of our Owl No. 100, and though we were perfectly satisfied as to the value of this tea, such a testimonial is always pleasant to record :

DEAR SIRS, Feb. 3rd, 1898.

We received your samples to-day, and put them in draw with others we had here and have decided to take 10 half-chests of the Owl No. 100.

We have been selling a tea named————for several seasons, but our Japan tea trade has improved so, that we have not enough to last until the new crop comes in.

We have noticed your ad. in "The Grocer" about Owl Brand and we think that you have evey reason to give it the high recommendation you have been doing.

We are sorry to have only a very small quantity of this brand to offer now, but we can give you one package or so as a sample so that we can book your order for the new crop.

We will have enough this year to supply all demands.

Markets and Market Notes

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 10, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE most interesting feature in regard to the wholesale grocery trade this week is an increase of 1-16c. per lb. in the price of refined sugars. The advance took place on Tuesday, and an increased business is one of the results thereof. The tendency of the tea trade is still towards greater activity, although the volume of business is still light. There is no particular business to note in regard to spices locally, but in the primary markets prices are firm and, in some instances, high. Canned goods of all kinds are quiet, with prices still being firmly maintained. Coffees are still in fair request. Some United States syrups are being offered, but we hear of no transactions, and only an occasional transaction in molasses is reported. Trade, generally speaking, is only fair.

CANNED GOODS.

The most interesting feature at the moment in regard to canned vegetables is perhaps corn. There have been some enquiries for round lots during the week, but we hear of no transactions. A bid of 85c. was made for 1,000 cases, but it was not accepted. The idea for tomatoes is still $1.25, with $1.20 to $1.25 as the range. Business in all kinds of canned vegetables is quiet. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.20 to $1.25; corn, to 85c.; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10 to $1.25; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 60 to 95c.; peaches, $2 to $2.40 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.40 to $1.70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c.; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand; cohoes, 95c. to $1; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.70 for tall tins; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

COFFEE.

Green rio coffees are still in fair demand. The market for Brazilian coffees is a little easier, on account of heavy receipts and unfavorable reports from Europe. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c.; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

The Canadian refiners have more syrups to offer, but there are few, if any, transactions. Some nice samples of United States syrups are also being shown, but we hear of no transactions. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Proportionately there is more business being done in molasses than in syrups, although that does not mean much. We quote as follows: New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c.; ditto. half-bbls., 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-bbls., 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

A firmer feeling prevails. Beet sugar has advanced in London and refined sugars are ⅛c. dearer in New York. In sympathy with the outside market the Canadian refineries, on Tuesday, advanced their figures 1-16c. per lb. An improved demand is also to be noted. We quote as follows: wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days: Granulated (St. Lawrence, Redpath, Acadia), 4 9-16c.; ditto, Dutch, in bags, 4 7-16c.; ditto, German of Canadian make, in bbls., 4¼c.; ditto, imported, in bags, 4 3-16c.; yellows, 3 13-16c. upwards.

NUTS.

Brazil nuts are a little easier in New York, but the nut market generally is quiet and featureless. We quote: Brazil nuts, 12½ to 14c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 23 to 25c.; Tarragona almonds, 9 to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 9½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

The market for foreign rice is firm. Locally trade is of the usual character. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Strength continues to be the feature of the spice market. The crop of Bengal ginger is said to be somewhat of a failure. Higher prices are expected to rule on pimento on account of a probable shortage. The outlook is also for higher prices for Cassia. The outlook for cloves is exceedingly strong. We quote as follows: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 14c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 15c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 12c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 24 to 26c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 20 to 22c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 20 to 22c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 16c.; cassia, 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

TEAS.

There have been some sales of good-sized round lots of Japan teas on the Toronto market during the past week at from 14 to 16c., but it is the opinion that holders sacrificed prices. One wholesale house alone bought 1,200 packages. Other shippers of teas of this quality are, however, holding for higher prices. Some of the wholesale houses report they have booked quite a few orders for fall delivery of Japan tea. Prices for low and medium grades of Indian tea are higher in Calcutta than they were at this time last year, and as the market there is near its close, teas of the grades mentioned are hard to get. Low grade Ceylons are firmer in Colombo, and teas formerly held on the local market at 12½c. could not be repeated under 14c. per lb. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indias and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—There has been no material change in the situation since a week ago, the demand being fair and prices firm. We quote: Provincials, 5¾ to 6c.; Filiatras, 6¼c. in bbls; 6⅜c. in half-bbls and 6¼c. in cases. Patras, 6¾c. in bbls.; 6¾c. in half-bbls. and 6⅞c. in cases. Vostizzas, 7½ to 8½c. in cases

VALENCIA RAISINS — The market is quiet; prices unchanged. We quote as follows: Off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 6 to 6½c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—Prices are rather unsettled in the outside markets, but locally there is no feature to note. We quote: 3-crown, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb.; 4-crown, 8¼ to 8½c. per lb.; 1-lb. cartoons, 20c.; 2¼-lb. cartoons, 35c.

DATES—The local market is quiet, at 5½ to 5¾c. for Hallowees and 5½c. for Kadrowees. The outside markets are rather easy.

PRUNES—A good business is being done in prunes. Last week saw a special offer from Chicago in small sizes of California prunes, but prices on the Coast for the higher grades remain unchanged, with the demand more active. We quote as follows: "Sphinx" at 6½ to 7c.; B, 7½c.; A, 8½c.; California prunes, 40 to 50's, 10 to 10½c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 70 to 80's, 7 to 7½c.; 80 to 90's, 6½ to 7c.; 90 to 100's, 6 to 6½c. Silver prunes (fancy), 13½c.; egg plums, 9½c.; golden plums, 10½c.; French prunes, 180's, 5c.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS—There has been more enquiry from the wholesalers during the past week for evaporated peaches in bags and boxes, and some transactions have taken place. All kinds of California goods have been in better demand, (1) on account of the fact that wholesale houses, being through stock-taking, are replenishing their stocks, and (2) owing to the demand on Northwest and British Columbia account. We quote: Apricots, 9 to 9½c. per lb. in 50-lb. boxes, 9½ to 16c. in 25-lb. boxes, and 13 to 14c. in 1-lb. cartoon boxes; Peaches, 9½ to 12½c. in 25-lb. boxes, and 13c. per lb. in 1-lb. cartoons.

GREEN FRUITS.

The high price of Valencia oranges has limited their sale somewhat, the demand turning toward California navels. Other oranges are moving steadily. Lemons are in good demand. Cranberries are about off the market, a few North Shore being, however, quoted at $1.50 to $2 a case. Bananas are 25c. cheaper than last quotation. Seville, Bahama and Jamaica oranges are now quoted. Valencias have advanced 50c. per box. We quote: Almeria grapes, $5 to $6 per keg; lemons, Messina, $2.75 to $3.25 a box; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 a sack and 60c. per doz.; oranges, Valencia, 420's, ordinary, $5.50 to $6; 420's, large, $7 to $7.50; 714's, large, $7 to $7.50 per case; California navels, $3.25 to $3.50 per crate; Sevilles, $3.50 a box; Bahamas, $2.50 to $3 a box; Jamaicas, $5.50 a box; cranberries, North Shore, $1.50 to $2; Canadian apples, spies, fancy red, $3.75 to $4; others, $2.50 to $3.50 per barrel and 40 to 50c. per basket; Canadian onions, red or yellow, in 80-lb. bags, 70 to 80c.; pickling onions, 75c. per basket; celery, 25 to 50c. a dozen; winter pears, 60 to 75c. per basket; grape fruit, $5.50 to $6 per box.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—New laid eggs are coming forward freely, and prices have dropped about 2c. per doz. Cold stored and pickled have, consequently, also declined. We quote: Fresh-laid, 17 to 19c.; held, fresh and cold-stored, 15c.; pickled, 14 to 15c.

POTATOES—Business is quiet, but steady with prices easy at unchanged figures. We quote: Carload lots at 58 to 60c., and small lots on the market at 65 to 70c.

DRIED APPLES—There is a good demand with moderate offerings. The price, on account of a great range in quality, varies from 3½ to 4½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — The tendency seems to be toward higher prices. Though some dealers still quote at 8½ to 9c., the majority of large dealers are asking 9½ to 10c., with few first-class offerings at the lower figure.

BEANS—Business continues quiet. We quote prime beans at 75c. in 5 and 10 bag lots, with hand-picked at about 85c.

HONEY—There is a good demand. Clover honey in comb is easy at present quotations. Buckwheat in comb is now quoted. Strained honey is steady. We quote: Clover honey, 7 to 7½c.; light color, in 60-lb. tins, 6 to 6½c.; 5 and 10-lb. tins, 7 to 7½c.; buckwheat 3 to 4c.; comb, clover, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen; buckwheat, 70 to 80c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of dairy are just about sufficient for the demand. Indications are that considerable quantities are being held at country points. Creamery is weaker, a decline of 1c. being noted in lb. prints. We quote as follows: Dairy, large rolls, 14 to 15c.; pound prints, 14 to 15c.; tubs, best grade, 14 to 15c.; second grade, 13 to 14c.; low grade, 11 to 12c.; creamery, early make, tubs, 16 to 17c. late make, tubs, 18 to 19c.; prints, 20c.

CHEESE—Local trade continues steady, though orders are, as a rule, small. The market is weak, at 8½ to 9¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

Lard is still the leading feature, the demand for this article continuing active, with prices firm at an advanced figure. The demand for dry salted and smoked meats is steady. There is a feeling evidenced on the market that dressed hogs should be received at easier prices because of a weakness in the English market. We quote as follows:

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7½c. for carload lots, and 7¾ to 8c. per lb. for ton lots and cases.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11½ to 12c.; rolls, 8½c.; hams, large, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 10½c.; small, 11c.; shoulder hams, 8½ to 9c.; backs, 10½ to 11½c.; with 1c. less for all meats out of pickle.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $15; Canadian short-cut, $16 clear shoulder mess, $14.

DRESSED HOGS—We quote: $5.90 to $6 for heavy, and $6.25 for light hogs.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Business continues active, with prices steady. Oysters have advanced in Baltimore, but as local dealers consider it but temporary, they have not put up the price. Prices are unchanged throughout. We quote: Oysters, $1.25 per gal.; fresh trout, 7 to 7½c. per lb; steak trout, 7c.; fresh steak cod, 6 to 6½c. per lb.; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; pike, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; perch, 3c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $3.25 per half-bbl.; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.50

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — Barley is the feature of the market this week, lots offering with prices 3½ to 4c. higher than last week. Wheat and oats are also coming in freely. We quote as follows: Wheat, red, 90 to 91c.; white, 85 to 89½c.; goose, 79½ to 81c.; peas, 57 to 58c.; rye, 47 to 47½c.; barley, 38 to 42½c.; oats, 31 to 32c., Toronto freights. No. 1 hard wheat is quoted at $1.05, Toronto freights; middlings, $1.01½c.

FLOUR — There have been large sales during the last few days. The feeling is strong, though the high prices and the fine crop prospects in Argentina and India make buyers timid, and few are buying ahead. There has been a decline of 20c. in Manitoba patents and 10c. in Manitoba strong bakers', while Ontario patents and strong bakers' have steadied to a single quotation. We quote: Manitoba patents, $5.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75; straight roller, $4.15, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Business continues active with prices unaltered. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.70 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.75 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.35; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—A steady business is being transacted, with prices unchanged. We quote: Cowhides, No. 1, d 9½c.; steerhides, No. 1, 10c.; No. 2, 9c.; No. 3, 8c.

CALFSKINS — We quote as follows: No. 1 veal, 8 lbs. and up, 12c. per lb.; No. 2, 10c.; Dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Business is good, with prices steady, at $1.15 to $1.25.

WOOL—There is a fair demand for pulled wools, the price quoted remaining at 20½c. for fleeces and tub-washed.

SEEDS.

In the absence of any demand, either local or export, for alsike or red clover, dealers are not anxious to buy, and refuse to give general quotations, as price is unsettled. Timothy is steady at $1 to $1.50 for machine threshed, and $1.75 to $2 for strictly choice to fancy bright unhulled flail-threshed seed.

PETROLEUM.

There is an active demand, especially for the Sarnia oil. We quote as follows in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 14c.; Sarnia water white, 15c.; American water white, 17½c.; Pratt's astral, 17c. in bulk.

SALT

Business keeps active, with prices steady at old figures. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 50c.

MARKET NOTES.

All refined sugars have been advanced 1-16c. per lb.

New Orleans molasses is reported to be 40,000 barrels short.

Eggs are more plentiful, and have declined 1 to 2c. per dozen.

The Wm. Ryan Co., Limited, is fitting a party for the Klondyke this week.

Valencia oranges are 50c. dearer. Seville, Bahama and Jamaica oranges are on the market.

J. P. Hennessy, formerly traveler for T. Long & Co., Collingwood, has opened out with a full line of groceries in the Trott block, in that town.

A Toronto exporting firm has been notified by cable from Germany to discontinue forwarding dried apples on account of the action of the German Government in regard to green and dried fruits.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Feb. 10, 1898.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS in general groceries still rules quiet, and there is very little change from a week ago. Values generally are steady. In sugar the price of raw shows stiffness, but there is no response given by local values of the refined article. Syrups are steady, while the firm tendency of molasses is fully retained. Canned goods are quiet, but very strong in their tone for all sorts. Buyers and sellers are coming more together in regard to teas, but are still too far apart for any extensive trading. Spices, coffee and rice are as last reported, and the same can be said of all lines of dried fruit, green fruit, etc.

SUGAR.

There has been no striking change in the local sugar market, business ruling extremely quiet. Advices from abroad on the raw article have not exhibited much change in tone either, and, altogether, the situation is precisely the same as it was a week ago. Refiners report that orders are very light from which they argue that jobbers have enough to get along with. We quote as follows: Standard granulated, 4 5-16c.; Canadian German granulated, 4c.; Austrian and German imported granulated, 3 15-16c. in bags, and domestic yellows, 3½ to 4c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

Demand is light and the range of values unchanged, prices ruling at 2 to 2½c., as to grade.

MOLASSES.

The firm feeling in Barbadoes molasses is fully retained, and holders are not urging sales at all because they firmly believe that all they have on hand will be wanted later on at advanced prices, if anything. In fact, it is easier to fill an order for a puncheon than for a carload. Fancy Porto Rico stock is also very firmly held. Late mail advices from the Islands state that the Barbadoes crop operations will commence about the middle of the present month, and the prospects are that prices will be even higher than they were last year. The jobbing range is as follows: Barbadoes, puncheons, 28c.; barrels, 30½c.; and half-barrels, 31½c. per gallon; car lots 1c. less, and Porto Rico, 26 to 27c., according to quality.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no material change in the canned goods' market, the only feature this week being a visit from a representative of one of the Klondyke companies, but no business has actually yet resulted though it may come later. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; corn, 90c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1.15; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb.do., $1.10 to $1.20; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25; "Clover Leaf," $1.25; Lowe Inlet, $1.20, in tall tins; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25 to $4.50.

TEAS.

Buyers and sellers of teas are coming nearer together in the matter of prices, but are not yet close enough for much business. The enquiry from retailers is commencing to pick up. We quote: Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest; China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

RICE.

The rice market is quiet with only a small jobbing trade passing. We quote: Japan, 4⅞ to 5c.; standard B rice $3.40 to $3.50; ditto, grade S, $3.30 to $3.40; Patna, $4.75 to $5; choice Burmah, $4; and ditto Java, $4.25.

DRIED FRUIT.

The currant market locally is entirely unaffected by outside conditions. We quote: Fine Vostizzas, half-cases, 6½c.; Patras, half-cases, 6¼c.; choice Filiatra, do., 6c.; fine do., half-cases, 5⅞c.; Filiatra, half-cases, 5¾c.; do. half-bbls., 5½c.; do., bbls., 5⅜c.; fine Provincials, half-cases, 5⅝c.

Valencia raisins are steady here, and primary markets are cabled firm. We quote: Off-stalk, 4½c.; fine do., 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5¾ to 6c., and 4-crown layers, 6 to 6¼c.

California raisins are quiet, but firm, especially 2-crown, supplies of which are light. We quote: 6 to 6¼c. for 2-crown; 7¼ to 7¾c. for 3-crown, and 8¾ for 4-crown fruit.

Sultana raisins are steady at 8½ to 9c., and loose Spanish muscatels, 6 to 7c.

S. H. Ewing & Sons Wholesale General Commission Merchants, 27 St. Sacrament Street, Montreal.

The chief features of the prune market are Californias, which are in larger supply and with a wider range of prices. In fact, values run from 5 to 10c. French prunes are in light supply, at 4½ to 5½c., and Austrian are an equally small stock at 6½ to 7c.

The fig market is quiet and unchanged. We quote: Eleme, 10 lbs., 10 to 11c.; case lots, 9c.; 12-oz. boxes, 7½c.; 14-oz. boxes, 9c., and bags, 4 to 5c.

Dates are dull and rather easier at 5 to 5½c.

NUTS.

These are quiet and unchanged. We quote as follows: Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 8½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 16 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 7 to 8½c., and pecans, 9 to 10c.

The dried apple market is rather easier under increased receipts, at 5 to 6½c., and evaporated, 9 to 10c.

APPLES.

There is no change in apples, prices ranging from $3 to $4 as to grade. E. James received the following cable from Woodall & Co., of Liverpool, to-day: 5,600 barrels sold; market easy and difficult to make sales at a decline of 1s. The Mongolian, with 3,067 barrels, sailed from Portland on the 5th inst. for Liverpool. The Boston shipments last week were 3,997 barrels, all for Liverpool. The Vancouver leaves Portland on the 12th and the Sardinian on the 16th instants for Liverpool. The Sarmatian for Glasgow on 15th.

We quote as follows: Lemons easier at, $2 to $2.75; Jamaica oranges, $5 to $5.50; California, do., $3 to $3.50 for firsts, and $2.25 to $2.75 for seconds. Valencia oranges are firmer at $5, while Almeria grapes are unchanged at $5 to $6.50, and Cape Cod cranberries, $7 to $9.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The feature of the egg market was the weak feeling that prevailed in strictly new laid stock and prices declined 1c. per dozen, which is due chiefly to the increase in receipts. There was a fair demand for small lots to fill actual wants and a moderate amount of business was done. We quote: fresh stock 22 to 23c.; Montreal limed, 14 to 15c., and western limed, 13 to 13½c. per dozen.

POULTRY—The receipts of poultry were very light, for which the demand was ample and prices rule firm, but the market on the whole was quiet. We quote: Fresh killed turkeys, selling at 9½ to 10c.; chickens, 7 to 7½c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c., and geese, 5 to 7c. per lb.

BEANS—The demand for beans is limited and the market is quiet at 80 to 90c. for primes, and at 95c. to $1 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—There was no change in honey and sales are slow. We quote: White clover, 12½c.; dark clover comb, 10 to 10½c., and dark at 7 to 8c.

POTATOES—There is a firm feeling in the market for potatoes owing to small receipts of late, and sales of car lots have been made at 60c. per bag, and in a jobbing way at 70c.

The demand for provisions continues, chiefly of a small jobbing character, and the market, on the whole, is quiet and steady. We quote: Canadian pork, $15 to $16 per barrel; pure Canadian lard in pails, at 7 to 7½c., and compound refined at 5 to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10½ to 12c.; bacon, 10 to 12c. per lb.

The feeling generally is firm, and prices are fully sustained. buyers, and millers report an active trade doing at firm prices. We quote: Ontario bran, $12; shorts, $1 per ton in bulk. Manitoba bran, $13.50 to $14, and shorts, $15 to $16 per ton, including bags.

The only change in the local grain market to-day was the easier feeling in Ontario red wheat, and prices at shipping points along the lines declined 1c. per bushel. The demand was fair, and sales were made at 86c., which is equal to 96c. store here. Peas were quiet, but prices are unchanged at 63c. store, and at 65 to 66c. afloat, May delivery. The demand for oats continues good, and a fairly active trade was transacted at country points, at prices equal to 30½ to 31½c. store here, and further round lots afloat for May delivery were placed at 34 to 34½c., and holders, in many cases, now are asking 35c. In buckwheat, rye and barley business is quiet.

BALED HAY.

A fair trade in a jobbing way was transacted in hay to-day, and the market is moderately active and steady. We quote: No. 1 at $10.70 and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE.

There is no improvement in the tone of advices from abroad, and the market here is exceedingly quiet, with prices purely nominal.

BUTTER.

The butter market is also quiet, the demand being chiefly from local buyers to fill actual wants. Prices are steady at 18½c. for choice creamery, and at 16 to 17c. for lower grades.

MONTREAL NOTES.

There is a firmer tendency on Valencia raisins.

The refiners complain that jobbers cannot be induced to do any ordering ahead for sugar.

Mr. Boulter, the well-known canner, was in town this week. His visit was in connection with Klondyke supplies contracts.

Cables note an easier feeling in apples in Great Britain. On spot there have been increased receipts of dried fruit.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 7, 1898.

THE week has been a rather quiet one. Markets, however, are firm, and an improved business is looked for. We have had a touch of old-fashioned winter: more snow and a longer spell of cold weather than at any time during the last few years. The brokers and resident agents have been in arms this week against the proposed city tax on all outside houses represented in St. John by resident agents. There is a strong feeling against such a law, as it is felt that it would place St. John buyers at a disadvantage with the wholesale dealers in other provincial cities, particularly at competing points. It is further felt that the agents, being taxpayers on income, personal property, and in many cases real estate, should be at liberty to do such business as they are able, the more so as, in selling to the wholesale trade, they in no way compete with city merchants.

OIL—There is some business doing in burning oil, but the season is getting late for any large movement. It is thought by some that the duty may be reduced. This will influence buyers. Contracts for lubricating oil are being freely made. There is a great deal of competition. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18 to 19c.; Canadian water white, 16½ to 17½c.; Canadian prime, 15 to 15½c.; cod oil, 22 to 24c.

SALT—There is little doing. Quite large stocks are held here. Owing to the continued arrival of Liverpool coarse, the wants of buyers are being anticipated. Prices are quoted low. In English factory-filled sale is dull. There is still some sale in this market for English fine in glass bottles, but the Canadian has largely taken its place. There is a rather improved sale for the latter. The butter factories use Canadian almost altogether. We quote as follows: Coarse, 40 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 85c. to 95c.; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; rock salt, $5 to $6 per ton.

CANNED GOODS—There is very little of interest at this time. Owing to the outlook for higher prices, and because some packers have already advanced their figures, wholesale men have been placing their orders for canned meats, while the larger quantity sold, on account of the price, is Canadian. Vegetables are held firm. Salmon is low, but holders look for better prices. Some low-priced goods have been received during the week. Canned fish, particularly sardines, are moving west freely. Scallops have also been in good demand. These goods are such that the sale should be large. We quote: Corn, 85c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1; tomatoes, $1.15 to $1.25; gallon apples, $2.50 to $2.65; corned beef, Canadian, $2.35 to $2.50; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.75; 1-lb. tins, $1.45 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.60; 2's, $1.50 to $1.65; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.50; fruits in glass, $4 to $4.25; salmon, $1.15 to $1.20; ditto, flats, $1.25 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, $1.00 to $1.10; clams, $4.50 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.50 to $2.75 for 2 doz,; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—The cold weather during the early part of the week prevented much business. There is, however, a fair demand, chiefly for oranges. Valencias, which have the best sale, are moving up in price. There is a somewhat better sale for California. A car is daily expected. Malaga grapes are scarce at this season; quality is but fair; the price is quoted higher. The few Cape Cod cranberries now here have to be sold high. There is but a light stock of apples. The demand, owing to price, is not large. Lemons keep low. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $3.50; Valencia oranges, $5 to $6, do., California, $3 to $3.75; do., Florida, $4.50 to $5; do., Dominica, $3.25 per bbl.; apples, $2.50 to $4.00; bananas, $2 to $2.25 Malaga grapes, $7 to $7.50; Cape Cod cranberries, $10 to $10.50 per bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—There were some receipts of evaporated apples during the week. The quality is good. Prices are firmly held. The high price of these goods is causing a better demand for dried, but sale is not large. In Valencia raisins the market is easy, with but few selling. Currants are light stock, and full values are asked. California raisins, while there is no change here, values on the coast are higher. The same is true of California prunes, for which there is quite a ready sale. These goods will be higher; already it is hard to get the smaller sizes. Seeded raisins are qnoted rather lower, but there is a great difference in quality. Onions are higher. Peanuts are quoted higher and very firm at Norfolk. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5 to 5½c.; California L. M., 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; London layers, $1.40 to $1.50; Imp. cabinets, $1.75 to $1.80; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.30; Dehesa layers, $2.50 to $2.75; currants, cases, 6 to 6⅛c.; bbls., 5⅜ to 5⅝c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¾ to 8c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¾ to 7c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 10c.; dates, 5 to 5½c.; dried apples, 6 to 7c.; evaporated apples, 9½ to 10½c.; onions, $2.20 to $2.25 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 8 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 9 to 10c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7½ to 7¾c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 11 to 12c.; new Valencias, layers, 5¾ to 6c.; citron peel, 18c.; lemon peel, 12c.; orange peel, 13c.

SUGAR—While markets are firm owing to stock-taking and a rather light demand, there is little to report this week. Stocks not large in this market. We quote: Granulated, 4⅜ to 4½c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅝c.; Paris lump, 5½ to 5¾c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—The market is a strong one. Stocks are light here, and while there is little change in quotations, it is chiefly lack of demand; only a fair trade doing. Best quality Barbadoes is hard to get. There is some good Porto Rico still held. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 27c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 32c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs keep high and scarce. With milder weather rather easier prices are looked for. In butter everything is dull. Best quality is hard to get. The country dealer, paying the same price for both good and bad butter, has killed the trade. It is difficult to get our people, except the best retailers, to pay the price for creamery. Cheese is still dull, with a good many still held throughout the province. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 18 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 22 to 24c.

FISH—There have been large receipts of frozen herring this week. They found ready sale, the demand exceeding the supply. There is enough cod fish and haddock to supply the demand. In dry fish an improvement is noted and prices are firmly held. Pollock still hold their high figure. Pickled herring are rather easier, but business is light. Smoked herring are dull and low. In boneless fish a fair business is done. In pure cod low prices are quoted, lower, in fact, than market warrants. Finnan haddies move freely, but bloaters and kippers are about out of the market. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.75 to $1.85; pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.80 per half-bbl.; smoked herring 6½ to 7c.; Canso, pickled, $5 to $5.25 per barrel; boneless fish, 3 to 4½c.; cod, 5½ to 6c.; frozen cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; herring, 75c. to 90c.; smelts, 5 to 6c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; lobsters, 10 to 12c.; small 4 to 6c.

PROVISIONS—There is a firmer feeling in barrelled goods, but there is no large trade doing. Stocks here are quite light. In pork, local packed mess has the best sale. It is quoted higher. Lard and smoked meats are firm. We quote: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15; mess, $14.00 to $14.50; plate beef, $13.50 to $14.50; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 9½ to 10c.; pure lard, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—There is a tendency to higher prices, though local market advances slowly. Manitoba flour show rather more advance than Ontario make. Dealers are not large buyers, nor is there a very large stock. In feed the price is high and continues to advance; it is scarce. Bran is about the same price as middlings. Cornmeal is the lowest thing on the list. There are active sales. Oats and oatmeal are both higher; there is but fair demand. New Brunswick oats cantinue to largely supply the market. Prices on Prince Edward Island are even higher than in Ontario. Hay is dull and low. Barley tends higher. Split peas are hard to get. Blue peas keep low. Beans tend easy, and buyers are holding off. We quote as follows: Manitoba $5.80 to $5.85; best Ontario, $5.05 to $5.15; medium, $4.75 to $4.90; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.85; cornmeal, $1.95 to $2; middlings, $19 to $20.00; bran, $18.00 to $19.00; handpicked beans, $1 to $1.05; prime, 90 to 95c.; barley, $3.20 to $3.25; round peas, $1.25; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; yellow eye beans, $1.75; oats, 36 to 38c.

I. C. Bowman has been appointed agent for Swift & Co.

Major A. G. Campbell, representing THE CANADIAN GROCER, is in St. John.

A cargo of dry cod fish was this week shipped from Halifax to Waterford island.

Large quantities of beet sugar have lately been shipped from Chicago to Liverpool via St. John.

John Sealy is this week shipping large quantities of fish west, including sardines. The demand for these is increasing.

The following officers have been elected by the St. Martin's Board of Trade: Jacob S. Titus, president; Wm. Smith, vice; W. H. Morgan, secretary-treasurer.

The D. F. Brown Paper Box and Paper Co., Limited, have elected the following officers: D. F. Brown, president; Havelock Hartt, secretary; C. W. Brown, manager at Halifax.

F. B. Greene, manager of the Maritime Pure Food Co., Woodstock, has gone on a visit to the chief cities of Ontario and Quebec. He will attend the convention of packers at Buffalo before returning.

The well-known firm of Chas. Burrell & Co., Weymouth, N.S., has been dissolved. The business at Weymouth will be carried on by Mr. Chas. Burrell, while Israel L. Burrell will open a general business at Church Point, Digby county.

The success of the large, new pork packing factory at Charlottetown, P.E.I., is leading the people around Summerside to the making of an effort to have one established there. It is proposed to call the new company The Curing, Packing and Shipping Association of P.E.I., Limited.

There is a movement in this province favoring the growing and milling of large quantities of wheat. While the flour ground here from local grown wheat is hardly as white as that brought from the west, it is found in other ways fully equal. Pot barley is being milled here in larger quantities than in the past.

A few years ago Manchester, Robertson & Allison had the largest importation of dry goods ever landed by one house in this province, consisting of 239 packages. The other day they brought in the second largest, 233 packages, of which 147 were from England, 55 from Scotland, 25 from France, 5 from Germany and 1 from Switzerland,

The Fredericton Board of Trade does not fall in with the view of the St. John Board that date of packing should be stamped on canned goods, feeling well packed goods do not deteriorate in quality. They, however, feel the stamping of the net weight would be an advantage. They also endorse the action taken by the Montreal Chamber of Commerce with a view of securing an international exhibition in Canada in 1901.

A NEW PACKING BUILDING.

Park, Blackwell & Co., Limited, Toronto, intend to erect next month a large building on their property, adjacent to the cattle market, for the carrying on of their increasing business in preparing pork and beef products for the market. Their trade now demands a regular supply of two to three cars of dressed hogs daily, and as their export trade to London, Liverpool and Glasgow is steadily increasing, they have found the building of these works necessary. The new building will give employment to from 50 to 100 men.

EDDY'S HOCKEY TEAMS.

The office staff of the E. B. Eddy Co., Limited, Hull, Que., have two hockey teams, the rivalry between whom is very keen. Last winter they played two matches, one of which was a draw, the other a win from the "down stairs" team, with a score of 2 to 1. On Saturday afternoon last week they played an excellent game in Aylmer, Que., when the "upstairs" team won by a score of 5 to 0.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

THE imports of food and drink, duty free, into Great Britain, from foreign countries and British possessions during 1897, were £151,550,115, an increase of £4,550,000 compared with 1896; of food and drink, dutiable, £26,791,519, an increase of £1,223,433; tobacco, £4,072,435, a decrease of £279,596; animals for food, £11,380,332, an increase of £941,633. The exports of articles and food, the product of Great Britain and Ireland, were £12,138,542, an increase of £454,474. and of living animals £1,133,115, an increase of £191,302.

The exports of provisions from the United States, for the calendar year 1897, were valued at $135,064,328 and of cattle and hogs, $36,460,438.

The total imports of spices, into the United States, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1897, were 40,144,713 pounds, of which 1,837,778 pounds were exported, leaving net imports of 38,306,935 pounds, valued at $2,434,713. The net imports of pepper were 14,284,109 pounds or 37 per cent. of the total imports. The net imports of nutmegs were 1,664,745 pounds, valued at $449,839.

Grocers to the number of 2,256 failed in the United States last year. The number of general merchants to fail was 1,550.

The tomato pack in the Western States is estimated at 1,065,000 cases, against 1,120,000 cases in 1896. The pack in California is estimated at 350,000 cases.

During the five years prior to 1894, 400 beet sugar factories in Germany consumed an annual average of 10,000,000 metric tons (2,204 lbs.) sugar beets. The annual product was 1,227,000 metric tons. Since 1894 a marked improvement has been made in the culture and manufacture of sugar beets, so that, while the above shows an average of a little over 8 tons of raw beets to one ton of sugar, the present ratio is said to be 7¼ tons of beets to one ton of sugar.

Some of the state packers of corn have announced prices on the coming pack, and, it is reported, have already made contracts covering a large proportion of their prospective output at prices somewhat above last year's opening figures. The largest packers, however, it is reported, have not yet put out prices. In Maine corn there still seems to be some hesitancy on the part of packers to make prices on their 1898 product. Some brands have been quoted on the same basis as last year, and are said to have sold quite freely. The reported sales have been on the basis of 80c. f. o. b. Portland, but it is understood that the principal packers are figuring on an f.o.b. price of 85c. These figures, however, seem to be above buyers' views, and there is a disposition on the part of the latter to hold off to await further developments.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

The sale of Jamaica oranges, ex Alps and Douglas, went off at slightly better prices, it is reported, than at the previous auction, the condition and quality of the fruit being understood to be better. Up to $4.50 was obtained for some lines of fruit, original.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

TOMATO FUTURES OFFERING.

Opening prices for 1898 pack of some vegetables have been out for a week or more on a number of brands, and a fairly liberal amount of business has been done, though chiefly on buyers' labels, it is understood. Enquiries for prices on 1898 packing have been numerous, and have been made somewhat earlier than usual, but, it is intimated, that they were sent in with the idea of testing the views of packers rather than with the object of securing stock early. This is said to be not only true of tomatoes and corn, but also applies to peas.

In the tomato market there is reported to have been a very satisfactory business done for forward delivery. Most of the sales were, it is reported, for buyers' labels. Only a few of the packers, it is stated, have made prices for forward delivery, and these are said to be 5 to 7½c. above last year's opening prices. Spot stocks are reported to be more closely cleaned up than for several years past at this season, and this helps forward business. Everything, it is asserted, depends upon the consuming demand between now and the time of marketing new stock, but there is at present very little enquiry from the consuming trade.

SALMON IN ENGLAND.

An English trade paper, under date of January 29, says: "This market, generally, has been unusually active for the time of year, but salmon has naturally attracted the most attention. The low quotations, which have been recently made by some holders of old stock of Alaska fish, had created somewhat of a scare, and encouraged the idea among those who have not already bought that they had only to wait to buy salmon at their own price. Those, however, who have endeavored to buy within the last few days have found that it is not possible to do so except at a slight advance in price, and it is the opinion of many in a position to judge that the lowest point in the market has been touched. The quantity available is, no doubt, considerably in excess of recent years, and, should the consumption not increase, then prices must remain depressed. The question for retailers to decide is whether the reduction of retail prices, which is inevitable, will induce an increase of, say, 25 per cent. in their sales; if they can, with confidence, answer this in the affirmative, it would then appear to be policy to hold good stocks. Half-pound flat tins appear likely to be even more popular than last season, the demand already being very heavy. Prices for this description have advanced fully 6d. per case."

CURRANTS IN LONDON AND PATRAS.

The Produce Markets' Review of London England, says: "There has again been only a moderate demand for currants, and the business appears to have received rather a check, and to be less active than was anticipated would be the case. The market in Greece continues to be as firm as before, however, and there is now a marked difference in the values of fruit in the Patras and in the London markets, the relative values in the former being 6d. to 1s. per cwt. above landed values. This is a condition of matters which is not likely to continue very long, and it is tolerably clear that during the next few weeks either the Patras market must decline or the London market must improve. Another point which must not be overlooked is that the exchange between the two countries is falling, under the improved financial conditions, which, so far as it has any weight, is against any decline in the price of fruit. It is feared, on the other hand, that the present high range of values is directly affecting the day-to-day consumption, and that probably neither the growers nor the merchants realize to a correct extent the fact that in order to keep up the consumption of currants every possible means must be adopted to force the fruit to the utmost extent; and that nothing should be done which will at all interfere with this forcing process. In spite of the quiet tone there is no further decline in prices, and, indeed, in some cases the purchases of the lower descriptions made at the close of last week cannot be followed."

Guaranteed to keep in any climate.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 5, 1898.

THE past week has been a very eventful one in the history of Winnipeg. About 7 a.m. Wednesday the alarm for the central fire hall was rung, 10 minutes after all the alarms in the city sounded, and Winnipegers awoke to the fact that one of the worst fires on record was in full swing. The McIntyre block occupied one of the most central sites in the city, just south of the Post Office, on the west side of Main street. It had a frontage of over 225 feet on Main, was three storeys high with basement. On the first floor were 9 large stores, while the second and third floors were used for offices, sample rooms and halls. The University of Manitoba had its rooms here. There were four families residing in the block, and the fire spread with such rapidity, that they had to be taken from the upper windows and the roof in their night clothes. In less than two hours the whole of the interior of the block was completely gutted and large parts of the walls had fallen in. It was thought at first that the Dundee block adjoining, occupied by Jerry Robinson as a department store, with offices and living rooms above, would go too. All the tenants on the third floor were ordered to move out, and the building was full of smoke ; however, owing mainly to a favorable change in the wind, this building was saved. The great width of Main street alone prevented the whole centre portion of the city from being burned, as it was, all the plate glass windows for two blocks, on the other side of Main, were cracked in long ribbons by the heat, and at one time the Merchants bank actually caught fire, but was immediately noticed and extinguished. Among the merchants burned out were : Mackay Bros. & Norris, general dry goods ; J. Furner, wholesale and retail millinery ; John Evzinger, barber and tobacconist ; J. A. Payne, paints and oils ; Miss Maycock, fancy goods and toys; A. C. Morgan, boots and shoes ; Alex. Taylor, stationer, J. Porte, jeweler, and Velie Carey, wholesale liquors. Of these stocks absolutely nothing was saved. Taylor lost even his magazine register. In the law offices, on the second floor, the loss was also very heavy, as many of the firms had valuable law libraries, and of these nothing was saved. The fraternal societies, many of whom had headquarters in this block, also lost heavily. The only redeeming feature of the whole sad affair is that though there were some narrow escapes, there was no loss of life and no accident of any kind. When the fire reached the stock of paints and liquors there were two terrific explosions which might easily have had fatal results. The busy thronging block is now a ghastly heap of smouldering ruins, out of which the vaults tower like forsaken monuments. Wilson Bros.' furniture warehouse, divided from the McIntyre block by a passage, escaped the fire, but was crushed by a falling wall and presents the appearance of having been violently sat upon. One of the questions started by this fire, and which is being actively discussed, is whether or not Velie Carey should be made to pay duty on the goods in their bonded warehouse, which was destroyed. Much curiosity is rife as to the rebuilding of the block. It appears there is a clause in the will of the late Alex. McIntyre, to the effect that should the building ever be totally destroyed it should not be rebuilt. That it is totally destroyed there can be no question, but it is thought by many that the courts will be able to overcome the difficulty.

Store and office room is at a premium just now.

On the morning of the fire Geo. Craig, of the Golden Lion departmental store, assigned to S. A. D. Bertrand, official assignee. The details are not known, but it is understood the failure is a bad one, as, roughly speaking, the liabilities are over $80,000 and the assets under $50,000. A meeting of creditors is called for the 21st inst.

Klondyke trade continues very brisk, indeed, with indications of a very large increase as soon as the spring opens. Many eastern packers are now offering evaporated potatoes and onions in large quantities. But as they were very late coming into the field, most of the outfitters had already secured their supplies from other sources.

Trains reaching the city to-day have brought in large numbers of curlers for the bonspiel, and many others will arrive on Monday. The curlers lost heavily in the fire ; their headquarters were in the burned building, and had just been set in order for the bonspiel the night before the fire. Very many of their handsome pictures were burned, while the celebrated Tuckett trophies, on exhibition in Erzinger's windows, were totally destroyed. These losses, though extremely annoying, will not be allowed to interfere with the bonspiel, and with fine weather and perfect ice a very good time is looked for. Very many country merchants combine business with pleasure and buy while in town, and this makes the week a busy one with wholesalers. There has been an advance in canned vegetables since last writing, but it is difficult to give a definite price. Tomatoes cost, laid down here, now, $3.05 per case, if not a little more. Still, many of the stocks here were bought earlier in the season, at very much lower figures, so that it is hard to say just what will be the fixed price. Corn is also higher, and is worth at least $2 per case, and peas are in much the same condition. The whole canned goods market is stiff, with the exception of fruits, which are plentiful, and the market normal. In other lines there are few, if any, changes.

GREEN FRUITS—Are without change. The only new feature in this market is the arrival of bitter oranges, which sell at $7 per case. Great satisfaction is expressed here that the department do not seem inclined to forbid the importation of American fruits. There will be probably more activity in this market next week. A good supply of southern celery has arrived, and is selling at 50 to 75c. per bunch, according to size.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Have not moved since last writing. Apricots, 11c.; prunes (small), 4½c. upwards, according to size ; peaches, fancy, peeled, 17c., unpeeled, 11c.; pears, 10 to 11c.; apples, 11½c.

DRIED FRUITS—Currants and Valencia raisins are going higher, though price has not yet changed. The market is stiffer, and stocks here are light.

RICE—Situation has not improved, it is still impossible to buy even No. 2 Japan in this market.

CEREALS—Market fairly well supplied with American oatmeal and rolled oats. No change in prices. Beans are still low, fancy hand-picked being only $1.20.

SUGAR — Market steady and firm at 5 1-16c. for granulated, and 4½c. for bright yellows.

COFFEE — Market dull. Rios low with little movement. Standard No. 5 is quoted at 11c.

BUTTER—No change in price but lower tendency indicated by increasing supply of fresh dairy, and the same applies to eggs.

MEAT MARKET—Very stiff and active. Three or four carloads of American meat were bought during the week. Prices are as follows : Hams (average 16 lbs.), 11½c.; breakfast bellies, 11½c.; backs, 10½c.; shoulders, 8½c.; dry salt, American, 8¼c.; Canadian, 8½c. ; square cut shoulders, 8c.; boneless, 8c.

LARD—(Pure), in 20-lb. pails, $1.60c.; 50-lb. ditto, $4.

THE EXPORTATION OF GAS.

According to a contemporary, the Leamington, Ont., Board of Trade has been negotiating with the management of the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway for the transportation of 500 persons from South Essex to Ottawa. It is intended to send this monster delegation to Ottawa to protest against the exportation of natural gas from South Essex to the United States. The delegation will consist of residents of Leamington, Kingsville, Ruthven, and the townships of Gosfield South and Mersea, and probably several from Windsor.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

You Shold Have a Mirror.

In my peregrinations this week, I noticed that some merchants have "caught on" to the advantages of having a mirror in the store. This is one of the seemingly unimportant things, which, however, affect the mind of many a customer. The departmental stores have realized the advantage of good mirrors, and have them placed in their windows. And who has not seen a woman standing before these windows, rearranging her hat or veil? I, myself, have frequently seen both men and women standing before these windows, presumably to see the display, and it has been interesting to see what a large percentage of the time is taken by many of them in looking at their features in the mirrors. Admitting a general desire on the part of the customer to make use of a mirror, it seems reasonable that the retailer who quietly meets this desire by placing a large, and first-class mirror in a convenient place should have the preference over a competitor whose store and goods are of equal quality, but who thinks he cannot afford a mirror or two. Some dealers make use of their mirrors to display goods. A space, the full width of the glass and up to a little over six feet from the floor, is left free, but above these are plate glass shelves on which are displayed small articles such as flavoring extracts, etc. It would be a paying investment to have two or three mirrors in the store and one in each of the windows, that is, of course, if the store lays any claim to being neat and up-to-date.

"Knowing" One's Customers.

It is no wonder that some men have the happy faculty of winning and keeping a large number of regular customers. The grocer's customers are, of course, women principally, and everyone seems to have some particular peculiarity of her own. Some grocers seem to have the ability to quickly understand these peculiarities, and are ever ready to supply their desires, and to sympathize with their little worries and joys. They soon know just what brands of canned goods, what kind of tea, what make of soap, each one needs, and so seem to be interested in each individual customer, a fact which cannot fail to influence these customers in the most desirable way. Sympathy goes a long way with humanity, and a specially great distance with the sex who make up the major portion portion of a grocer's customers. THE RAMBLER.

ONLY FIVE STEAMERS.

The sale of the steamers Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Conemaugh by the International Navigation Co. to the States Steamship Co. for the Pacific trade leaves but five steamships flying the American flag crossing the Atlantic ocean, says The Marine Record. They are the St. Paul, gross tons 11,629.21; St. Louis, gross tons 11,629.21; New York, gross tons 10,802.61; Paris, gross tons 10,794.86; Evelyn, gross tons 1,963.44, the latter three built in English shipyards and denationalized.

TORONTO AND THE NORTHWEST TRADE.

AT a meeting of the council of the Toronto Board of Trade on Monday, Mr. A. E. Kemp, the chairman of the railway and transportation committee, submitted a report pointing out the disadvantage Toronto is under in respect to the passenger traffic from British Columbia, the Northwest Territories, Manitoba and other western points.

For many years past, if not, in fact, since the opening of the transcontinental line of the C.P.R., also the line running from Toronto to North Bay, this city has suffered in comparison with her rivals by better inducements being offered to the traveling public from the above-named points, to make Montreal their objective point rather than Toronto, notwithstanding that the latter city, even by the somewhat circuitous route by the G.T.R. to North Bay, is 137 miles nearer the western points named.

There have been no through cars for passengers desirous of visiting Toronto ; on the other hand, such passengers have been obliged to change cars at North Bay under conditions and at hours that were, to say the least, unfavorable.

"The feeling," continues the report, "appears to be prevalent, not only in business circles here, but amongst commercial houses in the west, that the tendency and influence has certainly not been with the view of encouraging traffic in the direction of Toronto. A business man desirous of visiting the east for the purpose of making purchases or transacting other business, becoming familiar, before buying his ticket, with the conditions as to through transportation, all things being equal, would invariably decide to go through to Montreal in preference to changing at a point 227 miles north of Toronto at an uncertain hour and, at certain seasons of the year, under conditions which are not inviting, also in view of the fact that the time occupied in traversing the 227 miles will occupy not less than nine hours."

The report also refers to the further difficulties that have recently arisen, it having been announced that the C.P.R. service over the G.T.R. to North Bay has been discontinued altogether, and that passengers destined for Toronto will continue on the main line east of North Bay to Carleton Junction, within 28 miles of Ottawa, and further to Smith's Falls, within 128 miles of Montreal, and at the former point they will disembark from the through cars destined for Montreal to a local train running to Toronto over the Ontario and Quebec division of the C.P.R. All the inconvenience attached to the transfer at North Bay will fairly apply to the change to be made at Carleton, in addition to being obliged to travel 217 miles further.

The committee consider that these new regulations are prejudicial to the best interests of this city, and recommend that the council put themselves in communication with the president of the C.P.R. regarding the question involved in the report, with a view of bringing about an immediate improvement in the existing state of affairs.

Following out the recommendation of the committee, Mr. A. E. Kemp moved, seconded by Mr. M. C. Ellis, that whereas the passenger service for a long time past connecting the city of Toronto with the transcontinental line of the Canadian Pacific Railway at North Bay has been of an inconvenient and unsatisfactory character and essentially discriminates against the city, therefore be it resolved that the report of the railway and transportation committee now submitted in reference to such service be adopted and that this council is of the opinion that we should have the most convenient and quickest service obtainable, including through passenger and sleeping cars between the Northwest and Toronto, and that with a view of endeavoring to secure such improved service a copy of said report and this resolution be sent to the president of the C.P.R. and the general manager of the G.T.R., respectfully soliciting their report.

This was carried by the council.

NORTH AMERICAN LIFE.

STILL IN THE FRONT RANK.

THE annual meeting of this company was held at its head office, in Toronto, on January 25. The directors' report presented at the meeting showed marked proofs of continued progress and solid prosperity in every leading branch of the company's business.

Summary of the financial statement and balance sheet for the year ended December 31, 1897:

Cash income	$ 699,550 49
Expenditure (including death claims, endowments, matured investment policies, profits and all other payments to policy-holders	454,367 26
Assets	2,773,177 22
Reserve fund	2,245,920 00
Net surplus for policy-holders	427,121 33

WM. McCABE, Managing Director.

Audited and found correct.

JAS. CARLYLE, M.A., Auditor.

The company's consulting actuary reported to the directors that he had very carefully examined the accounts and balance sheet of the company, as at December 31, 1897, and found that in every branch of the company's work tending to its solid progress and prosperity substantial gains had been made.

Your obligation for investment policies that matured in 1897 called for an outlay of over $89,500—the individual settlements not only being generally satisfactory, but, as a matter of fact, comparing more than favorably with the settlements made by other companies upon similar forms of policies.

The President, Mr. John L. Blaikie, on moving the adoption of the report, said:

"As on many previous occasions, you will be pleased to observe that in everything that goes to make a life insurance company successful the North American Life again shows progress, solidity, and gain for the policy holders.

"For example, compare the business of 1897 and 1896 under the following heads:

		Increase over 1896.	Per centage of Increase.
Assets as at Dec. 31, 1897	$2,773,177.22	$257,343.81	10.2
Cash Income	699,550.49	57,768.41	7.
Ins. in force	18,945,878.00	1,451,708.00	8.3
Premium Income	582,131.96	42,670.41	7.9
Interest Income	147,118.53	15,092.00	14.8

"The assets of the Company are of a high class, and after providing for every liability, there remains a net surplus of $427,121.33, the percentage of net surplus to liabilities being 18.2, and the percentage of assets to liabilities being 118.2.

"A year ago I submitted a table showing the experience of eleven companies doing business in Canada, the amount of insurance issued, the total terminations each had experienced, and what the percentage was. The North American made a far better showing than any of the eleven, and official figures given in the last Dominion Government report, showing a like experience, again places the North American in the first position."

The Hon. G. W. Allen, vice-president, said:

"I think the very best evidence of the excellent character of the assets of the company and the care shown by the directors in the investment of the funds, is the large increase in our interest income for the year, namely, $15,092, and the fact that our interest and rents, due and accrued, at the end of the year, should show a decrease of $1,119.57 Now, here is the position of our assets. We have invested in—

	Amount.	Percentage of total assets.
Mortgages, etc.	$1,108,563 93	40
*Debentures	635,197 89	22.9
Real estate	292,263 83	10.5

"I think you will agree with me, this shows a highly satisfactory state of affairs, and must be doubly reassuring to all the policy holders of the company, as well as its excellent agency staff, as to the high standard this company has attained among the life companies in this country. So far as I can judge, it stands at the head.

"Our real estate, as compared with last year, shows but a slight addition in amount, except that we have now added thereto our own home, this handsome building, in which we are holding this meeting. It was an excellent stroke of business on the part of the company in securing this property, as we have now every accommodation for the proper conduct of the business; in fact, one of the best equipped offices in the city, and the cost to the company will be but a moderate one. Already the space we have to rent is well tenanted, and the one office at present vacant is already bespoken. All the properties in possession of the company are well rented, and giving the company a fair return.

Mr. J. N. Lake, in moving a vote of thanks to the company's provincial managers, inspectors and agency staff, said:

"It will be gratifying to everyone interested in the company, and speaks volumes for the energy displayed by our agents, that our new business this month is the best business for January in the history of the company.

"It is interesting to note the great progress this company has made during the last ten years, as shown by the following table:

	7th Year.	12th Year.	17th Year.
Cash Income	$ 228,282 61	$ 431,624 42	$ 699,550 49
Assets	542,318 99	1,413,978 00	2,773,177 00
Ins. in force	6,971,390 00	12,066,080 00	18,945,878 00
Net Surplus	51,295 94	225,635 80	427,121 33

"You will see that the cash income increased over three-fold; assets over five times; insurance in force, nearly three-fold; and net surplus, nearly eight-fold—the latter indicating that the company is a good one for the policy-holders."

Mr. McCabe, managing director, said he could heartily endorse all that had been said as to the efficiency of our agency staff, and the energetic and satisfactory manner in which they had accomplished their work during the year just closed. He knew that the agents had unusual competition during the latter part of the year, owing to four new companies having commenced operations during 1897.

In this connection he said that, of all the companies starting about the same time as the North American or subsequently, not one of them outside of our own has met with but moderate success.

The mere fact of a company having a large capital, and especially rushing a large amount of business on its books in a short time, means a very large liability by way of the reserve required by the Dominion Government, and must result in a loss to the company. This experiment had been made a few years ago, disastrously, by one of our companies.

Certain methods of conducting business may, on the face, have the appearance of success, but ultimately can have but one result. The course we have adopted has been a conservative one in every way, and we propose to follow that course, believing that our first interests must be those of our policy holders, and that ultimately the test of the business between the different companies is "What are you doing, and what are you likely to do, for your policy holders?"

Mr. Galley, in referring to the company's loans, said:

"In looking over this mortgage list I was pleased to find the satisfactory manner in which the interest had been paid during 1897. The interest due and accrued on all loans held by the company showing a decrease, as compared with 1896, of $2,201.73.

"The position of the company is highly satisfactory, and as one of its earliest and large policy-holders, I feel very pleased at the position that the company has attained."

James Thorburn, M.D., medical director, presented a full and interesting report of the mortality experienced by the company during the past year, showing that the actual loss was favorable when compared with the mortality table.

After the usual vote of thanks had been passed, the election of directors took place:

President, Mr. J. L. Blaikie.

Vice-Presidents, Hon. G. W. Allan, Sir Frank Smith.

Managing Director, Wm. McCabe, L.L.B., F.I.A.

Secretary, L. Goldman.

A NEW METAL POLISH.

The Merchants' Supply Co., Quebec, are placing a new metal polish on the market called the "Gilt Edge," which, no doubt, will meet with popular favor when once [illegible]. This polish has been handled for some time in Quebec and it has met with such success there that they are now desirous of establishing agencies all over the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario. It is put up in a neat shape and will be an ornament to any retailer's shelf, as well as proving a good thing to those handling it, as when once introduced it will sell itself. Write at once if you want the agency for your town and full particulars will be sent.

A TALE AND A MORAL.

THE following was told by Mr. Crandall, the special representative in England of the Dominion Agricultural Department, to a representative of The Canadian Gazette:

"Let me tell you an incident. A Toronto gentleman of high standing was spending a considerable time in London this summer. He greatly enjoyed the bacon they gave him, morning after morning, at his hotel—one of the fashionable hotels here. It was called 'Danish bacon' on the bill of fare. 'Tell me where I can get some to take back to Canada with me,' he said to the hotel manager. He went to the city warehouse and saw a case packed full of the prime 'Danish.' 'Where shall we send it?' asked the city dealer. To Mr.———, Toronto, Canada,' was the reply. The dealer looked up, amazed. 'Oh, well,' he said, 'I may as well tell you this bacon came from your own city of Toronto. It is only 'Danish' in name; it is really Canadian, and I buy it in Toronto."

"Now, that applies to many things we send to England. Our cheese stands first, and we pay the penalty of fame by having poor foreign stuff palmed off as 'best Canadian.' Our bacon is excellent, but not so well known as Danish, and dishonest dealers—they are here in England as in Canada, and everywhere else—put the Danish label on it for fame's sake. The Department at Ottawa has long considered how this type of fraud at Canada's expense may be best met. Meanwhile, our course is clear—to strengthen our hold on British markets by producing the first-class article. Quality, quality—that is our motto; and, as I said before, given equal quality, the Britisher is more inclined than ever to give the preference to colonial over foreign stuff—to buy, in fact, from those who buy from him, and not from those who do their utmost to kill British trade with high tariffs."

CLASSIFICATION OF ACCOUNTS.*

By Enos Spencer.

THE fact that the trial balance of all bookkeepers, with very few exceptions, show no result whatever beyond the mere fact that the ledger is probably in balance, led me some years since to take up the subject with a view to developing some plan by which the figures of the trial balance could be made more useful. It seemed to me that the proprietor should have a monthly instead of a yearly analysis of his business, and that it would be of great value to him to know at the end of every month the exact amount of the liabilities, as well as the amount outstanding on open accounts. The lack of this knowledge among bookkeepers and business men is the fault of the business colleges, because they have not taught a method by which a trial balance could be readily analyzed every month. Some authors have classified the accounts, but none, as far as I know, have given their practical arrangement and classification on the ledger and trial balance any special attention. In fact, nearly all, in opening a ledger, ignore the class to which an account belongs. I divide accounts into four classes :

1st. The account with the proprietor in an individual business, or accounts with the partners in a partnership business, or the account with capital stock and its divisions in a business conducted by a corporation, representing the investment or investments in the business. Such accounts we call "investment accounts."

2nd. All accounts representing property and the operations of the business in buying and selling the same, the expense incident thereto, as well as the earnings from any branch representing services rendered, we place together in a class and call them "speculative" because they represent the speculations or ventures of the business.

3rd. The accounts with cash and bills receivable and accounts with that class of persons, firms or corporations to whom goods are sold we call "resource" accounts because they are resources and represent the resources of the business, with the exception of the resource inventories of the speculative class.

4th. The account with bills payable and accounts with that class of persons, firms or corporations from whom we buy goods—in other words—the liability personal accounts we call "liability accounts" because they are liabilities and represent all the liabilities of the business except the liability inventories of the speculative class.

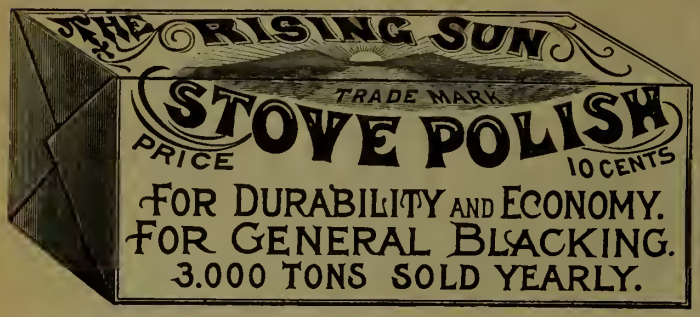
In a business where only one ledger volume is used we place the investment accounts on the first pages, the speculative accounts next in order, the resource accounts next and the liability accounts in the back part of the ledger. In a large business the investment and speculative accounts may be placed in one book to be known as the general or private ledger, and the resource accounts in one or more books known as sales ledgers, or, if divided to represent different sections of the country, by a name designating the section represented. The liability accounts in such a case would be placed in a separate book known as the liability ledger or purchase ledger. Where there are a number of bookkeepers employed, accounts should be kept in the general ledger with each special ledger, and thus enable each book-keeper to test his work the same as is customary in bank work. * * *

The accounts are are arranged on the trial balance book in the same order as on the ledger or ledgers, and the classes footed separately. The footings are summarized as follows :

1st. Investment, giving the debit and credit footings of the division.

2nd. Speculative, giving the footing of this division.

3rd. Resource, giving the footings of this division or the footings of their special ledgers, if separate volumes are employed.



4th. Liability, giving the footings of this division or of the special ledger representing the class.

The greatest advantage and merit of this classification and arrangement of accounts is found in the monthly financial statement. From the summary of the trial balance we make up on the first of every month an analytical statement of the condition of the business. First, we take the difference between the footings of the investment accounts, which shows if the credit side be the larger, the amount of the investment yet in the business, or, if the debit side should be the larger, the amount drawn out or lost in excess of the investment. The credit difference would also be the net capital, less the gain or plus the loss, since the last closing of the books. A debit difference would show the net insolvency, provided the difference were larger than the net gain since the last closing, or the net capital would be the excess of the gain since last closing over the debit difference ; or, if a loss, the net insolvency would be the debit difference, plus the loss.

Second, we take the difference between the footings of the speculative accounts, and if the debit side be the larger, which will nearly always be the case, it shows the value of the resource inventory over the liability inventory necessary to make no loss or gain, or, if the credit side be the larger, the amount of gain without any net resource inventory. These figures give the manager of a business a basis from which to study the fluctuations of the business very closely every month, and where the account-stock books are kept and the inventory can be readily determined every month, the exact loss or gain and condition of the business may be shown. Even where stock books are not kept, the manager from these figures can estimate very closely the amount of inventory and thus get at the results. If the speculative accounts show a debit difference, the amount that this difference is less than the difference between the resource and liability inventory will be the net gain since the last closing or, if greater than the net inventory, will show the net loss.

To illustrate: If the debit difference were $20,000, and the manager knew or estimated that the resource inventory in excess of liability inventory were $23,000, he would know that there had been a net gain of $3,000. Or, if he were confident that there were only $18,000 net resource inventory he would then be certain that the business had run behind and made a net loss of $2,000 since the last closing. If there were a credit difference of $1,000 the manager would know that there was $1,000 gain without any net resource inventory. If he had a net resource inventory of $2,000, he would know that there was a net gain of $3,000; or if he had no resource inventory and a liability inventory of $200, he would have a net gain of $800; or if he had a net liability inventory of $1,200 he would know there had been a loss of $200. The last propositions are only possible conditions, not probable.

These figures also furnish the manager another basis for estimating the condition of the business. Whenever the debit difference increases, the net resource inventory must increase in a greater proportion to make a net gain, and if it increases in a smaller proportion it will show a net loss. The opposite is true of a credit difference, but as it so seldom occurs, I will not take time to enlarge upon the possible results. If the debit difference for November were $20,000, and for December $23,000, the manager would know that the value of a stock or resource inventory must have increased more than $3,000 during the month, or, in other words, he must have purchased $3,000 more goods during the month than the cost price of the goods sold. If he is confident that he has increased his net resource inventory more than $3,000, say $3,500, he may be sure of $500 net gain during the month, or if he is confident that the net increase has been only $2,700, then he may be sure of a net loss of $3,000 during the month. These figures will show anyone, who is conversant with handling them, the inside track on a trade, to buy or sell an interest in a business where an inventory is to be taken. * * *

By taking the difference between the footings of the resource accounts, we have the amount of cash and bills receivable on hand, plus the amount outstanding on open accounts for goods sold. By adding together the cash and bills receivable and subtracting the amount from the resource difference, we have the amount outstanding on open resource personal accounts. This result is of great value to every business manager, as by it he is able to tell whether or not collections are being properly attended to, and whether or not too large lines of credit are being extended to customers.

We take the difference between the footings of the liability accounts, and have the total liabilities of the business every month, with the exception of a possible liability inventory which is usually small. Subtract from this amount the amount shown by bills payable account, and we have the amount owing on liability personal accounts. * * *

DRCORATED HAM.

Hams fresh from the smoke with a soft skin are best adapted for this purpose. Cook the ham, let cool, trim it nicely all around, and uncover the bone enough to fasten the cuff to it. Now cut little squares into the skin at the front end in this manner (⌐|__|⌐|__); all around at equal distance from the edge. Then fill the empty squares with white lard, smooth with the knife, so that the skin appears again. Now carve out some kind of a little statue or a star from red or white jelly. Hash up a little more jelly to make it look like diamonds, and put along the edge of the star; make a border around same of laurel and lemon, then make some fancy painting with lard on the empty places of the skin.

Put a paper cuff around the bone, such as can be bought in stationery stores. Take several colors—white, red, golden, green, pink, blue, etc.—National Provisioner.

THE CAP FITTED.

"Now," said the fussy old gentleman, putting one of the biggest berries in his mouth and picking up another, "what is the sense of having that sign read, 'Fresh strawberries for sale?' Don't you see that 'Fresh strawberries' would be enough? Don't you suppose everybody knows they are for sale?"

"I dunno," answered the grocer; "some folks seem to think I'm givin' them away."

And then the old gentleman put the berry back in the box.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

NEW CANNING FACTORY.

Messrs. James B. Gibson and W. J. Greenfield, of Belleville, and Mr. Samuel Nesbitt, of Brighton, have entered into partnership and will establish a canning factory in Brighton, under the name of the Brighton Canning Co. Messrs. Gibson and Greenfield are both practical men, having been with Messrs. Carson, Morden & Anning, the well-known canners of Belleville, for the past six years. Mr. Nesbitt is a prominent merchant and apple dealer of Brighton.

The new firm will erect a large factory on the premises close to the Grand Trunk track, in Brighton, in the spring, and have already completed arrangements for their boilers, machinery, etc., while contracts have been made with the farmers of that neighborhood for tomatoes, etc. The firm expect to employ about 200 hands.

ROUND BOYS IN SQUARE HOLES.

SCHILLER was sent to study surgery in the military school at Stuttgart, but in secret he produced his first play, "The Robbers," whose first performance he had to witness in disguise. The irksomeness of his prison-like school so galled him, and his longing for authorship so allured him, that he ventured, penniless, into the inhospitable world of letters. A kind lady aided him, and soon he produced the two splendid dramas which made him immortal.

Daniel Defoe had been a trader, a soldier, a merchant, a secretary, a factory manager, a commissioner's accountant, an envoy, and an author of several indifferent books, before he wrote his masterpiece, "Robinson Crusoe."

A. T. Stewart studied for the ministry, and became a teacher, before he drifted into his proper calling as a merchant, through the accident of having lent money to a friend. The latter, with failure imminent, insisted that his creditor should take the shop as the only means of securing the money.

Erskine spent four years in the navy, and then, in the hope of more rapid promotion, joined the army. After serving more than two years, he one day attended a court, out of curiosity, in the town where his regiment was quartered. The presiding judge, an acquaintance, invited Erskine to sit near him, and said that the pleaders at the bar were among the most eminent lawyers of Great Britain. Erskine took their measure as they spoke, and believed he could excel them. He at once began the study of law, in which he soon stood alone as the great forensic orator of his country.

"Jonathan," said Mr. Chace, when his son told of having nearly fitted himself for college, "thou shalt go down to the machine-shop on Monday morning." It was many years before Jonathan escaped from the shop to work his way up to the position of a man of great influence as a United States Senator from Rhode Island.

James Smeaton's father intended his son for a lawyer, but nature had marked her bias for engineering upon every fibre of his being too deep to be erased by his parents. He was found one day, in petticoats, on the top of his father's barn, fixing the model of a windmill which he had made.

It has been well said, that if God should commission two angels, one to sweep a street crossing and the other to rule an empire, they could not be induced to exchange callings. Not less true is it that he who feels that God has given him a particular work to do can be happy only when engaged in its performance. Happy the youth who finds the place which his dreams have pictured. If he does not fill that place, he will not fill any to the satisfaction of himself or others. A parent might just as well decide that the magnetic needle will point to Venus or Jupiter without trying it as to decide what profession his son shall adopt.

In a fable in Judges, the fig tree, among others, was invited to become king over the forest. After the olive tree had refused to give up its fatness which "pleased God and man," to reign over the trees, the fig tree replied, "Why should I forsake my sweetness and good fruit and go to be promoted over the trees?"

What a rebuke in this beautiful fable to the thousands of people who forsake the sweetness and richness of their own nature to do something for which they are totally unfitted!

As king over the stalwart oak and lofty pine, the fig tree would have been a dead failure, and as much out of place as some of our politicians are in Congress; but for bearing figs the oak and pine are its inferiors. Bearings figs is the grandest thing in the world for a fig tree. It shines in its own sphere; but, stripped of its fig bearing power, it has no excuse for existence. Sometimes a mother, who reigns a majestic queen in her own household, forsakes her quiet sweetness of home rule for a noisy, rough, public career, for which she has not the slightest qualification. — Pushing to the Front.

BOOK REVIEWS.

POINTS IN MINOR TACTICS.— Compiled for the infantry arm of the United States. By Capt. C. A. Smylie, 12th Infantry, N.G. D. Appleton & Co., publishers.

Capt. Smylie, the author of this work, is not a regular army officer, but an officer of the National Guard, and shows what an enthusiastic and capable non-professional soldier can do in compiling a work on minor tactics, which is as valuable and applicable to the Canadian militia as to the United States National Guard. It is compiled, as the author says in the preface, from foreign authorities, as the United States has had no serious experience of warfare for 30 years. The book is primarily applicable to infantry, and but a passing reference is made to cavalry and artillery. He describes the characteristics of the three arms; ground in relation to tactics; minor operations of war; discipline; advance and rear guards; outposts; patrols and reconnoitering marches; points in infantry fire tactics; field fortifications, entrenchments, etc. The book is 221 pages and copiously illustrated. The book is well worthy of perusal by militia officers in Canada, and much valuable information will be obtained from it. The author of "Points in Minor Tactics" will be best known to grocers as a member of the firm of Young & Smylie, the famous licorice manufacturers.

A GROCER FOR THE KLONDYKE.

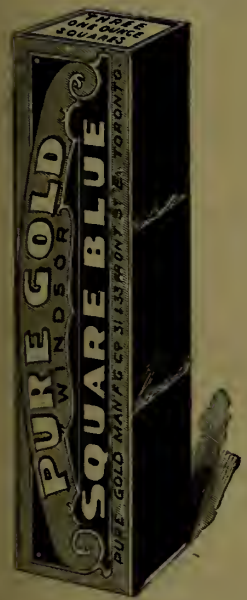
The writer learns that the Klondyke fever has affected the grocers of Brooklyn in no small degree, and that many, with a desire to get rich quickly, have got dissatisfied with the profits of the grocery trade and are making preparations for clearing out, and intend making tracks for the "land of gold" early in the spring.

The craze has also reached Hoboken, for we hear that a brother of Mr. Soehl, a well-known grocer, of 94 Varick street, this city, has bought out a store there, the late owner having departed already for Klondyke.— Retail Grocers' Advocate.

The Modern Way

THERE was an old-fashioned idea that Buckwheat ground between stones would make a good Buckwheat Flour—are you still selling Buckwheat Flour made that way with all its impurities and dust and dirt?

The "Roller Process" cleanses, purifies—makes the assurance of absolute cleanliness doubly sure—it is the modern, up-to-date way.



But there is something more than that that makes Tillson's Roller Process Buckwheat Flour, the flour of confidence—there is a true, rich, pleasing Buckwheat flavor that sells it a second time. It is a permanent profit yielder made in this modern way.

PRICES STEADY.

AS has been pointed out in Bradstreet's from week to week, steadiness in prices of leading products has been a feature of particular and constant interest. This has been especially the case in a number of lines in which production has been up to or above the maximum, and it has been especially encouraging, because indicating that current demand for leading staples has been of a volume sufficient in many lines to absorb the immense production mentioned without exerting sufficient pressure upon values to bring the prices much below the levels recently established. Bradstreet's has already shown that prices on January 1, 1898, had reached a level, as indicated by that approximation of averages, the index number, higher than at any previous period on record since January 1, 1895, and with the exception of the date just mentioned, higher than at any previous date since January 1, 1894, following the panic of the preceding year.

Little impairment of strength is portrayed by the prices record during the month of January, thus confirming Bradstreet's weekly report of price steadiness. It is true that a trifling decrease in index numbers, as compared with January 1, 1898, is to be reported, the number on February 1 being 80,136, as against 80,149 on January 1, 1898; but this decrease was, as already said, a trifling one, and the course of prices since February 1 has been such as to encourage those who look for further price advances during the early part of the present year.—Bradstreet's, Jan. 12.

NEW YORK AND FOREIGN TRADE.

A greater degree of interest than usual attaches to the report of The State Engineer of New York, says Bradstreet's, owing to the discussion therein contained relative to the change in the position of the city of New York in respect to the country's foreign trade. Statistics are presented comparing the percentages of exports and imports from the principal ports of the United States with the view of showing how the commerce, which once went to so great an extent through New York city, has been diverted to other ports, such as Boston, New Orleans, Baltimore, Philadelphia, etc. The report directs attention to the fact that whereas a third of a century ago New York commanded 73 per cent. of the total exports of the nation, it now commands only 37 per cent. of them. During the period from 1880 to 1897 the nation's foreign commerce increased by $300,000,000 in value, but New York's share of the increase was only $20,000,000, less absolutely than that which went to Boston or Galveston, and, of course, proportionately, considerably less. It is in the exports that New York's commercial losses have occurred; in imports it almost holds its own, its proportion being a little less that two-thirds of the whole.

BENGAL RICE CROP.

According to the final report on the winter rice crop in Bengal, the season generally was very favorable, the total area cultivated amounting to 31,572,700 acres, an increase of 8.3 per cent. on the area sown in 1896. Two districts report heavy crops of 20 annas; twenty-one return heavy crops of 16 to 19 annas; eleven return average crops of 16 annas, and eleven report crops of from 14 to less than 16 annas. In no district is the out-turn expected to fall below 14 annas. The total yield of the province is given as 391,437,000 cwt., against 148,541,000 cwt. in 1896, when the crop was estimated at 7 2-5 annas only, and the area sown was much less than that reported as having been sown last year.

AMERICA COMPETING IN PORK.

The English trade in pork is just now much exercised over a new development in the pork business. Fresh pork is now being sent to this country from America, which is not frozen, but simply chilled, by which means it is claimed that it will keep fresh for a considerable time without impairing the quality. The importation of the pork from "across the pond" has fetched down the price of the home-fed article, and as the supply of pigs from Ireland has been rather short, in consequence of the partial failure of the potato crop, poor Pat's extremity has been Brother Jonathan's opportunity, apparently.—City Affairs, London.

CURRANTS AND VALENCIAS IN LONDON.

There has again been a very quiet feeling in the currant market, and only a small business is reported, at prices which are slightly in favor of the buyer. Although the pause in the demand that set in a few weeks ago was, perhaps, more or less unexpected, it is regarded by many as being by no means an unmixed evil; as the continuance of a retail price of 3d. per lb., which, if the fruit had continued to advance, would have been imperilled, is now practically assured. The reason for the quieter market is obvious to those who are in a position to look "behind the scenes"; and the holders have undoubtedly defeated their own ends, to the loss of the grower, but to the benefit of the grocers and the consumers. The market for Valencias continues to be firm, and a moderate business is reported. As recently pointed out, this fruit is relatively very cheap as against other currants or Sultanas; and it will be surprising if this fact does not make itself felt in the relative consumption. On the other hand, the stock of Valencias is in excess of last year, and also of the same period of 1896, while that of both currants and Sultanas is smaller than in either of the two previous years.—Produce Markets' Review.

BEET AREA IN THE STATES.

The following table gives the estimated area devoted to beets in the United States during the past four years, in acres:

	1897.	1896.	1895.	1894.
California	32,986	23,617	14,948	12,362
Nebraska	7,000	8,000	5,000	4,421

New Mexico	2,000	1,300	....	....

Total	45,236	37,239	22,948	19,588

JAPAN RICE IN LONDON.

Japan rice continues firm in London, Eng., and with the small stock there prices continue to gradually harden. The quantity landed in London (cleaned and uncleaned) was 15 tons, against 72 tons; the deliveries were 757 tons, against 303 tons; and the stock was 10,813 tons, against 5,685 tons. The stock in Liverpool was 13,620 tons, against 16,070 tons at the same time last year.

SALMON IN LONDON.

Salmon continues to attract a large amount of attention in London, England, according to Produce Markets' Review, and the upward tendency continues. Buyers generally seem now to be alive to the fact that prices have, in all probability, touched their lowest point. Several large packs on the way by sailing vessels have changed hands during the week, thus further strengthening the market. Columbia river fish is in very small supply, but some of it is of magnificent quality, and those who appreciate the merits of this fish are quite willing to pay the slightly higher price demanded.

UNSATISFACTORY ORANGE MARKET.

Referring to the Valencia orange situation in Liverpool, an English trade paper says: "It is a matter of great regret that in a season like the present, when the flavor of the fruit is far superior to that of recent years, the condition should be so unsatisfactory. This is, however, a difficulty which affects the wholesale rather than the retail dealer, as, while the one has to buy in large lots and take the fruit as it lands, the other can reduce his purchases to the minimum and buy more frequently, and, in addition, get it repacked and sound."

Canadian Dealers too Often Deceived

It is of vast importance that every dealer should exercise the greatest caution when buying Paste Stove Polish.

The QUICKSHINE has attained such immense popularity that unscrupulous people have gone into stove polish business and are manufacturing polish that pays them tremendous profits. The materials employed in the composition of these imitation packages are so poor and cheap that the woman who buys them can never get the results she desires, and in this manner, to a certain extent, injures the sale of the good article.

When stove polish is required for domestic use ask your dealer or wholesale grocer for QUICKSHINE STOVE POLISH, and accept no substitute in the way of imitation package polishes, or polishes that are two-thirds soap and one-third polishing material.

If your wholesale dealer does not sell QUICKSHINE, send direct to us for same, stating the wholesale dealer you wish us to send it through; or if you prefer it sent direct, we will forward same at once. Price per 3-doz. Case, $2.25.

REFINERS AND WHOLESALERS.

IN THE doing of business there ought to be more co-operation on the part of manufacturers and merchants. And, as far as we are aware, there is no country where this is more obvious than in Canada.

There are evils which a score of men cannot remedy, because one or two persist in maintaining them. One of the evidences of this is in regard to wholesalers and their selling price of sugar.

Every grocer is conversant with the record of sugar selling. He knows that the practice of cutting prices has, in times past, been so general that the wholesalers have often been selling at a loss. As sugar is one-third of the wholesaler's business, the meaning of this is obvious: He has either to go out of business or else make the other lines he carries earn a larger profit than they otherwise would in order to make up for the loss on sugar. In fact, in some instances, he has had to do this to such an extent that certain lines which could be mentioned are now no longer sold by him as, bearing an extra profit, they could not be sold in competition with merchants other than grocers handling them.

For some months, as the trade is aware, the wholesale grocers in the different commercial centres have been selling sugar upon a fixed price of about 6 per cent. above cost.

To make permanent the understanding among the wholesalers as to price the co-operation of the refineries is necessary. So far the latter have failed to accord this.

It is to be hoped the refiners will not persist in withholding their support.

The cost of handling sugar is about 6 per cent. If the refiners would assist in some practical way in assuring only this small margin, THE CANADIAN GROCER is persuaded that the wholesalers would be satisfied. This is no unreasonable demand; it is a modest one.

It may be urged that the wholesalers should look after themselves. So they are, to the best of their ability. But there is a missing link, and that link can only be supplied by the refiners. It is to their interest to supply it.

At present the refiners are busy importuning the Government to increase the duty on refined sugar; but where they might be getting assistance from the wholesalers as a body, they are now getting their opposition.

With a higher duty on sugars the wholesalers realize that their purchasing market would be restricted to the home refiners. And naturally they are not disposed to be a party to any such condition, as long as the refiners are indisposed to assist them in bettering their condition.

FLOUR SACKS ADVANCE.

The price of flour sacks has advanced, the principal makers and dealers in Canada having agreed upon the following prices:

Manilla—	Plain per M.	Printed per M.
Size 3½	$3 25	$3 75
5	4 00	4 50
7	5 00	5 50
8	6 00	6 50
10	6 50	7 00
12½	8 50	9 00
14	9 00	9 50
25	11 50	12 00
50	21 50	22 00
Blue Lined—
12½		10 00
14		11 00
15		13 00

Lots of less than 1,000 are at considerably higher proportionate prices. An extra charge is made for printing in more than two colors, for bronzing and for printing on two sides.

SENATE AND YUKON RAILWAY.

AN EFFORT is being made by press and politicians to induce the Senate to throw out the Stickeen-Teslin railway bill.

What we stated last week we repeat again this week: The Government has been too liberal in its concessions to Mackenzie, Mann & Co., the contractors. We are firm in our belief of this.

But for the Senate to throw out the bill would be most unwise from a business standpoint, and most unpatriotic from a national standpoint.

In the first place, the railway is wanted, and with its construction will undoubtedly come an influx of travelers and freight over it instead of by Skagway, the Yukon river, and other points in United States territory. By the Stickeen-Teslin route there are no terrible mountain passes to climb, and through it the journey from Victoria to Dawson City will be comparatively easy.

Some argue that the railway should start at Fort Simpson. It might be more convenient to travelers if it did. But would it be more convenient to the country from a financial point of view?

No one dreams that a railway in that part of the country will be of a permanent character, like that of the Grand Trunk or Canadian Pacific in the more settled parts of the country. With the exhaustion of the placer mining in the Yukon district will cease the necessity for a railway, for the country is not adapted for settlement in the ordinary sense.

It is, therefore, obvious the less railway building we have to do the better. Now, the building of a line from Fort Simpson would mean the construction of a railway several hundred miles longer than it is now proposed to do, and as such an undertaking is not a necessity, it should not at present, at any rate, be seriously considered.

It must be remembered that the proposed line from the Stickeen river to Teslin lake is merely a link in a water route, and the smaller this link is, with a due regard to the interests of travelers entering the gold fields, the better.

But, aside from all these arguments, we have the evidence of Mr. W. Ogilvie, and other authorities, that the country, from the Stickeen river to Teslin lake, is the best adapted for railway construction. Mr. Ogilvie and others expressed this opinion away back in November last.

If a lengthy and permanent railway is to be constructed let it by all means be continued on from Edmonton, for a line from that point would for some distance run through a country adapted for permanent settlement.

Business men, after contracting for an article of merchandise, sometimes discover before delivery is made that the price they have agreed to pay is too high, but, while realizing that, they also realize that to be without the goods would entail still greater loss and at the same time cause customers to go elsewhere. Like wise men they accordingly accept the lesser evil.

Now, in regard to this Yukon railway, the situation is much the same. We are evidently paying the contractors too high a price and according them too many privileges, but we want the road, and want it badly. Every day we are without it means delay and loss of money to those flocking into the gold fields, and, of course, loss to the Dominion itself.

If the Senate throws out the bill, Canada will, at least for this year, see no railway into the Klondyde. This would, undoubtedly, entail serious loss to the country. On the other hand, from the railway great advantages would undoubtedly accrue, and to pay dear for it is cheaper than being without it for what may be an indefinite period longer than the contract with Mackenzie, Mann & Co. calls for. As it is the railway should be in operation this spring and not next fall.

If, unfortunately, there should be any delay in the matter, it is to be hoped it will not come from the Senate, or the Dominion Parliament either.

GOOD RAILWAY EARNINGS.

Business on the Canadian railways continues to improve.

The earnings of the C. P. R. for January were $1,673,000, against $1,313,000 the same month last year, a gain of $360,000.

The earnings of the Grand Trunk were $1,916,332, against $1,639,614 for January of last year, a gain of $276,718.

These trade barometers continue to record prosperity.

PREFERENCES TO BE ABOLISHED.

A BILL was introduced in the Nova Scotia Legislature a few days ago which is of great interest to business men. It is a bill in regard to insolvency.

Insolvency matters in Nova Scotia at present come under the common law. The results are naturally unsatisfactory, particularly in the matter of preferences, the disposal of the assets of the estate of an insolvent being practically in his own hands. Under such a condition of affairs an equitable distribution of the assets of an estate is the exception and not the rule.

The most striking and most satisfactory feature of the bill in question is the unequivocal manner in which it strikes at the root of the preference evil: It declares that after the passage of the bill assignments containing preferences shall be void. Bills of sale and chattel mortgages registered within a certain period prior to an assignment are also declared to be void.

One feature of the bill which it is to be hoped will be eliminated is in regard to the appointment of official assignees. Experience proves that official assignees are baneful and expensive, and yet this bill provides for the appointment of one or more in each county in the province.

The bill makes no attempt to provide ways and means for the discharge of an insolvent, it being ultra vires of the constitution for a provincial legislature to adopt a measure essaying to do so. Practically all a provincial legislature can do is to pass an Act for the equitable distribution of the assets of an insolvent and to prevent preferences. These things the Nova Scotia Legislature now aims to do. Whether it will be successful remains to be seen.

Already a bill similar to that under discussion has twice been introduced and carried through the Nova Scotia Legislature. But twice has the Legislative Council, the higher House, killed it. Public opinion, however, is thought now to be so much more favorable to legislation of this character that it is hoped a majority for the bill will be found in favor of it in the House which has hitherto balked it.

If every province in the country were to introduce and pass a law similar to that which in now before the Nova Scotia Legislature the same raison d'etre for a Dominion insolvency law would not be so pronounced as it now is. But the bill before the Nova Scotia Legislature has not yet become law, and provided it does there is no guarantee that every province in Canada will have enacted similar measures even two decades hence. In the meantime the present unsatisfactory condition of affairs would continue.

But granted that within even a short period all the legislatures in the country pass a law similar to that now before the Nova Scotia Legislature, there would still be a necessity, although perhaps not as great as before, for the enactment of a Dominion insolvency law, for the simple reason that the powers of the provinces are curtailed in this respect.

The Dominion Parliament is the only legislative body that can pass a law such as the commercial exigencies of the country require and demand. And it is to be hoped it will not be derelict in its duty.

LOW PRICES ON CHEESE.

THE dead lock in the cheese market has been broken at last, and a considerable business was put through for export during the past eight days.

It is understood, however, that practically all of it has been done at a radical decline from the views that holders held in January when the demand ceased. At that time they were asking 8¾ to 8⅞c. for finest fall cheese, whereas it is understood that practically all of the recent business has been done at 8 to 8¼c., or ½ to ⅝c. decline. At these prices shippers have to take quite a loss, because the bare cost of the cheese, allowing for carrying and other charges, cannot be far from 8½c. on the inside, and quite possibly more.

At current prices, therefore, exporters have lost from 17½ to 35c. per box on the 20,000 odd boxes disposed of last week. In fact, the price of finest Canadian fall cheese has not been as low as at present since the seventies, when it sold as low as 7c.

It seems surprising that cheese, which is being cut at 5 pence in Great Britain, over the counter, should drag while other provisions of various sorts are selling at high prices.

Holders are hoping that the fact will lead to an increased consumption and accompanying improvement in prices later.

THE FEATURE OF FLOUR.

THE Ontario flour market is in a peculiar condition, the millers complaining that the advance of flour has not been in any of the grades equal to the advances which the past few months have witnessed in wheat.

Last year, with Ontario white wheat at 79 to 80c., Ontario patent flour was selling at from $4.50 to $4 75, and straight roller at $4. Last week, with white wheat at 90 to 91c., or an advance of 12½ per cent. over last year, Ontario patents were selling at $4.75, and straight roller at $4.15. To receive the same advance in flour as there has been in white wheat, Ontario patents should be selling at about $4.95 to $5.30, and straight roller at $4.50.

The cause assigned for this condition of affairs is the usual one—competition, grasping for trade, even at the expense of a reasonable profit, on the part of millers.

An advance of 15c. for all grades is noted this week, and further advances will probably follow, though much will depend on developments in the wheat market.

As to the prospects in this market there is much difference of opinion, for, while some are talking of $1.25 cash wheat, the general impression is that there will be a drop, and possibly a large one, before many months.

THE ADVANCE IN HIDES.

This has been a satisfactory year for those who have produced or handled hides and skins. The price of hides has, for the last three years, been advancing so steadily that now the value of the hide is a respectable proportion of the cost of the animal itself.

The hide of a bullock weighing, say, 600 lbs., and valued at $45 or $50, is worth at present quotations about $6.

Hides have, in the month of February, been worth as follows, from 1895 to 1898 :

	No. 1.	No. 2.	No. 3.
1895.....	4c.	3c.	2c.
1896..	5c.	4c.	3c.
1897.....	6½c.	5½c.	4½c.
1898.....	10c.	9c.	8c.

By this table it will be seen that a No. 1 hide is worth 2½ times, a No. 2, 3 times, and a No. 3, 4 times what it was selling at in 1895.

Sheepskins were selling at 80c. in February, 1895 and 1896, and at 90c. to $1 in 1897. They are now selling at $1.25, an advance of 50 per cent., as compared with 1896, or 25 per cent., as compared with 1897.

No. 1 calfskins have advanced from 6c. in 1895 and 1896 and 7c. to 8c. in 1897 to 12c. this year.

While to each farmer or to each buyer this advance in prices does not mean a great deal, the general effect of the advance cannot fail to give trade a satisfactory impetus.

POOR FIG SEASON.

The only kind of figs left in Smyrna are low grade naturals, all others being exhausted.

The past season has been a most unsatisfactory one for shippers, it being estimated that the aggregate losses of those in Smyrna are between £30,000 and £40,000 sterling.

Owing to rains in the early part of the season the fruit was damaged, and, consequently, the shippers had to meet claims from customers in Europe, the United States and Canada whose fruit was found discolored on arrival at their warehouses.

THE EXPORT SEED TRADE.

An evening paper, in an article this week, drew attention to the "heavy" shipments of clover seed by Toronto exporters. One of the firms mentioned informs THE CANADIAN GROCER that the article is misleading, inasmuch as the quantity of seed shipped is not unusual. Indeed, much larger shipments are frequently made, while the very shipment referred to by the evening paper in question was not as large as stated.

This shipment was, however, a noteworthy one, not for its value or quantity, but because it was the last large shipment before the close of the export demand for seed.

Another fact worthy of note is that the seed market is at present in such an unsettled condition that the principal firms refuse to give general quotations.

CAVERHILL, HUGHES & CO.

A writ has been issued against Caverhill, Hughes & Co., wholesale grocers, Montreal. The impression is that the firm will assign. Creditors are meeting as we go to press. The liabilities are heavy, but the business is said to be able to pay one hundred cents on the dollar. Mr. Hughes is seriously ill. A great deal of sympathy is felt for the firm.

BUSINESS MEN FOR PARLIAMENT.

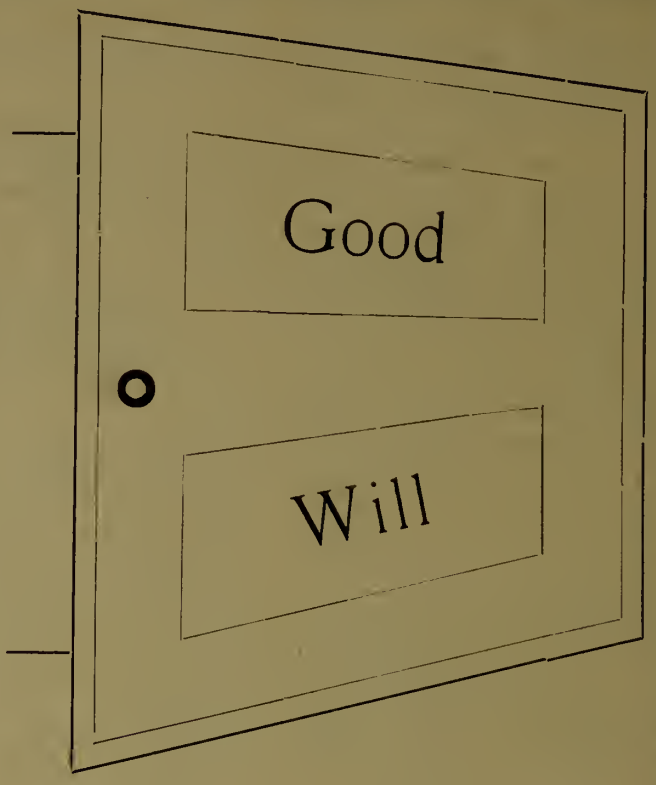
BUSINESS men in Ontario ought not to experience any qualms of political conscience, if, at the ensuing provincial elections, in casting their ballots for a practical business man, they are thereby voting against one who is the standard-bearer of what has hitherto been their particular party.

There are no party questions at issue, but if there were, business men are under no compliment to the politicians of either party. Both great political parties are run by professional politicians, who, while they may mean right, are, from lack of experience as practical business men, incapable of governing the country to the best advantage.

Doctors may be all right for prescribing for the ailments of a sick man ; lawyers may be all right for unraveling knotty points in law ; ward politicians may be all right for pulling the wires which get party friends into offiice. Those are their various offices.

But legislating for the Province of Ontario and for every other province in the Dominion, requires, not professional men, not theorists, but, practical business men.

Because we have not had them in the past, the business interests of the country have suffered.



The business men of Ontario will, on March 1, have an opportunity of remedying matters to some extent.

Whether this or that candidate be Liberal or Conservative should not be considered. The question should be : Has he practical business commonsense ?

There are 93 constituencies to be represented in the legislature, and if in each of these constituencies one hundred merchants would resolve to vote, irrespective of party, for the man most endowed with business commonsense it would be possible to make the next legislature a marked improvement over its predecessor. And as business men persist in doing this, it will not be a great while before the respective parties become more careful as to the fitness of the men they nominate as standard bearers.

A sleepy merchant and a wide-awake store are as incompatible as a lion and a lamb in harness.

GROCERS HAVE A JOLLY TIME.

ALL who were present at the "At Home" of the Retail Grocers' Association, of Toronto, held in St. George's hall, on Monday evening, the affair was a pleasant one, not soon to be forgotten.

It was the eleventh annual entertainment, and while the association may have had affairs of the kind with a larger attendance, yet it never had one that gave more general satisfaction.

There were about 400 present, among whom were a goodly number of representatives from the various wholesale and manufacturing firms appertaining to the grocery trade, as will be seen from the following list: Messrs. William Ince, jr., George Ince and Robert Maxwell, representing Perkins, Ince & Co.; Fred Dixon and Chas. Shields, representing the Davidson & Hay, Limited; Major Porte and Harry Fortier, representing the Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co., Limited; James McGuain, representing the Salada Tea Co.; C. S. Fairbairn, representing the Imperial Extract Co.; James Haywood; Frank Sloan, representing John Sloan & Co.; H. & W. Dawson, representing the Dawson Commission Co., Limited; George McWilliam, Frank Everist, H. W. Thorpe, Sam. McGuffin and Joe. Saunders, representing McWilliam & Everist; W. H. Seyler, representing W. H. Seyler & Co.; James T. Madden, representing the W. Ryan Co., Limited; J. Coutts, representing J. Taylor & Co.; W. Watts, representing Todhunter, Mitchell & Co.; Walter A. Strowger, manager, and J. Anderson, of the Ireland National Food Co.; Henry Wright, of the Imperial Cheese Co.; T. S. Grant, representing the Eby, Blain Co., Limited; John Gunn, representing D. Gunn, Bros. & Co.; A. H. Canning, of A. H. Canning & Co.; Robert B. Rice and Frank Blackburn, representing H. P. Eckardt & Co,; T. Holman, James Mortimer, C. E. Edwards, James Norris and Frank Choate, representing Christie, Brown & Co.; S. H. Moore, representing Pugsley, Dingman & Co.; James and Walter Lumbers; A. E. Clemes and Ed. Oake, representing Clemes Bros.; W. A. Rutherford, representing Rutherford & Marshall; David Morton, representing D. Morton & Sons; W. Bell, representing Kilgour Bros.; James Owen, representing Warren Bros. & Co.; A. Hutchins, representing D. Richards & Co., Woodstock; A. G. Fleming, representing T. Kinnear & Co.; James Litster, representing the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co.; James E. Bailey, James Haywood, W. M. Bowie, W. F. Morley, Dr. A. A. Beatty.

The entertainment opened with a programme of a more than usually entertaining character. Those who contributed to it were: Mr. Maitland, pianist; Mr. Carlisle, magician; Bert Harvie and W. Yule, comic; Bert Maguire, banjo soloist; Miss Florence Crang, soprano; Ben. Cope, baritone soloist; Miss Shaffer, elecutionist; Miss Lillian Porter, piano soloist.

Mr. W. H. Marmion, president of the Retail Grocers' Association, was chairman, and during the disposal of the programme, modestly kept himself and the red rose he wore behind the expansive branches of a luxuriant palm.

It was after ten o'clock before the programme was exhausted, and then the four hundred tried to exhaust the refreshments which Caterer Williams, of the Bodega, had provided. Following the refreshments came dancing, and before that was finished the clock had indicated half past two.

One of the best evidences of the success of the "At Home" was the fact that it exceeded the anticipation of its promoters. These were the committee of management to whose efforts much of the entertainment's success was due: President. W. H. Marmion; secretary, Ed. Howes; D. J. Kelly, A. G. Booth, P. Painter, J. G. Gibson, J. Dallemore, R. W. Davies.

OUR TRADE WITH AUSTRALASIA.

In an interview in The Victoria Times, Col. Sam Hughes, who has just returned from Australia, pays a high tribute to the Canadian commissioner to the Australian colonies, owing to whose efforts, as well as the enterprise of Canadian manufacturers and C.P.R. officials, a good deal of merchandise now goes from Canada to Vancouver. The boats going to Australia are well loaded, but those coming to Canada have light cargoes. Col. Hughes states that hides, raw furs, wool, canned meats, canned fruits, raw sugar, butter, and frozen meat could readily be imported into Canada to fully better advantage than similar commodities are now brought in from other countries. Our export trade with Australia can also be further increased. Complaint is heard in Australia that many articles received from Canada are put up in an untidy manner. For example, a Winnipeg firm sent home hams to Sydney, which were opened in his presence. The canvas was rough, the packing dirty, and the meal was not properly taken from the oat hulls used, so became imbedded in the hams and turned mouldy and black, while the hams, though deliciously sweet to taste, were soft and looked very inferior. Other Canadian hams, shipped by way of Glasgow, were opened side by side with the Winnipeg products, and were most attractive in every respect.

A KLONDYKE CHILL.

A young gentleman whose gallantry was largely in excess of his pecuniary means, sought to remedy this defect and save the money required for the purchase of expensive flowers by arranging with a gardner to let him have a bouquet from time to time in return for his cast-off clothes.

It thus happened one day that he received a bunch of the most beautiful roses, which he at once sent off to his lady love. In sure anticipation of a friendly welcome, he called at the house of the lady the same evening, and was not a little surprised at the frosty reception he met with.

"You sent me a note to-day," the young lady remarked, after a pause, in the most frigid tones.

"I—a note?" he inquired, in blank astonishment.

"Certainly, along with a nosegay."

"To be sure, I sent you a nosegay."

"And there was a note inside—do you still mean to deny it?"

With these words she handed the dumbfounded swain a scrap of paper, on which the following words were written: "Don't forget the old trousers you promised me the other day."

Markets and Market Notes

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 17, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale trade is brightening up after its recent quietude. The advance in sugars noted last week has been maintained, while the outside markets have shown further appreciation. The local demand for sugar has increased with the advance in price. Probably the most active line in the wholesale grocery trade just now is tea, the seasonable demand for which is gradually improving. There has been a little more enquiry for canned tomatoes, peas and corn during the week, particularly from Manitoba and the Coast, but it does not appear to have led to much business. Spices continue firm, ginger being among the latest lines to appreciate in price. Coffees are meeting with a fair enquiry. Syrups and molasses are quiet. Foreign dried fruits are quiet, but prices are being firmly maintained.

CANNED GOODS.

A little more interest in canned vegetables has been evinced during the past week, principally on account of enquiries from Manitoba and British Columbia. We hear of a transaction in 1,000 cases of tomatoes this week. The price was $1.15 and the purchase was on speculative account. Business is still improving a little in canned fruits. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.20 to $1.25; corn, to 85c.; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10 to $1.25; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 60 to 95c.; peaches, $2 to $2.40 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.40 to $1.70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c.; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1 25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand; cohoes, 95c. to $1; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2 70 for tall tins; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

COFFEE.

Maracaibo coffees are advised stronger. Rio coffees, both in New York and Europe, are firmer. Locally the wholesale demand continues fair. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c.; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Only a small trade is being done and stocks are low. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

According to advices from New Orleans the market there is firm. The local market is quiet and unchanged. We quote as follows: New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c.; ditto. half-bbls., 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-bbls.,33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Since the advance of 1-16c. made by the Montreal refineries, the maritime province refineries have marked their figures up ⅛c. per lb. The New York market is stronger than it was a week ago, and there have been transactions in raws there at an advance of 1-16 to ⅛c. per lb. Since our last, centrifugal sugars have advanced 1½d. per cwt. in London, and beet for present and next month's delivery is ¼d. dearer. Foreign refined sugars remain unchanged. The demand upon the local market since the advance has improved, and a fairly good business is being done. We quote as follows: wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days: Granulated (St. Lawrence, Redpath, Acadia), 4 9-16c.; ditto, Dutch, in bags, 4 7-16c.; ditto, German of Canadian make, in bbls., 4¼c.; ditto, imported, in bags, 4 3-16c.; yellows, 3 13-16c. upwards.

NUTS.

There is an easier feeling in Sicily shelled almonds in New York, but locally there is nothing new to note. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 12½ to 14c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 23 to 25c.; Tarragona almonds, 9 to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 9½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

Japan rice keeps firm. Tapioca is strong and advancing, prices being about 1s. 6d. above the lowest point. Local wholesalers have been wanting to buy at the old prices, but their efforts have been abortive. We quote: Standard" B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½ to 4½c.

SPICES.

The position of the spice market is stronger rather than weaker. Whole black pepper could not be laid down here in large lots at less than about 10c. per lb. Cochin ginger is cabled 10s. dearer. Cloves continue firm. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 14c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 15c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 12c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 24 to 26c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 20 to 22c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 20 to 22c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 16c.; cassia, 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

TEAS.

Stocks of spot Ceylon teas at about 12½ to 13c. are exhausted. There is some enquiry for Ceylon teas at from 7 to 8½d., but the quality is not desirable. Good values at 10d., or say 20 to 21c. are practically unobtainable. Teas at about 14 to 14½c., and 25 to 28c. are the teas which appear to be showing the best values. In Indian teas the outside markets are firm, but some Pekoe Souchong teas, said to be of poor draw, have been offered at ½d. under the London sales. Teas at 8½ to 10½d. show an advance of from ½ to 1d. in both London and Calcutta. Nice flavory Ceylon teas are selling at from ½ to 1d. dearer on the local market than they were a week ago. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indias and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The market is quiet with prices firm. Advices from Patras state that the demand from abroad is slack at present, but holders do not expect a decline in price, as stocks in Greece cannot exceed 15,000 tons with only the season about half over. The advices state that shipments are on the way to this market. We quote as follows:

Lemons are moving steadily, with prices 25c. lower than last week. Bananas are selling well. Winter pears are off the market. Cranberries are also about done. A drop of 25 to 50c. is noted in California navel and Seville oranges. Valencias, in 714's cases are off the market. POTATOES—The demand readily absorbs all offered on the market. Carload lots are coming in steadily and move well. We quote: Carload lots at 58 to 60c., and small lots on the market at 65 to 70c.

DRIED APPLES—There is a little movement, with prices steady at from 3½ to 4½c., according to quality, which varies greatly.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Prices for choice goods are steady at 9½ to 10c., but the quality of some stocks is such that these are offered as low as 8½ to 9c. The factories are holding firm at 9c. f.o.b.

BEANS—Trade is improving somewhat, especially for the hand-picked article. The jobbing price for this kind has advanced. We quote prime beans at 75c. in 5 and 10 bag lots, with hand-picked at about 90c. to $1.

Clemes Bros. - Toronto

HONEY—The demand continues good. Clover in comb has declined 25c. per dozen. Buckwheat in comb is also 10c. cheaper. We quote: Clover honey, 7 to 7½c.; light color, in 60-lb. tins, 6 to 6½c.; 5 and 10-lb. tins, 7 to 7½c.; buckwheat 3 to 4c.; comb, clover, $1.25 to $1.50 per dozen; buckwheat, 60 to 70c.

POULTRY — Turkeys and chickens are coming in fairly well, and all are readily sold. We quote: Geese, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; chickens, dressed, 40 to 60c.; turkeys, small and medium, 10½ to 11½c.; large, 8½ to 10c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a scarcity of really choice dairy in all lines, especially tubs and large rolls. Pound prints have advanced 1c. Creamery is offering freeely. As the export demand has been poor, the local demand, though steady, has not been sufficient to use up the supply. The latest reports give evidence of a better feeling as the export demand. Creamery tubs have declined 1c. per lb. We quote: Dairy, large rolls, 14 to 15c.; pound prints, 15 to 16c.; tubs, best grade, 14 to 15c.; second grade, 13 to 14c.; low grade, 11 to 12c.; creamery, early make, tubs, 16 to 17c.; late make, tubs, 17 to 18c.; prints, 20c.

CHEESE—There is little or no export enquiry, but as cheese is principally in the hands of large dalers, it is expected that an advance of prices will be forced before closing out lots. The local trade is good with lots offering. The prices are at present rather weak at 8½ to 9c.

PROVISIONS.

There continues to be a steady demand. Orders are small, but on the whole, better than usual at this season of the year. Lard is firm at an advance of ¼c. per lb. There is a fairly liberal delivery of dressed hogs. Long clear bacon has advanced ¼c. for carload lots. Rolls and backs have advanced ¼ to ½c. per lb. Barrel pork of all kinds is 50c. dearer. We quote as follows:

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7¾c. for carload lots, and 7¾ to 8c. per lb. for ton lots and cases.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11½ to 12c.; rolls, 8¾c.; hams, large, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 10½c.; small, 11c.; shoulder hams, 8½ to 9c.; backs, 11½ to 12c.; with 1c. less for all meats out of pickle.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7¼c.; tubs, 7½c.; pails, 7¾c.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Barley is still receiving the most attention on the market, the price having risen ½ to 3c. over last week's figure. Wheat is offered in good quantities. Prices throughout are from 1 to 2½c. higher than last week. We quote : Wheat, red, 92 to 92½c.; white, 86 to 87c.; goose, 83 to 85c.; peas, 57 to 59c.; rye, 48 to 49c.; barley, 42 to 43c.; oats, 35 to 37c., Toronto freights. No. 1 hard wheat has advanced 3c., and is now quoted at $1.08, Toronto freights ; Midland, $1.05.

FLOUR — An advance throughout of 10c. is noted, with probability of further advance in the near future, as millers are working on the smallest margin they have had for years. We quote : Manitoba patents, $5.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $5; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $4.90 ; straight roller, $4.15 to $4.25, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Business continues brisk, with advances of 15 to 30c. in oatmeal and rolled oats, cornmeal and pot barley. WOOL — The demand continues fairly active, with the price for pulled wools steady at 20½c. for fleeces and tub-washed.

SEEDS.

The export demand is about over, closing up with the usual heavy shipments by Toronto firms. As the local demand has not begun the market is dull and unsettled, so much so that dealers refuse to give quotations to cover a week in advance.

SALT

There has been an improvement in the demand, which is now active. We quote as follows : Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack ; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote : F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery situation has furnished little radical change from a week ago. The advance in the refiners' prices of sugar has not affected the jobbing price here, as values are unsettled in this respect. Buyers and sellers are apart on low grade teas, or there would be a very active trade doing, as the enquiry is good. Canned goods in all staple lines are firmly held, and the same can be said of dried fruit, which, however, rules rather quiet. Fish, provisions and meats show the customary trade of the season.

SUGAR.

There has been no further change in the sugar market since last report, and though refiners last week advanced their prices, the jobbing range remains practically as last quoted. Indeed, it is not certain that some of them are not selling below the refiners' prices. Outside, the tone is firm, both on the raw and the refined article. We quote as follows: Standard granulated, 4 5-16c.; Canadian German granulated, 4c.; Austrian and German imported granulated, 3 15-16c. in bags, and domestic yellows, 3½ to 4c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

There has been some enquiry for low grade syrups during the past week, but buyers find it difficult to fill wants, as refiners are completely out of such stock. There is only a limited quantity of bright stock on hand, and we quote 2¼ to 2½c.

MOLASSES.

There has been no change in the situation of the molasses market, the feeling being firm, holders of choice Barbadoes stock being confident that, once the demand begins, advanced prices will be realized. Advices from the islands state that the market there has opened at 13c. f.o.b., and that supplies are very scarce. This price is 3c. lower than the opening price last season. We quote the jobbing range as follows: Barbadoes, puncheons, 28c.; barrels, 30½c.; and half-barrels, 31½c. per gallon; car lots 1c. less, and Porto Rico, 26 to 27c., according to quality.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market rules firm, and prices are strictly held on all staple vegetables and fruits. Enquiry has picked up to a considerable extent also this week. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; corn, 90c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1.15; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb.do., $1.10 to $1.20; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25; "Clover Leaf," $1.25; Lowe Inlet, $1.20, in tall tins; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25 to $4.50.

TEAS.

The rejection recently by the Government of a lot of low grade Congous and dust has further restricted stocks of low grade tea on this market, and enquiry for these is becoming more evident every day. Bids, however, in the majority of cases are below holders' views. In the finer grades of Japans there have been transactions around 19c. for a straight lot. We quote: Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest; China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

SPICES.

The spice market rules steady. We quote: Black pepper, 9 to 15c.; pure white, 15 to 20c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 30c.; allspice, 14c.; and nutmegs, 50 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There is a quiet trade doing in coffee and prices are unchanged at 12 to 15c. for Maracaibo; 11½c., for Santos, and 10 to 12c. for Rio. Mocha is steady at 28c. and Java 28 to 31c.

RICE.

There is a fair trade in rice for the season of the year. Foreign advices continue very strong and the prospects point to an advance in prices. We quote: Crystal Japan, 5c.; standard B rice $3.50 to $3.75; Patna, $5 to $5.50; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Burmah, $4 to $4.25, and Java kinds, $4.25 to $4.50.

DRIED FRUIT.

The currant market is quiet and unchanged. We quote: Fine Vostizzas, 6½c.;

Valencia raisins are unchanged both locally and abroad, the tone being firm. We quote: Off-stalk, 4½c.; fine do., 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5¾ to 6c., and 4-crown layers, 6 to 6¼c.

California raisins are dull, 2-crown being scarce and firm 6 to 6¾c.; 3 and 4-crown are steady at 7¾ to 8¾c. respectively.

Sultana raisins are unchanged at 8½ to 9c., and loose Spanish muscatels, 6 to 7c.

The prune market is steady. California selling at 5 to 10c. as to grade, and French, 4½ to 5½c.

Figs are steady. We quote: Eleme, 10-lbs., 10 to 11c.; case lots, 9c.; 12-oz. boxes, 7½c.; 14-oz. boxes, 9c., and bags, 4 to 5c.

Dates are dull and easy at 5 to 5½c.

NUTS.

Quiet and steady. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 8½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 16 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 7 to 8½c., and pecans, 9 to 10c.

FISH.

Notwithstanding the near approach of the Lenten season the demand for fish from local and country retail dealers has shown no improvement during the past two weeks, and wholesale dealers now have little confidence in the trade for any large business during the Lenten season, as they state that buyers generally have ample stocks on hand to fill all requirements. All lines of fish continue in large supply and rule at low prices with the exception of pickled salmon, which are somewhat scarce and prices for the same have scored an advance of 25c. per barrel. In fresh fish all lines of Manitoba stock show a decline of ½c. per lb. and the offerings of such from point of shipment are large. Haddocks and cod in case lots are selling at 2¾ to 3c. per lb.; steak cod, 4c.; smelts, 4 to 6c.; Manitoba dore, 5 to 5½c.; pike, 3 to 3½c.; white fish and trout, 6½c.; fresh frozen salmon, 12c.; fresh herrings, large, $1.40; medium, $1.20; per 100, and tommy cods, $1 to $1.10 per bbl.

The stock of pickled fish is large, and although no actual decline in values has taken place, holders of such show a disposition to shade present figures. We quote: Green cod, No. 1, large, $4 to $4.25; No. 1, ordinary, $3 to $3.50; No. 2, $2.25 to $2.40; herrings, No. 1, N.S., $4.25 per bbl., and $2.10 to $2.25 per half-bbl.; Cape Breton, $4.50 to $4.75 per bbl.; B.C. salmon, $11.75 per bbl.; No. 1 trout, $4 to $4.25 per half-bbl.

Smoked fish are in good supply, for which the demand is fair, and prices rule steady. Haddies are selling at 5½ to 6c. per lb.; new Yarmouth bloaters, $1.25 per box of 75 fish, and smoked herrings, 10c. per box.

In preserved fish trade is slow and prices show no change. Dressed codfish are selling at $4.25 to $4.50 per case of 100 lbs.; dried cod, at $3.50 per cwt.; boneless codfish, at 4½ to 5c. per lb., and boneless fish, 3c. per lb.

DRIED APPLES.

The dried apple market was easy and unchanged at 5 to 6½c., and evaporated, 9 to 10c.

APPLES.

Green apples are dull and unchanged at $3 to $4, as to grade.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change on the green fruit market during the past week, and business is quiet. We quote: Jamaica oranges, $4 to $5 per bbl.; California, do., $3.25 to $3.50; Valencia, $5 to $5.50 for 420's and $5.75 to $6 for 714's; Florida, $4.50 to $5; Lemons, $2.25 to $3; pineapples, 25 to 50c. each, and cranberries, $7.50 to $8 per bbl. for Cape Cod, with Nova Scotia $8.50 to $9.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A fair jobbing trade was done in eggs to-day, there being a good demand for small lots of new-laid, and the market was moderately active and steady. We quote: Strictly new laid, 18 to 19c.; Montreal limed, 15c.; western limed, 12½ to 14c., and cold storage, 11½ to 13c. per dozen.

POULTRY—The receipts of poultry continue very light, and the indications are they will remain so until the end of the season now. A few small lots of fresh-killed stock were offered to-day, and met with a ready sale at firm prices. Fresh killed turkeys sell at 9½ to 10c.; chickens, 7 to 7½c.; ducks, 8 to 8½c., and geese, 5 to 7c. per lb.

BEANS—The market for beans is dull and unchanged at 80 to 90c. for primes, and at 95c. to $1 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—The demand for honey was slow, and the market is quiet. We quote: White clover, 12½c.; dark clover comb, 10 to 10½c., and dark, 7 to 8c.

PROVISIONS.

There was no change in the provision market. The demand is chiefly for small lots to fill the actual wants, and trade on the whole is quiet. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $16.50 to $17 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8 to 8¼c., and compound refined at 5½ to 5¾c. per lb.; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; bacon, 12 to 13½c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

The demand for small lots of dressed hogs was fair, but the market, on the whole, was quiet, and prices show no change.

Quiet and steady. We quote: Coarse Liverpool, in 165-lb. bags, 38 to 45c., and Trepani, $1.10 per bag of 215 lbs.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

The feature of the flour market is the demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba grades, and 1,000 sacks on Belfast account, for shipment via St. John, N.B., and 1,000 on Glasgow account for shipment via Boston, were put through. Locally trade was fairly active, there being a good demand for small lots at firm prices. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, patents, $4.60 to $4.85; straight rollers, $4.40 to $4.45; bags, $2.12½ to $2.15; best Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; second do., $4.50, and low grades, $2.70; Hungarian patents, $5.30.

The unsettled feeling in the meal market continues, and there is a vast difference in regard to the value of rolled oats between the different representatives of the Ontario mills. One of them declares that $3.75 per bbl. is the inside price on track here, while another claims that $3.50 is the top figure, and hard to sell at that.

GRAIN AND FEED.

A fairly active trade continues to be done in grain, and the undertone to the market is strong, with prices tending higher. The feature of the market is oats, and values have scored a further advance of ½c. per bushel. The demand is still good, and some large sales were made to-day at 35½ to 36c. afloat, May delivery, and at 33 to 33½c. store. A fair trade was done in peas, and prices were firm, with sales of round lots at 66½ to 67c. afloat, May delivery, and at 63½ to 64c. store. There was some demand for rye, and one or two round lots were placed at 60 to 61c. afloat. May delivery. In wheat, business was quieter, but prices were unchanged, Ontario red being quoted at 88c., and white at 86c. at shipping points along the line.

There was a good demand for feed and the market is fairly active and firm. We quote: Ontario bran, $13; shorts, $14 to $15 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $14 to $14.50, and shorts, $16 to $16.50 per ton, including bags.

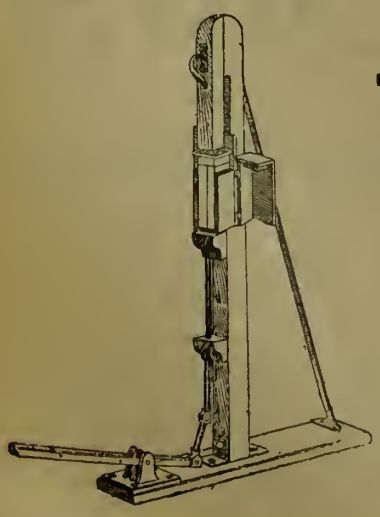
A fair business was reported in hay and prices show no material change. Really choice hay is very scarce, and buyers find it difficult to supply their wants of such. We quote: No. 1 at $10.50, and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

There was no material change in the situation of the cheese market, business on spot being quiet, and there is no new feature to note.

The demand for butter is chiefly of a jobbing character, and the market rules quiet and about steady. Fine creamery sells at 18½c.; undergrades at 16 to 17c.; dairy rolls at 15 to 15½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.



There has been no change in the jobbing price of refined sugar on this market.

Buyers and sellers are apart or else there would be an extremely active trade is low grade teas.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 12, 1898.

THE great bonspiel of 1898 is drawing to a close, and will go upon record as the most successful ever held. Over 100 rinks have participated, and as the cheap rates were extended to all, the city has been crowded with strangers all week. Over 400 curlers attended the annual sermon on the Sunday evening preceding the spiel.

Business has been very brisk. The fire sufferers are looking about and getting new quarters, the ruins of the McIntyre block still smoke, and gangs of men are busy clearing out the cellars. The rush for offices has caused quite a boom in the carpenter trade. At the time of the fire there were very few vacant stores in Winnipeg, and these have been all appropriated, and there is not enough to accommodate those who want them.

One of the events of the week was the "trade sale" of the Turner, MacKeand stock of groceries. These sales are somewhat of a novelty to Winnipeg. The buyers were chiefly, as anticipated, retail men from the country towns in the city for bonspiel week. The prices ranged high, and the Thompson Codville Co. express themselves as satisfied with the result.

Bright & Johnston, wholesale fruiters, have moved into very commodious and convenient quarters on Bannatyne street east, where they enjoy the facilities of the transfer track, and are now in a position to receive fruit direct from point of shipment at their warehouse door, without a second handling. This firm is among the newest in the wholesale trade and have already found business to warrant their change to these large new premises. The building is a three storey brick, with good cellarage, and has been newly fitted throughout.

There are at present no new developments with regard to the Geo. Craig failure, barring the fact that it has become known that the cause of failure was paying a ruinously high rate of interest on borrowed capital.

The Parsons Produce Co. are extending their business at the Coast and will open up a permanent branch house there shortly.

Klondyke fever still continues to rage fiercely, and every day brings forward new articles "packed expressly for the Klondyke trade," in fact, if merchants were to buy the things of this kind offered they would soon have larger stocks than their capital warrants.

One of the industries of Winnipeg lately settled down into new quarters is the Royal Crown Soap Works. This is one of the oldest manufacturing businesses in Winnipeg, and enjoys a well-earned and very extensive trade.

Business all round is good with markets steady and prices firm, the expected advance in canned vegetables has arrived and the situation is now about as follows: Tomatoes are quoted at $3 and even this is under the figure for which they could be laid down here to-day from the east. Corn, in sympathy with tomatoes, is much higher, and now ranges from $1.85 to $2, according to brand. Peas, $1.95 to $2. There is not much change in any other lines, though all classes of canned goods are very firm.

EVAPORATED FRUITS — This produce is from ¼ to ½c. higher all round. While dried apples are offering more freely than last week the price remains unchanged. Quotations are: Apples, evap., 11¾ to 12c.; apricots, 11¼ to 11½c., according to quality; peaches, fancy peeled, 17¼c.; unpeeled, 10½ to 12½c. Prunes look as if they were going to be particularly good properties for the holders. Small sizes are scarce and are worth 4¾ to 5c. Raisins and currants are without change this week.

CEREALS—The only change to be noted here is an advance in split peas and pot barley. Split peas are worth $2.30 per sack.

RICE—Situation is little changed, and no Japan rice is yet in sight. For other grades the offerings are good, and all contracts will be made to terminate on July 1, 1898, as on that date the preferential tariff comes in force and prices will be lower.

CURED MEATS—Demand good; market very firm and steady. Prices the same as last week: Smoked hams, 11½c.; bellies, ditto, 10½c.; shoulders, 8½c.; spiced rolls, 8½c.; American hams, 11c.; dry salt long clear, 8½c.; short clear (American), 8¼c.; shoulders, 8c.; boneless, 8c.; backs, 8c.; lard, 20-lb. pails, $1,60; 50-lb. ditto, $4.

BUTTER — Market little weaker; fresh rolls, 15c.; fresh dairy tub, in round lots, 15½ to 16c., according to grade. Supply is nominal, with indications of increase if fine weather continues.

CHEESE—Holdings are small. Price is higher—11c. for large and 11½c. for small, late September and October make.

EGGS—Market for strictly fresh eggs is very firm, but for limed or pickled eggs is weaker. The supply is fair; price, 16c. The indications are that the supply will be largely increased in the near future.

SEEDS—Time has come round for grocers to handle seeds, and many have already got in their stocks. These are usually handled on commission by retail grocers.

COFFEE — Market dull and stagnant. Rios lower, being now only worth 10c.

TEAS —Market quiet and firm. Prices without change. This market is peculiar, as nearly all the stocks come in, or rather are bought, very early and prices remain without change during the season.

GREEN FRUIT—This market is very slow and dull at present, with no new lines showing. Oranges are cheaper — Mexicans, $3.75 to $4; navels, $4 to $4.50. Apples—southern, $4; Canadian, $4.50. Bitter oranges, $7. Small lots of southern celery, 75c. per dozen.

DRIVING AWAY THE RATS.

A correspondent of our French contemporary, Le Meunier, communicates to that paper an exceedingly simple means of driving away rats from the premises of the mill or warehouse, and vouches for its efficacy. He says that all that is needed to effect the discomfiture of the rats is a handful of the garden herb called rue. It is first dried in the shade and then hung on the joists of the bins or other convenient places. The correspondent says that he had been troubled with rats, and hung the rue in a granary. Straightway the rats disappeared, and he was convinced that the mere odor of the rue drove them away. Afterwards he placed handfuls of the herb in the runways of the rats, with the result that he found many rodents dead from having eaten it; and in a very little time his premises were entirely freed from the vermin.—American Miller.

RAISIN GROWING IN CALIFORNIA.

A CALIFORNIAN industry that has made an interesting progress in a short time is the raisin industry. This industry began in a very crude way in 1870, when some four or five grape growers in various parts of California began to dry grapes of various kinds.

They were riduculed by the newspapers and public at the time, but they kept on experimenting and visiting Spain, Zante and other places, till, though some of them were nearly penniless, success met their efforts. In 1895, one of these pioneers of the industry, Mr. W. W. Blowers, marketed 30,000 pounds of raisins, and sold over 120,000 cuttings from a vineyard of ten acres.

There are hundreds of varieties of table and wine grapes, but only a few raisin grapes. Two groups of raisin grapes are now successfully grown in California. The Muscat group, includes the Muscat of Alexandria, Muscatello, Gordo Blanco, the Huasco, of Peru, and one or two other kinds. The Huasco, of Peru, is the most noted variety, but all are immense bearers, and have a sweet musky flavor. Their color is greenish or yellow. The seedless group includes the Sultana, Thompson's seedless and one or two other varieties. Some of these are very sweet, others more or less acid, and popular for cooking, and are all small in comparison with the Muscat. The only important fault of the leading varieties is that they produce a succession of crops from August until frost. This is not as desirable as if it yielded its entire crop in one mid-season picking.

This industry seems to flourish best in Fresno, Tulare, Kern, and Kings counties, where the land is rich sandy loam, often containing a percentage of alkali salts, which, if not in excess, add a high flavor to the grape and vigor to the vine.

Raisin grape vines are planted six to twelve feet apart, in deeply ploughed soil. They root easily, and are cut down to stumps 15 inches high, which form the permanent bearing vines. In four years they bear well, and the crop increases in size and quality for several years.

When the grapes are "dead ripe" the clusters are cut from the vines and placed in trays two by three feet in size. These trays are placed in the vacant spaces in the vineyards, and when one side is dried the grapes are inverted into another tray without changing their relative position. Great skill is shown by the men and women who work at the business in arranging the trays to get the sun properly and to avoid showers.

After the grapes are sufficiently sun dried, they are emptied from the trays into large "sweat boxes," six or eight inches deep, where the skin becomes tender and the needed moisture is evenly distributed.

The raisins now are sold at from 2½ to 3c. per lb., ungraded, to the packing houses, where they are graded and packed according to the variety and their quality and size. The cases range from 1-lb. pasteboard boxes of machine-seeded Muscats (a new product) to 50-lb. wooden boxes of stemmed Muscats, seedless Sultanas, etc. The unstemmed cluster raisins require much skill in packing. Four grades of seed raisins are packed, the cheapest, a small but good product, being called the 2-crown, the qualities being graded to the 6-crown. The bulk of the product is the 3-crown and the 4-crown.

As mentioned before, the first crop marketed was in 1875. In 1895 there were shipped from Fresno county alone over 83,000,000 lbs. The best vineyards yield from one to one and a half tons per acre. The crop this year has been greatly injured by early rains, which spoiled much of the fruit that was ripe and ready to be dried.

GROCERY CLERKS' CONCERT.

Under the auspices of the Toronto Grocery Clerks' and Drivers' Association, Mr. W. E. Ramsay gave, in the Auditorium hall, concerts on Friday and Saturday evening, with a matinee on Saturday afternoon, last week. Mr. Ramsay is a well-known humorist, and his singing and recitations frequently won great applause, especially on Saturday afternoon, when many children were present. At each of the entertainments, over a dozen moving pictures by a cinematographe were exhibited, including some six pictures of the Queen's Jubilee procession in London. The pictures were remarkably lifelike and interesting. The attendance at the entertainments was not as good as it should have been, but the management came out about $26 ahead. It is hoped, however, that these concerts have been the means of advertising the excursion which this association intends running to Guelph on May 24 next.

OFF TO BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Mr. J. A. Bremner, who for the past eight years has been ledgerkeeper for the Davidson & Hay, Ltd., has left that firm to take a position at Ashcroft, B.C. Before leaving, on Saturday last, he was made the recipient of a handsome traveling set and smoking jacket from his fellow employes and the firm. The presentation was made in the company's offices by Col. Davidson, who voiced the good wishes of the staff in wishing "Jack" every success in his new position. Mr. Bremner left on the noon train, Saturday. He goes to Ashcroft as secretary-treasurer of the British Columbia Express Co.

GROCERY TRAVELERS DINE AND DANCE.

THE Montreal Wholesale Grocery Travelers' Association held its third annual banquet and ball at the Queen's Hotel, on Tuesday evening, 15th inst., and it proved to be a most enjoyable affair. The hotel people had gone to considerable trouble in decorating the dining hall, and the effect was all that could be desired. The assembled company, consisting of about 150 ladies and gentlemen, entered the dining room at about 9 o'clock and thereafter proceeded to do full justice to a nicely cooked and well served dinner.

The president, Mr. E. Massicotte, presided with his usual good grace, and was ably assisted by the members of the banquet committee, nobody wanting for an ample supply of the toothsome dishes which were being served.

One of the most pleasant features of the evening was the enthusiastic reception accorded to M. H. Laporte, the president of the Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Association, and Mr. John Scanlan, president of the Retail Grocers' Association, upon their entering the dining room somewhat late in the evening.

The banquet having been brought to a satisfactory ending, an adjournment was made to the hotel parlors while the dining room was being cleared for dancing. Upon the announcement by the dance committee that all was in readiness, the hall was again entered and the programme of over twenty dances proceeded with, and not completed until daylight was beginning to make its appearance. All present united in expressing their pleasure and satisfaction with both the banquet and ball, and the committees having these matters in hand are to be congratulated upon the success of their labors.

Banquet committee—F. Hodge, chairman; W. F. Leclerc, C. Corrigan, R. P. Laprairie, J. E. Manning.

CHICORY GROWING IN CANADA.

AT a recent meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade, President Rogers stated that a large chicory manufacturer intended starting a factory in the "Queen City." The company, it is said, will go into the business on a large scale, and will, in the spring, put 100 acres under cultivation within 20 miles of Toronto.

Mr. W. H. Seyler, who represents, in Toronto, the chicory manufacturing firm of Heinrich Frank Soehne & Co., Ludwigburg, Germany, was asked by THE CANADIAN GROCER if it was his firm which proposed to establish the factory in question.

"I am not," he said, "prepared to state what concern it is that proposed to start the chicory factory, and I have no authority for stating it is ours. In fact I do not think our people would think they were warranted in starting up on such a large scale as it is said those who propose to start the factory design to do. You know the annual consumption of chicory is only about 500 tons. Canada, as you are aware, is more of a tea-drinking than a coffee-drinking country, while the grocers here are not as conversant with the art of blending coffee and chicory as those in Europe and the United States are.

"There is undoubtedly room for the cultivation of chicory in Canada. Some of the best coffee men in the city are regular buyers of chicory. We became agents for Heinrich Frank Soehne & Co. in September last, and since then we have brought in tons of chicory in spite of the duty of 4c. per pound."

"No doubt chicory can be cultivated in Canada, but in order to do so with success, present methods must be changed. For instance it should not be prepared with lard as it now is, while the native chicory has a woody flavor."

"What part of Canada do you consider best adapted for chicory cultivation?"

"Well, the country round about Mono Road, Ont., is perhaps the best adapted so far as known, and it is from that part of the country that our coffee men and chicory roasters have got most of their supplies of late years. Then the country around Toronto, within a radius of 25 miles, is well adapted for chicory growing, as you are already aware. Some years ago there was a chicory kiln at Agincourt, but it was burned down, and was never rebuilt."

LONDON MAN NEAR KLONDYKE.

MR. F. W. HERRING, traveler, of London, Ont.. who left recently for the Klondyke, writes from Dyea, Alaska, to a member of The London Advertiser staff. Dyea is about 300 miles south of Dawson City. His letter is dated Jan. 17, and reads as follows:

"I am at the foot or approach of the Chilkoot Pass. The mushroom growth of this place is surprising. Small lots are $1,200 to $2,000 each. The pitching of a tent on a vacant lot is $40 a month. Dogs are howling right and left, and all is so different to our Canadian way of living. In Juneau, as in all these towns, Sunday is not respected. Gambling houses, dance halls and saloons are all wide open day and night. We had four hours in Juneau, and it is a swift town. Everything is two bits, or a quarter, being equal to our 5 cents. Everyone has lots of money. Skaguay is the next largest, and much the same as Juneau, only you see more dogs and Indian packers. We were put on a lighter and towed here, as there is no dock here yet. The weather has been much misrepresented. The hue and cry comes from the people from the Coast, who never see snow, and in Seattle ladies were wearing furs and the men were shivering when it was just a nice morning for a walk. We had a sad accident in the City of Seattle coming up here. A Canadian met instant death by the falling of the mast-head signal light. He was put off at Juneau, and will be buried there.

"The rush next spring, I am afraid, will be the cause of more accidents, on account of overcrowding the steamers. The trip up was something grand, especially in the Wrangel narrows, which can only be navigated in the day time. You see here seals by the thousands in these arctic waters. This hotel is a log house, with cook stove, tables and office all in one room. Our sleeping room is one room, with a space on the floor for 50 cents; but it is clean, and that is everything."

SULTANA RAISINS STRONG.

Sultana raisins continue to occupy a strong position. Advices received in Toronto from Smyrna state that barely eight to nine hundred tons remain there, as a consequence of which business is much restricted, holders only selling when they can get full prices.

In London, Sultana raisins are 2s. higher than they were a short time ago.

Wholesale Grocers MONTREAL

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

Store Decorating. F. S. Roberts, Yonge street, Toronto, has recently adopted an idea which might be used to advantage by many retailers both in the cities and in the smaller places. It is simply to build, as is done in Barron's, MacWillie's and some of the other large stores, pyramids of canned goods on the floor of the store in such parts of the space as are not essential to the comfort of customers or the steady despatch of business. Mr. Roberts has built two of these pyramids about four feet from his counter. The one nearest to the door displays various articles of canned goods each retailing at 10c. These pyramids are business attracters, because they literally compel the direction of attention their way, and the attachment of a price tag gives all essential information.

Package vs. Bulk Breakfast Foods. There seems to be among the grocers of Toronto a growing feeling that trade in bulk breakfast foods should be pushed in preference to trade in this article in patent packages. The smaller dealers throughout the city seem to feel this especially, and some go as far as not to keep the packages in stock. Many of the larger firms keep a full variety of the goods, yet they keep the bulk foods more prominently before the public, pushing their sale where possible. The package foods are, of course, more easily handled, but they do not yield as good a ratio of profit to the retailer. Mr. Peter McDonald, Church street, has combined the advantages of both the bulk and package foods by buying his in bulk, and putting it up himself in plain, neat paper bags. The bags have the firm name, etc., tastily printed on them, thus advertising the retailer himself instead of the manufacturer. The Canadian bulk foods are generally considered as of equal quality to any packages on the market, and as they are cheaper, are satisfactory to the consumer, which is the main consideration.

Trade is Improving. During the month of January, the general verdict was that business was, as usual, quiet. The last two weeks, however, have witnessed a change in the retail trade, and grocers reply more hopefully and more satisfactorily to any question as to the present business or the outlook. The improvement seems to be principally noted in the sections of Toronto where a large portion of the business is custom trade.

MONTREAL RETAIL GROCERS.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was held Thursday evening, February 10, in the Monument National Hall, President John Scanlan in the chair. Mr. J. H. Flood was elected a member of the association. The treasurer submitted his report, which went to show that the association was in a good financial standing.

The president made mention of the difficulty at present existing between the grocers and the Pharmaceutical Association, and said that as no judgment had yet been given in the actions taken against the two grocery firms, members of the association, it was a question whether it would not be advisable to leave the matter in abeyance. He had been visited unofficially by Mr. E. Muir, the secretary and registrar of the Montreal Pharmaceutical Association, who appeared to be in favor of the pharmacists and grocers coming to some understanding, and suggested that a deputation of the latter might be appointed to wait on the association to which he belonged. He (the president), however, understood, from the remarks of Mr. Muir, that if judgment was rendered in favor of complainants it was their intention to enter actions against every grocer in the city who retails drugs or patent medicines.

The opinion of all present was that no action be taken for the present, and the matter was consequently left in abeyance.

The desirability of making the salaries of civil servants attachable for debt was discussed, it being pointed out by Mr. Dixon that a bill had been introduced in the Dominion Parliament, at the present session, bearing on the subject, and, after some discussion, it was decided to write to Ottawa for a copy of the bill, and also to solicit the aid of the members for the city and district of Montreal towards securing the desired amendment of the law.

Letters were read from the retail grocers' associations of Toronto, Hamilton, London and Quebec, in which they offered to cooperate with the Montreal Association by petition, deputation or otherwise. Montreal Board of Trade had, in reply to a request for its assistance, offered to approach the Government direct in the matter, and the Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Association had also evinced its willingness to co-operate. The secretary was instructed to arrange a date for a meeting with the Ministers, and thereafter to communicate with the other interests willing to assist in securing the desired object.

The Retail Grocers' Association of London, Ont., had written enclosing copy of the following resolution and requesting the co-operation of the Montreal association :

Resolved, That the present system of charging fees for the inspection of weights and measures is an injustice to merchants and dealers, as the inspection is in the interest of the public. Therefore your petitioners respectfully request that the law be so amended that the inspectors be placed entirely on salary, and no fees be charged for inspection of weights and measures.

The meeting heartily agreed to support this resolution, and decided to bring this matter, together with the desirability of the appointment of an inspector of fruit, to the attention of the Government when at Ottawa in connection with the attachment of civil servants' salaries.

The matter of the appointment of an official organ for the association having been brought up, it was after some discussion unanimously decided that THE CANADIAN GROCER should be the English official organ, and that Le Prix Courant should be the French official organ.

TEA PACKING MACHINE DISPUTE.

Editor GROCER,—No doubt a number of your readers will be interested in the packing machine dispute, in which the owner of the "Ideal" machine undertook, among other undertakings, to pack three packets in one week's work, for one packet packed by Mr. Canning's machine in the same time, the same number of boys to be employed by each machine, viz., three.

The trial is not coming off, as Mr. Canning, after writing to Mr. Larkin that he would appoint an umpire (Mr. Larkin having already appointed his), proceeded to the stakeholder (Mr. James Watt, treasurer of The Globe) and demanded his money, which was handed back to him ; thereby leaving Mr. Larkin's $400 uncovered.

Yours, etc.,

P. C. LARKIN.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. report a large increase in the sales of "Ludella" Ceylon tea.

"Bensdorp's 'Royal Dutch' cocoa stands to-day without a superior ; in fact, its rapidly increasing sale attests the preference it enjoys among cocoa drinkers," say the Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

The popular package and brand, "Circle" tea, which is controlled by Lucas, Steele & Bristol, is gaining favor every day. This week the firm are placing a 3-lb. package on the market ; it is the handsomest of its kind ever introduced and must be a seller. The firm are also showing other handsome labels for private tea packing.

EGGS IN ENGLAND.

The London Grocers' Gazette, under date of Feb. 5, says : Shipping eggs to England from so distant a place of production as Australia appeared not long ago to be an impossibility. Owing, however, to the use of refrigerator machinery, Australian eggs can be landed in this country not only sound, but, according to The Agricultural Gazette of New South Wales, "in such perfect condition that some of the best English houses have purchased and sold them as new laid." A representative of a large London firm shipped from Australia a couple of years since many thousands of dozens. The firm reported that the eggs were of good quality and presented an attractive appearance, being carefully packed in cardboard divisions, filled up with dried pea husks. The consignment was carried at 1 deg. above freezing point, and the freight cost about 3d. per dozen, leaving the net return of 9d. per dozen. The local price at the time of shipping was 5 to 5½d. per dozen. To develop a new laid egg trade with England Australian poultry-keepers are warned that the eggs must be forwarded to the cold store while they are still perfectly fresh, and, like poultry, they must be shipped so as to reach England at the dearest time for such products, which, in the case of eggs, is during the three months November to January. After this period home prices fall to such an extent that exporting is no longer payable, and as supplies to the Australian markets are then becoming limited, and prices are advancing, the egg producer will have remunerative returns throughout the year.

A MEAN GROCERY CLERK.

The meanest trick of 1898 is reported from Augusta, Me., where two grocery clerks employed by rival firms were standing in front of their respective stores, when one threw a potato to the other, says an exchange. The second one threw the potato back, and for a few moments they had a friendly game of pass, when clerk No. 1. slipped over beside his door, and took an egg from a case. He caught the potato as it was returned to him with one hand, and, instead of returning it, threw the egg. The other clerk did not notice the difference between the potato and the egg, and held up his hands to catch the supposed potato, which was coming swiftly about on a level with his head. The moment the egg hit his hands he knew it was no potato, for as ill luck would have it, the egg happened to be a bad one, and as the greater part, after exploding in his hands, hit him in the face, no identification was necessary.

The Tilsonburg correspondent of The St. Thomas Journal writes that a merchant of Tilsonburg recently received a draft for a large amount from a firm in Glasgow, which became bankrupt some five years ago. A legal settlement was made at that time, but the Scottish firm were not satisfied with that, so as soon as possible they sent the remainder of 100 cents on the dollar, with interest. Commercial honor is not dead.

The creditors of W. H. May, grocer, of Port Stanley, who assigned to E. A. Smith, have decided to wind up the estate. There will not be much of a dividend, as the liabilities amount to over $1,600, while the assets are less than $400.

Ford & Newcombe, who recently commenced business as grocers in Petrolea, held a successful reception in their store the other day. Music was furnished by the Petrolea orchestra, and, though no goods were sold, a favorable impression was created by the nicely arranged display of goods.

George Hirshfield, pork dealer, Montreal, has assigned to S. G. Morton. The preferences are Sophia Hirshfield, $1,460; E.W. Crease, $146; Lyons & Tobin, $350; Halifax Banking Co., $1,000; A. A dog accompanied his master into Mr. Peter Anderson's grocery store on Lower Wyndham street, Guelph, the other day. Some of the boys in the store frightened it and in attempting to escape the frightened animal jumped into the window, among the crockery and dishes. The result was that over $7 worth of crockery was destroyed.

PICNIC BY THE EDMONTON ROUTE.

Word has been received at Winnipeg from the mounted police expedition going to Yukon overland from Edmonton. They crossed the Summit mountains about Fort St. John by an easy pass. There was only three inches of snow. Prospecting parties going in the same way write back that the journey is a picnic. Weather very mild.

THE CHEESE CASE.

ARTHUR P. TIPPET & CO. - MONTREAL.

A ST. JOHN, N.B., GROCER.

The north end has many enterprising and pushing business men, who have been coming to the front of late by improving and enlarging their premises, and by that means increasing their own business, both to their advantage as well as for the mutual benefit of the community. One of the largest of these firms referred to is that of J. W. Keast, of Bridge street, and there are few, except those in the immediate vicinity who have any idea as to the immense floor space contained in Mr. Keast's premises. A Sun representative, who called on Mr. Keast the other day, found the painters had just finished their work of renovating. Many improvements have been made of late, and the two large stores are as neat and attractive as anyone would wish. One of the stores is devoted to the butcher business, and is admirably adapted for that purpose. The floor is of concrete, and all the appliances for the proper handling of meat are the best, refrigerator and all. The other store, which is connected with the meat store, is devoted to the grocery business, and here the stock carried is very large. In the rear of these two stores are the storerooms. Here Mr. Keast has room for storing 600 barrels of potatoes, grain bins and accommodation for everything in his line arranged in the most improved way.

Speaking of last year's business, Mr. Keast said he was well satisfied. He supplied all the boats but one on the river with meat, nearly all the hotels, and many of the summer cottages along the river, particulary at Woodman's Point. It might be mentioned here that Mr. Keast provided the meats for the luncheon on board the steamer Victoria the day Premier Laurier was entertained. With his 2,200 feet of floor space Mr. Keast has one of the best stores in the city.—Sun, St. John, N.B.

TRIED TO BUNCO THE GROCER.

A pretty slick game was worked in one of the Salem grocery stores recently, according to N.E. Grocer. A woman came in, bought some goods and gave $1 in payment. The money was sent to the desk, and when the change came back there was a kick, the women claiming she had given the clerk $2. She was shown the salesbook with the entry, but would not be convinced. The clerk went to the cashier's desk, got the $1 bill, and holding it by each end in front of the woman said, "There is your bill." "I know it," replied the woman, at the same time snatching it and going out. Why the clerk was so sure that the woman had given her $1 was that all the bills in the cashier's desk had just been taken to deposit and this was the first and only one in the drawer. It was a slick kind of a "bunco" game.

COUNTRY STORE CLERKS.

The hope of the rising generation lies in their excelling in some particular direction. The country clerk, for example, who dreams about the possibility of his having a position at some time in a large city establishment, can very easily fit himself for the wider sphere, as also provide himself with a pretty certain passport to it, if he will apply the key just given him to the situation. There is no better preparatory school for the city store or factory than the country store. The clerk who learns to successfully cater to the whims of a rural customer, and who is anything like a successful student of human nature, will have no difficulty in adapting himself to the requirements of the wider sphere when he comes to the city, if he deems it essential to do so at all. Let him bear in mind, however, that there may be more opportunities for him right in his own town than he will find anywhere else in the broad expanse of the world. It is the man more than the location all the time, although the latter undoubtedly counts.—Portland Tradesman.

CIVIL SERVANTS' SALARIES.

At a recent meeting of the Quebec Board of Trade it was decided to endorse the grocers' petition to have a portion of Federal employes' salaries made liable to seizure.

MacLaren's Imperial Cheese

SCORED 100 POINTS—PERFECTION.

Absolute cleanliness tells the whole story of good cheese just as it points out the character of the true gentleman. You cannot make perfect cheese—like Imperial—if one particle of dirt enters into its composition, from the well bred cow which gives the milk, and on through all the many processes of manufacture, the floors, tables, walls, pans, implements, even to sterilizing the opal pots. Little wonder then, that MacLaren's Imperial scored 100 points—absolute perfection—at the World's Fair. Experts will tell you that the true, rich, nutty flavor of Imperial Cheese is not to be found in any other cheese, potted or otherwise, in existence.

Canadian Dealers too Often Deceived

It is of vast importance that every dealer should exercise the greatest caution when buying Paste Stove Polish.

The QUICKSHINE has attained such immense popularity that unscrupulous people have gone into stove polish business and are manufacturing polish that pays them tremendous profits. The materials employed in the composition of these imitation packages are so poor and cheap that the woman who buys them can never get the results she desires, and in this manner, to a certain extent, injures the sale of the good article

When stove polish is required for domestic use ask your dealer or wholesale grocer for QUICKSHINE STOVE POLISH, and accept no substitute in the way of imitation package polishes, or polishes that are two-thirds soap and one-third polishing material.

If your wholesale dealer does not sell QUICKSHINE, send direct to us for same, stating the wholesale dealer you wish us to send it through; or if you prefer it sent direct, we will forward same at once. Price per 3-doz. Case, $2.25

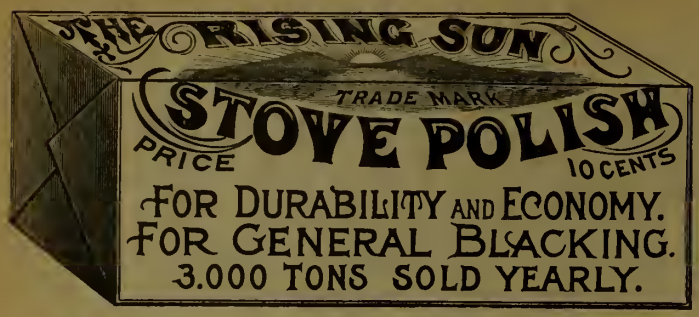
A STRAIGHT TALK WITH CLERKS.

By J. K. Cowles.

MILLIONS of books have been written on man's inhumanity to man. This is but a chapter on clerks' inhumanity to clerks. It is sometimes difficult to find a reason for the vicious spirit and feeling of enmity which exists among clerks in retail grocery stores and other establishments. Ofttimes one, who cannot possibly be benefited by such a course, will go to extreme lengths to bring another into disfavor, not hesitating to wilfully exaggerate, or even lie, in order to accomplish his aim. In many establishments there is not that feeling of confidence in and respect for each other among the clerks that should prevail among honorable and principled employes in the service of any one man or firm. Instead of a bond of good-fellowship being established by the fact that they are fellow-laborers, the clerks vie with each other in trying to curry favor with the employer by telling untruths, directly and indirectly, regarding one another, and magnifying each other's false and real faults and offences.

If the employer asks what time Maurice went to lunch, some hypocritical clerk isn't quite sure, but he thinks Maurice went about half an hour earlier than he really did go, and while not positive on the point, he believes that Maurice returned about fifteen minutes later than he should have done. This information is given in a manner to convey the impression that as Maurice is such a good fellow he doesn't like to tell on him, and would not really do it unless the truth was dragged from him, while in reality he is secretly pleased that a black mark will be entered mentally against Maurice. Probably the matter is forgotten, and the innocent clerk, who has gone and returned in the time allotted for lunch, is not called upon for an explanation, but should he commit some trifling wrong after that the employer is likely to remember that Maurice overstayed his lunch time and he is raked over the coals in a severe manner and given to understand that if he is not more careful in the future he will probably be discharged. Then the hypocritical clerk comes forward, sympathizes deeply with Maurice and tells him it's a shame how he is abused by the employer. This is merely an illustration of one way by which some clerks hope to rise in the world. To a man so inclined, every little incident furnishes material upon which he works to the detriment of his fellow clerks, and, he hopes, to his own advantage.

Such contemptible methods, if persisted in, must eventually result in the employer finding out the true character of the deceitful clerk. Even though the employer may be benefited to a degree, he must lose respect for the man who has none for himself or his fellow clerks, and whose soul is so dead to a sense of honor as to lie about another in order to serve his own ends. If but one clerk is to blame, the matter can be easily remedied by a reprimand, but, as is often the case, if the majority of clerks are addicted to such practices, what a very poor opinion an employer must have of all his help. It is enough to make a confirmed pessimist of him.



That this condition of affairs exists in many establishments is a deplorable fact. It is, perhaps, partly due to the oversupply of labor seeking employment in all branches. The race has become so fierce that many clerks delude themselves in the belief that such a course is necessary if they wish to retain their positions for one thing, and if one clerk by reason of his superior brain and industry is looked upon with favor by his employer, all the others but await the opportunity to cast odium upon him and prevent him, if possible, from progressing should they not possess his capabilities.

It is to be hoped that the time will come when all the employes of every establishment will have a more humane feeling for their fellow-workmen, and recognize that it is not necessary to degrade their own manhood in order to keep their positions. The clerk who is best adapted for his calling, and who studies his employer's interests, must eventually rise to the top, despite the machinations of his fellow-clerks, and 'twere better for the world and for themselves if the others, instead of trying to drag him down, would perfect themselves so as to be of more service to their employers and rise by virtue of their own qualities.—Grocery World.

GREEN COLORATION OF CHEESE.

Some interesting investigations have been made of the green color for which some Italian cheeses are so remarkable, says a foreign dairymen's paper. The color is not, as has sometimes been supposed, due to the action of bacteria, but is a consequence of the presence of copper in the cheese. To produce a good Parmesan cheese, the milk must reach a high degree of acidity, and, while waiting for this proper pitch of acidity to be acquired, the milk in some parts of Italy is kept standing in copper vessels. During this period of repose the milk takes up considerable quantities of copper; indeed, it is customary to estimate the degree of acidity attained by the milk by noticing the gradual disappearance of the brightness of the highly polished metallic surface. Dr. Mariadi has examined 25 samples of green Parmesan cheese from various places, and has found that to about every two pounds of cheese there is present from 0.8 to 3.3 grains of copper. That this metal is solely responsible for the green color is evident from the fact that in the south of Italy cheese manufactured on the same principle, but in which the milk stands in tin lined instead of copper vessels, does not acquire any green color.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Monday evening, in St. George's Hall, Elm street, Mr. W. H. Marmion, the president, in the chair, and a large number of the members were present.

After routine business was over the report of the "At Home" Committee, with the bills of expenses in connection with the "At Home" last week, was received. The expenses were $121.75 and the receipts $106.75, leaving a deficit of $15.

A vote of thanks to the committee for the excellent programme it prepared, and for the successful way it was carried out, was unanimously passed. It was decided to pay the deficit out of the special fund.

The auditors' report, showing a balance of $37.38 on hand, as a result of last year's business, was received, and a vote of thanks passed to the auditors for their work in preparing the report.

It was moved by Messrs. Johnson and Williams, that the association appoint two delegates to go to Ottawa to present a petition conjointly with the Grocers' Associations of Montreal, Hamilton, Quebec, London and Ottawa, asking Parliament to amend the present law exempting civil servants' salaries from garnishee, and to amend the present law regarding weights and measures, asking for the cost to be placed upon the Government.

A discussion ensued in regard to whether the association should pay all or part of the expenses of the delegates, which finally ended in a vote that all the expenses should be borne by the association.

Nominations were then received, and the names proposed were: D. W. Clark, J. S. Bond, W. J. Sykes, President W. H. Marmion, A. G. Booth, J. G. Gibson, John Butcher, R. Mills, D. J. Kelly, and the solicitor of the association, Mr. Mearns. Messrs. Butcher, Booth, Bond, Sykes and Kelly declined the honor, and the ballot was taken on the remaining five names, the result being that D. W. Clark and J. G. Gibson were appointed as representatives of the association. The president, Mr. Marmion, was proxy representative in the case of either delegate being unable to go.

Mr. P. McIntyre addressed the association on the advisability of advertising Toronto's advantages as a summer resort for tourists, etc.

It was moved by Messrs. Williams and Kelly, "That a resolution be sent to the city council sanctioning any action they may take in regard to advertising Toronto as a summer resort, as the association believes this a good and profitable policy." This was carried, and the secretary was instructed to send copies to the Mayor and to Mr. McIntyre.

It was moved by D. J. Kelly, seconded by David Bell, that the association be a committee of the whole to consider a suitable place for, and way of, holding the summer outing, each member to report at next meeting. The motion carried.

A LESSON WITH A MORAL.

The other day, says a writer in Grocery World, I took a little trip out among some of the retail trade. I went into the store of a retail grocer who advertised himself on his sign as a strictly cash dealer. I asked him how the cash business was doing, and he didn't seem to think it was working very well. I asked him whether he advertised. He said no. I asked him whether he gave his customers any better prices than the credit grocer just above, and he said no, with great frankness. I asked him how then he expected to make a go of it against credit, and he didn't seem to know exactly. "Why," I said, "you're bucking against big odds. People will go every time to the grocer who will sell them at the same price and give them time, too." I don't know whether the seed I sowed found any lodgment in the "cash" grocer's mind, but I hope so, because if he don't change his methods it's only a question of time.

FOR PRESERVING MEATS.

A new process of preserving meats is simply to sterilize the meats by placing them, for a certain number of hours, close to an electric light. The actinic rays of light not only from an electric light, but from almost any kind of light, are known to be fatal in time to all kinds of germs, even the bacteria of anthrax. While the meats are exposed to the light a stream of hot air, at temperatures ranging from 115° to 150° F., is sent up through the box in which the meats are placed to dry them. Then the thoroughly dried meats are powdered, and are thus ready for Klondyke expeditions, and for any army and navy use. The weight of a beefsteak dried in this way and powdered is about 30 per cent. of the original weight.

The same method is said to be feasible for fruits, milk, fish, oysters, eggs, and, in fact, almost any kind of organic food of a kind that will not keep of itself. Milk, when subjected to the electric light, divides into its three cheif components, a layer of water forming at the bottom of the bottle, casein above that, and oil at the top.

The two main objections to the process are declared to be the rather unrelishable products obtained, and the fact that what the electric light could do in the way of sterilizing was but one-eighth as great as the similar power of sunlight.—New England Grocer.

A MERCHANT'S DISAPPEARANCE.

There is some excitement in Parrsboro', N.S., over the disappearance of James Taggart, formerly of the firm of Taggart & Harrison, general merchants, who for the last month has been doing business on his own account. On last Monday he raised $700 on a mortgage on his property, and received $500 advance on lumber that he was getting out, and with this amount started to visit relatives at River Herbert. Not returning when he was expected, his friends were communicated with, and sent back word that he had not been at their place, and if nothing has happened him he is supposed to be at present in the land of the free. The stock has been levied on by his creditors and the sheriff is now in charge. He has not been very well of late, having been hurt on the head by a heavy jar falling off a shelf, and it is the general opinion that he was not in his right mind.

A POPULAR PREJUDICE.

POTATOES were only introduced into Lower Canada shortly after the cession, by General Christie.

Not later than 1876, the writer, being on circuit, happened to stay at a fairly well-kept inn in a rather out-of-the-way village in the province of Quebec, on the sunny side of the Laurentides, and amongst the guests was, of course, the judge who was to preside at the court. This high functionary was fond of a well-cooked dinner, a harmless failing enough. This interesting part of the daily routine being performed, the judge repaired to a room, followed by several learned advocates, who, after the judge's example, lit their cigars and indulged in conversation. His Honor remarked with considerable satisfaction, how he had found the menu good, especially at such a distance from genteel civilization, but he added, "one thing struck me, for which I cannot find an explanation, there were no potatoes on the table, nor was the fine roasted turkey stuffed with any, in accordance with the well-known fashion—potatoes must be common here—why not have served some? this is really a mystery to me!" Desirous of satisfying his curiosity, I volunteered to find out the reason of the absence of the popular vegetable from the dinner table, my proposal was ageeed to, and, with a smile, he thanked me, par avance, for trying to solve the problem. I stepped into the dining room, where our hostess was still engaged, and said, "You gave us a very good dinner, madame," and she replied, "If M. le Judge is satisfied I am a happy woman." I continued, "Yes, we were all astonished at your excellent cuisine, but tell me, why did you not serve any potatoes on the table." "Well," she answered, with a look of astonishment, "I did not think it a proper thing to do, as I thought it might have offered an insult to the judge, it is only les Irlandais et les pauvres gens who indulge in eating them." "You are mistaken," said the judge, appearing at the door, "I am very fond of them, and also all the avocats, you can serve some at dinner, and at all our meals." Next day the turkey was delightfully stuffed with the savory vegetable, and a large dishful of them, properly baked, were placed on the table. It was quite a discovery for madame to learn that genteel Frenchmen ate potatoes. This, for a long time, was a popular prejudice amongst the country people in Lower Canada.—The Canadian Numismatic Journal.

HE WAS A NOVA SCOTIAN.

John D. McKenzie died at the Madison Avenue hotel, New York, on Sunday, Feb. 14, from heart trouble, brought on by a complication of diseases. Mr. McKenzie, who retired from business in 1881, was formerly a well-known New York tea merchant, and prominent in public affairs. He was chairman of the executive committee of the Brooklyn sanitary fair in war time; a member of the committee of seventy in 1871; foreman of the grand jury which indicted William M. Tweed, and chairman of the committee of New York citizens for the relief of colored people during the war riots. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and a war Democrat, and took an active part in politics after the war. Henry Ward Beecher and several other prominent contemporaries were his personal friends. He was born in Nova Scotia, in 1822. He leaves a widow and six sons.

INCREASED FOREIGN TRADE.

Canada's trade returns continue to show an upward tendency. Exports for January have increased by $4,000,000 over a year ago, while imports increased $2,400,000.

For seven months our trade shows an aggregate increase of $31,692,721 over the same period last year. The imports were $72,588,599, compared with $65,568,611, an increase of $7,019,988. The exports were $111,274,832, as against $86,602,099 for the seven months ending January, 1897, or an increase of $24,672,733. The duty collected for the seven months was $11,932,839, compared with $11,131,409, an increase of $801,430.

DEATH OF J. T. RUSSILL.

J. T. Russill, dealer in hardware, crockery, fancy goods, etc., St. Lawrence market, Toronto, died at his residence, 150 Jarvis street, Toronto, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Russill was born in 1841 in Middlesex, England, and came to Canada in 1860. After spending some time in Canada he went to the United States. His sojourn in the United States, however, was brief, for about 30 years ago he was back in Canada and doing business at the St. Lawrence market, Toronto. His business gradually developed until it assumed its present importance.

The deceased leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter. The sons have for some time been associated with him in the business, and they will now carry it on as usual. Mr. Russill had been troubled with diabetes for about 10 years, but it had not been serious until six months ago, since which time he has only been able to attend to business at intervals. His mother, who lived with him, died but one day before him, at the age of 82.

Deceased was for many years a member of the Toronto Board of Trade, and also belonged to several secret societies.

"I say, I can polish my stove easier and better and cheaper with the old reliable Rising Sun Stove Polish in cakes than with any other kind," remarked Mrs. Jones to her neighbor. "Nobody can fool me any more with paints in bottles and enamels that soil the hands, made out of soap, and burn off as fast as I can put it on. For general blacking I use the Rising Sun in cakes; for an after dinner shine I touch up my stove with the Sun Paste."

CHEESE FACTORY ITEMS.

THE cheesemen of Perth, Ont., are considering the adoption of the Bate cheese brander in the Perth section. The object of the movement is to try and stop the practice of some dealers filling orders for Brockville and Perth cheese with Quebec stuff, which can be bought for half a cent less.

The Union, Ont., cheese factory held the annual meeting last week. The report showed that 1,881,754 lbs. of milk were received, which produced 185,972 lbs. of cheese, which realized $16,420.86; average price received per pound of cheese, 8.83c.; average price paid patrons for 100 lbs. of milk, 69.97c.; average lbs. of milk per lb. of cheese, 10.118. This was the most satisfactory report in the history of the factory, which history extends over thirty years.

The annual report of the Selby, Ont., cheese factory gave the following statistics: Total milk delivered at the factory in 1897, 3,695,665 lbs.; total cheese manufactured, 367,301 lbs.; proceeds of cheese, $32,403.06; the average price to patrons was 70.26-100c.; average milk per one pound of cheese, 10.06 lbs. The price of manufacturing was fixed at 1¾c.

At the annual meeting of the Climax Cheese and Butter Co., Bruce county, Ont., it was reported that the company had lost $700 through the returning of whey in milk cans to the factory, which gave the cheese such a whey flavor that buyers rejected it. The figures for the season were: Total milk received for season, 1,729,899 lbs.; cheese manufactured, 155,870 lbs.; average price for season, 7.88c. Foreign sales, 149,499 lbs.—value $11,764.20; taken out by patrons, 6,471 lbs.—value $511.67; total value of cheese made, $12,275; value of milk per standard, $21.31—after deducting expenses, $16.05; value of milk per 100 lbs., 71c.; value of milk per 100 lbs. to patrons, 53½c.; assessment per standard for stock payment, $1.

The average number of pounds of milk to the pound of cheese made by the Malahide, Ont., Cheese and Butter Co., was 10.90, and the average price per pound of cheese paid 8.60c.

The Waterford Cheese Factory's annual report gave the following figures: Pounds of milk received 1,872,116; pounds of cheese made, 171,403; average price per pound, 8.56c.; pounds milk to make pound cheese, 10.92; proceeds of sale, $14,673.47.

The Blanshard, Ont., Cheese and Butter Co.'s factory opened on May 1 and closed on Oct. 30. The number of pounds of milk delivered was 1,255,555; pounds of milk to pounds of cheese, 11.03; pounds of cheese made, 113,883, or 56 tons 1,889 cwt. Average price received per pound, 8.42c. Amount distributed to patrons, $7,339.

The Bright Cheese Manufacturing Co. made, during the year 1897, no less than 274 tons of cheese, for which they realized $48,000. It is claimed that this is the largest output of any factory in Ontario.—Guelph Herald.

Two million pounds of milk were taken at the Milton creamery last season, netting to the farmers at the factory a little over 62c. per 100 lbs. for their milk.

MANITOBA BUTTER ABROAD.

A large dairy farmer, named Robert Scott, of Shoal Lake, Man., has been experimenting in the shipment of butter to foreign countries for some time, and success seems to have at last attended his efforts. Last year he shipped 75,000 lbs. to England, comprising eighteen different classes of butter and had the best experts there examine the butter and give him their opinion so as to help him with future shipments. This year he will send a large amount to the Yukon and Japan. In a letter received from the secretary of the Chinese Inland Missions recently, it was stated that the committee had decided to buy all the butter required at their several stations from Mr. Scott, the sample received last year being satisfactory.

CITY TRAVELERS' BALL.

As previously announced, the Winnipeg city travelers' ball was held on Tuesday evening, 15th inst., at Hotel Manitoba, and proved as enjoyable as the labors of an excellent committee warranted.

Sharply at nine o'clock the concert programme was begun, and the ten numbers were carried through with a brightness and dash that was quite inspiring. A number of the songs were old standards well sung, and several earnest recalls were responded to.

Promenading and social chat filled up the time while the seats were removed from the ball-room, and by 10.30 dancing was in full swing. Evans' orchestra supplied excellent music, and with the floor in perfect condition lovers of the mazy enjoyed themselves to the full. A noticeable and pleasing feature of the ball was the preponderance of girls and young women. Though there is no law against older people dancing, somehow it seems more especially the pastime of youth. A number of girls in their pretty silk and muslin frocks, moving in time to good music, is always a pretty sight. There was also no lack of dancing men, another most commendable feature of a ball, and so wallflowers were few and far between.

Supper was served at 12 o'clock, and, though there were at least 250 guests, there was no crowding. The table decorations were artistic, the supper of the best, but, crowning feature of all, you got it without having to wait half an hour between each course.

The dance programme was long, well selected, and sufficiently varied to suit all tastes, and not only were all the 21 numbers danced to finish, but numerous encores were responded to.

A word as to the programmes: These were in the shape of a pretty folder card. The concert programme was on one half and the dances on the other, and no doubt will be kept by many as souvenirs of a happy evening.

The officers of the society are: Honorory president, John Mouat; president, W. Blacadar; vice-president, J. H. Dickie; treasurer, John Hume; secretary, N. W. Burke; directors, D.M. Hume, W.G. Locke, W. R. Watson.

The committee who took immediate charge of the arrangements included W. Blacadar, John Hume, N. W. Burke and D. M. Hume. These gentlemen were untiring in their efforts to ensure the comfort and pleasure of their many guests.

NEW MARKETS FOR BUTTER.

Two new departures in the export butter trade were spoken of by Hon. Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, in the House of Commons the other day. Several shipments of sealed packages of butter have been sent from Nova Scotia to Bermuda and the West Indies with most satisfactory results. Heretofore France has monopolized the tropical butter trade, not because the article exported was exceptionally good, but because the butter was hermetically sealed in tin packages by a mechanical process that does not involve the use of heat or solder. A sealing machine has been procured from Paris, and continuous shipments of packages will be made under the Minister's direction to the West Indies. It is the belief of Mr. Fisher that in the very near future Canada will have control of that trade. Great extensions of trade in dairy produce are possible in the far east. The taste of the Japanese has not yet been cultivated for cheese and butter, but the process is going on. Some weeks ago a trial shipment of Canadian butter arrived in first-class condition, and after it had been sold the Department of Agriculture got a telegram asking that Canada send as much more of the same quality as she could make. This promises the Northwest a market which may extend to the supply of millions of people.

CANADA'S TEA IMPORTS.

EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND NINETY-SEVEN will long be remembered as a unique year in the history of the tea trade in Canada.

It will be remembered that early in the year an impression obtained that the Government, in response to the wishes of a good many importers, would probably place a duty of five or ten cents per pound on tea, the natural result of which was large importations of this commodity. The following table gives the importations for each month during the calendar years of 1896 and 1897:

	1896.	1897.
January	$ 178,045	$ 358,743
February	118,369	341,554
March	118,897	392,785
April	102,446	88,656
May	97,251	62,418
June	160,291	103,891
July	190,440	158,262
August	369,588	485,454
September	457,000	396,398
October	347,521	300,189
November	249,155	515,826
December	292,633	195,598
	$2,681,636	$3,049,774

It will be remembered that after the new tariff was brought down, and that it still left tea on the free list, the importers, finding themselves with large stocks on hand, bought sparingly for the rest of the year. The above table reflects that, for while the total purchases last year were valued at $368,138 more than in 1896, it also shows that during no less than eight months in 1897 the purchases were smaller. It might be interesting to note that the importations of tea in January, 1898, were $189,027, compared with $358,743 for the same month in 1897.

It will be remembered that shortly after the disappointment, caused by the failure of the Government to place a duty on tea, the finance committee of the United States Senate inserted a clause in the tariff, submitted to the latter body, imposing a duty of 10c. per pound on tea. Although this clause was subsequently struck out by the Senate, it induced importers in the United States to purchase heavily, and in the satisfying of this demand stocks in Canada were drawn upon, to the obvious advantage of those importers here who had bought heavily in anticipation of a duty. Then, again, a good many teas were exported from Canada to the United States prior to the going into operation of the new tea inspection law.

The figures showing the quantity or value of teas exported from Canada to the United States for the calendar year of 1897 are not obtainable. All we have access to are those for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1897. But these are interesting, showing as they do an enormous increase in the exports in this commodity. The following table gives the exports for 1897, as well as for the fiscal years of 1896 and 1895 by way of comparison:

	Quantity, lbs.	Value.
1897	3,462,975	$425,897
1896	319,665	54,246
1895	953,532	132,949

The countries to which these teas went were as follows:

	1895.	1896.	1897.
Great Britain	$ 200	$ 4,928	$ 324
B. W. Indies	60	78	98
Newfoundland	6,677	5,509	6,350
St. Pierre	5,446	3,857	1,982
United States	120,566	39,874	417,143

By making a comparison of the above tables it will be seen that, while for the calendar year 1897 Canada imported $368,138 worth more tea than in 1890, she exported $371,651 worth more than during the fiscal year 1897 than that for 1896. This, if no other evidence was forthcoming, indicates that stocks in Canada are in rather good condition.

WHERE IS THE INSOLVENCY BILL?

PARLIAMENT has been in session three weeks, but there is not the slightest indication yet that one most important piece of legislation, which the business men of this country need, is forthcoming. We have reference to insolvency legislation.

There is no question in regard to the demand for it. From one end of the country to the other appeals have come for it.

The demand for insolvency comes from no suppositious want. It is born of a necessity. There are certain anomalies existing to-day, such as preferences, abnormal cost of winding up estates, etc., which create the necessity. And then we have the witness from the business men of the Motherland, many of whom refrain from doing business with Canada because of the absence of an insolvency law.

It looks very much as if the politicians are again trying to shirk the question. A favorite practice with them is to leave, until late in the session, the introduction of measures which are not palatable to them, and then deserting them at the end of the session on the plea that there is not time for their due consideration. It looks very much as if that is the intention regarding the insolvency bill which the business men of the country were given to understand would be introduced at this session of Parliament.

A few years ago a leading labor organization in Canada deputed a representative to remain at Ottawa during the session to keep an eye on legislation affecting the interests of labor. The business men of the country would do well to go and do likewise. At any rate the boards of trade should stir up those whom they are depending upon to introduce insolvency legislation at the present session of Parliament.

Low-priced goods may do a great many things, but they will not build up a high-class business.

BALANCE IS ON THE RIGHT SIDE.

The auditor's report of the Toronto Retail Grocer's Association has just been printed and circulated among the members. It shows the receipts during the year to have been $208.32, and the expenditure $170.94, leaving a balance in the hands of the treasurer of $37.38. The balance on hand to the credit of the special fund is $399.36.

SMUGGLING AND ITS EFFECT ON BUSINESS.

THE smuggler, like the thief, is found in all countries. He has always been more or less in evidence in Canada. Just now he appears to be more in evidence than usual.

In dealing with smuggling it is no use to go about it in a half-hearted way. Smuggling to be put down, must be put down with a vigorous and unrelenting hand. It has been the only remedy in all ages which has secured the abatement of the evil.

Smuggling is an undoubted evil. Most people decry the practice because of the loss of revenue to the Government entailed thereby. But, it is not the Government which is the greater loser through smuggling.

The greatest sufferers through smuggling are the merchants and manufacturers of the country.

Along some of the border towns in Canada, smuggling has wrought such evil that many merchants have been actually driven out of business. We are not supposing anything. We are stating what is a fact.

While some of the conveyors of contraband goods are of the bold and desperate type of men one reads of in romances, yet a great many of them are gentlewomen and maidens and respectable men. Yet these are probably doing as much evil to the legitimate trade of the country as the more repulsive type of smuggler.

They visit such places as Detroit, Buffalo, etc., and steadily convey goods back hidden under skirts and in pockets. There is one house in Detroit, THE CANADIAN GROCER is informed on good authority, which last year did $60,000, worth of business on this account.

The Government should inaugurate a vigorous policy against smuggling of all descriptions. It owes it to the business men of this country if not to itself to do so.

What it should do is to put on special officers to look after this work. Few local officers are able or willing to run the risk of taking aggressive steps in the matter. And a crusade against smuggling can only be attended with any measure of success when special officers are employed to carry it out.

It may be a light thing for the Government to lose a few dollars here, and a few dollars there on account of smuggling, but it is no light thing to the business men, who lose on account of the same thing: They lose dollars to the Government's cents.

On account of the extent of the smuggling of late, THE CANADIAN GROCER understands that representations have been made to the Government by merchants, urging a vigorous enforcement of the law. It is to be hoped they will be productive of good results.

ACTIVE SPECULATION IN TEA.

THE tea situation in Montreal is becoming more interesting, owing to developments that many people usually well informed seem to expect.

The most notable fact in this connection is the increase in the speculative enquiry in the east for all cheap, low-grade teas, either China or Japan.

As a result of this demand, some round quantities have changed hands in Montreal at figures which sellers found it impossible to realize earlier in the winter.

The fact that supplies of these low-grade goods are rather light has accentuated the strength of their position. One firm in Montreal disposed of 1,000 packages of low-grade blacks, on Friday last, at a range of 9 to 10c., to an Ottawa valley firm, that they could not obtain 8½ to 9c. for, some weeks previously.

Several good-sized lots of better-grade blacks have changed hands all the way from 12 to 13c.

The market is bare of low-grade greens, and none are obtainable from first hands under 10c.

The inside first cost of Ceylons is 17 to 18c., and over 3,000 packages of Japans have changed hands at 14 to 16c., while the same firm that disposed of these has several invoices of better grades, now under offer, for which they want 16 to 17c. In fact, buyers generally show more disposition to meet sellers, and this change is attributed to the fact that the Government has been strict in its inspection of tea lately, several consignments being detained at points in Ontario.

Many interpret the rigid manner in which the rules regarding tea inspection are being enforced as an indication that the expectations for a duty on tea are likely to be realized before the present session of Parliament is over.

CANNED SALMON STRONGER.

A stronger feeling obtains on the Coast in regard to canned salmon. The reason is that the salmon pool in Great Britain has advanced prices 6d. per case.

The demand for Canadian canned salmon has been brisk in London lately, preference over Columbia and Alaska salmon being given it.

One of the largest packers on the Coast has already sold nearly all his shipment to Great Britain, and he now expresses regret that the lots he reserved for the Canadian and Australian market had not also been sent to London.

It is said that from two-thirds to three-fourths of the whole shipment of canned salmon to the United Kingdom had been sold while the goods were afloat.

LARD IS SCARCE.

Some weeks ago THE CANADIAN GROCER drew attention to the fact that low grade butter had been cleared off the market, an unusual occurrence at this season of the year.

The effect of this clearance has been possibly felt to a greater extent in the lard market than it has in the butter market, for the comparatively high price of the cheap butter has turned the trade toward lard to such an extent that there is now anticipated a shortage, which is unusual.

As a rule at this season of the year dealers are anxious to get rid of their lard, but this year the holdings are so small that no such anxiety is now exhibited. In fact, there seems to be a desire to hold for better prices.

CIVIL SERVANTS' SALARIES.

The Montreal Retail Grocers' Association has arranged for an interview with the Dominion Government with regard to the desirability of making civil servants' salaries attachable for debt, for Monday, 28th inst.

It is expected that the Montreal deputation will be joined in Ottawa by similar ones from Quebec, Toronto, Hamilton, and London. The Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Association has also promised to send representatives to assist in securing the desired legislation.

The cause of the merchants is a just one, and it is to be hoped the deputation will succeed in its object.

A TEA TESTING ABSURDITY.

EXAMPLES of the need of a sensible and efficient tea inspection law in Canada are continually multiplying. Another one has just been brought to the attention of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

A Toronto firm recently received samples of China green teas which were offered from a point in the United States. These teas are scarce here, and could have been readily sold. But on account of the nature of the so-called tea inspection law which exists in Canada, those to whom the samples were consigned, feared to bring the teas on in view of the uncertain character of the analytical test, notwithstanding that some of the teas were "points." They accordingly sent the samples on to Ottawa for a ruling.

The reply that came was that the samples could not be tested. The only samples the chief analyist could test were those which had been taken from an actual importation.

The Customs Department cannot be blamed for taking this stand. If the analyst undertook to test mere samples which were sent in with a view to ascertaining whether the lots from which they were taken were passable, he would require a staff of assistants about as large as the army of United States pensioners.

But we do blame the absurd system which now does duty as a tea inspection law, a system which has, because of its inefficiency, become obsolete in every tea-importing country. The clause in the Adulteration Act, which is supposed to regulate the importation of tea, reads as follows:

> Tea shall be considered adulterated which contains leaves other than those of the tea plant, or previously infused leaves or leaves of inferior quality, to such an extent as to reduce the amount of extract or substances soluble in hot water to less than thirty per cent., or cause the proportion of ash soluble in hot water to be less than 2¾ per cent.; or any admixture of chemicals or other deleterious substances; or such an amount of mineral matter as will cause the ash to exceed eight per cent. reckoned on the sample dried at 100 C.

The test described in the above paragraph is no guarantee that a bad tea will be rejected or that a good tea will be allowed to pass. Examples of this are not wanting.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has in mind one house which was importing two lots of tea, and under this so-called test the poor tea was allowed to pass, while the fine tea was rejected. Here is another instance: A Toronto house had imported a lot of tea, which was rejected by the Government analyst. Fully persuaded that the tea was good, he went to the expense of submitting samples to two well-known analyists, whose finding was contrary to that of the Government official. And the result was that the Government had to allow the tea to pass the Customs.

Under such circumstances is it any wonder that samples should be sent to the Customs Department at Ottawa for a ruling?

The system now obtaining is as absurd as it well could be, and the sooner it is supplanted by one that is efficient as well as just the better.

The only proper way to test tea is as the tea expert does, and to this end the Government should have standards allotted somewhat after the manner the United States Government did a year ago.

A SUGAR SNAG.

WHAT the exact nature of the assistance will be which the British Government has promised to give the sugar planters of the West Indies is not known. From Mr. Chamberlain's remarks, it is gathered, it will be in the shape of bounties.

Should it be bounties, a new difficulty is almost certain to arise.

In the new tariff of the United States, adopted July, 1897, there is a section described as section 5, which stipulates that the duty on articles which in country of production receive a bonus, shall be increased by the amount of such bounty. For instance, if the duty on a certain article is 10c., and in the country of production it receives a bounty of 5c., then the duty collected upon it would be 15c.

It is herein that lies the snag which the granting of a bounty would cause the sugar industry of the West Indies to run against, for the West Indies export large quantities of sugar to the United States.

In consequence of this difficulty some of the trade papers in Great Britain are urging the Government to take some means, other than bounties, to alleviate the distress of the West India sugar planters, so strongly attested to by the Royal Commission appointed last year to investigate the matter.

Unless some other way than by bounties is found to aid the sugar planters of the West Indies, the latter may well be described as being between the devil and the deep sea.

The British refiners would, of course, like to see the assistance come in the shape of countervailing duties on all bounty-fed sugar imported into the United Kingdom from Germany, Belgium, France, and Austro-Hungary. But this is something the Government is not likely to do. The great mass of people in Great Britain consider that the net results of the cheap, bounty-fed sugars have been beneficial to the country. And, of course, it would be accounted heterodoxy for a Government to run against, or in advance of, public opinion, whether it was right or wrong in so doing.

A few weeks ago it appeared possible that the countries which give bounties on sugar would cut the Gordian knot themselves by abolishing the bounties which have become so irksome to themselves as well as injurious to the British West Indies; but all hope for even a remote remedy in this particular is dissipated by the refusal of France to come into the congress of nations called to consider the matter.

REFINERS AND WHOLESALERS.

Negotiations are still pending between the wholesalers and the refiners with a view to a better understanding regarding sugars, and THE CANADIAN GROCER is gratified to learn that the refiners are now inclined to meet the desires of the wholesalers in the matter.

The latter are asking nothing that is unjust. They only want the refiners to assist them in putting a stop to the iniquitous practice of selling sugar below cost. And in doing this they are also asking the refiners to help themselves as well as to co-operate with those who sell their sugar; for if the wholesalers lose money on this commodity, it is certain in time to redound to the injury of those who make the sugar.

Since our last, prices have been advanced ½c. per lb.

THE CURRANT POSITION.

The statistical strenth of the currant market may be gathered from the fact that stocks in Greece have been reduced to 12,000 tons, while the estimated requirements, not including the possible wants of France and Russia, are 28,000 tons. It is a long time since the position of the currant market was as strong as it is to-day.

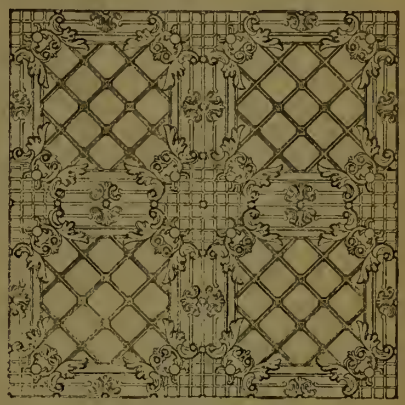
CAVERHILL, HUGHES & CO.

The firm of Caverhill, Hughes & Co., was originally Turner, Rose & Co., and was a branch of a Hamilton house. The firm was then changed to Caverhill, Rose, Hughes & Co. Messrs. Rose and Laflamme, the other partners, finally concluded to retire, as the profits were not sufficiently large for four.

The business was then conducted by J. L. Caverhill and H. F. Hughes under the present firm name of Caverhill, Hughes & Co. A year ago last December, Mr. Caverhill concluded to retire, though at the present time he is still financially interested in the firm, and is the largest creditor.

Mr. Hughes has for the past five weeks been confined to his house through illness; in fact, his condition has been such that the doctors in attendance would allow of no business transactions whatever.

Mr. Hughes is an extremely popular man, and in his financial troubles has the sympathy of a large number of friends.



The firm did a business of half a million a year, and is one of the few English houses left in the wholesale grocery trade in Montreal.

FRUIT SYRUPS AND FLY PAPER.

The J. Hungerford Smith Co., manufacturing chemists, which has for years been conducting a growing business in Rochester, N.Y., has decided to establish a permanent Canadian branch. The company is fitting up premises at 19 to 23 Alice street, Toronto, where it is installing a $7,000 plant for the manufacture of "True Fruit" Fountain syrups, which are rich, concentrated syrups, made from selected fruits by a patent process that retains the natural flavor of the ripe fruits. "Sure Catch" sticky fly paper and "Sure Catch" poison fly paper, are the company's specialties, but it will also prepare for market crushed fruits, fountain chocolate and flavoring extracts. The Canadian branch of this firm will be entirely independent of the Rochester factory, although, of course, owned and controlled by the same people. The Canadian branch will be under the management of F. Robbins Smith, who is now a resident of Toronto. The firm expect to commence operations this month, when a large staff will be employed preparing for the season's trade.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 24, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE heavy snowfall of the early part of the week has somewhat interfered with the volume of business, but notwithstanding this there is a gradual improvement going on. No striking features have developed during the week. Canned vegetables, if anything, are receiving a little more attention, but the volume of business is still light, and more so than is usual at this time of the year. The sugar market keeps firm and a fairly good volume of business is being transacted. A good many teas are going out from wholesalers, but the latter are not making many purchases themselves. No further change has taken place in spices, the position of the market still being strong. Foreign dried fruits rule steady. Valencia raisins are advancing in the primary market and Sultana raisins are advised dearer.

CANNED GOODS.

The position of the market for canned vegetables is still strong, and although the demand is, if anything, a little better, the volume of business continues light; in fact, more so than is usual at this time of the year. One wholesaler is understood to have paid $1.22½ for tomatoes during the past week. There was also a transaction in which 1,000 cases of tomatoes were concerned, but the terms were private. Canned salmon is firm in sympathy with higher figures in Great Britain. Canned fruits are only meeting with a moderate demand. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.20 to $1.25; corn, to 85c.; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10 to $1.25; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 60 to 95c.; peaches, $2 to $2.40 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.40 to $1 70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c.; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand; cohoes, 95c. to $1; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.70 for tall tins; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

COFFEE.

Brazilian coffees are slightly dearer in the primary markets, but as deliveries are still good buyers are not free purchasers. The crop movement of Brazil coffee to date, with comparisons, is as follows: Receipts at Rio, July 1, 1897, to Feb. 18, 1898, 3,209,000 bags; do. do. 1897, 2,587,000 bags; do. do. 1899, 1,838,000 bags. Receipts at Santos, July 1, 1897, to Feb. 18, 1898, 5,055,000 bags; do. do. 1897, 4,088,000 bags; do. do. 1896, 2,619,000 bags. Locally there is a fair retail demand at unchanged prices. Locally the wholesale demand continues fair. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c.; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There is no change, the demand being only moderate. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Advices from New Orleans state that purchases have been made there on New York account at the highest price of the season. Locally there is nothing new to note. We quote as follows: New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c.; ditto. half-bbls., 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-bbls., 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The European market advanced fractionally up to Saturday last, but on Tuesday beet was cabled ¼d. cheaper. The New York market, however, continued firm in spite of the advices from London, and the views of holders of raw sugars were 1-16c. per lb. above those of the refiners. The raw market was also firm with a fair volume of business being done. The market in Canada continues firm and ⅛c. dearer, with the demand fairly good. We quote as follows: wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days: Granulated (St. Lawrence, Redpath, Acadia), 4 11-16c.; ditto, Dutch, in bags, 9-16c.; ditto, German of Canadian make, in bbls., 4⅜c.; ditto, imported, in bags, 4 5-16c.; yellows, 3 15-16c. upwards.

NUTS.

The first of the new season's Brazil nuts arrived in New York this week. They show good quality. Locally, the nut market is quiet and featureless. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 12½ to 14c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 23 to 25c.; Tarragona almonds, 9 to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 9½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

There is the usual demand for these lines. Latest mail advices received from Japan report the shipment of rice to Europe up to January 13 at 3,200 tons rough and 26 tons cleaned; do to the United States do 1,267 tons rough and 10 tons cleaned. Last year the shipments to Europe up to January 31 were 37,633 tons of rough and 3,950 tons of cleaned, and to the United States 6,676 tons rough and 744 tons cleaned. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½ to 4½c.

SPICES.

While there has been no further advance in spices during the week, the market generally continues strong, and some of the local spice dealers, in sympathy with the outside markets, are trying to work their figures up. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 12 to 14c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 14 to 15c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 12c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 22 to 24c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 20 to 22c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 22 to 26c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 16c.; cassia, 20 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

TEAS.

Mail advices from London, under date of February 11, state that a second heavy auction of Ceylon tea proved too much for the market, and that prices, in consequence, gave way all round to the extent of fully ½d. per lb., medium brokens being difficult to dispose of, except at a still further reduction. The average price for the week was 7.40d. against 8d. same time last year. Advices from Colombo, however, state that low-grade teas are scarce and firm there. Indian teas on the London market are being strongly competed for and prices are without alteration. Low-grade teas are also scarce in Calcutta and firm in price. The autumnal crop of Darjeeling teas is practically a failure. Japan teas of good descriptions are still being firmly held. There are a good many low-grade teas in Japan which holders are afraid to export, fearing they will be neglected. On the local market the retail demand is fairly good, but the wholesalers are buying light. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market are as follows: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indias and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—During the past week there have been a few orders placed for shipment from Patras, and wholesalers are still experiencing a fair demand from the retailers. Stocks are running short in Greece, and prices are steady. We quote: Provincials, 5¾ to 6c.; Filiatras, 6¼c. in bbls; 6⅜c. in half-bbls and 6¼c. in cases. SULTANA RAISINS—Prices are appreciating in the primary market, but the Canadian market is not likely to be affected thereby, it being too late in the season.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS — The standard grades are scarce, both on the Coast and in New York. We quote: 3-crown, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb; 4-crown, 8¼ to 8½c. per lb.; 1-lb. cartoons, 20c.; 2¼-lb. cartoons, 35c.

Silver prunes (fancy), 13½c.; egg plums, 9½c.; golden plums, 10½c.; French prunes, 180's, 5c.

We quote: Apricots, 9 to 9½c. per lb. in 50-lb. boxes, 9½ to 16c. in 25-lb. boxes, and 13 to 14c. in 1-lb. cartoon boxes; Peaches, 9½ to 12½c. in 25-lb. boxes, and 13c. per lb. in 1-lb. cartoons.

GREEN FRUITS.

The demand for lemons and oranges continues brisk. California navel and seedling oranges are still in greatest demand, though all are selling well. A shipment of Valencia oranges is expected next week. Prices will then be about 50c. cheaper than for those now on the market. The reduction in the price of lemons last week is the cause of the brisknesss now noticeable in the sale of that fruit. Canadian onions are 5c. easier in price. We quote as follows: Almeria grapes, $5 to $6 per keg; lemons, Messina, $2.50 to $3 a box; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 a sack and 60c. per doz.; oranges, Valencia, 420's, ordinary, $5.50 to $6; 420's, large, $7 to $7.50 per case; California navels, $3 to $3.25; California seedlings, $2.50 to $2.75; Sevilles, $3 to $3.25 a box; Bahamas, $2.50 to $3 a box; Jamaicas, $3 to $3.25 a box, or $5.50 per bbl.; cranberries, North Shore, $1.50 to $2; Canadian apples, spies, fancy red, $3.75 to $4; others, $2.50 to $3.50 per barrel and 40 to 50c. per basket; Canadian onions, red or yellow, in 80-lb. bags, 70 to 75c.; pickling onions, 75c. per basket; celery, 25 to 50c. a dozen; winter pears, 60 to 75c. per basket; grape fruit, $5.50 to $6 per box.

POTATOES—Carload lots are coming in freely, but the supply on the market is just about equal to the demand. We quote: Carload lots at 58 to 60c., and small lots on the market at 65 to 70c.

DRIED APPLES—The market is quiet. Some poorer grades are offering at 3¼ to 3¾c., but for choice stock 4 to 4¼c. is wanted.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The scarcity of dairy butter of all lines is still evident. There is hardly any dairy in tubs on the market, and the supply of choice large rolls and pound prints is limited. There has been an all-round advance of 1c. Creamery tubs are 1c. dearer. We quote: Dairy, large rolls, 15 to 16c.; pound prints, 16 to 17c.; tubs, best grade, 15 to 16c.; second grade, 13 to 14½c.; creamery, late make, tubs, 18 to 19c.; prints, 20c.

CHEESE—The market is unsteady, with holders looking for higher prices and others expecting a decline. At present the price is about 8¼ to 8¾c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Sales, though quiet, have been much in excess of last year. The demand has been chiefly for long clear bacon and smoked meats. Prices are firm, with tendency toward higher prices. The delivery of hogs

WHOLESALE IMPORTING AND MANUFACTURING GROCERS. TORONTO

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery trade is brightening up materially, and a better volume of business was transacted this week. This is especially the case in tea, for which there has been an active speculative enquiry. Sugar has advanced another ⅛c. at the refineries, but, despite this fact, the range of jobbing values is unsettled, and sales of yellows have been made by jobbers at less than the refiners' inside price. Molasses are firmly held under light stocks, and the same can be said of syrups. Canned goods have also been asked for by jobbers, especially tomatoes and corn, which is considered an indication that some people want them.

SUGAR.

The sugar market continues to advance, refiners announcing another rise of an ⅛c. per lb. to-day in the price of both granulated and yellows. Despite this fact, however, the situation in a jobbing way continues unsettled, and though some of the wholesale houses have advanced their level others have not and are selling at identically the same prices as the refiners are asking this week, and we quote: Standard granulated, 4 7-16c.; Canadian German granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; imported European granulated, 3 15-16c. and domestic yellows, 3 11-16 to 4c. In fact, in several cases we hear that a lower inside price has been accepted on yellows this week than the refiners are asking, viz. 3⅝c. In New York, the market is strong, and in London cables quote the market firmer for cane, and beet also rather dearer.

SYRUPS.

Trading in syrups from first hands is quieter than it was, but this is due more to the small stock in refiners' hands than any other cause. Dark grades are scarce and firm at 1⅞ to 2c., while brights are held at 2¼ to 2½c.

MOLASSES.

There is no special change in the situation of molasses. As stocks are exceedingly light, the undertone of the market is strong. Demand from country points has also picked up during the week, so much so that supplies in wholesale grocers' hands are steadily diminishing. There is nothing new from the islands in addition to what has already been published. We quote: Barbadoes, puncheons, 28c.; barrels, 30½c.; and half-barrels, 31½c. per gallon; car lots 1c. less, and Porto Rico, 26 to 27c., according to quality.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned goods are steady, with little change to report. Some fair lots of salmon and tomatoes have left first hands here this week, which may be taken as an indication that some jobbers want supplies. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; corn, 90c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1.15; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb.do., $1.10 to $1.20; salmon, $1.20 to $1.25 as to brand; lobsters, $11; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands, and $8 to $9 for ordinary; Canadian do., $4.25 to $4.50.

TEAS.

There has been a decided improvement in the enquiry for teas, and the market is more active, with a larger volume of busithan for some weeks past. This business is of a speculative nature, in anticipation of a duty on teas. The call has been chiefly for teas from 14 to 16c., and over 3,000 packages have changed hands since the first of the month. Several small lots of better grades have also been placed. We quote: Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest;

China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 50c. for better grades; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

SPICES.

The spice market exhibits a much firmer tone, and higher prices are asked, both in the case of black and white pepper, as it would cost an advance to lay them down. Demand, however, is not particularly brisk. We quote: Black pepper, 11 to 15c.; white pepper, 19 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 30c.; allspice, 14c.; and nutmegs, 50 to 90c.

COFFEE.

Demand for coffee is slow, but though this is the case, values show no change. We quote: Maracaibo, 12 to 15c.; Santos, 10 to 12c; Rio, 10c.; Mocha, 25 to 28c., and Java 25 to 30c.

RICE.

The rice market rules very firm, but demand is of a moderate kind. We quote: Crystal Japan, 5c.; standard B rice $3.50 to $3.75; Patna, $5 to $5.50; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Burmah, $4 to $4.25, and Java kinds, $4.25 to $4.50.

DRIED FRUIT.

The currant market rules quiet and prices are firm. There has been some enquiry from importers regarding figures for spring importation from London, but nothing has been done in this connection. We quote: Fine Vostizzas, 6½c.; Patras, 6¼c.; choice Filiatra, 6c.; half-cases, do., 5⅞c.; half-bbls., 5⅜c.; fine Provincials, 5⅜c., in half-cases.

There is no change in Valencia raisins, and prices are steadily held, selected and layers being rather firmer. We quote: Off-stalk, 4½c.; fine do., 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5¾ to 6c., and 4-crown layers, 6 to 6¾c.

California raisins are firm, because choice quality is difficult to obtain. We quote 3 and 4-crown fruit stiff at 7¾ to 8¾c. respectively.

There have been some arrivals of Oregon prunes, and they sell well at 7 to 9c., according to size, there being none of these offering smaller than 40's. French prunes are steady at 4½ to 5½c., while Austrian are stiff at 6½ to 7c. California prunes range all the way from 5 to 10c. as to grade and size.

Dates continue steady for sales from stock on spot at 5 to 5½c., but to-arrive offers have been made that are the equivalent of 4½ to 5c.

Figs are steady. We quote: Eleme, 10-lbs., 10 to 11c.; case lots, 9c.; 12-oz. boxes, 7½c.; 14-oz. boxes, 9c., and bags, 4 to 5c.

Dates are dull and easy at 5 to 5½c.

NUTS.

There has been a fair trade in nuts, and prices are steady. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 8½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 16 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 7 to 8½c., and pecans, 9 to 10c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a quiet, seasonable trade in green fruit. We quote: Jamaica oranges, $5 to $5.50; California navels, $3 to $3.50; do., seedlings, $2.25 to $2.50; Valencia, $5.50 to $6; Florida, $4.50 to $5. Lemons, $2 to $3; pineapples, 25 to 50c. each, and cranberries, $7.50 to $8 per bbl. for Cape Cod, and $8.50 to $9 for Nova Scotia; strawberries, 50c.; bananas, $1.75 to $2, and tomatoes, $3.50 per carrier.

DRIED APPLES.

Continue the same at 5 to 6½c., with evaporated 9 to 10c.

APPLES.

Quiet and steady at $3 to $4, as to grade.

FISH.

The recent spell of mild weather did not improve the condition of the fish market any. The demand has only been of a limited character, and sales principally in small lots to fill actual wants. Stocks of all lines, except salmon, are large, and in excess of the requirements of the trade, consequently, an easier feeling prevails, and although no actual decline in prices has taken place, still, holders are disposed to make cuts; in fact, they state that values for some lines are purely nominal for the present. This season, as well as in former years, nearly every branch of the trade has taken a hand in handling fish during the winter months, especially the wholesale grocery and provision trade, and the result is that the business is often demoralized, as it is at present. Haddocks and cod in case lots are selling at 2¾ to 3c. per lb.; steak cod, 4c.; smelts, 4 to 6c.; Manitoba dore, 5 to 5½c.; pike, 3 to 3½c.; white fish and trout, 6½c.; fresh frozen salmon, 12c.; fresh herrings, large, $1.40; medium, $1.20 per 100; and tommy cods, $1 to $1.10 per bbl.

In pickled fish there is no new feature to note, except that the stock of salmon is light, and prices are firmly held at the advance noted last week. We quote as follows: Green cod, No. 1, large, $4 to $4.25; No. 1, ordinary, $3 to $3.50; No. 2, $2.25 to $2.40; herrings, No. 1, N.S., $4.25 per bbl., and $2.10 to $2.25 per half-bbl.; Cape Breton, $4.50 to $4.75 per bbl.; B.C. salmon, $11.75 per bbl.; No. 1 trout, $4 to $4.25 per half-bbl.

Trade in smoked fish is quiet, and values show no change. Haddies are now selling at 5½ to 6c. per lb.; new Yarmouth bloaters, $1.25 per box of 75 fish, and smoked herrings at 10c. per box.

The movement of preserved fish is exceedingly small. Dressed codfish are selling at $4.25 per case of 100 lbs.; dried cod, at $3.50 per 100 lbs.; boneless codfish, at 4½ to 5c. per lb., and boneless fish, 3c. per lb.

SALT.

Continues quiet. We quote: Coarse Liverpool, in 165-lb. bags, 38 to 45c., and Trepani, $1.10 per bag of 215 lbs.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A fair jobbing trade was transacted in eggs, and as the offerings of fresh were not in excess of the requirements, prices ruled firm. We quote: Strictly new laid, 19 to 20c.; Montreal limed, 15c.; western limed, 12½ to 14c., and cold storage, 11½ to 13c. per dozen.

POULTRY—The receipts of fresh killed poultry were small and the market was quiet and firm. Fresh turkeys sold at 10c.; chickens, 8 to 8½c.; ducks, 8½ to 9c., and geese, 7c. per lb.

BEANS—The market for beans is quiet and easy at 75 to 80c. for primes, and at 95c. for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—The demand for honey is slow, and prices are unchanged. We quote: White clover, 12½c.; dark clover comb, 10 to 10½c., and dark, 7 to 8c.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes is firm, 60 to 62c. per bag of 90 lbs., in car lots, and at 70 to 75c. in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

The local provision market was quiet, and, although the feeling was easier, prices as yet show no actual change. The volume of trade doing is small. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $16.50 to $17 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8 to 8¼c., and compound refined at 5½ to 5¾c. per lb.; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; bacon, 12 to 12½c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS.

A fair jobbing trade was transacted in dressed hogs, and prices were unchanged at $6.75 for light weights, and at $6.25 to $6.40 for heavy per 100 lbs.

The London Grocers' Gazette, under date of February 12, says: "With a quiet market ruling, the absence of arrivals this week is not so noticeable as it might be under more pressing circumstances. For what is offering there is a steady, but quiet, response at about late rates. Here, again, lean selections have first call. Fat is selling more freely, low prices tempting buyers of such. Quotations range as follows: Lean, 45 to 58s., and stout and fat, 42 to 46s."

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

There was a fair demand for flour, and the market is moderately active with the feeling somewhat firmer. Orders were on the market for 10,000 sacks of Manitoba strong bakers' at $4.90, but the buyer stated that he could not fill it as no such quantity was available at the above figure, and one of the sales of 1,000 sacks which was made on Friday at the above price was also cancelled to-day. Sales of Hungarian patent were made at $5.45, and Glenora Manitoba strong bakers' at $5.05. We quote: Winter wheat, patents $4.75 to $5; straight rollers, $4.60; bags, $2.25 to $2.30; best Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90 to $5.05; second do., $4.50, and low grades, $2.70; Manitoba spring patents, $5.30 to $5.45.

There was no change in the situation of the oatmeal market, business being quiet, and prices firm for rolled oats at $3.90 per bbl., and at $1.90 per bag.

GRAIN AND FEED.

There was no material change in the situation of the local grain market. The undertone was firm in sympathy with other markets, and prices were fully maintained. The volume of business transacted was only fair, and the market on the whole was quiet. There was demand for No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat for milling purposes, and 97c. was bid afloat Fort William, but the offerings were small. No. 2 white oats, in store, sold at 34 to 34½c. for export, and at 35c. for local account, with 36 to 36½c. asked afloat May delivery. Peas rule firm at 68½c. afloat, May delivery. Buckwheat was unchanged at 41 to 42c., and barley at 41c. ex-store. Ontario red wheat, along the line, sold at 92 to 93c., and white at 90 to 91c.

The feeling in the feed market is very firm, and the demand is good. We quote: Ontario bran, $14; shorts, $16 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $15, and shorts, $17 to $17.50 per ton, including bags.

The demand for hay in small lots continues fair, and the market is moderately active and steady. We quote: No. 1 at $10.50, and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The deadlock in cheese continues, and the amount of new business put through is so small that it is difficult to arrive at any reliable quotation. Of course, the pessimists assert that cheese can be bought at all sorts of low prices, but it is worthy of note that when they are asked to name any quantity that they are willing to sell at the bargain prices they name, their mood changes. In fact, to be plain, it is a pure matter of opinion. Prices have had a terrible slump since the first of the year, so great, in fact, that it is surprising that the low prices at which cheese are now selling in Great Britain does not encourage consumption. The mail advices to hand do not indicate much change in this respect, except that London letters express the hope that the low existing rates for Canadian will continue to stimulate the consumption, and hold the market together. They add the encouraging information that consumption is certainly passing, but that no improvement in price can be noted. Prices there are very close, there being only 4s. difference between the lowest price and the figure obtainable for finest, viz., 42s. The Liverpool and Bristol advices are less encouraging, noting only a small consumptive enquiry.

Butter rules steady under the improved enquiry already noted, and we heard of sales of round lots of creamery to-day at 18½ to 19c. Dairy in tubs sells at 16 to 17c., and in rolls at 15½ to 16c., while held creamery ranges from 17 to 18c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

First arrival of new strawberries came to hand this week. They have been selling at 50c. per basket.

Receipts of bananas are commencing to increase and demand for them is fair at $1.25 to $2 per bunch.

There has been an active speculative business in low-grade China blacks and Japan teas here this week.

Dates from stock are held steady, but offers on goods to arrive have been made this week at 2½c. per lb. less money.

The sugar refiners have advanced their prices another ⅛c. per lb., but jobbers are selling at cost prices here and values are unsettled from second hands.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 21, 1898.

WHILE a fair business is doing, there is no large turnover; nor at this season is any expected. Anything that is lacking in the way of an active movement is made up by a strong market. There continues to be a steady upward movement all along the line, but particularly in flour, feed and meal and provisions. In fish, pickled are the firmest line. Spice of all lines are moving up. This, however, is not a large market. In tea, quite a movement is reported. Two or three lots lately sold here, from the States, were turned back owing to quality being poor. Dealers have largely placed their spring orders for chemicals. There is little change in price, but freights are rather lower this year. In bicarb soda, the delivered price will be rather below that for last season.

OIL—This is naturally one of the quiet lines at this season. Dealers are giving particular attention to lubricating oil, and orders for quite a quantity for spring shipment have been placed. In burning oil dealers here get a rather better profit than they get west, although even here in city trade prices are at times shaded. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18 to 19c.;

Canadian water white, 16½ to 17½c.; Canadian prime, 15 to 15½c.; cod oil, 22 to 24c.

SALT—This is a rather quiet time. The winter has seen large shipments of Liverpool coarse salt out of the city, but it has not gone into consumption, and will not for some time. There is also quite a large stock held in the city. There are regular arrivals by steamer. For factory filled the sale is light. In Canadian salt a rather improved trade is noticed. We quote as follows: Coarse, 40 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 85c. to 95c.; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; rock salt, $5 to $6 per ton.

CANNED GOODS—Dealers are inclined not to push sales. They feel there is no need to shade prices, as any change is likely to be higher, and there are no large stocks either here or to draw from. While the chief interest has been tomatoes, corn is looked on as being equally as good stock. In meats, while the market is rather higher, there is little change here, sales being light. Dealers are inclined to cover their needs in oysters, as the tendency is higher. Fruits are still quite low, and, with salmon, are the easy spots in the market. Lobsters are still high, and no change expected. We quote: Corn, 85c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1; tomatoes, $1.25 to $1.30; gallon apples, $2.65 to $2.75; corned beef, Canadian, $2.35 to $2.50; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.75; 1-lb. tins, $1.45 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.60; 2's, $1.50 to $1.65; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.50; fruits in glass, $4 to $4.25; salmon, $1.10 to $1.20; ditto, flats, $1.25 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, $1.00 to $1.10; clams, $4.50 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.50 to $2.75 for 2 doz,; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—There is a fair business. Apples have some demand for low-priced fruit, but it is hard to get the price asked for best grades. Holders, however, where they have "keepers," are not pushing sales. Oranges move freely. If anything, they are easier. California's are dull sale. They have never been a popular fruit on this market. The Jaffa oranges spoken of last week have but a light sale, retailers preferring the lower-priced first. Lemons keep low, but it is not possible to push sales much. At this season demand is light. A small quantity of West India oranges, grape fruit, etc., was received this week. Malaga grapes and Cape Cod cranberries are about out of the markets. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $3.50; Valencia oranges, $5 to $6, do., California, $3 to $3.75; do., Florida, $4.50 to $5; do., Dominica, $3.25 per bbl.; Jaffa oranges, $4; apples, $2.50 to $4.00; bananas, $2 to $2.25 Malaga grapes, $7 to $7.50; Cape Cod cranberries, $11 to $12 per bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—There is very little stir in these lines. California prunes have a fair sale, but our dealers here hardly appreciate the advance west, and the difficulty is to procure small sizes. This is largely owing to the New York market where prices are lower than on the Coast, cost and freight added. California evaporated fruits do not grow very much in favor and the sale even this year with apples so high, is light. Some splendid fruit in peaches and apricots is offered, the latter have the best sale. Raisins are dull. Currants, which are quite light stock, have a fair sale. Prices are firmly held. Apples, dried and evaporated, hold their price and have but a fair demand. Onions are rather higher. We quote: Valencias, 5 to 5½c.; California L. M., 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; London layers, $1.40 to $1.50; Imp. cabinets, $1.75 to $1.80; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.30; Dehesa layers, $2.50 to $2.75; currants, cases, 6 to 6⅛c.; bbls., 5⅜ to 5⅝c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¾ to 8c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¾ to 7c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 10c.; dates, 5 to 5½c.; dried apples, 6 to 7c.; evaporated apples, 9½ to 10½c.; onions, $2.20 to $2.25 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4 per 100 lbs.; figs, 8 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 9 to 10c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7½ to 7¾c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 11 to 12c.; new Valencias, layers, 5¾ to 6c.; citron peel, 18c.; lemon peel, 12c.; orange peel, 13c.

SUGAR—There is not much doing. Our dealers are a little backward this spring in buying large stocks. It may be this is the year they should buy. The market is firm. We quote: Granulated, 4⅜ to 4½c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅝c.; Paris lump, 5½ to 5¾c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—Little, if any, change is noticed. No large business is reported. Stocks here are limited and the feeling favors higher figures, particularly for best grades, which are about limited to Barbadoes and Porto Rico. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 27c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 32c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Something which seldom happens occurred during the past week, namely, the bringing of eggs to this market from Montreal. The quantity, however, was small. Prices here are rather lower, and the market is inclined to be easy. While butter shows no change, signs are not wanting of an improved market. Creamery is having a better sale. There is a demand for right quality. Cheese is still dull and low. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 18 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 19 to 20c.

FISH—While there is a rather better demand noted, the sale is hardly as large as expected at this season. Dry cod show no change. Pollock is still high and scarce. Pickled herrings are marked up. There are vero few coming to hand. Smoked are also small stock, but price and demand show little improvement. Frozen fish business has been light this winter, supply, particularly of herrings, being limited. Receipts of lobsters are light. All the best are shipped direct to the American market, where at this season high prices are obtained. For other sizes there is a large demand for canning. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.90 to $2.00; pickled herring, $1.85 to $2.00 per half-bbl.; smoked herring 6½ to 7c.; Canso, pickled, $5 to $5.25 per barrel; boneless fish, 3 to 4½c.; cod, 5½ to 6c.; frozen cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; herring, 75c. to 90c.; smelts, 4 to 5c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; lobsters, 8 to 10c.; small 3 to 5c.

PROVISIONS—In clear pork our market continues dull, with prices lower than goods could be replaced. Stocks are getting low, and higher prices must rule. In mess pork the price is now as high as clear. There is light sale for beef, with market firm. Lard keeps high, with a good demand. Western dealers are not offering freely. We quote: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15; mess, $14.00 to $14.50; plate beef, $13.50 to $14.50; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 9½ to 10c.; pure lard, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The interest of the week has been around flour, particularly Ontario grades. While dealers are not inclined to follow the market very high, they are buyers at shaded figures. Millers atsay th if wheat holds prices must go still higher. Oatmeal is moving up, and oats also are quoted higher. It would look as if prices would still further advance. Even cornmeal, which was so long held back, has joined the procession, and is quoted higher this week. Beans seem uncertain, but the present tone is firmer. Feed is scarce and high. Barley and peas are also firmer. We quote: Manitoba $5.90 to $6; best Ontario, $5.10 to $5.15; medium, $4.75 to $4.90; oatmeal, $3.95 to $4.00; cornmeal, $2.10 to $2.15; middlings, $20 to $22.00; bran, $18.00 to $20.00; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.05; prime, 90 to 95c.; barley, $3.25 to $3.35; round peas, $1.25; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; yellow eye beans, $1.75; oats, 38 to 42c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The smelt season has been extended to the 28th inst. Shipments have not been as large as usual.

Mr. A. O. Hastings, representing the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. was in the city last week. Few travelers coming to St. John are as popular as Mr. Hastings.

Cable rates to the West Indies, which have always been so very high, have been reduced upward of 73c. per word. The C.P.R. is now charging from 48c. to $1.49, according to destination.

Mr. Fred. Armstrong is to take the place of Mr. Hewatt as agent here for the Dominion Atlantic railway. Mr. Armstrong is a St. John boy, and his friends will be much pleased to see him back. Mr. Hewatt goes to Kentville, N.S.

The new steamship company, which intends putting on three large new steamers between New York and St. John, is to be called the Manhattan Steamship Co. These steamers will furnish all that is most modern for the best accommodation of passengers and freight, including cold storage for fresh fish, lobsters, fruit and garden truck.

The quantity of grain offering for export via St. John has been so large that a great deal has had to be refused owing to lack of elevator accommodation. It is said the C.P.R. is about to erect a new million bushel elevator. A large quantity of American goods are exported via our city. Out of a cargo valued at $155,342 no less than $58,876 was United States produce.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 19, 1898.

SO FAR as the general aspect of trade is concerned the week has been a quiet one, with few, if any, changes. The city has been crowded with strangers attending the various conventions, but, as they were chiefly farmers, their visit effects the retail rather than the wholesale trade. As the deliberations of these conventions are of interest to all engaged in the handling of perishable food products, space is given to them elsewhere.

In canned goods, though there has been no direct advance in price, the market is stiffer than last week, with a tendency to hold for higher figures. Merchants here now seem fully alive to the fact that they have a good thing in the canned vegetables they hold and are preparing to make the most of it.

CURED MEATS.—This market still remains very firm, with steady sales. Prices run about as follows: Hams, smoked, 11½c,; bellies, ditto, 11½c.; backs, 10½c.; shoulders, ditto, 8½c.; spiced rolls, 9c.; hams, American, 11c.; dry salt long clear bacon, 8¾c.; short clear, American, 8½c; square cut shoulders, 8½c.; boneless, 8½c,; backs, 9½c., and smoked clear bacon, 9¾c.

LARD—Pure, 20-lb. pails, $1.70; 50-lb. pails, $4.15; 3-lb. tins, per case of 60 lbs., $5.75. Among pork sundries French breakfast sausage is now being offered at 8c. per lb.

FISH—Market quiet, assortment offered fair. Finnan haddies 7c.

BUTTER—Market good. Dealers are paying 16c. point of shipment for round lots strictly first-class dairy. In fact, anything not strictly first-class is very difficult to dispose of. Creamery is, of course, scarce just now. The product of the Government dairy scheme is handled by a local dealer, and is sold at 23c. for 56-lb. boxes, and 23½c. for 28-lb. boxes. This is the regular price for any creamery being handled.

CHEESE—Very small amount of this product on the market, and prices are high and firm. Large, 10½ to 11c.; small, 11¼ to 12c.

EGGS—There has been a scarcity of eggs this week, and dealers are offering 17c. for strictly fresh gathered eggs. It is understood the scarcity is only temporary, and as the weather is very mild and there are a number of offerings from American houses, the price will be likely to drop before the end of the week. Strictly new-laid eggs retail at 35c. per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Market very quiet, with but little change in the bill of fare. Strawberries, tomatoes, and cucumbers from Florida are showing in very limited quantities in the retail stores, and come in chiefly by express from the south, and, after the manner of such articles, are as lacking in flavor as they are high in price. Really fancy apples are getting scarce, with every indication of an advancing market; but doubtful stock is all too plentiful. Northern spies, $4.50 per bbl.; southern red stock, $4. It is probable that by the end of the week both these will rule 50c. higher. The orange market is somewhat difficult to set a price, and the varieties offered just at present are very numerous—$3.75 to $4 is a safe market, while the same conditions and prices apply to lemons. Bitter oranges are $7.80 per case. Florida celery is still arriving in freely and finding a ready market, some 100,000 bunches having sold from 75c. to $1.50 per doz. Bananas are more plentiful and very superior in quality, price ranging from $2.75 to $3.25 per bunch, according to size. Cranberries (frozen stock) are $5.50 to $7 per barrel. Onions have been very scarce in the city, but a carload arrived from the south on Saturday.

SUGAR—Market steady and firm; 5 1-6c. granulated, and 4½c. bright yellow.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS—Without change.

CANNED VEGETABLES—Tomatoes, $3; corn, $2; peas, $2.

BUTTER AND LIVE STOCK IN MANITOBA.

LAST week Winnipeg was brimful of conventions, and talkee, talkee the order of the day. The annual poultry show increases in interest and the number of exhibits as time passes. And what is more to the point, the breeds of all classes of poultry are improving. Fully 1,000 birds were on exhibition in Fonseca hall. The judge was Mr. S. Butterfield, of London, Ont., and he found time after his arduous labors to say many flattering things of the progress made by Manitoba breeders. The show was open all week and had many hundreds of visitors. Perhaps the fact that we pay 40 and 45c. per dozen for fresh eggs in the winter time lends peculiar interest to a poultry show.

The 12th annual convention of the Manitoba Dairy Association opened in the city council chamber, on Tuesday evening. The special feature of this convention was a conference of creamery men who came prepared to give facts and figures in regard to the cost of making butter in the various sections of the province, the possibilities of lightening the cost, and kindred matters. The creameries represented were: Souris, Pilot Mound, Oak Lake, Carberry, Birtle, McGregor, Macdonald and Newdale. This conference developed four points: 1st. The greatest expense in the manufacture of creamery butter is hauling cream. The greatest difficulty to overcome is want of loyalty on the part of patrons. The average of the butter qualities is not yet high enough, but, in spite of these things, creamery butter making is a profitable industry to the province and the men engaged in it. The make of butter in the province for the year was shown to be: Creamery, 987,179 lbs.; dairy, 1,410,285; or a total of 2,397,464 lbs. The average price obtained for creamery was 18c., and for dairy 13c. The total make of cheese from factories was 987,007 lbs., which averaged 8½c. per lb. The convention remained in session all day Wednesday.

On Wednesday there was also a joint meeting of the dairymen, pure bred stock and sheep breeders, at which Mr. McKay, of Indian Head; Dr. Gordon Bell, of Winnipeg, provincial bacteriologist, and Mr. J. C. Snell, of Snelgrove, Ont., were the principal speakers.

Concurrently with the dairy conventions were held the meetings of sheep and swine breeders. An important paper read and thoroughly discussed was "The pig the packers want," by Mr. Andrew Graham, of Pomeroy.

On Thursday came the deliberations of the Pure Bred Stock Association, which were both interesting and important, and on Friday the Horticultural Society held their annual, at which the prohibition of fruit from the States was thoroughly threshed out and the following resolution passed—on motion of Mr. Whellams, seconded by Mr. Stephenson:

That whereas the Parliament of Canada has been requested to disallow the importation of fruit and nursery stock from the United States into this country, we, the members of the Manitoba Horticultural Society, desire to express our disapproval of such disallowance, as we consider such restriction would be detrimental to the interests of the fruit growers and consumers of Manitoba and the Territories.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, have a fine range of California evaporated peaches in bags, boxes and cartoons, and evaporated apricots in boxes and cartoons, which are meeting with brisk sale.

An advertisement in another column states that the E. B. Eddy Co., Limited, are giving the large discount of 50 and 10 per cent. and upward on paper bags. The company also see that their friends the wholesalers are well protected.

Mr. McLean, of Canada Cocoanut Co., reports that they are kept busy filling orders. He says that they have received a large order for the Klondyke. They are kept so busy that it will be about April 1 before the orders are filled.

TIME IS MONEY

To buy when goods are at the lowest point is what everyone should do, but when the full supply has not been secured under these conditions, to wait until an advancing market has reached the top to replenish your stocks would be recklessness, if not folly.

We might repeat "we told you so" about canned goods, but what is the use? It is not too late yet, and, in spite of the great "Klondike" demand, we have fair quantities to offer yet.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

QUITE a number of refrigerators of Florida strawberries arrived during the week, and the contents met good sale at a general price of 75c. per quart, occasionally 80 to 85c. on extra fancy quality berries, but very seldom.—Fruit Trade Journal.

It is estimated that the total number of acres under cultivation in Queensland last year was 364,000, as against 323,000 in 1896. During the last twelve months 93,700 acres of sugar cane were planted, and the produce of 83,500 acres were crushed, yielding 105,000 tons of sugar. There were 54,000 acres under wheat, which produced 813,000 bushels, as compared with 36,000 acres and 601,000 bushels in 1896.

The exports of tea from India from April 1, when the season begins, up to December 31 last, have been officially reported as 121,140,000 lbs., as against 117,390,000 lbs. for the corresponding period in 1896. The exports from Ceylon for the whole of last year, January to December, inclusive, have been officially reported as 99,000,000 lbs., as against 94,750,000 lbs. for 1896.

P. Ruhlman & Co., of New York, report under date of Feb. 18: "Receipts of oranges have been very heavy this week and by a large majority inferior grades. Many of the Californias showed the effects of recent cold weather, much of it showing up very light, which is the usual effect of frost. Another great objection is the extreme small sizes in both navels and seedlings. The highest price reached for navels during the week is $3.55, except the Thomson improved, which sold at $4 to $5."

Arrivals of Sultana raisins at Liverpool from the commencement of the season to Feb. 1 amounted to 563,515 packages, as compared with 577,642 packages for the corresponding period last year.

BRITISH MANUFACTURERS AND THE SUGAR BOUNTIES.

Chas. J. Coates, under date of Barbados, January, 1898, writes The British Trade Journal as follows:

"In common with every planter, merchant and commission agent in the West Indies, we are looking out anxiously for signs of relief to the sugar industry on the part of the Imperial Government. Following the examples of Demerara, Trinidad, and the other islands, Barbados had a large public meeting a few days ago, at which the resolutions detailed in the accompanying printed sheet were passed, and the petition to the House of Commons will be going home next mail. In the words of our Governor, 'a fair field and no favor,' is what we want for sugar in the British markets; and when it is remembered that the West Indies are not the only British colonies dependent upon sugar for their prosperity, it is difficult to think that nothing will be done by the Imperial Government to remedy the present state of affairs.

"In the meantime depression and stagnation of trade are evident throughout the islands, and British manufacturers are losing their hold on the buyers here to the gain of the Americans. With the first indication, however, of a return of the time when the British markets shall be open to cane sugar, an immediate revival of trade can be expected, in which British manufacturers will again get their full share; and we do not doubt but that your influential Journal, with the interests of British manufacturers so evidently at heart, will do everything in its power to bring about this desirable result."

THE TOBACCO SITUATION.

The following is taken from a Louisville, Ky., report: "The market is higher—higher on every grade so far as Burley is concerned and better for some dark types. A notable advance has been made in good leaf, the price of $26 being obtainable for one hogshead, and many sales being reported at $18 to $21. On good to fine the price is probably $2 a hundred higher than a week ago. The low grades have also been very strong, especially colory trash, such as sells from $5 to $7. More good tobacco has latterly been offered than for two week, and some fine crop averages were made. The hogshead which brought $26 was made a record since, in addition to being by $3.50 the highest price reached in any market on the 1897 crop. It was a full-bodied colory leaf, exceptionally fine. Receipts have fallen off surprisingly, chiefly because of the cold weather of past few weeks. The number of hogsheads, including warehouse transfers, that came in last week was only 1,830, against 4,277 for the same week last year and 5,004 in 1896. Farmers and agents agree that most of the crop has already been shipped. It seems that the trade is beginning to realize the shortage and, warehousemen are now of the opinion that all the crop will be taken at high prices. Farmers are preparing to plant heavily."

BRITISH TRADE FOR JANUARY.

The British Board of Trade returns for the month of January show the declared value of goods, imported during the month, amounted to £39,919,491, against £39,775,668 in 1897 and £38,473,856 in 1896. Of foreign and colonial merchandise exported in the month the value was £4,682,661, against £4,154,985 in 1897 and £4,806,384 in 1896; and of British and Irish produce and manufactures £19,231,404, against £10,786,236 in 1897 and £21,146,491 in 1896.

As regards the imports, the chief feature is the large fall, in both quantity and value, of raw materials for textile manufactures. This decline is specially marked as to cotton, sheep's wool, jute, flax and hemp. Cotton and jute have fallen very much in price, and this factor has much to do in causing the value of this class of goods to be £3,264,000 below the total of last year.

As regards the exports of British and Irish produce, the classes which are higher in value are living animals, raw materials, metals, miscellaneous articles and parcel post, while yarns and textile fabrics and machinery and also apparel show heavy falls, while articles of food and drink and chemicals are less, but only to a small extent. Sheep's wool continues to be taken more freely for the United States and Canada. The price of both cotton yarn and piece goods are less, and, notwithstanding an increase of over 2½ million yards of piece stuffs, the value is reduced by as much as £212,000.

SALMON OUTLOOK FOR 1898.

Reviewing the canned salmon situation on the Coast, The San Francisco Herald of Trade says, in its issue of February 11: "The market is practically unchanged, and confined to straggling orders. There are all kinds of reports afloat, but we fail to have any verified. They come from bulls and bears alike, but this generally obtains just before the commencement of a new season. Preparations are being made by canners on the Columbia river for this year's campaign. It looks now as if the pack will be less than 1897, unless there is a larger deposit of snow on the mountain ranges up north than is reported at present. High water in the Columbia river causes large runs of fish. They are still trying to effect a combine on that river. It is not at all likely that the phenomenal runs on Fraser river will be repeated this year, for they come in cycles. The Pacific Steam Whaling Co. received the past week 18,297 cases from Hunter's bay, which is the last of their Alaska pack in 1897."

DRIED FRUITS AND THE KLONDYKE.

Regarding the situation in dried fruits on the Coast The San Francisco Herald of Trade says in its issue of Feb. 11: "The market, while quiet, is not stagnant, for a little trade is passing about all the time. Holders do not seem anyways anxious, but appear firm in their views, believing that distributers in the east will have to come in soon, for from all advices they are carrying light stocks. In our market jobbers will not come in until they dispose of that bought, particularly those that bought freely in expectation of a big Klondyke demand. This call is not expected to set in until about the time for resumption of navigation on the Yukon."

SITUATION IN DATES.

Within the past few days there has been a decided increase in the demand for Persian dates. The retail demand, stimulated by the low prices and the comparatively high cost of other fruits, has been fairly active, and large sales have resulted. Present prices for Persian dates are said to be the lowest on record for this time of the year. The decline is attributed to the failure of the combination formed in London early this season to maintain its control of the market, owing to outside competition. The London clique held prices up till January 1; but after that, it is stated on good authority, it was compelled to relinquish its position as the controlling power, and under the competition from outsiders went to pieces. Since that time the market has been unsettled and easy, with the tendency constantly in buyers' favor, the downward movement being helped on this side by the sharp competition between receivers on a dull market. It has been stated that the receipts of Persian dates this year, so far, were less than those for the corresponding period last year, but on the contrary the statistics of arrivals kept by the Fruit Buyers' Union show that there have been landed here to date nearly as much as was received for the entire season of 1896-97, while a comparison of receipts for the two years from the beginning of the season to February 17 shows a surplus of about 4,000 boxes in favor of 1896 97. On the other hand, it is claimed that the average quality of the stock is better than that imported a year ago, being drier and less apt to turn sour with warmer weather. This fact, in connection with the exceptionally low prices quoted, causes an enlarged demand both here and abroad. Advices just received from London state that there is an active demand for Persian dates, and that prices have advanced 6d. to 1s. on the last quotations.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE CURRANT MARKET.

D. PASQUA writes as follows regarding the currant market in Greece under date of Feb. 3, 1898. The following table shows our total exports to 31st ult., as compared with the same period of last year:

	Season 1897-98. Jan. 31. Net tons.	Season 1896-97. Jan. 31. Net tons.	Season 1895-96. Jan. 31. Net tons.
To England including transhipments	52,545	47,855	54,700
To United States and Canada	12,090	13,545	14,165
To Australia	2,800	2,370	2,775
To Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria	21,605	31,836	42,200
To France	1,145	4,211	6,223
To Russia	.....	19,321	19 341
To Sundries	300	1,900	1,200
Net tons	90,385	120,141	110,484

The s.s. Athenian for Liverpool, left on Feb. 1 with about 100 tons. The s.s. Minna Schuldt for Rotterdam with 900 tons, and the s.s. Julia with 850 tons for London and 150 tons for transit, are sailing this week. These shipments are not included in the above list. No other steamers are on berth.

The stocks in Greece on Feb. 3 are reported to be:

	Tons.
Patras growth	700
Amalias, Filiatras, etc., stored in Patras	2,600
Calamata and district	650
Vlos and district	450
Filiatra and district	1,000
Pyrgos and Olympia	5,000
Ionian Islands	2,000
Campos, Amalias and sundries	600
Total tons	13,000

After deduction of about 2,000 tons required for the retention service, the available stock in Greece for export till new crop is 11,000 tons, against 20,000 tons at same period last year (exclusive of the fruit destined for the retention dues).

Prices have not been very steady during the second half of January, owing to the continued perturbation in the rate of exchange, which has fluctuated between 37 and 38d. per £ stg. The instability of currency is such as to exclude all basis for business with the consuming countries. The fall is sudden and violent, whilst the reaction comes slowly, and when no bills are offered on the Athens market.

A RAISIN-SEEDING PLANT.

The Acme Fruit-Cleaning Co., of 126 Queen street, Montreal, has lately put in one of the most improved raisin-seeding machines, and anticipate a large trade in seeded raisins, as this addition to its plant will enable it to fill a long-felt want in Canada. This industry has been a large and growing one in the United States for the past two or three years, and the Acme Co. is to be congratulated on its enterprise in initiating it in this country.

The company is also going extensively into the business of cooking and drying potatoes for use in climates which will not permit of the handling of this vegetable in its natural state. The potatoes, after having been cleaned, are cooked, shredded, dried and packed in tin boxes, each box containing five pounds of the prepared article, which can be carried with comparative ease and used under all conditions and in all climates without losing any of the value of the fresh article. It requires 100 lbs. of the raw product to make 20 pounds of the prepared, and the company has already booked orders for 40,000 lbs. for Klondyke and other trades.

SYMPATHY FOR THE GROCER.

A CORRESPONDENT of The Hamilton Times, signing himself "Consumer," writes as follows:

I notice the grocers at their last meeting spent a lot of time over the question of giving away calendars. These little souvenirs give great pleasure to many people at Christmas time and ornament otherwise bare walls in poor customers' houses. Why do not these business men (so called) decide at once to make their trade a cash one, instead of unlimited credit, and then the cost of calendars will not bother them? I understand the wholesale dealers having to pay cash for nearly everything they buy, have of late compelled retailers to pay in thirty days for most of their stuff. If this is the case, why on earth do these people give their customers six and at times twelve months' credit? They can't afford it, and are better without such customers. In nine cases out of ten such people spend their money freely in theatre going, summer outings and social extravagance. Retail dry goods, boots and shoes, hardware, etc., sell mostly for cash, and if needful get long credits in buying. Why, then, should the grocer, who has to pay cash, hamper himself accommodating people who should never ask it? If you were to get a peep at the credit column of retailers' books you would be astonished to find the absurdly large sums hundreds of Hamilton people are asking the poor grocer to saddle. I am not a retail grocer, thank goodness, but know of many who are all the time pinched and hard up owing to the unreasonable demands made on them.

A poultry expert has recommended to the Brantford Council that all fowl coming on the market have their heads on so that the inspector be able to determine the state of the birds' health.

THE DUTY ON JAVA COFFEE.

In answer to a request by the collector of Customs at Toronto, the Customs Department has made an interesting ruling in respect to Java coffee. Under the statute, tea and green coffee, when imported direct from the country of growth or production, when purchased in bond in the United Kingdom, are free. Now, the Customs Department rules that Java coffee bought in bond in Holland be considered as coming under the provisions of the tariff, Java being a colony of Holland, and under the same tariff laws.

CANADIAN CHEESE IN ENGLAND.

THOS. J. Dillon, the well-known cheese expert, of Charlottetown, returned by the steamer Ulunda recently from the old country, where he spent a month investigating the English markets. Mr. Dillon shipped altogether last season 30,000 boxes of cheese to the English markets, and most of it was sent through the port of Halifax. On the Barcelona's last trip he shipped 9,000 boxes, which was the largest single shipment ever taken into Manchester. Mr. Dillon speaks in the highest praise of the satisfactory way in which his stock was handled at this port, and he is enthusiastic over the splendid sea-going qualities of the Ulunda and the courtesy of her captain and officers.

Mr. Dillon is a thorough Canadian and he is anxious that Canada should be well-known in the old country. He complained to the Chronicle that the steamer Lake Ontario, on which he was a passenger from Halifax to Liverpool, did not fly the Canadian flag as she went up the Mersey. He thinks that a line that is subsidized to the extent of $125,000 by the people of Canada should at least do that much to advertise this country when she reaches the other side. The ships are subsidized by the Canadian Government and they should fly the Canadian flag.—Chronicle, Halifax.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

Feb. 24, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday. The prices are solicited for publication, and are for such qualities and quantities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

Quotations for proprietory articles, brands, etc., are supplied by the manufacturers or agents, who alone are responsible for their accuracy. The editors do not supervise them. If a change is made, either an advance or decline, it is referred to in the market reports as a matter of news, whether manufacturers request it or not.

WETHEY'S CONDENSED MINCE MEAT.

When you know that Wethey s is so superior to other brands why not handle it exclusively?

Even if there is a little more direct profit in others, you will lose in the long run if you try to sell them to your customers. They won't be satisfied with them and they'll blame you for it and leave you. Whereas, if you always give them Wethey's they will never be dissatisfied. You will, thereby, make new customers instead of losing old ones. It's a great trade maker.

J. H. WETHEY
Manufacturer St. Catharines, Ont.

It Pays to Keep the Best.

We handle COLEMAN'S celebrated brand of Table and Dairy Salt. It is the acknowledged superior in the market to-day. The 5-lb. carton, of which we give an engraving, is printed in three colors, red, black and yellow, with tin cover, and combines an attractiveness for shelf display, together with a useful, durable package, that makes it a ready seller. This form of package is especially adapted for first-class town or city trade. It keeps the salt cleaner and drier than cotton bags possibly can do.

We handle all kinds of Salt. Fine, Coarse or Land Salt in barrels, sacks or bulk. Unequalled shipping facilities. Prompt shipment. It will pay you to correspond with us.

Compressed Corned Beef

is a staple article and a good many people make it. It looks like a simple thing to put up, but there are lots of points to be considered. First—there's the selection of the meat, that's important. Second—the cure of the meat; if it's cured too much, it's salty; if not enough it will spoil. Third—there's the cooking of the meat; this has to be done to a turn. Fourth—there's the processing; in this and the cooking lie the arts of the scientific canner. Lastly—there's the painting, labeling and casing of the can for market; these points all require careful attention and trained help.

We make a study of every detail connected with meat canning. Nothing is so small as to escape our careful attention. We are acknowledged leaders in the application of scientific methods to this work. Canadian Dealers too Often Deceived

It is of vast importance that every dealer should exercise the greatest caution when buying Paste Stove Polish.

The QUICKSHINE has attained such immense popularity that unscrupulous people have gone into stove polish business and are manufacturing polish that pays them tremendous profits. The materials employed in the composition of these imitation packages are so poor and cheap that the woman who buys them can never get the results she desires, and in this manner, to a certain extent, injures the sale of the good article.

When stove polish is required for domestic use ask your dealer or wholesale grocer for QUICKSHINE STOVE POLISH, and accept no substitute in the way of imitation package polishes, or polishes that are two-thirds soap and one third polishing material.

If your wholesale dealer does not sell QUICKSHINE, send direct to us for same, stating the wholesale dealer you wish us to send it through; or if you prefer it sent direct, we will forward same at once. Price per 3-doz. Case, $2.25.

In Competition

Tried and True They Won.

The Klondyke Trade in food products invites close competition—whatever is chosen must be easily portable and of the least possible weight. The greatest amount of nourishment in the most condensed form usually decides a Klondyker what and how to buy. In competition for supplying the Army with a quick, portable, high quality "Soup Square" for use in the Border Campaigns, Her Majesty's Government advised "Lazenby's Soup Squares." There were many other squares offered—the test was a strong one, and won, on intrinsic merit alone. They are winning the Klondyke Trade to-day—they will win trade for you—if you keep them and let folks know you have them.

WANTS OF RETAILERS.*

By John A. Lee, of St. Louis.

IN presenting this subject it puzzles me, Mr. President, as to whether it was intended that I treat upon what I and other trade paper editors know that retail merchants usually desire, or upon what we, standing apart as disinterested critics, think that retail merchants need and therefore should have.

If I should treat the subject from the first standpoint, I would probably find that retail merchants were men, with human weaknesses, selfishness and imperfections, and in the habit of "wanting" many things which they should not have and could best do without.

I know some retail grocers who have become so selfishly depraved as to want good trade papers without being willing to pay the subscription price. That, however, is not the lowest state of selfishness and immorality, there is one lower, that of the man who won't read trade papers at all, and won't even promise to pay the subscription price.

I am, however, inclined to think, Mr. President, that it was intended that I treat upon what the trade paper editor deems that retail merchants need in order to perfect their happiness and prosperity and add to the value of their services to the public as occupants of an essential and useful sphere in the great system of human industry.

In treating this subject I will take the view, Mr. President, that your desire is that it be presented honestly, candidly and truthfully, for no other treatment would be of any practical value, and I will, therefore, ask all to be patient, my desire being only to make practical suggestions.

HIGHER EDUCATION AND TRAINING.

Beginning with the retail merchant in his youth, I believe that he should be better educated, and that not only should his school education be more thorough and higher, but that every man before embarking in business for himself should have served several years as a clerk under the tuition of a competent and thorough retail merchant.

The most demoralizing influence in the retail business to-day is that of inexperience and ignorance placed in control of capital without knowing how to handle it or how to conduct a profitable, safe and carefully managed business.

Men come from all walks in life—from between the plow handles, from the brakeman's caboose, the mechanic's bench, when they have saved up a few dollars, to embark their all in a business of which they know nothing and for which they have no capabilities or aptitude.

They look upon the life of a merchant as easier than the work they are engaged in and therefore adopt it, to in a short time come to failure and ruin, and loaded down with debt go back to their old occupation.

The constant rocket like advent and exit of these hopeful but ignorant and incapable experimenters is to-day the greatest of all curses upon the retail mercantile business in this country.

CO-OPERATIVE FRATERNITY NEEDED.

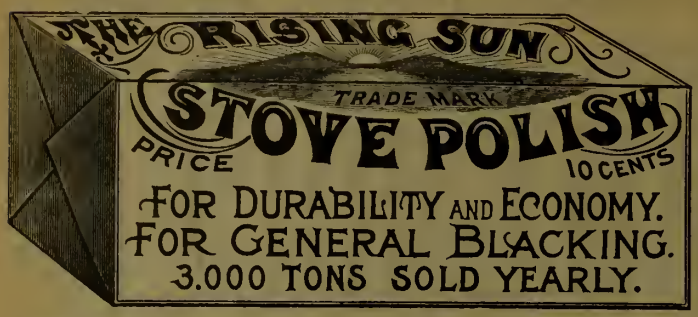
Retail merchants need a broader spirit of fraternity and toleration towards each other. Competitors in business, instead of regarding each other as enemies, should feel that each is engaged in an effort to honestly prosper, not at the expense of, or by destruction of each other, but by rendering valuable service to the public. When one merchant in a town begins to demoralize prices and business, the others should call upon him and candidly dissuade him rather than to follow his example in an effort to bring ruin upon the business.

The work which your association is doing in bringing all the retail merchants of your state into membership and sympathy with co-operative work and with each other is noble and good, and will right many wrongs and supply many needs.

FEARLESS, TRUTHFUL EDITORS NEEDED.

Retail merchants need the help of honest, fearless, truth-telling trade paper editors, men of broad and independent views, who will not truckle to the trade, be it wholesale, retail, or manufacturing. When such men and papers are found their value should not be based merely upon the price list that they may or may not publish, but they should be appreciated for their honesty, ability, impartiality, enterprise, and freedom from a servile spirit of sycophancy.

A NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY LAW.



It is admitted that retail merchants need a wise, carefully and justly framed bankruptcy law. I wish it understood that I do not classify the big department stores in my list of legitimate retail merchants. I look upon them as a class separate and apart and of an inimical and destructive attitude toward legitimate retail trade. The department stores do not need a national bankruptcy law. Their particular and special case needs another kind of law which should be thoroughly enforced against all kinds of labor cheapening, monopoly promoting, real estate value destroying, inimical and wicked business combinations.

The department stores are protesting against the passage of a national bankruptcy law. After having crushed thousands of small dealers into bankruptcy, they are disposed to follow them beyond their commercial burial and protest against their redemption and resurrection.

Their policy is to force these men, I see sitting around me, to become an association of automatons, clerks working for these department stores for a miserable weekly wage pittance, losing their identity and names, being known by number as are convicts in a penitentiary, and to establish a system of white vassalage and slavery as a substitute for the useful, independent, honest, patriotic, retail, mercantile system of the United States.

I read in a trade paper the other day that the best defence retail merchants could make against department stores was to combine their stocks and start department stores. I do not classify the general stores in a country town as department stores, the tendency always is, as towns grow, for the various lines to become distinct and special. I do not believe in out-Heroding Herod, or in remedying and eradicating a national evil by promoting and increasing it.

DIVORCE GROCERIES AND SALOONS.

Retail grocers especially need an entire separation of the grocery and the saloon business.

Together, they may in some cases prove financially profitable, owing to conditions, but I believe that the grocery store would prove more profitable if detached, and I believe that the merchant would be happier, healthier and more contented and eventually more prosperous. I will not treat of the matter from its moral aspect, there is no need for me to do that; but I believe that the saloon attachment exerts a demoralizing influence upon the merchant himself, and surrounds him with constant temptations which are frequently dangerous and ruinous as to his personal habits, peace of mind and business success.

BETTER COLLECTION LAWS.

I think that retail merchants need more consideration on the part of law makers as to the revision and improvement of our collection and exemption laws, so that dishonest debtors can be compelled to pay just debts, but conditions are difficult, and until there is a change of public sentiment it will be hard to secure further needed changes. I would suggest that a general and constant effort to get business as near a cash basis as possible will, to a certain extent, relieve this want, and at the same time build up public sentiment in favor of laws under which credit can be more liberally extended.

SHOULD VISIT MAIN MARKETS.

It is thought that retail merchants need a closer personal contact and acquaintance with wholesale merchants and manufacturers with whom they deal. I think that they should make it a practice to visit the principal markets several times a year, meet the people whom they are patronizing, look carefully through the great sample rooms, inspect the retail stores of the city for new ideas of display and trade attraction. I believe that a universal custom of that kind would prove not only to the advantage of the retail and wholesale merchants, but that it would even benefit the commercial travelers, who are directly interested in all enterprising and progressive methods of business education and advancement.

A BETTER OPINION OF THEMSELVES.

Retail merchants need more confidence in their own power and influence for good through the spirit of co-operation and organization. They should, through their association, be more active and vigilant in the promotion of work of public benefit to the communities in which they live, their state and the nation.

Retail merchants should realize the necessity for the cultivation of a stronger sentiment of pride in their business and its position of merit and dignity. In order to assert themselves people must be self-assertive.

The time was, not many years ago, in foreign countries, when the merchant was looked upon as of an inferior caste, and only the soldier, the statesman and the nobleman were deemed worthy of public consideration.

Even now in England and other monarchial governments the shopkeepers, as they are called, are looked down upon as of an humble and inferior class.

Not so, however, in this great and glorious land, Mr. President, where all men are free and equal before the law and where they stand or fall by their own individual merits.

The merchant here is, and should be, equal as to the honor, dignity and standing of his occupation to any other class, and the soldier, the lawyer, the scholar, and many other classes, not excepting the humble editor, are to a large extent dependent upon mercantile patronage for success.

Seest thou a man diligent in his business, he shall stand before kings: he shall not stand before mean men.

THEIR THREE GREATEST NEEDS.

I could, Mr. President, continue enumerating things which retail merchants want and should have, thereby occupying your time and attention even unto weariness, but I will refrain and conclude by mentioning just two or three more wants and needs of retail merchants.

One of the most indispensable needs of a retail merchant who desires to prosper and be truly happy is a loyal, brave, true, God-serving woman who has promised to be his wife, his companion through health and sickness, joy and sorrow, prosperity and misfortune, until death intervenes. Her gentle and refining influence and loving guidance will lead him along the paths of honesty, economy and peace, and will stand between him and temptation, while her religious faith and example will lead him onward and upward by the power of love and hope to that life everlasting of joy eternal in the house not made with hands.

The retail merchant should, if God in His mercy so wills it, have in his home little children, in whom he will rejoice in his youth and manhood, and upon whom he can lean in his declining years. There is no music, sir, that will cause the harmony of the heart to vibrate and the soul of man to exult and expand like the music of the voices of happy little children. "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

And finally, Mr. President, the retail merchant, when the days of his active usefulness are drawing to a close, when his ambitions have been achieved, when his footsteps have grown feeble and his hope and faith strong, when he stands calmly and hopefully waiting for the inevitable summons which must come to all, then, sir, he will most need, and I earnestly pray that he may receive, the merciful and tender forgiveness and all embracing love of our Father who art in Heaven.—Interstate Grocer.

A TOUGH SNUFF STORY.

A grocer in a Cheshire village went, according to an English paper, from Birkenhead to Liverpool to purchase stock, which in due time was deposited on the landing-stage, awaiting shipment across the Mersey.

One of his purchases was a magnificent American cheese, and upon this, for lack of better accommodation, the weary grocer seated himself as he kept watch and ward over the rest of his property.

While thus resting, every now and then solacing his nasal organ with a pinch of snuff, two well-dressed young men entered into conversation with him.

"Let me ask you to try my snuff," said one of the fellows, as he pulled out a handsome snuff box.

"Certainly," said the grocer.

The moment he snuffed it he sneezed violently. At every sneeze he lifted himself about a foot from the cheese. As he gave the third sneeze, gent No. 2 pushed the cheese from under him, and for it substituted a peck measure. As the grocer sneezed for the last time, the sharpers and the cheese had vanished.

When he understood the manner in which the exchange had been effected he was about the most excited man of the season.

DAIRY NOTES.

THE report of the Emerald, Ont., cheese factory gives the following statistics: Number of pounds of milk received during the year, 947,538; number of pounds of cheese sold, 93,968; making and other expenses, $1,212.32; amount paid patrons, $7,020.02; average price of cheese, 8.73c. per lb.

The following is the annual report of the Salford, Ont., cheese factory: 3,643 boxes, 281,282 lbs. cheese, made during 1897. Paid patrons per 100 lbs. of milk, 70c.; average yield 10.78; average price, 8.44c. per lb.

The following items are taken from the auditors' report of the Harrietsville, Ont., cheese factory: Milk received for manufacturing cheese 5,335,000 lbs.; for manufacturing butter on Saturday nights, 259,957 lbs.; manufactured 499,090 lbs. of cheese and 9,898 lbs. butter on Saturday nights. Total money received from all sources, $43,487.06; paid patrons for butter and cheese, $37,328.45; paid manufacturing, $5,300.99; paid hauling milk, $482.86; paid expenses, $365.91; balance in bank, $8.85; average milk for one lb. of cheese, 10.68 lbs.; average price, 8.36c. per lb.; 9,471 lbs. of butter were manufactured during the latter part of November with an average of 21.06 lbs. of milk for one lb. butter, and 15,441 lbs. butter manufactured during December with an average of 20.07 lbs. for one lb. butter.

At the annual meeting of the Dereham and West Oxford Butter and Cheese Manufacturing Co., Limited, it was unanimously decided to continue taking in the milk and paying for the butter fat contained therein by adding 2 per cent. to the test of each patron. This has given the best of satisfaction in the past year, which has been a prosperous one for this factory, as the following report will show: 4,280 boxes, or 316,066 lbs., bringing $26,973.13; interest on deposits, $31.45; total receipts, $27,004.58; the shareholders received 8 per cent. on their stock, after which there was $363.54 balance on hand; total amount of milk received, 3,380,006 lbs.; average yield, 10.69; average price, 8.53c. per lb.; average butter fat test, 3.53; paid patrons per 100 lbs. milk, 70c.

A convention of butter and cheese makers will be held at the Kingston Dairy School on Wednesday, March 9. Two sessions, one at 9.30 a.m., the other at 1.30 p.m., will be held, and the following cheese and butter experts will speak: A. F. McLaren, M.P., ex-president Western Butter and Cheese Association; Prof. Dean, D. Derbyshire, Dr. W. T. Connell, bacteriologist; J. A. Ruddick, superintendent dairy school; G. G. Publow, L. A. Zufelt, instructors of the dairy school; and also Messrs. Kerr, Lowery, Bowey, Bensley and Purvis, instructors for the association.

A WISE ORDER-IN-COUNCIL.

Mr. L. A. Phillips, purchasing agent of the Alaska Exploration Co., came to Montreal early in February to make purchases for his company. A couple of weeks ago orders had amounted to $200,000, when it was learned that he could not get vessels from Vancouver to transport the goods northwards, and that they would have to be shipped from San Francisco, Cal. Under the existing coasting laws he would have had to pay duty on re-entering the goods into Canadian territory. He appealed to the Canadian Government, stating that unless the goods he bought in Canada were admitted into the Klondyke district of Canada free he would be compelled to cancel all orders. The Cabinet, at a subsequent meeting passed an order-in-council to the effect that goods bought in Canada and which go through the United States in bond shall be allowed to re-enter Canada free of duty.

In an interview, Mr. Phillips since stated that his orders for goods would amount to over half a million dollar's worth. Among other orders, this company will take all the output of the Laing Meat Co. up to May 1.

REDUCTIONS IN STAPLE COTTONS.

THERE were some rather extensive drops in the prices of Canadian cottons announced on March 1. The Dominion Cotton Co. dropped the price of canton flannels to meet the competition in those goods recently inaugurated by the Canadian Colored Cotton Co. In the lower numbers the drop is as much as 10 per cent. The prices of the medium numbers are from 5 to 7½ per cent. lower. In No. 10 and higher numbers there is no change in price.

A large cut was also announced by the Dominion Cotton Co. in pillow cottons, amounting to 12½ per cent. in some cases. In the higher lines the drop is 10 per cent. all round. This is understood to be due to the competing prices of the Merchants Cotton Co. in these goods.

In sheetings, also, some cuts in prices have been made. The Dominion Cotton Co. have lowered the price of some of the lower lines of bleached sheetings ½ to ¾c. per yard. In unbleached sheetings some of the lines are down from 12½ to 15 per cent. in price. These reductions are likewise due to the price list of the Merchants Cotton Co. These changes apply to present lines, and it is said that fall prices will not be definitely decided until the tariff is brought down in Parliament.

In colored cotton no changes of price were announced on March 1, and, as in a few lines there is some scarcity owing to the unexpectedly large demand, no immediate change in Canadian colored goods is expected by the trade. The situation all round, however, is uncertain, and the possibility of some tariff change, even slight, would alter conditions.—Dry Goods Review.

DERIVATION OF THE WORD KLONDIKE.

"The River Trip to the Klondike" is the title of an article by John Sidney Webb in the March Century. Mr. Webb says: From Dawson the trail to the mines leads over a steep hill to the creek made so famous by its tributaries, for there is not a single mine on the principal stream, which in the miners' slang is called Klondike. And yet this stream does in reality bear a characteristic name given it by the Indians, which is utterly murdered by this pronunciation, now so common.

The Indians name the creeks throughout the country from some characteristic in connection with the stream itself, and as this one is so swift that in order to set their salmon traps or nets they were obliged to use a hammer to drive the stakes to anchor them, the creek was named by them Hammer Creek, or, in their language, phonetically, Troan Dik. The spelling Klondike means absolutely nothing, but has been accepted, so I learn, by the Board of Geographical Names of the United States.

A BAD FAILURE.

The official assignee's statement in connection with the insolvent estate of the Winnipeg departmental store, George Craig & Co., shows direct liabilities of $81,489.74. The principal creditots are Gault Bros. & Co., Montreal, to the extent of $23,395.40, and Thibaudeau Bros. & Co., Montreal, to the extent of $17,566.98. The amount owed altogether, to Montreal creditors, is $53,996.47; to Toronto creditors, $11,807,76, of whom Caldecott, Burton & Spence are the largest, with $3,390.92 on their books. The amount owing Winnipeg creditors is $7,367.57, R. J. Whitla & Co., with $2,458.13, being the principal creditors. In addition to the direct liabilities there will be a further sum of $7,500, now in abeyance. The assets are $54,188.15, leaving a deficit of $27,301.59.

UNITED STATES TEA INSPECTION.

IT MAY interest readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER to read the following regulations governing the inspection of tea in the United States issued Feb. 7, last :

I.

The following standards of imported teas are substituted for those prescribed by circulars No. 69 of April 21, 1897, and No. 186 of Nov. 6, 1897 :

No. 1—Fomosa Oolong.
" 2—Foochow Oolong.
" 3—Amoy Oolong.
" 4—North China Congou.
" 5—South China "
" 6—India Tea.
" 7—Ceylon Tea.
" 8—Pingsuey Green Tea.
" 9—(A) Country Green Tea, (Y. Hyson).
" 10—(B) Country Green Tea, (Hyson).
" 11—Japan Tea, pan fired.
" 12— " " sun dried.
" 13— " " basket fired.
" 14— " " dust or fannings.
" 15—Scented Orange Pekoe.
" 16—Capers.
" 17—Canton Oolong.
" 18—Scented Canton.

II.

In order to promote uniformity in the methods of examination of teas, the following rules, recommended by the Board of Tea Experts, are prescribed and substituted for those found on page 8, Departments Circular, No. 69.

In comparing with standards, examiners are to test all the teas on these points, namely, for cup quality, for any foreign matter on the surface of the infusion sometimes called scum, and for quality of leaf after infusion. Cup quality shall be ascertained by drawing, according to the custom of the tea trade, with the weight of a half dime to the cup.

In country green teas, Imperials, Hysons, Coarse Leaf Gunpowders and Extra Young Hysons, are to be compared with Hyson standards, and all other Young Hysons and Small Leaf Gunpowders with the Young Hyson standard. The quality must be equal to standard, but the flavor may be that of a different district, as long as it is equal in sweetness. As an illustration, a Teenkai may be equal to a Moyune, but a distinctly smoky or rank Fychow or Wenchow, of sour character, must not be considered as equal to the two first-mentioned.

In order to test for floating coloring matter, or scum, and also for the quality of infused leaf, a second drawing should be made of double the foregoing weight. Before disturbing the infusion examination should be made for any floating substance, and after pouring off the water the infused leaf should be taken out so as to exhibit the lower side which rested against the cup. Should the mass show a larger quantity of exhausted, decayed, or inferior leaf, or foreign substance than the standard, it shall be considered inferior in quality, and the tea must be rejected. In Greens and Japans particularly, the brightness of the leaf should be considered as an evidence of quality.

Should a tea prove, on examination, to be inferior to the standard in any one of the requisites, viz, cup quality, scum, or quality of infused leaf, it shall be rejected, notwithstanding that it be superior to the standard in some of the qualifications. A consideration of the appearance or so-called style of the dry leaf shall be omitted.

Macao or Canton Congous should be compared with the standard for South China Congou, and Brick tea compared with the standard for the district whence it comes. The mustiness or damaged flavor exhibited in certain Canton teas, imported for Chinese consumption, shall be considered as sufficient cause for rejection. Until the establishment of a new standard for Amoy Oolongs, they will be tested by the Foochow standard.

The dust and fannings in all Formosa, Foochow, and Amoy Oolongs, Canton teas, Congous, Indias and Ceylons must be restricted to 10 per cent. when sifted through a sieve of No. 16 mesh, made of brass wire. In order that the needle leaf and Pekoe tips may not be confounded with dust they must be returned with the dust to the sieve for a second and third sifting until separated.

In the case of Ceylon and India teas, the needle leaf and Pekoe tips shall be separated by passing them, together with the dust, through a No. 26 sieve of brass wire, after the tea has been first sifted through a No. 16 sieve.

Dust and fannings in Japan teas must not exceed 4 per cent. when tested by a No. 30 sieve of brass wire. Before condemning any tea for dust, examiners shall sieve at least two packages.

III.

Examiners should preserve in tin, for one year, samples of all teas examined for future reference in case of complaints, and the Board of General Appraisers should also retain a portion of all samples sent them on appeal for the same object. To this end, examiners should always send the board samples of at least half a pound, and never otherwise than in tin cans securely labeled.

IV.

Statistics showing the quantities of various kinds of teas admitted and rejected should be kept at the Customs houses for future reference.

V.

The rules contained in Circulars Nos. 69 and 186 will continue to be enforced except as above modified.

VI.

Any teas shipped from abroad on or after March 1, 1898, will be governed by the new standards herein adopted.

Officers of the Customs will be governed accordingly.

A SUCCESSFUL CASH MAN.

THE CANADIAN GROCER received a pleasant visit from Mr. J. A. Stewart, one of Exeter's progressive general merchants. Mr. Stewart is an enthusiastic cash man.

"We adopted the cash system two years ago," said Mr. Stewart, in reply to a question, "and we are delighted with the results."

"Did you experience any difficulty at first? Was there any falling off in trade?"

"We experienced no difficulty and had no loss of trade. I'll tell you what we did: For three months before we adopted the cash system we advertised the matter freely. I might add, by the way, that we are extensive advertisers. As a result, when we discarded the credit for the cash system everybody knew it. We, nevertheless, expected that for a while we would lose business ; but we didn't. At the end of the first year we found that our business had actually increased, while during the second year it increased 50 per cent."

"Don't you do any credit business?"

"Not a dollar's worth," was Mr. Stewart's emphatic rejoinder. "In order to succeed in doing a cash business a man must have backbone. If he starts to give this and that customer credit, the first thing he knows he will be back to the old credit system. There is one good thing about the cash system : Not only does it save money and worry, but it is a good advertisement for you if you go about it in the right way."

Mr. Stewart began business in Exeter nine years ago, and during that time he has had to enlarge his store three times, until it is to-day 135 feet deep. Mr. Stewart is a young man, and THE CANADIAN GROCER hopes he will have to enlarge his premises another 135 feet.

The tobacco duties were $223,637 last month, as against $95,000 in January, 1897.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

A Talk With a Progressive Retailer.

This week, while walking along King street west, Toronto, my attention was attracted by a neat window display in the store of Somers Bros. The display was simple, yet attractive. The background was a trio of pyramidical piles of canned tomatoes and pumpkins. Next to these were bottled sauces, etc., with a can of sardines in the centre. In the front of the window were three small but neatly arranged piles of oranges and lemons. On turning to enter the store I noticed a workman busy building at the side of the doorway a display bracket. Mr. Somers informed me that the intention is to place a mirror in the central part of this bracket with two shelves, one above the mirror, the other below it, for holding biscuit tins, canned goods, etc. He is a firm believer in mirrors as custom catchers and keepers, and has several magnificent ones in the store. The store is a rather small one, but, as Mr. Somers expressed it : "Necessity is the mother of invention, and lack of space has necessitated our using much time and thought considering how our space can be utilized to greatest advantage. Now, as you see, one standing in the store can see at once nearly everything in it, which fact often makes a sale. The three characteristics which we spend our time endeavoring to make manifest throughout our store are compactness, attractiveness, and cleanliness." The result is, that though, as before stated, this store is a small one, the impression received by one entering it is that the best of goods are kept there, and kept in a cleanly manner.

"Catchy" Signs.

There are not many grocers who have been fortunate enough to strike ideas in sign painting as has a Yonge street, Toronto, retailer. I refer to Higgins' Cash Grocery, corner of Yonge and Edward streets. At the southern extremity of the store, on Yonge street, is a sign cut and painted to represent a two-masted sailing vessel. On this sign are the words : "We are Sailing Along and Making Sales." At the entrance of the store immediately at the corner, is a representation of a fish, with the information : "We are Fishing for People Who Want Fish." These signs are not very elegant, yet they are such that a passer-by could hardly fail to remember them, and thus remember the store.

CANADA AND WEST INDIA SUGAR.

THERE IS, as readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER are aware, a possibility of the Dominion Government re-adjusting the sugar tariff.

We have not the slightest knowledge what the intention of the Government may be, but would suggest, before it takes a decided stand in regard to the matter, if it decides on any change whatever, that it extend the preferential tariff to raw sugar produced in the British West Indies, or any other British colonies, for that matter. There is much to be said in favor of such a move.

The condition of the West India sugar planters, as everyone knows, is lamentable. And how to relieve their necessities is a problem that is puzzling the British Government and causing the Chambers of Commerce in the United Kingdom much concern. Now, then, for the Canadian Government to announce that it was prepared to allow sugar from the West Indies and other British colonies to be imported at one-fourth of the duty levied against raw sugars from all other countries, would not only be helping a sister colony, but would, in addition thereto, immensely increase the popularity of the Dominion in the United Kingdom.

Our imports in 1897 of raw sugar from the British West Indies were 20,317,636 pounds and from British Guiana 3,283,382 pounds, a total of 23,601,018 pounds. This, however, is only about 8 per cent. of our total imports of raw sugar. Our total imports last year were 276,724,076 pounds, and the countries from which we received this quantity were as follows:

	Quantity in pounds.
Great Britain	551,034
British Guiana	3,283,382
British West Indies	20 317,636
Austria	13,303,140
Belgium	13 351 506
Brazil	2,158,154
China	6,932
Egypt	32,777
Dutch East Indies	29,687,166
Germany	98,c84,985
Peru	4,534 225
Spanish West Indies	5,964.579
Spanish possessions, other	43 415,435
United States	42 033,125
	276,724,076

With a preferential tariff against all countries, other than the British colonies, the British West Indies would undoubtedly send more sugars to this country than they now do. As it is now they have to compete on this market, as they have in Great Britain, with the bounty-fed sugars of Germany, Austria and Belgium, these three countries, last year, sending us no less than 124,739,631 pounds of raw sugar, or about 45 per cent. of the whole. Then, it is altogether likely that all we got on the British market came originally from one or more of the bounty-giving countries.

Canada should give sugar, the product of the British West Indies, British Guiana and other British colonies, the benefit of the preferential tariff.

INSOLVENCY LEGISLATION IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

The New Brunswick Legislature is getting into line for improved insolvency laws.

This information comes to THE CANADIAN GROCER through its St. John, N.B., correspondent, who has investigated the matter.

He says: "The legislature is expected to amend the provincial insolvency law this session by adding provisions similar to those in the Ontario Act, for the relief, under proper restrictions, of honest debtors, and for the more equitable distribution of estates of insolvents."

NO INSOLVENCY LAW.

WHAT THE CANADIAN GROCER said last week in regard to the proposed insolvency bill is borne out by the subsequent statements of a daily paper which ventures the information that the Government has decided not to introduce such a measure this session.

It is to be regretted indeed that the Government has come to such a conclusion.

If there is one law more than another this country needs it is an insolvency law. There is no question about that.

The boards of trade throughout the country are unanimously in its favor. So are nine-tenths of the business men who have expressed an opinion in regard thereto.

The conditions as they are to-day, without an insolvency law, are a restraint upon trade, for merchants in one part of Canada are in many instances limiting their operations, because to do business in certain of the provinces would be to run the risk of incurring losses, while we all know the views of business men in the United Kingdom as to the necessity of an insolvency law for the Dominion.

There are, therefore, two specific reasons for a Dominion insolvency law: (1) For the protection of our own business men, and (2) for the protection of the business men of the United Kingdom who desire to extend their trade with Canada.

There is no good reason why the Government should have decided to take the stand it has. But it is only another instance of the superior influence of the politician when it is tested beside that of the business man. And in this respect all Administrations appear to be alike.

Great Britain has a bankruptcy law, and the United States House of Representatives last week adopted one. Canada appears to be the chief laggard in this respect among the English-speaking nations.

It is said a private member will introduce a bill after it has received the approval of the various boards of trade in the country, but it is safe venturing to state that no insolvency bill will become law this session, even should it go as far as to be introduced.

There are five merchants and two manufacturers in the new Ontario Legislature. It is to be hoped they will be at times the saving remnant, as Matthew Arnold puts it.

CAVERHILL, HUGHES & CO.

ACCOUNTANT HAM is still at the books of the firm of Caverhill, Hughes & Co., wholesale grocers, and states that it is impossible for him to make any statement until he has completed his investigation. The list of creditors has been fyled, however, and from this it is ascertained that the liabilities are about $130,000. The heaviest creditors are John L. Caverhill, the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co.; A. C. Miller, Picton, Ont.; Miller & Co., Trenton, and the Acadia Sugar Co., of Halifax.

By the appended list it will be seen that most of the canning establishments have been touched, as well as several of the leading tobacco and cigar manufacturers. The Merchants Bank of Halifax holds some $45,000 worth of the firm's paper. This, and an amount of $433 owing to L. Chaput for rent of the warehouse occupied by the firm, are the only fully secured claims. All the rest come in under the head of ordinary creditors.

Individual creditors who have made an inspection estimate the value of the stock on hand at $12,000, and state that the book debts are about $60,000. How much of this can be realized upon no one is prepared to say until the accountant has made his report. Nominally, therefore, there is a deficit in the vicinity of $60,000 or so, and it depends on the nature of the book debts whether they will be increased or not.

The names of the creditors in detail are :

ADVANCE IN GELATINE.

Gelatine is among the commodities which have recently experienced an advance in prices, quotations being about 2c. per lb. higher than they were a couple of weeks ago, according to advices received in Toronto.

It was only about five or six months ago that the value of gelatine appreciated 25 per cent.

The cause of the advance is the dearness of raw materials.

Most of the raw material for gelatine comes from Argentine, but Canada imports the greater part of the finished product from the United States, Great Britain and Germany. Our total imports in 1897 were 121,537 lbs., valued at $34,515.

The imports from the various countries were :

	Quantity in lbs.	Value.
Great Britain	26,724	$13,263
Belgium	724	128
China	1	1
France	12,255	1,791
Germany	33,403	7,037
Japan	895	201
United States	47,535	12,094

CANADA HAS THE BEST ROUTE.

THE circumstances which led up to the cutting of its rates to the Coast by the Canadian Pacific railway are really an evidence that this route to the Klondyke is preferable to that which United States railways afford. This does not appear to have been recognized by many outside the railway companies.

For some years there has been an agreement between the C.P.R. and the railways in the United States, whereby the former enjoyed a differential rate on through passenger traffic to the Pacific coast.

This agreement worked harmoniously until the heavy traffic for the Klondyke began to set in. Then the United States railways began to demur.

They had no hesitation in saying (now, mark the words) that the C.P.R. had the most direct route, and, furthermore, that in consequence of this it should accept a rate identical with that on the United States railways. The C.P.R. refused to concur, hence the cutting of rates, and the subsequent efforts of the competing roads to induce the Canadian road to be a party to another agreement.

We are expressing no opinion as to the wisdom of the position taken by the C.P.R. Our only object is to refer to the testimony of railway men in the States as to the superiority of the Canadian transcontinental route to the Coast.

He who keeps hammering away will hit the nail on the head some day.

CANNED BEEF DEARER.

A sharp advance took place in Canadian canned corned beef, roast beef and smoked beef on Tuesday.

Corned beef is 10c. per dozen dearer for 1's and 20c. dearer for 2's.

Roast beef is 15c. per dozen dearer for 1's and 20c. dearer for 2's.

Smoked beef shows an advance of 15c. per dozen for 1's and 50c. per dozen for 2's.

The advance is due to a scarcity of meats, while the demand is unusually brisk, due, to a great extent, to the Klondyke trade. As a rule the demand for goods of this kind does not set in till June, while it does not become active till July and August, but already a large business has been done, and manufacturers have orders away ahead.

CANADIAN BACON.

THE benefits of Canada's success as a competitor in the English cheese market will not be confined to the cheese industry.

Already there are cropping up in many parts of Canada evidences of an awakening to the fact that there is another large market awaiting Canadian produce in Great Britain—the market for hams and bacon.

For some time Canadian bacon has gradually been gaining in favor on the British market until it now vies with that of Denmark for first place.

Toronto packers state that it is now a frequent occurrence to meet representatives of British houses which desire to increase their orders for Canadian bacon. A few weeks ago mention was made in THE CANADIAN GROCER of a representative of a house which wanted 1,000 cases per week of Canadian bacon to take the place of bacon they are now receiving from the United States. Since then James Pakenham, managing director of the Kehoe, Donnelly & Pakenham Co., Limited, of Dublin, Ireland, has been in Ottawa making enquiries as to where his firm could make arrangements for securing a regular supply of Canadian bacon. His firm would be prepared to invest capital in a packing house with Canadian packers if that be needful to secure a steady supply.

Mr. Pakenham states that Canadian bacon is fast coming to the front, is now sold under its own name and is considered by many dealers as being quite as good as Danish bacon, which has long been considered the leading article.

Taking these facts into consideration, one would naturally consider that Canada's share of the British market would be a respectable one, but it can hardly be called so.

Great Britain imported, in 1896, over $53,487,606 worth of hams and bacon. Of this amount Canada contributed $4,459,756 worth, or 8.36 per cent. of the whole. This is an insignificant percentage when it is remembered that in the same year Canada supplied Great Britain with almost 60 per cent. of her cheese.

The reason for the comparative smallness of our export bacon trade is largely that we have not produced more. This reason is the fact that makes it interesting to note that in Toronto, Hamilton, Bowmanville, Owen Sound, Oshawa and Windsor, Ont.; in St. John, N.B., Middleton, N.S., Winnipeg, and other municipalities, there are either new establishments being formed or old ones being enlarged.

It is a noteworthy fact, also, that the most astute and enterprising firms interested in this industry are the most active in the increasing of the facilities for doing business.

TEMPTING RATES OF INTEREST.

IT is surprising how indiscreet the promise of one-half to one per cent. more than the ruling rate of interest will make people, business men as well as others, who have a little surplus cash to deposit.

People seem to forget that, as a rule, with the maximum of interest there is the minimum of security.

It is natural a man should desire that his surplus cash should earn all it is possible for it to earn, just as he desires to secure all he can for his services, but there is no reason why he should allow the promise of excessive interest by loan companies and private banks to dull his business instincts.

With money as plentiful as it is to-day the promise of interest in excess of the ruling rate should in itself put people on their guard, instead of alluring them, as is frequently the case, to destruction.

In the recent failure in Toronto of two financial concerns, we have another object lesson of the foolishness of placing money with institutions of the character described. It is to be hoped it is a lesson which will be better heeded than previous ones have been.

The ruling rate of interest on deposits is certainly low compared with what it was a few years ago, but it is better to take it than, in essaying to get that which obtained in the past, to lose all—principal and interest both.

But while greater precaution on the part of depositors is demanded, so also is more rigorous Government inspection.

Not only should loan companies and all similar institutions be made to comply with the law in regard to reports to the proper authorities, but the proper authorities should see that such reports are not garbled.

When a Government gives a corporation power to do the business of a loan company it is remiss in its duty to the public when it does not compel the strict observance of the conditions under which the charter to do such business was obtained.

THE BUSINESS SLUGGARD.

A GOOD many young men spoil their chances for success in life by the frequency with which they come late to business.

Arriving at business in good time does not create ability where the same is lacking; but late arrival at business discounts whatever ability the slothful one may have.

The bird that is late getting into the meadow secures but few worms, and the young man who is in the habit of getting to business late misses many opportunities for success.

The habit of arriving at the post of duty late betokens slothfulness. And no employer will be in a hurry to advance persons of this type.

Then the young man who is slow to put in an appearance at the post of duty is usually the quickest to get away from it at the close of the day. In other words, he is quite willing to cut off something at both ends of the working day.

The men who have been the most successful in life are those who have been early at the post of duty in the morning and have not been in an inordinate hurry to leave it at night, especially when pressing matters required attention.

He who would be successful must not only exercise well his ability, but he must use well the time which his own or his employer's business demands of him.

A CIVIL SERVANT'S LIABILITY.

The Montreal deputation, to wait upon the Government regarding the seizure of civil service employes' salaries for debt, went up to Ottawa on Monday last.

President J. Scanlan and Treasurer Dixon represented the Retail Grocers' Association, and President S. J. Carter, of Carter, Galbraith & Co., and L. E. Geoffrion, of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., the wholesalers.

With the deputation from the west they had a favorable reception from the Ministers who promised to give this matter their serious consideration.

Mail advices from Smyrna state that the stocks of Sultana raisins there do not exceed 700 tons. The English markets are reported to be firm, and at prices above the quotations ruling here.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are this season meeting with much success in the sale of their "Seville" orange marmalade, which they claim to be superior to the ordinary domestic article and fully equal to the imported. It is made from nothing but the Seville orange and extra standard granulated sugar.

"We have just passed into stock the second importation cabled for since the first of the year of condensed and evaporated soups and vegetables for the Yukon trade. Our range embraces everything necessary for use, and this has become a regular feature in our business," say the Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

THE OUTLOOK IN THE NORTHWEST

Mr. James Dowler, the Northwest representative of the Eby, Blain Co., Limited, Toronto, is in the warehouse overhauling his samples preparatory to again taking the road, and another week or so will see him again looking for business.

"The outlook in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia is better than I have seen it during my fourteen years in that part of the country."

Mr. Dowler states that the weather in Manitoba and the Northwest has been unusually mild this winter, in some sections there having been no sleighing at all. "Why, I have a letter from my daughter in which she tells me she was out driving the other day and got stuck in the mud. I never knew anything like that before" concluded Mr. Dowler.

Mr. Gordon Fraser, of Colombo, Ceylon, was in Toronto the week before last, and after seeing it work, gave an order for one of the "Ideal" packing machines. This was shipped on, via London, this week.

TEA PACKING CONTEST.

Editor GROCER,—

In your issue of Feb. 18, Mr. P. C. Larkin tried to explain why there was no contest between his tea packer and our invention. We have only to refer your readers to the correspondence published in your issue of Feb. 4 and they can easily see how anxious Mr. Larkin was that the contest should not take place. He continually shuffles until, in his letter of Jan. 28, he disappears from the scene. The true cause for withdrawing from the contest was published in The Toronto World and we will insert a copy here:

Mr. Larkin grows abusive, Mr. Canning returns his insulting letter, withdraws his stakes and will have nothing more to do with it.—World Feb. 7, 1898.

The "Armeda" tea packer is proving to be all we claim it is in our circular, and is growing in favor with the merchants every day.

Yours truly.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 3, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE feature of trade during the past week has been a slight decline in the price of refined sugar on the Toronto market, while the outside sugar markets are also lower. Business generally does not appear to have materially changed. Some houses are not finding the volume of business as large, while others are experiencing the opposite. Canned vegetables remain steady in price, and there have been some nice shipments made to Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia. Wholesalers report a fair business in teas, and although the demand for coffees is not as brisk as it was, yet there are still a good many going out. The spice market continues strong, and ginger shows a further advance in the outside markets. Japan rice is dearer in the primary and terminal markets. An advance is also announced in tapioca. Currants continue firm, and Valencia raisins are dearer. Dates are dull and weak. Prunes are in fair demand, with some sizes of Bosnia prunes dearer in the primary market. California evaporated fruits are still meeting with a good demand. The general outlook is for a better business, and payments are fair.

CANNED GOODS.

Although there have been a few more enquiries for canned vegetables business is, on the whole, still quiet. A feature of the trade in canned vegetables during the week has been shipments of good sized lots to Winnipeg and British Columbia at $1.25 for tomatoes, and 90c. for peas and corn. It might be noted that a carload went at these prices. Offers have been received on the Toronto market from a Montreal buyer at $1.20 for tomatoes, but we hear of no transactions on this basis. Canned salmon are meeting with a fair Lenten demand. Other lines of canned goods are without special feature. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.20 to $1.25; corn, to 85c.; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10 to $1.25; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 60 to 95c.; peaches, $2 to $2.40 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.40 to $1 70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70: cherries, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c.; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand; cohoes, 95c. to $1; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.70 for tall tins; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

SYRUPS.

Nothing new has developed in this line. Syrups are scarce, and while there has been a little doing at steady prices, the demand is on the whole light. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is not a great deal doing, but prices are ruling firm. We quote as follows: New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-bbls., 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-bbls., 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Since a week ago the sugar market has taken a weaker turn. Beet sugar is cabled lower from London, and refined sugars have delined 1-16 to ⅛c. per lb. on the New York market. On the Toronto market, on Tuesday last, all kinds of refined sugar were reduced 1-16c. per lb. There have been a few carload lots sent off during the week, but people are, as a rule, holding off, awaiting a more settled market. Business is, therefore, in this line, on the whole, quiet. We quote as follows: wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days: Granulated (St. Lawrence, Redpath, Acadia), 4⅝c.; ditto, Dutch, in bags, 4¼c.; ditto, German of Canadian make, in bbls., 4¼c.; ditto, imported, in bags, 4¼c.; yellows, 3¾c. upwards.

NUTS.

Advices received this week indicate that stocks of Valencia shelled almonds are almost exhausted in the primary market, there being little of any grade on hand. In consequence of this prices are fractionally higher. We quote: Brazil nuts, 12½ to 14c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 23 to 25c.; Tarragona almonds, 9 to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 9½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

The rice market is strong and the Japan article is fully ⅜c. a lb. dearer in the outside market. Japan rice on the spot is scarce and wanted. Tapioca is also dearer in the outside markets. Cable advices received in Toronto this week announce another advance in the price of cream of tartar. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 5 to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3½ to 5½c.; sago, 3½ to 4½c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market remains strong and bids submitted by buyers for Rio coffee were refused, except at an advance of thirty points above the figures ruling a couple of weeks ago. The local demand, although not brisk, is steady. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c.; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SPICES.

Not many transactions are reported. Wholesalers and the mill men would buy spot goods if they were to be had, but they are somewhat cautious about placing orders for import at the high prices now ruling. A further advance has taken place in Cochin ginger and spices generally are firm. We quote as follows: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 12 to 14c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 14 to 15c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 12c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 22 to 24c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 20 to 22c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 22 to 26c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 16c.; cassia, 20 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

TEAS.

The tea market seems to have taken another resting spell as far as business with the brokers is concerned. They report a falling off in the demand during the past week. Local wholesalers, however, report a fairly good demand for teas. Advices from London, under date of Feb. 18, state that another week of small auctions has added strength to the market for Indian teas, an improved tone being shown for all descriptions, while in prices a marked advance is to be noted. In regard to Ceylon teas, although the auction is lighter, prices, were irregular and frequently lower. The quality of Ceylon tea offering on the London market, though not as good as a month or two back, continues satisfactory, and is better than during other periods of equally low prices. The cables state that the exports of Indian tea to the United Kingdom from April 1 to the middle of February were 132,420,000 lbs., against 130,460,000 lbs. for the same period last year. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market are as follows: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans. 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indias and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Advices from Patras state that stocks are reduced to 10,000 tons. The market in consequence rules steady. It is said that some offers at rather below the ruling figures have been submitted in Toronto during the past few days, but it is alleged that they were made by brokers in the hope of getting business, but the prices were scarcely likely to be accepted by shippers. Local wholesalers report the demand still good. We quote as follows: Provincials, 5¾ to 6c.; Filiatras, 6¼c. in bbls; 6⅜c. in half-bbls and 6¼c. in cases. Patras, 6¾c. in bbls.; 6¾c. in half-bbls. and 6⅞ to 7c. in cases.; Vostizzas, 7½ to 8½c. in cases

VALENCIA RAISINS—Prices are from 2s. to 2s. 3d. dearer than when the last sales were reported, the market in Denia being almost exhausted. The demand on the local market has improved during the past few days, and is now fair, whereas it had for some time been dull. We quote: Off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 6 to 6½c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—There is nothing of special feature to note, the demand being light and prices unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb; 4-crown, 8¼ to 8½c. per lb.; 1-lb. cartoons, 20c.; 2¼-lb. cartoons, 35c.

PRUNES — The market rules strong. A cable received on Tuesday from Trieste indicated that the larger sizes of prunes there are exhausted, while prices for the 110 to 115 size are about the same as before. California prunes, also, are dearer than when the last sales were made. We quote as follows. "Sphinx," 6½ to 7c.; B, 7½c.; A, 8½c.; California prunes, 40 to 50's, 10 to 10½c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 70 to 80's, 7 to 7½c.; 80 to 90's, 6½ to 7c.; 90 to 100's, 6 to 6½c. Silver prunes (fancy), 13½c.; egg plums, 9½c.; golden plums, 10½c.; French prunes, 180's, 5c.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS—The demand continues good with prices unchanged. We quote: Apricots, 9 to 9½c. per lb. in 50-lb. boxes, 9½ to 16c. in 25-lb. boxes, and 13 to 14c. in 1-lb. cartoon boxes; Peaches, 9½ to 12½c. in 25 lb. boxes, and 13c. per lb. in 1-lb. cartoons.

DATES.—The market is weak and shippers would be glad to get offers. The ruling price for good Hallowee dates is 5¼ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The leading feature of the market this week is the great demand which has sprung up for onions for evaporation, one house shipping three cars last week to Belleville, Ont. This has caused an advance of 15c. per bushel. Oranges are in excellent demand, with navels and seedlings moving freely. Marmalade oranges are now moving well. Navels have advanced 25c. per box. We quote as follows: Almeria grapes, $5 to $6 per keg; lemons, Messina, $2.50 to $3.25 a box; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 a sack and 60c. per doz.; oranges, Valencia, 420's, ordinary, $5.50 to $6; 420's, large, $7 to $7.50 per case; California navels, $3.25 to $3.50; California seedlings, $2.50 to $2.75; Sevilles, $3 to $3.25 a box;

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 3, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery market has exhibited a reasonable degree of activity during the week, but buyers are still disposed to operate very carefully. The advance in the refiners' price of sugar is maintained, but the fact is entirely ignored by jobers, who have accepted orders, in many instances, for less than cost. Active speculative demand for tea was a feature of the week, individual houses shipping large quantities to New York, chiefly of medium grades. This movement, if continued, is anticipated to lead to material appreciation in the price of low grades here, which are not in large supply. Spices are firm as a rule and the Lenten demand for molasses has opened out well, and it is expected that some jobbers will soon be on the market after fresh supplies of this staple, as their stocks are exceedingly light. Canned goods, dried fruit, produce, provisions and other lines are generally steady as to price, though quiet.

SUGAR.

There has been no further change in the sugar market since last report, but it is a noteworthy fact that jobbers do not manifest the slightest disposition to take advantage of the rise in refiners' prices, for they are still selling sugars for cost, and in many cases less than cost. The strength of the market here and elsewhere appears to be a circumstance in which they take no stock whatever. Advices from abroad have ruled steady until very recently, but this week raws show a somewhat easier tendency, Java being quoted at 11s. and fair refining at 9s. 6d. on Monday. Beet exhibited a declining tendency with present and next month quoted at 9s. 3¾d. in London, against 9s. 4½d. for February and March last week. Local enquiry for refined from retailers, despite the inducements offered, is only moderately active, and we quote: Standard granulated, 4 7-16c.; Canadian German do., 4c.; imported do., 3 15-16c., and yellows, 3⅝ to 4c.

SYRUPS.

There is a quiet steady trade doing in syrups, and with small stocks in refiners' hands prices rule firm at 1⅞ to 2c. for dark, and 2¼ to 2½c. for bright goods.

MOLASSES.

There has been no radical change in the molasses market. With the Lenten season demand from country points has picked up a trifle, and as most of the jobbers have small stocks, it is believed that they will have to come into the market and procure fresh supplies. Sales of carload lots of Barbadoes have been made at 27c., and smaller quantities 28 to 29c. Porto Rico is very firmly held also. We quote: Barbadoes, puncheons, 28c.; barrels, 30½c.; and half-barrels, 31½c. per gallon; car lots 1c. less, and Porto Rico, 26 to 27c., according to quality.

CANNED GOODS.

The strong position of the market for canned goods is well maintained, though business this week is not quite as brisk as it was last. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; corn, 90c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1.15; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb.do., $1.10 to $1.20; salmon, $1.20 to $1.25 as to brand; lobsters, $11; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands, and $8 to $9 for ordinary; Canadian do., $4.25 to $4.50.

TEAS.

The active speculative demand for Japan teas continues, and a significant fact is the demand from the States, over $20,000 worth of medium priced Japans being taken off this market by United States buyers on Saturday. This demand from the States, if it continues, is certain to reduce the stocks of medium grade teas and lead to proportionate appreciation in the price of low grade goods. We quote as follows : Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest ; China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 50c. for better grades ; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

SPICES.

The spice market continues firm, though enquiry is light. We quote : Black pepper, 11 to 15c. ; white pepper, 19 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 30c.; allspice, 14c.; and nutmegs, 50 to 90c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market is without new feature. but prices are steady. We quote : Maracaibo, 12 to 15c.; Santos, 10 to 12c; Rio, 10c.; Mocha, 25 to 28c., and Java 25 to 30c.

RICE.

There is a fair trade in rice and prices are unchanged. Mail advices state that cleaned rice is in limited supply at primary markets, and that on goods to arrive shippers demand an advance. Mail advices received from Japan reported the shipments of rice to Europe up to Jan. 13 as 3,200 tons rough and 26 tons cleaned, do. to the United States, 1,267 tons rough and 164 tons cleaned. Last year the shipments to Europe up to Jan. 31 were 37,633 tons of rough and 3,950 tons of cleaned, and to the United States 6,676 tons rough and 744 tons cleaned. We quote: Crystal Japan, 5c.; standard B rice $3.50 to $3.75; Patna, $5 to $5.50; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75 ; choice Burmah, $4 to $4.25, and Java kinds, $4.25 to $4.50.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is no change in currants, prices ruling steady, and to lay any fresh supplies down would entail the payment of full figures. Stocks in wholesalers' hands here are not heavy. We quote : Fine Vostizzas, 6½c.; Patras, 6¼c. ; choice Filiatra, 6c.; half-cases, do., 5⅞c.; half-bbls., 5⅜c.; fine Provincials, 5⅝c., in half-cases.

Valencia raisins are firmly held here with a moderate trade. We quote : Off-stalk, 4½c.; fine do., 4¾ to 5c. ; selected, 5¾ to 6c., and 4-crown layers, 6 to 6¼c.

California raisins are scarce and firmly held both here and outside. We quote 3 and 4-crown at 7¾ to 8¼c. respectively.

Prunes rule firm Oregons selling at 7 to 9c. for medium and large sizes, while French are steady at 4½ to 5½c., and Austrian, 6½ to 7c. California prunes range from 5 to 10c., as to grade.

Dates to arrive are offering at 4½ to 5c., but from stock, 5 to 5¼c. is asked.

Figs continue unchanged. We quote : Eleme, 10 lbs., 10 to 11c.; case lots, 9c.; 12-oz. boxes, 7½c.; 14-oz. boxes, 9c., and bags, 4 to 5c.

NUTS.

There is a quiet trade in nuts. We quote as follows : Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 8½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 16 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 7 to 8½c., and pecans, 9 to 10c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There is a good demand for green fruit this week, but particularly oranges and lemons. Prices are unchanged. We quote : Jamaica oranges, $5 to $5.50; California navels, $3 to $3.50 ; do., seedlings, $2.25 to $2.50; Valencia, $5.50 to $6; Florida, $4.50 to $5. Lemons, $2 to $3 ; pineapples, 25 to 50c. each, and cranberries, $7.50 to $8 per bbl. for Cape Cod, and $8.50 to $9 for Nova Scotia; strawberries, 50c.; bananas, $1.75 to $2, and tomatoes, $3.50 per carrier.

DRIED APPLES.

Quiet and steady at 5 to 6½c. for dried, and 9 to 10c. for evaporated.

APPLES.

Without change at $3 to $4 per bbl., as to grade.

FISH.

There has been no improvement in the demand for fish owing to the fact that buyers generally had ample supplies on hand to commence the Lenten season with, and the wholesale trade do not anticipate much activity, as the prospects are only for a small sorting up demand. Stocks of all lines in first hands at present are sufficient to fill all requirements during Lent. In regard to prices, there are no actual changes to note. Haddocks and cod in case lots are selling at 2¾ to 3c. per lb.; steak cod, 4c.; smelts, 4 to 6c.; Manitoba dore, 5 to 5½c.; pike, 3 to 3½c.; white fish and trout, 6½c.; fresh frozen salmon, 12c.; fresh herrings, large, $1 40 ; medium, $1.20 per 100 ; and tommy cods, $1 to $1.10 per bbl. BEANS—The demand for beans was slow at 75c to 80c. for primes and at 85 to 90c. for choice hand-picked per bushel.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

There was some enquiry from foreign buyers for Manitoba flour, and it is likely some business will result in the near future. Locally the demand was good for small lots, and the market is fairly active with no change in prices to note. We quote: Winter wheat, patents $4.75 to $5; straight rollers, $4.60; bags, $2.25 to $2.30; best Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90 second do., $4.50, and low grades, $2.70; Manitoba spring patents, $5.30.

There was no change in the meal market. The demand is limited and only for small lots at $3.90 per bbl., and at $1.40 per bag for rolled oats.

GRAIN AND FEED.

There was a better feeling in the local grain market in sympathy with the sharp advance at American centres, and buyers showed some disposition to trade, consequently a fair amount of business was done, but values show no material change. Ontario red wheat along the line sold at 87 to 88c., and white at 85 to 86c. Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat was quoted at 97½c. for prompt delivery, and at 99½c. for May afloat Fort William. On spot No. 2 white oats were dealt in at 32¾ to 33c. ex store for export, and at 34½c. for local account. Peas continue quiet at 66 to 66½c. afloat May delivery. Buckwheat unchanged at 41 to 42c., and barley at 41c. ex-store.

An active trade continues to be done in feed, and prices are fully maintained. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $14; shorts, $16 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $15, and shorts, $17 to $17.50 per ton, including bags.

The demand for hay in car lots was fair to-day, and prices are maintained. We quote: No. 1 at $10.50, and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE.

The cheese market exhibits no change, but it is worthy of note that there are plenty of buyers at prices that if accepted would clean up the stock held here, in no time. The ruling bid is 7½c., but there has been no business transacted in finest cheese as low as that, for 7¾c. was made Saturday for a lot of 300 boxes, and another buyer offered the same price for a lot and could not get the goods, as the holder wanted 8c. The latter price was made in one case over the cable. Even at these prices, it is not surprising that holders are disinclined to sell, and it was reported to-day that some holders in preference to doing so, had adopted the alternative of consigning some of their stocks. It is questionable whether they will gain anything by this procedure.

The question of stocks is again attracting attention, and we are in a position to state pretty positively that the stock held in Montreal does not exceed 75,000 boxes, and outside of this city, 50,000 boxes, or 125,000 in Canada altogether.

BUTTER.

Butter continues active, with a higher tendency, and advanced prices were realized this week. Held creamery, for instance, sold at 19c. for October make, which is an advance of one full cent on what was obtainable a fortnight ago, and fresh-made creamery, 19½ to 20c. The rise in price is largely due to the increased demand from local jobbers, who feared that the exporters who have been looking around more freely might step in and scoop what small stocks were obtainable, and leave them with no reserve to meet their own trade wants. It is worthy of note that the advance in prices has led to a noticeable increase in the daily receipts, those for Tuesday amounting to over 1,000 packages, showing that there is still butter in the country.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The simplicity of this machine does not require any description. A glance at the cut shows all the parts so simple that any person can understand it. NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., March 1, 1898.

THE heavy storms affected the movement of goods to some extent last week. There is a fair volume of trade, which is expected to increase considerably this month. The strong tendency in staple lines noted last week still characterizes the market, except for molasses, which is easier. Flour, cornmeal, oatmeal, provisions, canned vegetables, spices, some green fruits, and China congou teas, are all firm or tending higher. American oil is also higher.

OILS—The advance in linseed oil is maintained. American water white burning oil advanced half a cent on Saturday and another half cent yesterday. It is now quoted at 20 to 21c. Canadian water white is 17 to 18c. and prime white 15 to 16c.; cod oil, 26 to 28c.

SALT—There is no new feature in this trade. Stocks are ample, and the regular steamers afford opportunity to increase them with importations from Liverpool. We quote: Coarse, 40 to 43c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 85c. to 95c.; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; rock salt, $5 to $6 per ton.

CANNED GOODS—There has been some buying among city jobbers lately, especially of tomatoes, which are expected to go still higher. Corn and peas are also firmly held. A feature in trade recently was the sale of some canned goods on Montreal account. The only changes in quotations are in canned vegetables. Oysters and lobsters are firm. We quote: Corn, 90c. to $1; peas, $1 to $1.10; tomatoes, $1.25 to $1.35; gallon apples, $2.65 to $2.75; corned beef, Canadian, $2.35 to $2.50; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.75; 1-lb. tins, $1.45 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2.10 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.60; 2's, $1.50 to $1.65; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.50; fruits in glass, $4 to $4.25; salmon, $1.10 to $1.20; ditto, flats, $1.25 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, $1.00 to $1.10; clams, $4.50 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.50 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUITS—A car of California seedling oranges arrived last week. The market is well supplied. Lemons are a little higher. We quote: Lemons, $3.50 to $4; Valencia oranges, case, $6.50 to $7; California navels, $3.75 to $4.50; do., seedlings, $3 to $3.50; do., Florida, $4.50 to $5; do., Dominica, $3.25 per bbl.; Jaffa oranges, $4; apples, $2.50 to $4; bananas, $1.50 to $2; Malaga grapes, $7 to $7.50; Cape Cod cranberries, $11 to $12 per bbl.

DRIED FRUITS—In raisins and currants very little is doing. Currants are firmer. Dried and evaporated apples are firm. California evaporated fruits are selling fairly, a second carload of a special brand having been ordered by one firm. These goods sell low, but are still rather new to the market of this province for a general demand to be noted. Onions are again advanced a little. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5 to 5½c.; California L. M., 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; London layers, $1.40 to $1.50; Imp. cabinets, $1.75 to $1.80; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.30; Dehesa layers, $2.50 to $2.75; currants, cases, 6¼ to 6⅜c.; bbls., 5⅜ to 5⅝c.; cartoons, cleaned, 8½ to 8¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 7¼ to 7½c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 9c.; dates, 4 to 5c.; dried apples, 6 to 7c.; evaporated apples, 10 to 11c.; onions, $2.75 to $3.00 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4 per 100 lbs.; figs, 8 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 9 to 10c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7½ to 7¾c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 11 to 12c.; new Valencias, layers, 6 to 6½c.; citron peel, 18c.; lemon peel, 12c.; orange peel, 13c.

SUGAR—The price of granulated was advanced last week, and yellows also have a little higher range. Trade continues rather quiet in this line. We quote: Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅝c.; yellows, 3⅝ to 4c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES — In view of the low opening price at Barbadoes, and the proximity of the new crop, the market is easy. A small lot of new crop Demerara on the market this week is held at 36 to 39c. Stocks of all grades are light. New Barbadoes is nearly due. We quote: Barbadoes, 24 to 27c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 31c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 32c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE — Stocks of low-grade dairy butter are still heavy, but a good article brings a good price. Cheese is quiet. Eggs are easier. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 18 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 18 to 19c.

FISH—There were not enough fresh fish last week to fill orders, but receipts should be larger this week. The Lenten demand has stimulated business in dry and pickled fish. The market generally is steady. Very few lobsters come to this market, except those too small for the American market. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.90 to $2.00; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.85 per half-bbl.; smoked herring 6½ to 7c.; Canso, pickled, $5 per barrel; boneless fish, 3½ to 4½c.; cod, 6 to 7c.; frozen cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; smelts, 4 to 5c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; lobsters, small, 3 to 5c.

PROVISIONS — As intimated last week, prices have turned higher in the market, both for American and domestic pork and for plate beef. Stocks are light, and packers of domestic pork are very firm in their ideas. Lard has a higher range. We quote: clear pork, $15.25 to $16; old light do, $14; mess, $15 to $15.25; prime mess, $12 to $12.50; plate beef, $13.75 to $14.50; extra plate, $14 to $14.75; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 9½ to 10c.; pure lard, 8 to 9¼c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The market is firm, and oatmeal is higher. Middlings are hard to get. Split peas are higher. Beans are steady. Oats are very firmly held. We quote: Manitoba $5.90 to $6; best Ontario, $5.10 to $5.15; medium, $4.85 to $4.95; oatmeal, $4.20 to $4.30; cornmeal, $2.10; middlings, bulk, car lots, $19 to $20; bran, do, $16.50 to $17; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 95c. to $1.05; barley, $3.25 to $3.35; round peas, $1.25; split peas, $3.60 to $3.75; yellow eye beans, $1.75; oats, 38 to 42c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The lumber trade continues to be in a very much depressed state, with English buyers still declining to make contracts for next season's shipments.

Swift & Co.'s agent was here lately to superintend the shipment of some fresh pork for England and to look into the facilities of this port for trade of that class.

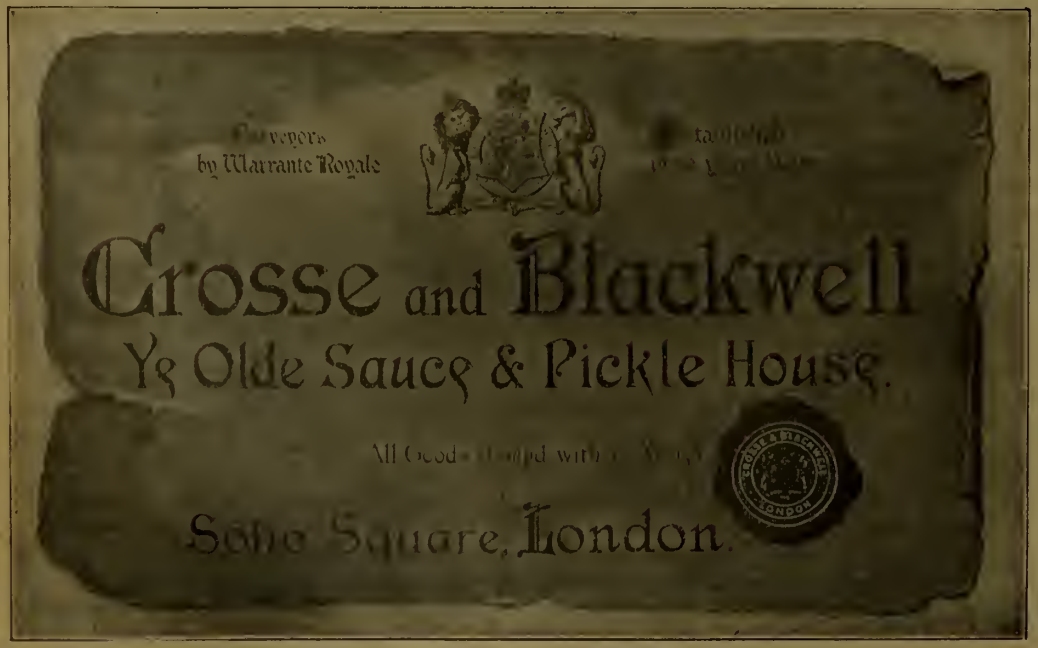
A new factory for making stamped tinware and enamelled ware has been erected at Hampton, 22 miles out on the line of the I.C.R. This is the first enamelling plant set up in the Lower Provinces.

There has been some buying of teas for this market on the possibility that a duty may be imposed, but it is not generally expected that any duty will be put on. Stocks of China congous are light and higher in price.

The talk in the west about possible trade through St. John with the Bahamas does not excite much interest here, except as one of the possibilities of the future. What is most wanted is a direct service to the West Indies and South America.

St. John merchants are contributing to the funds of the New Brunswick Tourist Association, whose object is to advertise the city and province, and attract summer tourists and sportsmen to this section. The association did excellent work last year.

While Montreal papers were quoting Barbadoes molasses everywhere from 27 to 31c. in that market, the trade here knew of sales there at 25c. or less. That market appears to have been held up systematically for a purpose, as stocks are known to be larger than the quotations published would suggest. St. John dealers have sold quite a lot of molasses in Quebec province since last fall.

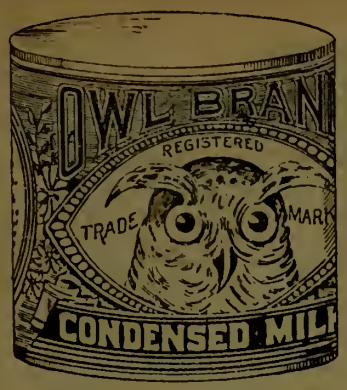


Two St. John grocery firms have each put an additional traveler on the road this season. The competition, especially in the tea trade, promises to be very active. Some houses handle blends put up by themselves, and some have the blending done in London and the packing here, while London blended and packed teas are also in the competition. Indians and Ceylons are steadily encroaching on the territory formerly held by China teas.

"IMPERIAL" CHEESE PREMIUMS.

A. F. MacLaren & Co., Toronto, are issuing to consumers of their "Imperial" cheese circulars offering to each consumer who returns to the company two dozen empty "Imperial" cheese jars and lids of any size, one of their dainty silver jar holders of the same size as the jars returned. The smaller holder is valued at $1.25, the medium at $1.50, and the large at $1.75, so the premium offered is of considerable value. First-class grocers should find it advantageous to co-operate with the company, and get the benfit of business to be secured by this means.

HE BET ON BUTTER AND WON.



A Colborne street commission merchant is waiting for a new hat. Some weeks ago he was convinced that the price of butter was going to advance, and in expressing this opinion, met opposition from a rival dealer on Front street, who was of the opinion that there would be no such advance. The result was a mutual promise of a new hat to be presented by the dealer wrong in his opinion. As the price of butter has materially advanced, the Colborne street dealer is living in hopes of some day receiving a new hat. He prefers a spring hat.

THE CHEESE CASE.

ARTHUR P. TIPPET & CO. - MONTREAL.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 28, 1898.

WINNIPEG received but a slight touch of the blizzard which has been so heavy in the east and further west, and for the last few days the weather has been as balmy as spring. The chief effect of the storm here was in the delay of trains from the east, and the mail service has been very much demoralized in consequence.

One of the social events of interest to the trade was the dinner given on Thursday evening last by the retail grocers and city travelers. This dinner was the outcome of a game of curling between the two associations and really should have come off last winter. However, it seemed to be none the worse for being postponed. The menu was a good one, and the toast list long and varied, and enlivened by some very good music. Among matters of interest discussed was the forming of a retail grocers' association to affiliate with the retail association. Of course the majority of the grocers already belong to the retail association, only they have never taken any very active part in its deliberations. It was felt, however, that an association of grocers would better fill the needs of the trade. No definite action was taken, but the matter will not be let drop.

Mr. E. B. Nixon, manager of the grocery department of the Hudson Bay Company, is in Montreal this week on a purchasing trip.

Business is very good, no rush, but a quiet, steady trade being done. There have been some sharp advances in some lines during the week, noticeably canned meats. On these goods there is an increase in price of from 20 to 25c. per case on all lines.

Among fresh lines asked for, and for which orders are being placed, are parchment papers for wrapping pound prints, and lining butter boxes, and jute bags for covering the boxes while in transit. The parchment papers are quoted at $1.25 per 100 sheets for pound prints, and the box lining 17½c. per lb., with a 20 per cent. discount for wholesale lots. More and more the butter men of the province realize the necessity of having the best packing material, and so orders for these articles are placed earlier in the season than formerly.

One of the noticeable advances of the week is the rise in the spice market, particularly pepper, which is now selling at 15c., with indications of a further advance in the near future. Cereals are also among the risers. Rolled oats have advanced 10c. per sack and are now selling for $1.90. Granulated oatmeal is $2.25 per sack and standard $2.10. Pot barley has advanced to $2.15 per sack and pearl barley to $3.50. Split peas have advanced 5c. per sack, but will advance again before the week is out.

FISH—Lent is with us, and along with the same a well supplied fish market. Very large quantities of fresh frozen fish are being offered on the market. In dried fish, though there is no change in price, there is greater activity: Finnan haddies, 7c. per lb.; herrings, Labrador, in barrels, $7.25; half do., $3.50 to $3.75; pure cod, in bundles, 6c. per lb.; 25-lb. B. & S. boxes, 6½c.

CANNED VEGETABLES—This market still continues to stiffen, though there has been no actual advance in price since last writing: Tomatoes, $3; corn, $2; peas, $2. Stocks here are being gradually depleted, and, as fresh stock comes in from the east, the price must go up, as they cannot now be laid down under $3.15 per case. Canned fruits are improving in demand, but are unchanged as to price.

SUGAR — This product has advanced another ⅛c. during the week, and granulated now sells at 5⅛c. and bright yellow at 4¾c.

EVAPORATED FRUITS — Have not advanced during the week, but the market still continues very firm. Evaporated apples, 11¾ to 12c.; apricots, 11¼ to 11½c., according to quality; peaches, fancy peeled, 17¼c.; unpealed, 10½ to 12½c. Prunes remain good values at 4¾ to 5c. for small sizes.

GREEN FRUIT — Lettuce is plentiful on this market, and is retailing at 5c. per bunch, a very low price for the season in Winnipeg. Limited quantities of strawberries, Florida tomatoes and pineapples are seen, but speaking generally this trade will not really begin for another month. Southern celery is finding a ready sale at 75 and 50c. per bunch. Really first-class apples grow scarcer, but indifferent stocks are heavy and hard to dispose of. Oranges are plentiful, and range in price from $3.75 to $4 per case; bitter oranges, $7; lemons, $3.75 to $4; bananas, of excellent quality, $2.75 to $3.25 per bunch, according to size.

COFFEES—Rios still remain at 10c. per lb. for No. 5, and with no indication of an immediate advance. Fashionable Winnipeg, by the way, is going wild over Postrum, the new cereal coffee, but like most crazes of the kind, it will be shortlived.

CURED MEATS—Market firm at last week's prices.

BUTTER—Market rather firmer if anything. Round lots of dairy, 16c., while creamery is 23c., when there is any moving at all.

EGGS—Market very firm considering continued mld weather, dealers paying 17c. for strictly fresh gathered.

DRIED FRUITS—Appear to be stationary just now.

CEYLON TEA IN BOSTON.

MR. P. C. LARKIN, of the Salada Tea Co., Toronto, returned on Saturday from a visit to the agencies of his company in New York, Boston and other cities in the United States. Mr. Larkin is much impressed with the outlook for Indian and Ceylon teas in the United States, and particularly in and around Boston.

"I was accompanied," said Mr. Larkin, "while in Boston, by Mr. Mackenzie, the Ceylon Government Commissioner, and there was not a grocer of the many we visited in that city who did not practically predict that Ceylon and Indian teas were going to take the place of other teas within the next year or two in that part of the country. Every grocer now seems to carry Indian and Ceylon tea, and every grocer we visited said his sales were increasing rapidly. I never saw grocers," continued Mr. Larkin, "so enthusiastic before over the prospect of Indian and Ceylon teas. We were the first to advertise these teas in Boston, and now other tea package firms, such as Chase & Sanborn and Lipton are doing the same thing. We, ourselves, have over 500 grocers in and around Boston handling Salada tea, and in some instances we have had repeat orders as many as eight times during the six months we have been there."

"Why is Boston such a good city for India and Ceylon teas?"

"Well, in the first place, they are a tea-drinking people. Where you get an Anglo-Saxon or his descendant you get a tea drinker, and, of course, Boston is largely peopled with the descendants of Anglo-Saxons. There is more tea drunk in Boston than in any other part of the United States with the same population. The favorite with them heretofore has largely been Oolong, although Japans and English breakfast teas have been staple articles there. Mr. Mackenzie," concluded Mr. Larkin, "is delighted with what he saw of the prospects in Boston for Ceylon and Indian teas, and, of course, you can already infer that I am none the less so."

ORDERS FOR TEA PACKERS.

A. H. Canning & Co. are in receipt of a number of enquiries for their tea-packing machine, the "Armeda." A Halifax merchant, who was in Toronto last week, placed an order for one, shipment to be made at once, while a second order was also received for twelve machines, delivery to be made in two weeks. The proprietors claim the machine is simple in construction and is easily operated. A cut of the "Armeda" is to be found in the firm's advertisement on another page.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

ACCORDING to recent advices from London there is a stock of currants there of 7,700 tons.

According to a statement recently published in New York, there were on hand Jan. 1 of this year 20,000 boxes of Sultana raisins, which, during the month, was increased to 26,500 boxes by arrivals. Of this quantity, 7,250 boxes went into consumption during January, leaving at the beginning of the month a stock on hand of 19,000 boxes.

In a circular, recently issued by James Morand & Co., of Denia, Spain, reviewing the past season in Spanish raisins occurs the following: "Muscatels are yearly losing ground in the English markets through being confronted by the more showy and elaborate packing of their otherwise less substantial Malaga similars. They find a readier and better sale in the French and our peninsular markets. Last season's crop was rather short of the previous one."

Reports are still current of free sales of future New York state corn at 55c. delivered here. Some packers, however, report that that they have disposed of all their cheaper grades and have nothing to offer but fancy, for which they demand 75c. delivered, New York.—New York Journal of Commerce.

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

The advance established last week for Fraser river salmon has been well maintained, and a large business has been done, practically in the lower grades. Many buyers, who have waited in the anticipation of a weakness in the market on the arrival of the new fish, are now recognizing the fact that the effect of the large pack was largely discounted in advance, and that it will probably be wise to cover their requirements for some time to come. The first vessels with Alaska salmon have arrived, but, as usual, a large proportion of the shipments have been sold forward, and will be at once distributed. It has not been possible to repeat last week's purchases, quotations generally being about 6d. per case dearer.—Produce Market's Review, Feb. 19.

U.S. CANNED SALMON MARKET.

The San Francisco Herald of Trade and Finance says of the salmon market in its issue of Feb. 18: "It is stated that several Columbia river canners have placed their 1898 pack of Chinook, but at prices to be governed by market values later on. It is understood the price is not over $1.05 for talls, and if sales are made for less money then the buyers gets the salmon at the lower prices. This looks to be in the interest of buyers, although it assures the sellers of having a market for their output. Advices from the Columbia river state that six or seven of the canneries have formed some kind of combine on the percentage principle. While this information comes from a well informed source, yet we cannot get it verified as to particulars for this week's issue. It looks as if a corporation similar to the Alaska Packers' Association will never be organized there — too much jealousy, and, outside of two canneries, too much money owned by them. In our market there is a good business for the season passing in single carload lots. Choice fish are scarce, with sales of Columbia river Chinook at $1.10 in carload lots. Poor fish favor buyers."

ORANGES IN LONDON.

With very many more on the market this week from Valencia and district, prices are again rather easier, especially for parcels in unsound condition; the lower prices will no doubt check shipments of weak fruit. This may tend to better results, as there is a very good demand for oranges this season. We therefore look for better prices for sound parcels, and hope that as the season advances the condition will show a great improvement. Not any from St. Michael's, Jaffa, or Lisbon during the week. Very few sours lately from Seville and Malaga. Sicilians are falling off in quantity, hence prices are improving and are likely to further advance, as there are very few Sicilians now on the way. Shipments are light, and we are advised that the season will close early.—Grocers' Journal, Feb. 19.

CUBA SUGAR CROP OUTLOOK.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says: "In December last it was calculated from trustworthy reports that the sugar crop this season might reach 300,000 tons, but the condition of affairs is such at the present moment that large importers think it doubtful if the total yield is more than 200,000 tons.

"Conservative reports from the island place the crop at 120,000 tons, and state that if up to February 1 only 30,000 tons of sugar have been turned out, they do not see how it is possible for the total crop to reach more than the 120,000 tons named above. another argument for this small yield is that the scarcity of labor, cattle, etc., will greatly interfere with the general work. Since December several large plantations have suffered destruction for refusing to obey orders from the insurgent government. At present the states yielding best results are in the provinces of Santa Clara and Matanzas."

STRONG OUTLOOK FOR NUTMEGS.

Wilhelm Schroeder, writing from Amsterdam, under the date of Feb. 11, says: "Nutmegs are advancing with increasing demand. It is a fact that the invisible supply is very small everywhere, and, as a rule with rising tendency, the demand will become stronger yet, thus seriously supporting further advance in price. The tone of the market leads to belief that we stand at the beginning of a considerable advance. Arrivals in January were very small, viz., 23 tons gross, against 124, 103, 146 and 103 tons in the foregoing four years. The deliveries in January were 41 tons, against 90, 72, 55 and 53 tons in the foregoing four years."

COFFEE OUTLOOK.

The N.Y. Journal of Commerce, in regard to the coffee market, says: "The tone of the market has held fairly steady, despite the fact that there has been a decline in the market for contracts, as the fact that Brazil advices have reported steady markets and an estimate received from Karl Krische & Co. of 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 bags for the next Rio crop and 5,250,000 to 5,750,000 for the next Santos crop, against an estimate of 10,500,000 bags made by the same firm last November, had a favorable influence upon values. The movement of the crop continues large, and this fact more than any other development serves to discourage holders in their ideas of values; still, there has been no pressure to sell, and Rio No. 7 on the spot has been quoted unchanged at 6⅜c. The West India growths of coffee have shown some irregularity. The demand for the desirable grades has continued; owing, however, to the absence of supplies, offerings have been small, and buyers in their efforts to obtain stocks have advanced prices, with good Cucuta quoted at 9 to 9½c. At the close, the arrival of a cargo of 12,000 bags, including 10,000 bags Maracaibo, was reported. The medium grades have had only a limited sale and prices have not changed, with fair Cucuta quoted at 8½c. Latterly, considerable talk has been heard relative to the probable yields of the various mild crops. The East India crop, it is generally conceded, will be far short of last year's, and it is stated on good authority that the Mexican crop will be about 25 per cent. less than a year ago. The Guatemala crop, it is reported, is 40 per cent. short, and it is claimed that the entire yield of the Central American states will be slightly under last year's. Estimates of the yield of the Colombo-Venezuela crops are conflicting, but it is now generally believed that they will be up to an average, although the quality, it is reported, will not be as good as was generally expected earlier in the season. East India growths have been quiet but steady."

TRADE CHAT.

THE briskness in the sale of land in the Northwest still continues. The C.P.R. sales for January amounted to $73,000. The number of acres sold was 22,000. This is three times as great as the sales in the same month a year ago.

Robert Shackell, the market inspector for Brantford, died in that city last week.

John Robinson, lately traveler for Copp, of Hamilton, has purchased the general store business of A. Richardson, Grand Valley.

An effort is being made to start a canning factory in Sarnia, Ont., with a capital of $10,000. The cost of the plant is estimated at $3,000.

Three cars of potatoes passed through Carleton Place the other day from Minnesota for Rhode Island. Each car held five hundred bushels.

The Ottawa Board of Trade has endorsed a proposition of the St. John board that all canned goods should be marked with the net weight of the contents and the date when packed.

The Petrolia Advertiser states that a report is again current in the east that the Standard Oil Co. are taking steps to largely increase their capital stock, from $100,000,000 to $400,000,000.

A gentleman from France has established, at St. Francis, Beauce county, a business for the purpose of purifying maple syrup for export to France. It is said he has already spent $37,000 in the business.

J. A. Chipman & Co., commission merchants, of Halifax, are establishing agencies in every port of the West Indies touched by Canadian steamers to work up a trade between Canada and those countries.

One of the largest trusts formed in years has been organized by Chicago men under the name of the American Hay Co. The capital stock is $5,000,000. A tract of land near Buffalo is to be purchased as a site for an immense warehouse.

Mrs. John McMahon, grocer, Toronto, sued Richard Kelly for $87.65. The bill ran over seven years. Mr. Kelly repudiated the debt on the ground that he had given his wife, now deceased, orders not to run credit. The matter was adjourned for more evidence.

DAWSON'S FIRST ANNIVERSARY.

"The River Trip to the Klondike" is described in The March Century by John Sidney Webb. The author says:

The way back to Dawson over the trail was not so easy, but I got there soon after the town had celebrated the first anniversary of its discovery, on August 17, 1896. The saloons were crowded. Such signs as, "This game never closes," "$25 and $50 limit," "Straights barred," "Flush beats three of a kind," indicated the drift of the miners' amusements. It is worth noting that in all of the stories about great fortunes made in this country, no one speaks of the man who "took out" $90,000, and the only gold mine he had was a saloon and dance house.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. A. H. Canning, of A. H. Canning & Co., is this week making a tour of Western Ontario in the interests of his tea-packing machine, the "Armeda."

Mr. S. R. Parsons, one of the proprietors of the Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co., Limited, for a number of years, has gone with his family to reside in Winnipeg, where he will take an active part in the management of the Consolidated Stationery Co. Mr. Parsons has for some time been one of the principal partners in the business, and a change in the directorate necessitates his removal to Winnipeg.

FINED FOR SELLING SUGAR.

The British Columbia Sugar Refinery Co. was recently fined $25 for not taking out a wholesale license to sell in Victoria, and have also to pay $50, the cost of a license. This is the upshot of the case brought against Mr. James Angus a short time ago. He was proceeded against for not having a license to sell, but proved that he was only selling on commission, and only acted as agent of the company. The company was therefore summoned in place of Mr. Angus. —Colonist, Victoria.

CATALOGUES, BOOKLETS, ETC.

The North Bros. Manufacturing Co., of Philadelphia, have issued a small illustrated catalogue of the several ice cream freezers manufactured by them. The catalogue, like the freezers, is up-to-date.

The H. J. Heinz Co. have had printed a neat booklet, illustrating by photographic plates how beautiful a window display can be made of their goods. Some seven magnificent displays, gotten up in grocery stores in the United States and Canada, are shown. One of the best displays illustrated is one taken from the window of J. O. Levesque, Montreal.

OTTAWA WANTS A CHEESE BOARD.

The Ottawa Board of Trade is making arrangements for the establishment of a cheese board in that city. The matter has been under consideration for some time and has met with favor from the cheesemakers in the district. A meeting for the purpose of further considering the matter and for perfecting the details of the organization will be held during the third week of March. The railway companies entering Ottawa will give half fare to all attending the meeting.

RICE AND INDIGO IN BURMAH.

The latest official memorandum, which is dated Jan. 11 last, places the area under paddy cultivation in the 14 chief rice-producing areas of British Burmah at 5,528,837 acres, that being 304,775 acres in excess of last year. Reaping, it is stated, was then approaching completion, and it is estimated that there will be available for export 1,900,000 tons of cargo rice, equivalent to 32,203,400 cwt. of cleaned rice. As to the indigo crop, the report is that the total area and yield for all the provinces in which indigo is extensively grown are about 1,381,000 acres and 151,000 cwt., respectively, as compared with an area of 1,609,000 acres and a yield of 169,000 cwt. last year.

THE STATISTICAL POSITION OF MOLASSES.

A letter to a Montreal firm says :

"The statistical position of Barbadoes molasses now is stronger than I have ever known it to be since I have been connected with the trade. I have gone through the warehouses and the sugar sheds and I am positive that the entire stock of molasses on hand now in second hands would not aggregate 16,000 bbls. Stock in sheds, outside of the local wholesale groceries, which aggregates 1,500 bbls., is less than 2,500 bbls. High prices on sugar have caused more planters every day to boil back their molasses from second sugars which they are now drying out in order to make thirds of them. Molasses of seconds test above 30 deg. suchrose is calculated to yield two and one-half pounds of third sugars, which is worth something like 3c. per pound, and leaving behind three quarts of molasses ; that, if it shows any color at all, will bring from 2½c. to 4c. per gallon net. This calculation will show you that unless the planter can get something like 8c. per gallon in bulk for molasses off of second sugars, which is equivalent to 11½c. first hands in cooperage on the levee here, he will make it into sugar. While it seems a fearful high range of figures, you can rest assured that the present values of medium and better grades of centrifugal molasses will go up."

NEW CORK FACTORY.

S. H. Ewing & Sons, Montreal, have added to their long-established business of importing and manufacturing coffees, spices, etc., by the erection of a factory for the cutting and preparing of corks of all grades, sizes and qualities. The machinery installed is of the latest and most improved pattern, and the firm has been fortunate in securing men of more than ordinary ability to operate them. The output of the factory will be large, and said to be second to none in this country. Ewing & Sons report most satisfactory business to date, and they have the best wishes of THE CANADIAN GROCER for future success in their new venture.

THE ROBERT GREIG CO.

The business carried on by Robert Greig & Co. in the manufacture and sale of spices, extracts and confectioners' supplies, has been readjusted lately.

A joint stock company, to be known as the Greig Manufacturing Co., Limited, has been formed and will carry on the manufacturing portion of the business, Mr. Robert Greig being the president and managing director of the new company.

Robert Greig & Co. will continue the sole selling agents of the company, and will represent them throughout Canada.

TEA TRADE TUSSLE

OR

Dirt, Adulteration, Hand Rolling against Purity, Cleanliness and Machine Manufacture.

Result 54% Gain for Pure Ceylon and India Tea in Two Years.

The decrease in the total consumption of Tea is compensated for by the increase in the use of India and Ceylon Tea, as this will go from twice to four times as far as the crudely prepared Teas of all other countries.

One level teaspoon of Ceylon and India tea will make FOUR cups of tea with five minutes infusion. USE ABSOLUTELY BOILING WATER.

Another Convincing Argument?

Ceylon and Indian Teas are pulling away from the poor, trashy, light, uncleanly-made teas of China and Japan at an astonishing rate. If you are wise you will handle only the clean, healthful, machine-made teas of Ceylon and India.

WILL CAN THEIR OWN TOMATOES.

The tomato growers of the Niagara district, who, as was stated a few weeks ago in THE CANADIAN GROCER, are dissatisfied with the prices paid them for their fruit by the canning companies, are completing a canning organization of their own, and expect to have the required $7,000 subscribed shortly. A prominent citizen of Hamilton, who is interested in the scheme, said last week that the new canning company would be running a factory next summer in opposition to the Simcoe and Aylmer canning companies.

The old reliable "Rising Sun" stove polish, in cakes, continues to be a favorite with many housekeepers, on account of its durability and economy. It will not cake on the iron, it will not burn red, it does not soil the hands, and one six-ounce package of "Rising Sun" stove polish is equal to four boxes of any paste polish.

It Pays to Keep the Best.

We handle COLEMAN'S celebrated brand of Table and Dairy Salt. It is the acknowledged superior in the market to-day. The 5-lb. carton, of which we give an engraving, is printed in three colors, red, black and yellow, with tin cover, and combines an attractiveness for shelf display, together with a useful, durable package, that makes it a ready seller. This form of package is especially adapted for first-class town or city trade. It keeps the salt cleaner and drier than cotton bags possibly can do.

We handle all kinds of Salt. Fine, Coarse or Land Salt in barrels, sacks or bulk. Unequalled shipping facilities. Prompt shipment. It will pay you to correspond with us.

Time

There is no "short-cut" by which you can win new trade in a moment. You remember that old saying "the longest way round is the shortest way there?" It takes "time" to gain confidence—good-will is the most valuable asset of your business. In building for good-will you build business on a lasting foundation, but this takes time—begin right.

Here's a good Business-Builder for good-will—especially for a woman's good-will. An economizer for her—it saves money, time and worry—the Crown Brand Extracts are the Extracts that a woman will have confidence in from the first time she uses them. That starts the ball rolling towards more business from that woman on other things you sell.

Greig's Crown Brand Flavoring Extracts

are absolutely pure—they are rich—they are very strong, because so pure. Each kind has the natural flavor of the fruit, flower or spice it represents. As in your business, so in ours—it takes time to reach success—we don't hurry the making of these extracts. Every single bottle is as good as the bottle that preceded it—and that bottle was—perfection.

Vol. XII. (Published Weekly) TORONTO AND MONTREAL, MARCH 11, 1898. ($2.00 per Year) No. 10

A TEA STORY.

"When the days begin to lengthen,
And with me things don't agree.
Then I take my china tea pot,
And I mix my China tea."

JUDGED by its enormous and ever-increasing consumption there is no more popular beverage in the world than tea. Whiskey, wine and beer may be used, it is possible, in greater quantities, but their adherents are neither so outspoken or widespread.

The origin of tea, according to tradition, was as natural as it is credible. Prince Darma, in the remote ages was a holy Asiatic who spent day and night in meditations upon the Infinite and like the shoeblack in "The Dweller on the Threshold," upon all things that begin with a capital letter. One night his ecstasy was interruped by sleep. On awaking he was so dismayed at his weakness that he tore off his eyelids and flung them, so the legend runs, on the ground. On visiting the spot later Prince Darma found that his eyelids had grown into a shrub. He had the wit to take some of the leaves and pour boiling water over them. Ever after, by simply drinking a little of the precious liquor, he was able to keep sleep at bay and pursue his thoughts with added zest and profit.

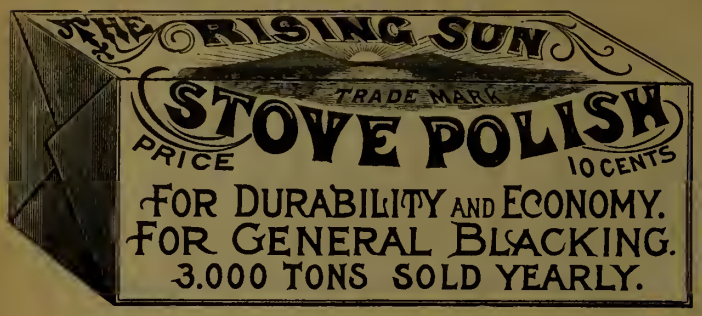
For several centuries after this wonderful happening history and legend record nothing of great importance about the herb. But it is undoubtedly to China that we owe the happy influence of the "cup that cheers." Indeed, it is asserted by Chinese historians that one of their Emperors discovered the happy effects of a tea leaf decoction 2737 years before Christ, or somewhere about the time that Noah made his famous trip in a Chinese houseboat. However that may be it is quite certain that tea was a widely used article of commerce in China more than a thousand years ago, for it began to be taxed in 793, A. D., and from that time on grew in popularity with the Chinese.

And when it began its travels for the sake of "chirking up" the inhabitants of non-growing tea countries many were the mistakes committed by the first users of the beverage. Concerning the beginnings of tea in England there is a story told by Southey of the great-grandmother of a friend of his, who made one of the party that sat down to the first pound of tea that ever came to Penrith. They boiled it in a kettle and ate the leaves with butter, wondering wherein the attraction lay.

Another error which started on its career many, many years ago, and which still flourishes, to the dismay of every inhabitant of tea-raising countries, is the mistake as to the proper position of the saucer, which should be on top of and not underneath the cup. A traveler in China, having seen the tea brewed in one of their delicate cups by pouring boiling water on the tea leaf in the cup and then covering it with the saucer for a sufficient length of time to permit the strength and flavor to be extracted, sent home as a present several cups and saucers. And "the dear little saucer" was by charming and delicate fingers put under instead of over the cup. At least, that is the only known excuse for the wrong use of the saucer.

And travelers in China and Japan say that the epicure of those countries would consider himself ill-used, or the victim of a practical joke, if sugar or cream were put into his tea. Nevertheless these same travelers when they get back to their native heath take their tea with "one lump and a little cream, please," it is noticed.

A Japanese philosopher sald long ago: "Tea tempers the spirits and harmonizes the mind, dispels lassitude and relieves fatigue, awakens thought and prevents drowsiness, lightens and refreshes the body and clears the perceptive faculties." And there are plenty of men and women the world over who are ready to claim these virtues for their "cup."



The very distinct improvement in the quality of teas exported nowadays is undoubtedly due to the infusion of European brains into the growing and curing of the tea leaf. Not only is more care used in the growing of the plant and in the selection of the plant to be grown, but the methods employed in picking, cooking, sorting and packing are characterized by greater cleanliness. The different grades or qualities of teas depend upon the youth and tenderness of the shoots which are picked, and not so much upon the plant itself. It is not infrequent for a half dozen grades of tea to be taken from one plant. The tea plant flushes or sends out a fresh crop of tender young shoots from twenty to twenty-five times during its season, which lasts nine months. It is when the first tips of the young shoots are gathered and quickly cured that the highest grade of tea, as well as the most costly, is procured. The leaves which are allowed to grow full size are neither so choice nor so costly.

The climate most favorable to tea is one in which there is an equality of heat and moisture; but it will grow as far north as 39° and flourishes in Natal, in Australia, and in Brazil. The three countries in which tea is most successfully raised are China, India and Ceylon.

But the greatest tea drinkers in the world per capita are the Australians, and this is thought to be owing to the enormous quantities consumed in the bush, where it is found to be the greatest quencher of thirst, and is drunk without sugar or milk. The English follow in amount of tea drunk, with a record of five pounds per capita annually in 1890. Then come the Dutch, the Americans and Russians.

In the far east tea is always very much "en evidence" with Siam leading the van in its devotion with the fragrant leaf. The Siamese are inveterate tea drinkers; they drink it hot and they drink it cold; they drink it at home and they drink it abroad. Indeed, it is no uncommon sight on the streets of Bangkok to see a noble stop in his walk, while his servants, who follow him with a small stove and all necessary utensils, brew him a "dish of tea," which having drunk, he proceeds peacefully on his way. The Siamese are so used to this unique proceeding that they think no more of it than we do when we see a man dodge into a—place where ice cream and soda is for sale.

The happiest tea drinkers are those who have friends, generous friends, that is, in China. That inscrutable humorist, Li Hung Chang, left presents of priceless tea in his wake--tea of an integrity hitherto unsuspected by a few persons whose glory it was who tasted it. Among these was Mr. Gladstone, who is great among tea-drinkers, and whose pleasant humor is to speak of a cup as a dish. Dean Stanley was among the tea giants and Dr. Johnson's prowess is a by-word. He says of himself: "I am a hardened and shameless tea-drinker, who for twenty years has diluted his meals with only the infusion of this fascinating plant; whose kettle has scarcely had time to cool; who with tea amused the evening, with tea solaced the midnight and with tea welcomed the morning." Hartley Coleridge was another colossus of the caddy. One who knew him tells that asking him on a certain occasion how many cups he was in the habit of drinking, the poet replied with scorn, "Cups! I don't count by cups. I count by pots."

Every hostess has nowadays her own pet paraphernalia for the brewing of tea, and any advice on the subject failing to coincide with her views would be poohed at. Just the same, there are few things in life more sadening than the smallness of some people's tea-pots. How can they live up to that golden rule upon which is based the whole structure of delightful tea-drinking: "One spoonful for each person and one for the pot?"

"At your ease" sang the Emperor Kien Long in the poem that is painted on every tea-pot in China, "At your ease drink this precious liquor which chases away the five causes of trouble."—The Epicure.

ROUND BOYS IN SQUARE HOLES.

"JAMES WATT, I never saw such an idle young fellow as you are," said his grandmother; "do take a book and employ yourself usefully. For the last half hour you have not spoken a single word. Do you know what you have been doing all this time? Why, you have taken off and replaced, and taken off again, the teapot lid, and you have held alternately in the steam, first a saucer and then a spoon, and you have busied yourself in examining and collecting together the little drops formed by the condensation of the steam on the surface of the china and silver. Now, are you not ashamed to waste your time in this disgraceful manner?"

The world has certainly gained much through the old lady's failure to tell James how he could employ his time to better advantage!

"But I'm good for something," pleaded a young man whom a merchant was about to discharge for his bluntness. "You are good for nothing as a salesman," said his employer. I am sure I can be useful," said the youth. "How? Tell me how." "I don't know, sir; I don't know." "Nor do I," said the merchant, laughing at the earnestness of his clerk. "Only don't put me away, sir; don't put me away. Try me at something besides selling. I cannot sell; I know I cannot sell." I know that, too," said the principal; "that is what is wrong." "But I can make myself useful somehow," persisted the young man; I know I can." He was placed in the counting-house, where his aptitude for figures soon showed itself, and in few years he became not only chief cashier in the large store, but an eminent accountant.

Thomas Edward, of Aberdeen, Scotland, celebrated his acquisition of the art of walking by losing himself, so that father and mother, and neighbors were about to give up the search in despair, when some one happened to look in the pig-pen, and there lay the scamp fast asleep by the side of some little pigs, the brood of a sow so savage that no grown person dared venture into the sty. He had formed a taste for excursions into the wide world, and almost every day he would bring home priceless treasures, such as tadpoles, beetles, frogs, crabs, mice, rats, spiders and bugs. These pets he would liberate, and watch them run around and hide, greatly to his own delight, and the terror of everybody else. Whipping and scolding only seemed to stimulate him to greater exerttions in his work of capturing living curiosities.

He had been dismissed from two schools in disgrace. He was six years old and could not write his name. He refused absolutely to go to school again, and his discouraged parents consented for him to go out and earn his living. Repression of every kind had been tried in vain upon his upspringing instincts and propensities for the study of animal life. Restraint at last removed, what glorious expression they found! How hard he worked that he might gain leisure for study! He learned the trade of a shoemaker, and worked at the bench for life, rearing a family of eleven children and stored away a wonderful amount of knowledge of birds and beasts and insects. But, from the lack of ability to read and write, he could not classify and use what he learned. So, slowly and laboriously, he acquired these useful arts. In the hope of getting money to study to better advantage, he once sold six cart-loads of specimens, the result of nine years of labor, for only twenty pounds.

He often tried to get employment as a naturalist, and failed only because he could not read and write rapidly. If he had been encouraged as a child to catch and study his charming specimens, and to learn to read and write about them, who shall say that his unequaled love of investigation would not have led him to become more than Agassiz or a Tenney? But he had been wedged so tightly into a square hole that he never got out!—Pushing to the Front.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK IN SARNIA.

The Sarnia Post states that Sarnia is on the eve of a great season of good times, especially in the building trade. Many new houses, including some large ones, will be built, while the enlargment of the Bushnell refinery, the establishment of the G.T.R. roundhouse at the tunnel yards, and the waterworks extension, will give employment to 500 men. As trade has been good in Sarnia for some time, a small boom is expected during the coming summer.

KLONDYKE NOTES.

The Slocan City News says that four and a half dollars a day is being offered to miners in the Slocan, as they are all pulling out for Klondyke.

At a London, Eng., club, recently, a resolution was passed to the effect that any man who said Klondyke at dinner would be fined 6d. After dinner on the same evening £3 was collected in fines and sent to a poor fund.

Two special colonist cars were attached to the regular train going west on the G. T. R. recently. The passengers on board were from various parts of the province of Quebec and were bound for Klondyke. A number of them were dressed in their Klondyke attire. Separate compartments will be built, for the slaughter of cattle, sheep and hogs. The yards will cover ten acres, and will be furnished with the most modern conveniences for unloading and management of animals. The storehouse will be capable of holding over 1,000 carcases. It is not intended to go in for the export trade at once, the purpose being to supply the local trade, the demand between Winnipeg and North Bay, in the lumber and mining camps, the Kootenay mining country and Montreal.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

BEET SUGAR CULTURE IN THE U. S.

"EFFORTS are being made in the United States," says Secretary of Agriculture Wilson in the March Forum, "to extend the growth of sugar-producing plants by ascertaining—through scientifically conducted research at state experiment stations, and by private enterprise, under the federal and the state governments—where such plants will flourish best, to the end that we may, as a nation, become independent of other countries in this regard * * * and distribute among our own people the immense sum of money that is now sent abroad to pay for sweetening materials. * * * This subject should be discussed from the standpoint of the farmer rather than from that of the political economist. The farmers of our country produce from the soil grains, cotton, tobacco, vegetables, fruits, horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, various animal products and the like; and if we can add to our farm systems any crop that yields an article of common use, is not exhaustive of plant food, and whose by-product is valuable in making meat and dairy products, it will find favor with producers. There are very few crops, or manufactures of them, of which this can be said so emphatically as it can be said of sugar beets. The grains are well-known soil robbers. They carry from the soil nitrogen, potash, phosphoric acid, lime, magnesia and the other elements of plant food. Tobacco is peculiarly severe in this regard, because none of its by-products are fit for animal food, and what is sold from the farm carries away so much mineral plant food that most soils are soon exhausted if not replenished by commercial fertilizers, the purchase of which is out of the question in many parts of the United States. Meats take away comparatively little plant food from the soil, compared with their money value. The cotton plant is not exhaustive if the stalks are plowed under and the seed is returned to the soil, either directly or through the instrumentality of domestic animals. The oil of the cotton seed may be sold without taking any plant food from the farm, as it comes from the atmosphere through the leaves of the plant. Butter is also harmless in this respect, and does not impoverish the land on which the cow grazes. Sugar is as harmless as oil and butter; it comes from the carbonic dioxide of the atmosphere. If the sugar beet is hauled to the factory and the pulp taken back to the farm no plant food is lost to the soil.

"The writer grew beets by the acre for stock feed from 1891 to 1896 at the Iowa Agricultural College, and found the enterprise profitable for that purpose alone. All domestic animals are benefited by daily rations of roots in winter when they have no access to pasture—the young animal, the breeding animal and the fattening animal alike find them grateful. After the sugar is extracted the pulp contains all the plant food furnished by the soil, and is substantially as valuable as a fodder for domestic animals as the beet is before the sugar is extracted. The fodders of our rations are nearly all too carbonaceous, and require mixtures of nitrogenous by-products to make them suitable for animal growth or milk production. Here, then, we have a plant that, aside from the sugar it contains, makes a valuable food for our domestic animals, and is capable of successful cultivation in many of our states. It fits into our farm systems conveniently, because its planting season is earlier and its harvest time later than that of corn, and not only serves a double purpose as an animal nutrient, but holds out the liveliest hope that its adoption will keep at home $100,000,000 through the value of its sugar content alone."

THE CUBAN SUGAR CROP.

Local merchants, well informed as to the progress of this season's sugar crop on the island, estimate that the total yield will be anywhere between 225,000 and 300,000 tons. This visible production of sugar in the Island, to March 2, is said to be 150,000 tons, against 50,697 tons last year. The number of plantations grinding at present are 103, last year this time they were only 64. As this statement is from the most trustworthy authorities in the Cuban sugar market, it may be well to mention that the conservative reports from the island, placing the total crop at about 120,000 tons, as stated in these columns on the 28th ultimo, are entirely incorrect.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE LEMON SITUATION.

In their circular of March 5, the Hills Bros. Co., of New York, say of the lemon situation:

"Steamer Pocahontas with 15,000 boxes was the only cargo selling during the past week. The Benedict arrived in time to have been sold Friday, but the importers thought best to hold her over until the following week. In all probability we shall have three cargoes selling during the week to come, viz.: Benedict, Karamania and Pontiac, with a total of 45,000 boxes. Weather continues mild, but the demand has been rather disappointing and there is very little change to note in prices; however, the difference in price between the two sizes is becoming more marked owing to the fact that the cargoes now arriving have a larger majority of smaller size fruit. Only one cargo of lemons has been sent to New Orleans this season, and it is reported that no further cargoes will be forwarded to that port, and we must, therefore, look for a much better trade from the south this spring. As soon as the demand sets in it is probable that some advance in prices may be looked for. Oranges — There is really no encouragement to the importers to ship Sicily oranges this season owing to the low prices prevailing in our market for the California fruit. Jamaicas continue in demand, but only in a small way."

SALMON ACTIVE IN LONDON.

The brisk demand for salmon of all kinds continues, and it is already evident that the general reduction of retail prices is having a marked effect on the consumption. Prices for Alaska fish, following the advance in Fraser river, are fully 6d. per case dearer, and there are few sellers, even at the higher rate. Several of the sailing vessels are now in dock, and others reported on the coast, and although in an ordinary season there are, under similar circumstances, cheap sellers to be found, there is now no element of weakness apparent. There are many inquiries for a salmon to retail at 4d., but as a rule the lowest price will be 4½d., and buyers are already showing considerable anxiety to cover their requirements for this line, which is found to be not such an easy matter as at one time appeared probable. Oval tins, both 1-lb. and ½-lb, sizes, are scarce, and ½-lb. flats are dearer and sell freely.—Produce Markets' Review, Feb. 26.

THE CURRANT SITUATION.

Although the day-to-day demand for currants has continued to be on a very moderate scale, the market, far from being any weaker, as might, perhaps, under such circumstances have been expected, is, on the other hand, rather firmer for the lower descriptions, which cannot be bought on quite such favorable terms as a short time ago. One reason for this is that, under the improved financial conditions prevailing in Greece, the exchange between that country and England has a strong tendency to decline, which, of course, means, though a most distinct benefit to the country at large, that the price obtained for the fruit by the importer in Greek money, is less than would be the case at the higher exchange. It is, of course, natural that holders should endeavor to make up for this by raising their prices in proportion; and they are clearly justified in so doing if they can obtain the small extra amount that is necessary to do so. So far as the near future of the market is concerned, however, it is thought that the tendency towards a fall in the exchange may cut both ways, as it may induce holders to ship their fruit to England before the decline becomes more pronounced; and, by increasing the landed stock, tend in some small degree to lower the price. In any case, the market at the moment is firm for the lower grades of fruit, although in some instances slightly in favor of the buyer, so far as the better kinds are concerned. Just at the close of the market a rather quieter tone prevailed, and a few lots were on offer at slightly easier rates.

A good business is reported in Valencia raisins, and prices are rather firmer. There appears to be an almost general impression, having regard to the relative cheapness of this fruit, that prices are likely to advance somewhat; and it must be admitted that there is good ground for the supposition. It must be remembered, however, that the consumption of Valencias is more or less uncertain during the spring months, and depends to a large extent upon the fact of whether or not the grocers cleared out their stocks before Christmas.—Produce Markets' Review, Feb. 26.

THE FRENCH VINTAGE OF 1897.

The vintage of France for 1897 amounted to 711,700,000 gallons of wine, which is a trifle less than the average production of the past ten years. The production in 1896 amounted to 972,400,000 gallons, 1895 to 587,100,000 do., 1894 to 859,100,000 do. and in 1893 to 1,101,500,000 do. In most of the Departments there was a falling off in 1897 as compared with 1896, but Herault, which alone produces one-third of the entire product, showed an increase of 54,000,000 gallons. The production reached only 14,900,000 gallons, which is equal to 16,500,000 gallons less than the average for ten years. In 1895 the cider production amounted to 56,300,000 gallons, and in 1893 to 69,500,000 gallons.

Canned lobster is 2s. per case dearer in Liverpool.

The U.S. Treasury Department has also issued a circular to the effect that all teas arriving in the United States after May 1 will be governed by the new standards adopted for the season beginning May 1, excepting such teas as shall have been shipped prior to March 1.

Recent telegraphic advices from the Pacific Coast state that there are about 90,000 boxes of navels left there for shipment. Shipments from the Coast to all points last week aggregated about 20,000 boxes.

Regarding the canned salmon situation on the Coast, The San Francisco Grocer and Country Merchant says: "The market is practically stagnant, though we hear of a little trade in Alaska pink. There is also a demand, we hear, for the new Columbia river pack on the basis of $1 for Chinook talls; but Mr. J. R. Armsby, who was recently among the canners there informs us that they do not calculate to sell under last season's prices, which were $1.05 for talls and $1.20 for flats f.o.b. the river."

THE LOBSTER INDUSTRY.

MOST of the wholesale houses appear to have contracted for their ensuing season's supply of canned lobsters, although it will be some weeks hence before the packing begins.

High as the prices were last season, those now being quoted for futures are from 10 to 20c. per dozen above the opening figures of a year ago. In fact, the figures now being quoted are based upon these ruling last fall.

As to the quantity of pack, the prospects are that it will be even smaller than it was a year ago. And in spite of the higher prices, lobster packing is gradually becoming less remunerative.

There is some difference of opinion among authorities on the matter as the chief cause of the diminution of the lobster catch. One of the causes, at any rate, is the wanton carelessness of a good many of the fishermen in destroying the spawn of the lobster. In the report of the Fisheries Department, issued only a few days ago, is this reference to the matter: "The average fisherman shows no inclination to preserve the fishery, and when he comes across a spawned lobster in the trap he is liable to destroy the spawn. This is done by rubbing the berried part of the fish across the gunwale of the boat, thus removing every trace of spawn from the lobster. This is the most iniquitous practice adopted to evade the regulations."

One of the inspectors in Nova Scotia, after referring to the decreased catch of lobsters, says: "There is one factor which requires establishment with regard to this fishery, namely, the extent of the coast waters which is their habit. I have been credibly informed that they are to be found 40 and 50 miles from the coast, and if such be the case, and they are the same relative quantities as frequent the shores, then the future of the fishery is not so precarious as some suppose, for it is seldom that traps are set at a greater distance than three miles from the coast."

In order of importance the lobster fishery stands fourth among the fishery industries of the country, the value of the yield in 1896, in spite of the decrease, being $2,205,762, while the total from 1869 to 1896 was $45,740,470.

Our exports of lobsters—fresh, canned, etc.—during the past five years were as follows:

1893	$2,107,698
1894	2,361,250
1895	2,144,543
1896	3,490,234
1897	2,810,881

The exports are, of course, largely in the shape of canned lobsters, the quantities we sent out during the five years being as follows:

1893	$1,816,725
1894	2,102,925
1895	1,837,676
1896	2,149,067
1897	2,079,679

It is evident from the above figures that the lobster industry is one which is well worth preserving, especially as Canada now practically controls the world's lobster output.

A GOOD SIGN.

One of the most satisfactory of trade features is the character of the clearing house returns.

The aggregate clearings of the six cities of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Halifax, Hamilton, and St. John N.B., for the first two months of the present year were $226,261,632 compared with $166,003,409 for the same period of 1897, an increase of 36 per cent.

The new year is doing well and may it keep it up.

AN UNBUSINESSLIKE ACT.

IT is to be regretted that the United States Senate saw fit to adopt the bill it did last Friday regarding bonding privileges at Fort Wrangel.

The Stickeen, like the Yukon, is a free river, although it runs for about twenty miles through United States territory. Unfortunately, on account of the shallow character of the river, ocean vessels cannot ascend it for any distance, thus necessitating the transhipment at Fort Wrangel of goods and passengers destined for up-the-river points or for the Yukon district.

The bill in question lays down the conditions under which this transhipment shall be made.

The first condition is that the Canadian Government shall not give exclusive privileges for the transportation of passengers and freight through British Columbia or the Northwest Territories.

Then it is further stipulated (1) that every citizen of the United States who desires to enter the Dominion for the purpose of mining in British Columbia or the Northwest Territories, shall be allowed to carry in, free of duty, clothing and provisions to the amount of one thousand pounds; (2) that fishing vessels of the United States shall have the privilege of entering Canadian ports for the purpose of purchasing bait and all other supplies, and (3) that such vessels shall be allowed to transport their cargoes of fish and ship them through Canada to points in the United States free of duty, in the same manner as other merchandise.

Again we say it is to be regretted that Congress allowed the bill to pass. It can do no earthly good; it can stir up unpleasant feelings.

The bill may meet the approval of President McKinley, although that has yet to be demonstrated; but we can scarcely believe it will meet with the approval of the business men of the United States. It is so utterly unbusinesslike and unreasonable.

Let any business man in the United States contemplate what his feelings would be if Canada were to pass similar legislation affecting his country. He would naturally boil over with indignation and very properly tell us to go and mind our own business.

The Bill passed by the United States Senate may induce Canada to change her plans regarding the Yukon Railway. She may decide to make the railway a couple of hundred miles longer and start it from a Pacific port within her own territory. As to complying with the conditions laid down in the bill she never will. The people of the United States would not if the boot was on the other foot, and the same blood that flows through their veins flows through ours.

PRICE ON PAPER BAGS FIXED.

THE fierce cutting that has been going on in grocery bags for some time has ended. Peace negotiations began some weeks ago, following the meeting of and agreement among makers of flour sacks as to prices, and uniformity may now be said to prevail among the manufacturers who met in Ottawa last week.

The prices that the Canadian association has set for bags are still considerably lower than those which prevail in the States or than those which prevailed in Canada 2 or 3 years ago. The prices at which the retail merchants now buy, are much more favorable to them than was the case a few years ago.

The principal members of the association are : The E. B. Eddy Company, J. C. Wilson & Co., Kilgour Brothers and The Lincoln Paper Mills Co.

The changed discounts were put into effect, throughout Canada, on Thursday March 3, subject, however, to change without notice, which would seem to indicate that if these discounts are not found satisfactory to the manufacturers or are not acceptable to the trade, a review of the market and a revision of prices may be put into effect at any time.

The bag men seem determined not only to cease cutting and to save money by consolidation and centralization of their interests, but there seems also to be a determination to put the industry of making bags on a profitable basis.

Enquiries among the wholesale jobbers and grocers indicate that the trade is well pleased with the uniform list, and with the discounts and terms agreed upon, though there is, as is always the case, some criticism about the discounts that are allowed ; but it is felt that this movement for uniformity is being guided by a strong hand and that any reasonable objections that are raised by the trade will be met promptly in a proper spirit so that peace, harmony and a fair profit to all concerned, will follow.

THE SUGAR SITUATION.

WHILE no very striking features are to be noted in the sugar market, the influences at work are rather more of a bullish character than they were a week ago.

Probably the most interesting feature of the market is the fact that estimates are now being made for the next season's sowings of beet. These estimates so far indicate a smaller rather than a larger crop for the next campaign. Mr. Licht's estimate, for instance, places the next year crop in both Germany and France at about the same as that of last year, while he looks for a small reduction in the Austrian yield.

Of course these are only the early estimates; but they are interesting nevertheless. especially in view of the fact that the world's consumption of sugar increases at the rate of about 200,000 tons annually. In the United States alone the consumption for the present campaign shows an increase of 136,177 tons compared with the same period last campaign.

Stocks of sugar in Europe and America are 2,731,172 tons, against 2,979,229 tons at the same time last year, leaving a deficit of nearly a quarter of a million tons.

In the United States just now the refiners have had so many direct shipments arriving that they have been independent of the market. They would have bought raw sugars at concessions on the previous week's prices, but holders, especially in view of the fact that their receipts were light, preferred to put their shipments in store rather than shade figures.

It is worthy of note that prices in Cuba are from 1-16 to ⅛c. above the parity of the New York market, due, it appears, to a belief that a reciprocity treaty will shortly be made with the United States.

The United States is just now obtaining the bulk of its supply of raw sugar from Cuba and other points in the West Indies, and from Brazil and Java. So far, since January 1 last, it has only taken from Europe 5,048 tons of sugar, of which 4,980 tons were refined. Last year, for the same period it took 104,821 tons.

The cause of the diminished imports of European raw sugar is, of course, the countervailing duties against the bounty-fed article of Germany and other European countries, and as the sugar being obtained from Java, Brazil, Cuba, and other West India countries is the product of cane, it naturally follows that the refiners are using more cane sugar and less beet sugar than they formerly did, while, on the other hand, the refiners in Europe have larger supplies of the beet product to draw upon.

It may, perhaps, be not uninteresting to note that the United States, during the fiscal year 1897 imported sugars of all kinds to the enormous quantity of 4,918,905,733 pounds. The countries from which these sugars came were as follows :

	Quantity in lbs.
United Kingdom	68,250,019
Belgium	130,423,987
France	92,169,241
Germany	1,604,233,071
Netherlands	82,248,664
Canada	1,028,330
Mexico	1,412,255
West Indies	1,134,897,247
Brazil	140,773,692
Other S. American countries.	243,487,721
British East Indies	11,173,078
China	11,437,760
Japan	300,000
Hawaiian Islands	431,196,980

It will be noticed from the above table that nearly two billion pounds of its sugar last year came from Europe. Judging from the results so far under the Dingley tariff it is evident European bounty-fed sugar is being forcibly hit by the countervailing duties.

ST. JOHN'S WINTER PORT TRADE.

Up to the end of February the winter port steamers from St. John, N.B., to Liverpool, London, Glasgow, Belfast and Dublin, had carried outward cargoes to the value of about $3,120,000. Last year the total for the whole season was less than $5,000,000, and the year before (the first year of the service from St. John) it was less than $3,090,000. The total this year will be at least as much greater than that of 1896-97 as that year's business was in excess of 1895-96. The amount of inward cargo for western points also shows a very great increase.

Speaking again of exports, the proportion of United States produce taken thus far this season amounted in value to nearly $600,000. It included fresh and cured meats, grapes, sugar, cotton, cattle, grain, flour and other produce. The whole of the cargoes this year show a larger proportion of western goods and less of lumber.

UNITED STATES TRADE WITH CANADA.

IT is a fact worthy of note that the little that is heard in regard to reciprocal trade relations between Canada and the United States comes from the latter country. There was a time when Canada did all the importuning and practically all the talking in regard to this question. But now while neither country is importuning, practically all the talking is being done by the newspapers and people across the border.

Only the other day an address was delivered before the Boston Chamber of Commerce in which a reciprocity treaty with Canada was warmly advocated.

The day, however, when such a treaty shall come into operation is not yet in its dawning. Canada has ceased to seek for it, and those in the United States who favor reciprocity with the Dominion are not numerous enough to make their influence felt.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, in a recent article in favor of reciprocity with this country, declared that the only successful reciprocity experiment the United States ever tried was with Canada. "For eight years prior to reciprocity," continued that journal, "our annual average exports to Canada were a little over $9,000,000; during the eight years of the treaty they were well over $25,000,000."

But as in Canada, so in the United States, it is political exigencies and not business commonsense which is the predominating influence with the legislators, and, consequently, reciprocity agitation is for the adoption of the principle to the Central and Southern American countries, not one of which buys even approximately as much from the United States as does Canada.

The value of the goods imported last year into Canada from the United States, for home consumption, was $61,649,041. Now, according to the figures compiled from the official report of the United States Bureau of Industries, the total exports of the United States to Mexico, the West Indies, Brazil and all other South American countries, were only $80,478,863. In other words, a score or more of countries between them took only about $19,000,000 worth more of United States products than did the Dominion of Canada.

Perhaps by and bye the many in the United States will see what the very few there now do, namely, the advantage of closer trade relations with Canada. Then reciprocity may come within the purview of practical politics, but until then it is like the east is unto the west for distance of attainment.

VALENCIA ALMONDS SCARCE.

Valencia almonds are in a strong position. According to a cable received in Toronto this week from Spain, the price of these nuts has advanced sharply.

The cause of the advance is the lightness of the crop, and the cable referred to urged buyers in Canada to place their orders forthwith, although if they did so, it was quite possible that only a part of their order would be filled.

In view of these conditions it is quite probable that few, if any, Valencia almonds will be seen on the Toronto market this season. The consumption in Canada, however, is not large.

PARKDALE TRADE IS IMPROVING.

The general concensus of opinion among retail merchants, in Parkdale, is that trade is improving steadily, that, compared with last year, business is better in every respect, and especially in payment for goods sold. As one merchant put it: "The class of residents now in this part of Toronto is noticeably superior to those residing here a few years ago. Those who have been here for some time are in better circumstances, and those who have come here lately have, as a class, been superior, from a merchant's point of view, to those who have gone away."

THE SIZE OF LOBSTERS.

Messrs. Tucker, Ellis, Domville, and a number of Nova Scotia members had a conference with the maritime province Ministers a few days ago at the office of the Minister of Fisheries at Ottawa upon the matter of lobster catching. There was a personal interchange of views, which are quite diverse on this subject. One result probably will be the absolute prohibition of taking lobsters under ten and a half inches in the Bay of Fundy.

THE SITUATION OF BARBADOES MOLASSES.

WHILE no operator in the market is prepared to say that Barbadoes molasses is not good property, the receipt of advices regarding new crop goods, and offers of the same, for spring delivery, have imparted a somewhat easier tone to the staple.

Buyers who want supplies immediately, however, or, in fact, between now and the first arrivals of new crop, should not interpret this to mean that they can secure any better prices by holding off. They are quite apt to be disappointed if they do, for, aside from a lot of about 1,800 puncheons, there are no supplies of Barbadoes molasses carried in first hands at Montreal.

Neither are the stocks in second hands large either, for practically only one wholesale grocery firm can be said to have a sufficient supply on hand. This firm believes that every puncheon of the stock on spot will be wanted before any new crop can arrive, and are firm holders.

Another house which had run out of supplies, and had to have some, found this out when it asked for a few hundred puncheons. It got them, but it is understood that to do so it had to pay full prices.

The lot of 1,800 puncheons referred to above is held with equal firmness. One of the banks hold the warehouse receipts for it, the goods costing about 23c., laid down in Montreal last fall. The holders refused a bid of 25c. for the lot in the early part of December, and an advance on that figure since, and traders figure out, therefore, that it is unlikely that, after carrying it this long, they will now let go for less money.

With regard to the offers of new crop, the first figures named quoted 8c. first cost at the islands, which is equivalent to about 23c. laid down in Montreal. This is the identical figure at which prices opened last spring. Since these first offers, others were received, quoting 7c. first cost, but a commission man who cabled his principals Tuesday, asking for a firm offer on 1,000 puncheons new crop on this basis, got a reply refusing to do so. Later, the same agent received a supplementary cable that the price had again advanced 1c., and that the holders were prepared to negotiate on the higher basis.

Are Cheap Matches Cheap?

Matches that do not light are dear at any price.

Matches that start out well---the first few cases burning brightly---next consignment turning out badly, will surely hurt any grocer's trade.

Matches that are received in apparent good shape and fail to work, that stick together in damp or warm weather, will make the grocer regret he did not order Eddy's.

Eddy's Matches never stick; are never affected by any climatic changes; are invariably of the highest quality. Customers never return them for "good matches."

Do you sell Eddy's Matches?

THE RETAILING OF PACKAGE COFFEE.

THE following, signed by "A Coffee Broker," recently appeared in the columns of The Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin :

"In the handling of the low grade, cheap package coffee, it is the universal experience that for the retailer 'there's nothing in it.' Notwithstanding the large fortunes accumulated by the most prominent manufacturers of low grade package coffees, and the profit assured the wholesale grocer by the factor plan, the retailer, who, in ordinary lines of goods enjoys a fair percentage of profit, in the selling of the cheap package coffees, has placed himself in a position where he is forced to push such goods at cost or at a loss. This is plainly, on the part of the retailer, the result of lack of foresight and ignorance of the value of the different grades and varieties of coffee, there being just as much difference between certain grades of coffees as there is between butter and cheese. The principal cause of the retailer's plight lies in the fact that he handles goods of a particular name or brand directly in competition with every grocer in his neighborhood, all selling the same brand, and every cut in price made by one is followed by the others, while all complain of the resulting lack of profit. Yet, these same retailers have absolutely the power and the means to extricate themselves from their unfortunate position, with the certainty of making a fair profit in their coffee department. This can be readily accomplished by the intelligent handling of the really good grades of bulk roasted coffees.

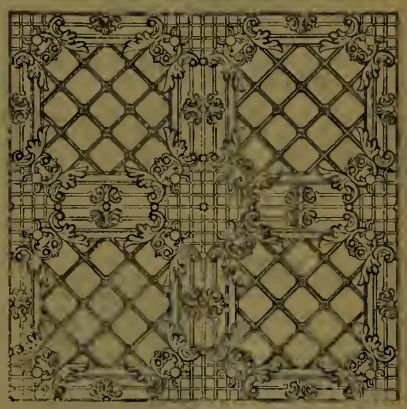
"Where retailers have failed in selling good bulk coffees successfully, their mistake has been that they have endeavored to make up their losses on package goods by asking too much of a profit on their bulk coffee. Now, if the retailer would be contented at first with a profit of two or three cents per pound on this coffee, and would take the slight trouble to show his customers the difference in value by placing before them samples of both the bulk and the package coffee, pointing out the defects in the latter, such as black or rotten beans and dead beans or 'quakers,' he would gradually succeed in inducing his customers to use good bulk coffees altogether, to the exclusion of the unprofitable package goods, and with a pecuniary return to which he is justly entitled, thus not only building up a demand for his special goods—an advertisement in itself—but also adding to his reputation as a live merchant."

"The present time affords a most favorable opportunity for the retailer to make such a change in the character of his coffee stock, for never before have good coffees been so abundant and at prices very near the lowest on record. If consumers could once realize the great difference in value between the low-grade package coffees and the good bulk grades, as shown by the prevalence in the former of numerous black or rotten beans, and it is a question if such beans are not a menace to one's health, the retailer would once more find a legitimate profit in his coffee sales, and the consumers that satisfaction which an article of real merit always insures to its users. It is a fact well-known to the trade that during the current season the plantations all over the world have been cleared of their poorest product, and large shipments have been made from Europe to this country of 'triage' or trash, a coffee consisting almost entirely of black beans, unsalable in Europe, being too poor even for their so-called 'pauper labor,' but which, in the exigencies of the present state of the roasted coffee business of this country, is considered about the right thing for American palates. How long then will the retailers continue in their foolish, ignorant and unprofitable course by handling low grade package coffees? How long will American consumers consent to use such goods, just because they are a few cents lower than coffee of much superior drinking qualities? As in the words of a recent President of the United States : 'A cheap coat makes a cheap man,' so the use of a low grade coffee betokens a low taste and an indifference to the really good things afforded by Nature for man's health, happiness and well-being."

A NEW TEA FIRM.

The Cowan, Ramsay Co., Limited, Toronto, has just been formed with a capital of $50,000, to carry on the tea business in all its branches. The following are the officers of the new organization : President, John W. Cowan ; vice-president, W. J. Youill ; directors, J. F. Ramsay, F. D. Brown, and A. N. Tate. Mr. Tate will be secretary-treasurer of the company.

Mr. Cowan has had a long experience in the tea trade and will be managing director. Messrs. Ramsay and Youill, also men of large experience, will be travelers. They will be on the road with samples in a few days.



One of the features of this firm's business will be the sale of the "Walla Galla" brand tea; also "Clubhouse" blend, which is now registered. These teas they intend to introduce throughout the Dominion, "Walla Galla" is one of the oldest package teas in Canada, but the company claims it has been kept in abeyance in deference to the view of the retail trade. Now, as already stated, it will be pushed vigorously.

DIGBY'S FINNAN HADDIE TRADE.

FIFTY thousand dollars would hardly cover the value of Digby's finnan haddie shipments for the season just closed, which lasted from the first of October to the end of February. In that time 1,000,000 pounds alone of these specially cured fish were shipped to Ontario, Quebec and all along the line of the Canadian Pacific railway to British Columbia. The lower province markets consumed no small quantity. This growing industry is known as Digby's bonanza, every class of trade in the town being directly benefited by it. A good feature is that every consignment of fish is paid for before leaving Digby. There was a time when this industry was in its infancy the local shippers would send their fish to commission houses in Upper Canada, and sometimes were obliged to wait until the end of the season for their returns. At that time it was a common thing for a commission house to fail, consequently the Digby shipper would lose the profits of his whole season's work, but since then things have changed. The demand has been so great that now cash accompanies every order, and matters go on in a more satisfactory manner to all concerned. This season the firm of Sida & Cousins did the largest business, shipping 360,000 pounds ; Short & Ellis, 240,000 ; D. & O. Sproul, 210,000 ; Joseph E. Snow, 120,000, and sundry other shippers, 300,000 pounds. These figures speak only as to fish exported, the quantity cured for home consumption also being very large.—Free Press, Yarmouth, N.S.

Markets and Market Notes

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 10, 1898.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS was fairly brisk at the close of last week, but so far this week there seems to have been a falling off in the volume, although some wholesale houses appear to be still busily employed. In consequence of the drop in sugar, last week, people have been buying but sparingly on the whole. At the same time, however, for this time of the year there is a fair amount of sugar moving. There have been some further shipments of canned vegetables to the Northwest, but business in this line is, on the whole, quiet at unchanged prices. Syrups are quiet and steady in price. Coffees are meeting with a fair demand at steady prices. The firmness which has characterized the spice market for some weeks still obtains, although no further advances have taken place during the past week. Cable advices note a scarcity in Valencia almonds. The tea market is not as brisk as it was a week ago. A cable advice received on Tuesday quotes low grade Young Hyson firmer in London, and better quality of teas are being offered in Ceylon growths. The market for foreign dried fruits remains steady.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the canned goods market during the past week. Probably the most interesting feature is a further shipment of a round lot of peas and corn to Manitoba at steady prices. The trade locally in canned vegetables is quiet and featureless, with prices still well maintained. Canned fish is only in moderate demand. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.20 to $1.25; corn, to 85c.; peas, 90 to 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10 to $1.25; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 60 to 95c.; peaches, $2 to $2.40 for 3's, $1.40 to $1.75 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.40 to $1 70, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 80 to 95c.; gallons, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; other red salmon, $1.20 upwards, according to quality and brand; Cohoes, 95c. to $1; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.70 for tall tins; ½-lb. flats, $1.65 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.40; 2's, $2.35 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16; Canadian kippered herrings, $4.50 per case.

SYRUPS.

There is still only a small business being done from the refiners, with whom all kinds of syrups are scarce. Wholesalers, however, report a fair demand for syrups for this time of year. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Trade is still quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: New Orleans, bbls., 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-bbls., 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c. in bbls. and half-bbls.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-bbls., 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

In consequence of the reduction of price last week the demand is not us good as it was, although for this time of the year business is, on the whole, fair. The English market is a little dearer on cane sugar, but in New York raw sugars have been purchased at fractionally lower prices. The statistical position of the sugar market is, on the whole, rather favorable. We quote: wholesale price, subject to a discount of 1 per cent., 10 days: Granulated (St. Lawrence, Redpath, Acadia), 4⅝c.; ditto, Dutch, in bags, 4¼c.; ditto, German of Canadian make, in bbls., 4¼c.; ditto, imported, in bags, 4¼c.; yellows, 3¾c. upwards.

NUTS.

A cable advice received in Toronto this week from Spain states that prices have taken a sharp advance, and shippers say that dealers should send in orders as soon as possible, although, owing to the condition of the market, they will not guarantee all orders being filled. A carload of Tarragona almonds was received in Toronto this week. We quote: Brazil nuts, 12½ to 14c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 23 to 25c.; Tarragona almonds, 9 to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 9½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

Trade is quiet in rice, but prices continue steady. Tapioca is advancing. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 5 to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3½ to 5½c.; sago, 3½ to 4½c.

COFFEE.

Trade is fair with the market fair for Rios. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 8 to 12½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 13 to 17c.; Jamaica, 16 to 22c.

SPICES.

There has been no further advance during the past week in any of the primary markets, as far as can be learned, but the market still rules steady. Locally, there have not been many transactions during the past week. Cream of tartar keeps strong, with prospects of another advance. We quote as follows: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 12 to 14c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 14 to 15c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 12c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 22 to 24c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 20 to 22c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 22 to 26c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 16c.; cassia, 20 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

TEAS.

A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday indicated that the price of low grade Young Hyson teas had advanced about ½c. per lb. in London. The same cable also noted an improvement in the quality of Ceylon teas coming forward, and that these teas were being quickly picked up while prices, as a consequence, were firmer. Offerings on the local market of Ceylon teas at from 10d. upward are showing good value, but teas for a price at around 8d. are not so attractive, although some lines at this price are showing fair value. There is some enquiry for cheap Indian teas at about 12c., but they are scarce, and what is offering does not show good quality, being light in weight and poor in flavor. There have been some enquiries for cheap teas from New York, but it does not appear to have resulted in any business, as the teas wanted would not, it is feared, pass the tea inspection law of the United States. It might be noted that low grade Young Hysons are quickly being picked up on the local market when offered. Ruling wholesale prices on the Toronto market are as follows: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous,

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS — Last mail advices from Patras states that prices continue steady and the better qualities of fruit are nearly exhausted. Locally the demand is fair and prices unchanged. We quote as follows: Provincials, 5¾ to 6c.; Filiatras, 6¼c. in bbls; 6⅜c. in half-bbls and 6¼c. in cases. Patras, 6¾c. in bbls.; 6¾c. in half-bbls. and 6⅞ to 7c. in cases.; Vostizzas, 7½ to 8½c. in cases

VALENCIA RAISINS—J. Hawksworth, of New York, has issued a statement showing that in that city stocks on hand, on Feb. 1, were 15,000 boxes and that there were received, during February, 10,800 boxes, making a total of 12,300 boxes. The distribution during February was 2,300 boxes, leaving stocks on hand, on March 1, 10,000 boxes. The local market is without feature, the demand being light and prices unchanged. We quote: Off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 6 to 6½c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS — The primary market is dull and lower. Locally, prices are without change. We quote: 3-crown, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb; 4-crown, 8¼ to 8½c. per lb.; 1-lb. cartoons, 20c.; 2¼-lb. cartoons, 35c.

PRUNES — Advices from the Coast state that, while buying is a little freer, prices are lower. Locally, the demand for prunes continues fair, particularly for those of California growth, which are cheaper. We quote as follows. "Sphinx," 6½ to 7c.; B, 7½c.; A, 8½c.; California prunes, 40 to 50's, 10 to 10½c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 70 to 80's, 7 to 7½c.; 80 to 90's, 6½ to 7c.; 90 to 100's, 6 to 6½c. Silver prunes (fancy), 13½c.; egg plums, 9½c.; golden plums, 10½c.; French prunes, 180's, 5c.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS—The feature of this line is lower prices and an active business in evaporated peaches, quotations having reached a basis where they are attracting buyers. In other lines the situation is much as it was before. We quote as follows: Apricots, 9 to 9½c. per lb. in 50-lb. boxes, 9½ to 16c. in 25-lb. boxes, and 13 to 14c. in 1-lb. cartoon boxes; Peaches, 9½ to 12½c. in 25-lb. boxes, and 13c. per lb. in 1-lb. cartoons.

DATES.—The market continues quiet and prices low at from 5¼ to 5½c. Dealers appear to be getting anxious to dispose of their stocks.

SULTANA RAISINS—Stocks of Sultana raisins on hand in New York on Feb. 1 were 19,000 boxes, and on March 1 they were 17,000 boxes, the distribution during February being 2,000 boxes, while receipts were nil.

GREEN FRUITS.

A good demand continues for navel and seedling oranges, with a decline of 15c. per box for the latter sort. Jamaicas are off the market, and there are few Bahamas and Valencias left. A car of the latter is expected this week. Almeria grapes are also well done, and what are left are, as a rule, of poor quality. Grape fruit, pickling onions and cranberries are about off the market. Bahamas are beginning to sell well, and it is expected that with a few weeks of warm weather a great sale of this fruit will be noted. Hot-house vegetables are now on the market. We quote: Rhubarb, 75 to 90c. doz. bunches; onions, 12½ to 15c. doz. bunches; lettuce, 30 to 40c. doz. bunches; radishes, 40 to 50c. doz. bunches; celery, 75 to $1 doz. bunches; cabbage, 25 to 40c. doz.; parsley, 12 to 25c. doz. bunches; Almeria grapes, $5 to $6 keg; lemons, Messina, $2.50 to $3 a box; oranges, Valencia, 420's, ordinary, $5.50 to $5.75; 420's, large, $6.50 to $7

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Deliveries have been large, but all coming in are well taken up. The price has declined 2c. this week, but it is now steady at present quotations. We quote : Fresh-laid, 14 to 15c. ; held, 11 to 12c.

POTATOES—The decline of last week is still in evidence. It is expected that when the country roads break up, a temporary advance will be forced by holders until ample supplies can be again had on the market. We quote : Carload lots at 55 to 56c., and small lots on the market at 65c. per bag.

DRIED APPLES—More enquiries are beine received for shipment to the Northwest, and as a consequence prices have stiffened somewhat. The local demand is, however, poor. Wholesalers are asking 5 to 6c., for extra fancy lots of quarters of good color. Good stock is selling at 4 to 5c., with poorer qualities at 3½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The local demand is fair, with a difference of feeling as regards prices. As high as 9½ to 10c. f.o.b. is asked at the factories.

BEANS—The price is easier. We hear of one transaction of a 100-bag lot of prime beans at 78c., while 80c. is asked for 5 and 10-bag lots. About 7c. more is asked for hand-picked, but as this seems too great a difference little attention is paid to this grade. Lima beans are in fair demand at 3¾ to 4c. per lb.

HONEY — The demand throughout is quiet, with prices unchanged. We quote as follows: Clover honey, 7 to 7½c.; light color, in 60-lb. tins, 6 to 6½c.; 5 and 10-lb. tins, 7 to 7½c.; buckwheat 3 to 4c.; comb, clover, $1.25 to $1.50 per dozen ; buckwheat, 60 to 70c.

POULTRY—There is a fair offering of turkeys and chickens, with a brisk demand absorbing all offered, though large turkeys are not wanted. We quote as follows: Chickens, dressed, 50 to 70c.; turkeys, small and medium, 11½ to 12c.; large, 9 to 10c.

price has advanced all along the line. We quote: Dairy, large rolls, 17 to 18c.; pound prints, 18 to 20c.; creamery, late make, tubs, 19 to 20c.; prints, 21 to 23c.

CHEESE—The market is in a weak, unsteady condition, with a moderate local demand. We quote all the way from 8 to 8½c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade generally is brisk, with a firm feeling in all lines. Lard and barrel pork have advanced, the former ¼c. per lb. and the latter 50c. per bbl. The deliveries of hogs up to the end of last month were larger than any preceding season, and during the last two weeks they have been heavier than at any time this year. Then, as the hogs have been of better size for export, this season's production is expected to reach a much larger and more satisfactory total than ever before. We quote as follows:

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7¾c. for carload lots, and 8c. per lb. for ton lots and cases.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11½ to 12c.; rolls, 8¾c.; hams, large, 10c.; medium, 10½c.; small, 11c.; shoulder hams, 8½ to 9c.; backs, 11½c.; with 1c. less for all meats out of pickle.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7½c.; tubs, 7¾c.; pails, 8c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $15.50 to $16; Canadian short-cut, $16.50 to $17; clear shoulder mess, $14.50 to $15.

DRESSED HOGS—We quote: $6 to $6.10 for heavy, and $6.15 to $6.20 for light hogs.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Business generally is rather quiet, though whitefish and trout are moving well, and a fair business is being done in haddies and cod. Stocks of salted fish are getting scarce. Prices throughout are unchanged, with the exception of split herrings in half-bbls, which have advanced 25c. We quote: Oysters, $1.25 per gal.; fresh trout, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; steak trout, 7c.; fresh steak cod, 6 to 6½c. per lb.; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; pike, 4 to 5c. per lb.; perch, 3c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.50 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; sea herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per 100; boneless codfish, 3½ to 5c. per lb; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; ciscoes, $1.25 to $1.35; Manitoba frozen whitefish, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; smelts, No. 2, 4c.; No. 1, 6c.; extras, 10c.; flounders, 5c. per lb.. haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.; pan frozen haddock, small, 4c.; large, 5c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The wheat market has since last week declined, in keeping with English and United States markets. This week's quotation on cars outside are as follows: Wheat, red winter, 85c.; white winter, 81 to 83c.; goose, 80c. On the street market oats and barley have been offered freely; but little wheat has come in. The street market is as follows: Wheat, red, 92 to 93½c.; white, 82 to 84c.; goose, 86 to 87c.; peas, 58 to 61c.; rye, 53c.; barley, 39 to 42½c.; oats, 35 to 36c. No. 1 hard wheat has declined 3c., and is quoted at $1.10, Toronto and Montreal freights, or $1.07 Midland.

FLOUR—The demand is good, but prices have declined 5 to 10c. all round. We quote: Manitoba patents, $5.30 to $5.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90 to $5; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $4.80; straight roller, $4.15 to $4.30, Toronto freights.

WOOL—Trade is quiet, but steady, with pulled wools quoted at 20 to 20½c. Fleeces and tub-washed are nominal.

SEEDS.

There is now a little more activity in the local demand, and prices have steadied somewhat, especially for red clover, which is now quoted at $2.75 to $3.25. There is such a range of values in alsike that it is quoted all the way from $2 to $4. Timothy is steady at $1 to $1.50 for machine threshed, and $1.50 to $2 for strictly choice to fancy bright unhulled flail-threshed seed.

SALT.

Business is active with unchanged prices. We quote as follows: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 10, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE actual movement in groceries is not quite as brisk as it was a week ago, and jobbers attribute this largely to the impassible condition of the country roads in many sections, which makes it almost impossable for people to get about. Values, with the exception of the decline in sugar, remain much as they were. The change in this staple has checked the tendency manifested by buyers to extend operations, and trade has again shrunk into a small hand-to-mouth business. Syrups continue quiet, and prices rule firm under exceptionally light stocks in first hands. Demand for molasses has been moderately active, and values are quite firm, while offers on new crop for spring delivery are quite steady. Enquiry for canned vegetables from jobbers is noted, and demand for Japan teas also from the same source cause a movement of goods from first to second hands in both these lines. Spices are quite firm in their disposition, also rice, currants and Valencia and California raisins and other dried fruits, the movement of which, however, is only moderate. Green fruits have ruled dull, and the Lenten demand for fish is of the ordinary character.

SUGAR.

The decline in the price of refined granulated both here and at New York last week has dissipated what tendency there was toward improvement, and business has ruled extremely dull. There has been no further change in New York since the recent change, and the same remark applies to the local situation, but it is worthy of note that the market for raw material has ruled steady in London, beets being held, while the price of cane has advanced from 11s. for Java to 11s. 3d., and fair refining from 9s. 6d. to 9s. 9d., 3d. advance all round. Beet has ruled steady at 9s. 3¾d. for prompt and 9s. 4½d. for next month's shipment. Previous to decline demand was quite fair, both for granulated and yellows, but since then refiners complain that it has slumped back into a hand-to-mouth demand. We quote: Standard Canadian granulated, 4⅜c.; Canadian German do., 4 to 4 1-16c.; imported do., 3 15-16 to 4c., and yellows, 3⅝ to 4c., according to grade.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups has been quiet, but with stocks, in first hands, still very limited and the assortment small, prices are held firm. The fact, however, militates against any improvement in trade, no matter whether buyers show more disposition to operate or not. This they have not done during the past week.

MOLASSES.

The demand for this staple from stock has been more active during the past week, and there is a steady consumptive movement going on that will not take long, if maintained in its present volume, to account for the small supplies on the market. The chief news has been the offer of new Barbadoes to arrive at 8c. first cost, which means 23c. landed, the identical figure at which business in new crop opened at last season. We quote: Barbadoes, puncheons, 28c.; barrels, 30½c.; and half-barrels, 31½c. per gallon; car lots 1c. less, and Porto Rico, 26 to 27c., according to quality.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned vegetables moves along quietly, the enquiry from jobbers, for vegetables, during the past two weeks being maintained in a quiet way. Otherwise there is little to report and we quote: Tomatoes, $1.10 to $1.25; corn, 90c. to $1; peas, 90c. to $1.15; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, gallons, $2.60 to $2.75; 3-lb.do., $1.10 to $1.20; salmon,

$1.20 to $1.25 as to brand ; lobsters, $11 ; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 for extra brands, and $8 to $9 for ordinary ; Canadian do., $4.25 to $4.50.

TEAS.

The good enquiry for low and medium grade teas already noted is maintained, further sales of Japan goods amounting to 3,000 packages or so being put through for shipment to United States points. We quote as follows : Young Hysons, 18c. for low grades, 24 to 28c. for mediums and 30 to 40c. for good to finest ; China Congous, 10 to 17c. for mediums and 25 to 50c. for better grades ; Japans, 13 to 17c. for mediums and 28c. for higher grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 17 to 20c. for mediums and 35 to 65c. for higher grades.

SPICES.

Activity in spices has been a feature of the week and prices are rather stiffer than they were for supplies from first hands, though the jobbing range is as last quoted. We quote as follows : Black pepper, 11 to 15c. ; white pepper, 19 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 30c.; allspice, 14c.; and nutmegs, 50 to 90c.

COFFEE.

Business in coffee is quiet, and there has been no change in prices to report, the only movement in round lots being some Maracaibo at 11 to 13c. We quote as follows : Maracaibo, 12 to 15c.; Santos, 10 to 12c; Rio, 10c.; Mocha, 25 to 28c., and Java 25 to 30c.

RICE.

There has been no change in the rice market, demand being fair, while prices rule steady. We quote as follows : Crystal Japan, 5c. ; standard B rice $3.50 to $3.75; Patna, $5 to $5.50; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75 ; choice Burmah, $4 to $4.25, and Java kinds, $4.25 to $4.50.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is no change in currants on spot, and advices from primary markets are firm, noting very small stocks at shipping points. The Lenten demand this season appears to be lighter than usual for these as well as all other descriptions of dried fruit. We quote : Fine Vostizzas, 6½c.; Patras, 6¼c.; choice Filiatra, 6c.; half-cases, do., 5⅞c.; half-bbls., 5⅜c.; fine Provincials, 5⅝c., in half-cases.

Demand for Valencia raisins is of a quiet hand-to-mouth character, and we quote : Off-stalk, 4¼ to4½c.; fine do., 4¾ to 5c. ; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6 to 6¾c.

California raisins are moving quietly, and prices rule steady, as follows · 2-crown, 6 to 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c,. and 4-crown, 8¼ to 8½c., duty paid on spot.

Prunes are strong, with the larger sizes scarce and firmly held. We quote : California, 5 to 10c.; Oregons, 7 to 9c.; French, 4½ to 5½c., Austrian, 6½ to 7c.

Dates are quoted at 4½ to 5c., as to grade.

Figs rule steady. We quote : Eleme, 10 lbs., 10 to 11c.; case lots, 9c.; 12-oz. boxes, 7½c.; 14-oz. boxes, 9c., and bags, 4 to 5c.

NUTS.

There is no change in nuts, and jobbers here do not appear to be anxious about fresh supplies, having enough to get along with. We quote : Grenoble walnuts, 10½ to 11c.; Marbots, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 8½ to 10c.; shelled almonds, 20 to 22c., and shelled walnuts, 16 to 18c.; Sicily filberts, 7 to 8½c., and pecans, 9 to 10c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been more activity displayed in the green fruit market during the week, and it would no doubt be larger were it not for the almost impassable country roads. Oranges have been in larger receipt, and lemons are somewhat easier than they were, declining 25c. a box. Arrivals of pineapples have been heavier, but Canadian onions are scarce, and supplies of cranberries on spot are much reduced. A lot of California vegetables have been arriving daily, and sell fairly well. We quote : oranges, $4 to $5 ; California navels, $3 to $3.50 ; do., seedlings, $2.25 to $2.75; Valencia, $5.50 to $6 ; Florida, $4.25 to $4.35. Lemons, $2 to $2.75; pineapples, 15 to 25c. each, and cranberries, $9 to $9.50 per bbl. for Cape Cod, and $8.50 to $9 for Nova Scotia ; strawberries, 50c.; bananas, $1.75 to $2, and tomatoes, $3.50 per carrier.

DRIED APPLES.

Business in dried and evaporated apples is quiet, and prices are steady at 5 to 6½c. for dried and 9 to 10c. for evaporated.

APPLES.

There has been a quiet trade in apples at $3 to $4.60 per bbl.

FISH.

The demand for fish since our last report has been much better than was generally expected by the trade, consequently an active trade has been done and the movement of all lines is large. Stocks have been greatly reduced, and the prospects now are good for a clearing up of all lines during the Lenten season. The course of prices has been somewhat irregular, as they show an advance on some kinds and a decline on others. Haddocks and cod are ¼ to ½c. per lb. higher at 3 to 3½c. Steak cod are easier at 3½ to 4c. Smelts show a decline of 1 to 2c. per lb. at 2 to 5c. Manitoba dore have advanced ½c. per lb. to 5½ to 6c., while white fish and trout are steady at 6½c., and pike at 3 to 3½c. Frresh herrings are selling at $1.30 per 100 in casks and barrels. Tommy cods are 10 to 20c. per bbl. lower at 80c. to $1.

There has been a fair movement of pickled fish in a small way. The feeling in the market for herrings and B.C. salmon has been stronger, and prices show an advance of fully 25c. per bbl No. 1 green cod are firmer, but No. 2 are quoted 25 to 40c. per bbl. lower. We quote as follows : Green cod, No. 1, large, $4 to $4.25 ; No. 1, ordinary, $3.50 ; No. 2, $2 ; herrings, No. 1, N.S., $4.25 to $4.50 per bbl., and $2.25 per half-bbl.; Cape Breton, $4.50 to $4.75 per bbl.; B.C. salmon, $12 per bbl.; No. 1 trout, $4.25 per half-bbl.

The supply of smoked fish on the market is small, for which the demand is fair and prices are firm. Haddies are selling at 5½ to 6c. per lb.; new Yarmouth bloaters, at $1.25 per box, and smoked herrings at 10c. per box.

The feature is preserved fish has been the improved demand for boneless cod, which are scarce, and prices have advanced ½c. per lb. to 5 to 5½c. Dressed codfish are unchanged at $4.25 per case of 100 lbs.; dried cod, at $3.50 per 100 lbs., and boneless fish at 3c. per lb.

SALT.

Unchanged. We quote : Coarse Liverpool, in 165-lb. bags, 38 to 45c., and Trepani, $1.10 per bag of 215 lbs.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There has been a rather sharp decline in the egg market, under largely increased receipts, and prices now are 3 to 4c. per dozen lower than they were at last writing, the range now being 16 to 17c. There is a fair demand at the decline.

POULTRY—The soft weather has practically wiped out the receipts of poultry, and prices are nominal.

BEANS—There was no change in beans. The demand is limited at 75 to 80c. for primes and at 85 to 90c. for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—A small business was done in honey at about steady prices. We quote : White clover, 12½c.; dark clover comb, 10 to 10½c., and dark, 7 to 8c.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes is fair, and prices are unchanged at 60c. per bag, in car lots, and at 70 to 75c. in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

There has been an easier feeling in provisions, and pork is 50c. per bbl. lower. We quote : Canadian pork, $16 to $16.50 per barrel ; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8 to 8¼c., and compound refined at 5½ to 5¾c. per lb.; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; bacon, 12 to 12½c. per lb.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

There was an improved demand for flour to-day from both local and country buyers, and trade, on the whole, was rather more active with no change in prices to note. We quote: Winter wheat, patents $4.75 to $5 ; straight rollers, $4.60; bags, $2.25 to $2.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Manitoba spring patents, $5.30; Hungarian patent, $5.40, and Glenora strong bakers', $5.

The oatmeal market was firmer this week at $4 per bbl., and at $1.95 per bag for rolled oats.

GRAIN AND FEED.

In sympathy with a further decline in prices for oats in the foreign market there was an easier feeling locally, and the outside bid obtainable from shippers were 33½c., and holders asked 34c. ex-store. Peas were unchanged at 66½ to 67c. afloat, May delivery. Buckwheat was quiet at 42½c. store. Ontario wheat in car lots along the line sold at 87c. for red and at 85c. for white.

The tone of the feed market was firm and demand was good, but supplies are limited. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $14; shorts, $16 per ton in bulk ; Manitoba bran, $15, and shorts, $17 per ton, including bags.

A fair trade was done in hay to-day, there being a better demand for small lots at firm prices. We quote : No. 1 at $10.50, and No. 2 at $8 to $8.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—Cheese exhibits no change, and there is little indication of any improvement in the near future. The Englishmen evidently have all the cheese they want for the time being, and if there was any disposition to advance bids by buyers on the other side, the consignments that are going forward would check it. The latest that we hear of is a lot of 5,000 boxes fall cheese that have been carried for country speculators. The bankers in this case have got tired and are sending the goods over in the hope of a turnover on the other side. As to spot values at present, they are purely nominal, but it is doubtful if a buyer could fill an order for finest on the market at present inside of 8c.

BUTTER—Butter continues strong, with the demand in excess of the supply. As a result, prices are very firmly held, and strictly finest creamery is difficult to obtain at any price. There were sales to-day at 19½c., and further lots are understood to be under offer at the same price. Exporters are in the market also, and willing to pay 19c., but as the local jobbers pay an advance on this, they quite naturally get the goods. Dairy goods share in the strength of creamery, western dairy in 35-lb. tubs selling at 17½c. to-day. Roll dairy fetched 16 to 16½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The price of Canadian pork in this market is 50c. lower per bbl. than it was a week ago.

Cables on cane stock from London this week are 3d. higher than they were at the time of last writing.

The decline of 1-16c. in the price of sugar has checked the tendency toward improvement in demand apparent last week.

There has been a sharp decline of 3 to 4c. per dozen in the price of fresh eggs as a consequence of largely increased receipts.

First offers on new crop Barbadoes molasses are equal to 23c. landed in Montreal, which is the identical figure at which the staple opened last spring.

Demand from the United States for medium grade Japan teas continue, and another batch of 3,000 packages have left this market to go in that direction since last week.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., March 9, 1898.

THERE has been a pretty general complaint in all lines of trade that the very bad roads, owing to heavy storms in February, have restricted the volume of business for several weeks, but the outlook is now satisfactory. The banks report that paper was well met on the 4th. They never admit that it is not well met, but from their general tone it is inferred that they were well satisfied on this particular settling day. Still, the conditions which operate in the direction of better times west do not obtain to the same extent here. We are farther from the centre of Klondyke influences ; we buy, and do not sell wheat and other grains, and the lumber industry is certainly not in a prosperous condition at the present moment. It is also true that the price of farm products is only fairly good. Under all the circumstances, therefore, it is gratifying to know that general business continues on a sound basis, and that there is an undoubtedly hopeful feeling as to the future. There have been some fluctuations in prices since last report, and the firmness in a few lines has been further accentuated.

OILS—There has been, as noted last week, an advance of 1c. in American oil. The rest of the list is unchanged. We quote : Best American burning oil, 20 to 21c. Canadian water white, 17 to 18c.; Canadian prime, 15 to 16c.; cod oil, 26 to 28c.

SALT—Business is quiet, stocks ample, and prices steady. Coarse, 40 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 85 to 95c.; Canadian fine, $1 to $1.10 per bag; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.50 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; rock salt, $5 to $6 per ton.

CANNED GOODS—The firmness in canned goods, noted a week ago, is even more pronounced, with stocks light. In other lines there is only a small movement and prices are steady. Oysters and peaches have a wide range as to quality. We quote: Corn, 90c. to $1; peas, $1 to $1.10; tomatoes, $1.35 to $1.45; gallon apples, $2.65 to $2.75; corned beef, Canadian, $2.35 to $2.50; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.75; 1-lb. tins, $1.45 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.75; 2's, $1.50 to $1.85; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.50; fruits in glass, $4 to $4.25; salmon, $1.10 to $1.20; ditto, flats, $1.25 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, $1.00 to $1.10; clams, $4.50 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.50 to $2.75 for 2 doz,; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUITS.—Valencia oranges are coming in more freely and are marked lower. Florida and Dominica are out of the market, but Californias are in supply. Malaga grapes are out, and the few Cape Cod cranberries in sight are higher. Choice apples are scarce. We quote: Lemons, $3.50 to $4; Valencia oranges, $5 to $5.50; do. California $3 to $3.75; navels, $3.75 to $4; Jaffa oranges, $4; apples, $2.50 to $4; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; Cape Cod cranberries, $12 to $12.50 per bbl.

DRIED FRUITS—Currants are firm, stocks moderate and demand good. There is little doing in raisins. Evaporated apples are scarce and firmer. California evaporated fruits, as before noted, are a feature of the market. Dried apples are quiet. Prunes are in fair demand. We quote: Valencias, 5 to 5½c.; California L. M., 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; London layers, $1.40 to $1.50; Imp. cabinets, $1.75 to $1.80; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.30; Dehesa layers, $2.50 to $2.75; currants, cases, 6¼ to 6½c.; bbls., 6 to 6¼c.; cartoons, cleaned, 8 to 9c.; bulk, cleaned, 7 to 8c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 9c.; dates, 4 to 5c.; dried apples, 6 to 7c.; evaporated apples, 10¼ to 10½c.; onions, $2.50 to $2.75 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4 per 100 lbs.; figs, 8 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 9 to 10c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 3-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7½ to 7¾c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 11 to 12c.; new Valencias, layers, 6¼ to 6½c.; citron peel, 18c.; lemon peel, 12c.; orange peel, 13c.

SUGAR—Business continues quiet and the market here remains firm. We quote: Standard granulated, 4½ to 4⅝c.; second grade, 4¼ to 4⅜c.; yellows, 3½ to 4c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 5¾c.

MOLASSES.—As noted last week, the market is easy, as new stock is shortly due, some new Demerara having already arrived. We quote: Barbadoes, 24 to 25c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 31c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 32c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.; new Demerara, 35 to 36c.

DAIRY PRODUCE, ETC.—Eggs are lower and tending easier. The butter market is unchanged. It is difficult to get a really choice article in dairy butter, but there is an abundance of inferior grades. Creamery has a steady sale at unchanged prices. Cheese is steady, with stocks light. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 18 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 15 to 17c.

FISH—The dealers have found it hard to get frozen fish of good fresh quality and have been unable to fill all outside orders. The season is, of course, drawing to a close. The Lenten demand for dry and pickled fish has improved, and with light stocks, a good trade is anticipated. The market is firmer. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3.10 to $3.25; pollock, $2 to $2.10; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.85 per half-bbl.; smoked herring 6½ to 7c.; Canso, pickled, $5 per barrel; boneless fish, 3½ to 4½c.; cod, 6 to 7c.; frozen cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; smelts, 4 to 5c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; lobsters, small, 3 to 5c.

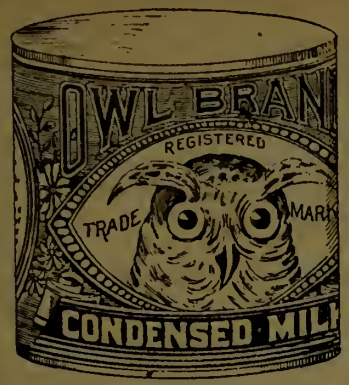
PROVISIONS—The market has shown increased firmness. Mess pork is in light supply and local packers are asking full prices and holding on. Plate beef is also higher in this market. We quote: Clear pork, $15.75 to $16.25; old light do, $14; mess, $15; prime mess, $12 to $12.50; plate beef, $14 to $15; extra plate, $15 to $15.75; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 9½ to 10c.; pure lard, 8 to 9c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The firmness in the market continues. The local millers of corn were out of grain for a time, and there was a scarcity of meal to fill orders last week, but there is now no difficulty. Feed is reported very hard to get. We quote: Manitoba $5.90 to $6; best Ontario, $5.10 to $5.15; medium, $4.85 to $4.95; oatmeal, $4.10 to $4.25; cornmeal, $2.10; middlings, bulk, car lots, $19 to $20; bran, do, $16.50 to $17; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 95c. to $1.00; barley, $3.25 to $3.35; round peas, $1.25; split peas, $3.60 to $3.75; yellow eye beans, $1.75; oats, 39 to 40c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The new I.C.R. freight tariff has caused great dissatisfaction all along the line, owing to the increase in local rates for short distances. There is much complaint, as it affects the business in milk, live stock, lumber and general produce shipped from country points to this or other provincial centres.

The Cushing Sulphite Fibre Co. is seeking incorporation. Leading local merchants and manufacturers comprise the directorate. The capital is to be $500,000. They hope to have a large pulp mill built here during the summer.



New Brunswick will be strongly represented at the Sportsman's Fair in Boston, the purpose of the exhibit of specimens of game, photos of scenery and the distribution of literature being to attract American tourists and sportsmen in larger numbers to this province.

The council of the board of trade has been giving some attention to the question of developing trade with the Bahamas. The only hope of such a trade would be in getting inward cargoes of fruit through to the west in good condition, as this market is not large enough.

THE DUTY OF WEALTH.

THE following is an extract from an address delivered by Prof. Goldwin Smith before the students of Cornell University:

"Accumulated wealth, the result of rapid development, is a feature, some think a dangerous feature, of American society. Wealth must do its social duty. To say that it must pay ransom for its existence, when it has been fairly made, is to give the signal for social plunder. But it must do its duty. It must show that it is useful to society. Every man who has a heart must be touched by inequalities of the human law. We can not be surprised if those whose place is the lowest want to equalize, even by measures of violence, mistaken and ultimately suicidal as such measures are. There is no use any longer in talking about definite ordinance of compensation for Lazarus in the next world. But wealth must show that it is useful. Useful it may be. Inequality, to a certain extent, seems to be a condition of progress. In China you have a dead level, only one man in 10,000, as we are told, being above manual labor. There is nobody with leisure or means to start anything, or try anything, and the result is stagnation. If wealth is to be spent in the ostentation of luxury, the sight of which makes poverty doubly bitter, in aping European aristocracy, in buying European titles, or admission to European courts, there will be a crash, and there ought to be! That all American millions are not so spent, this hill covered with monuments of munificence bears noble witness. The best men, we are told, that is those who are best fitted to serve the state, are excluded from politics. It may be so, though perhaps there is sometimes among men of refinement rather too much fastidiousness and too much love of ease. But if a man cannot be eminent in political life, he may be eminent in social and municipal life; he may be a good and great citizen."

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, March 5, 1898.

THE weather continues phenomenally fine and mild; in fact, Winnipeg streets are rapidly clearing of snow.

Business is good, sales being much larger than this time last year, but there is no boom on. Those who think Winnipeg is doing a great grocery business because of the Yukon trade are laboring under a mistake. A good deal of outfitting is done here, but it is more in the line of clothing than in groceries. Of course, numbers buy everything here, but still, the large majority buy supplies of this kind at point of embarkation, if they are going by Dyea, and at Edmonton if they take that route. Edmonton is undoubtedly enjoying a rushing trade in all lines of supplies for the north, as the number who prefer that route seems daily to increase. All the accounts of sickness, scarcity of food, and sufferings of all kinds that come from the Yukon seem to have not the slightest effect on the steady stream of travel in that direction. Special tourist cars go through daily. The mild weather tends to increase the supply of both butter and eggs, but so far neither market has weakened. The stock and book debts of George Craig & Co.'s departmental store will be offered for sale on the premises on Tuesday. The stock of groceries and glassware is valued at $1,299.22. As previously stated, the failure is a bad one, and will no doubt put a damper on departmental stores here for a time at least. The railway war of rates, that has been so widely discussed in the daily papers, goes merrily on, and at present no one is prophet enough to predict the end. Meantime many people are taking advantage of the opportunity afforded for cheap travel. Wheat has been selling on the Winnipeg market at 90c. during the week, but is down to 88c. to-day. This high figure is given by the milling companies, and is likely to continue as long as the present price of flour is maintained.

CURED MEATS—The market continues firm, with no change in price, with the exception of a ½c. drop on breakfast bacon. It is likely, however, that as soon as the spring offerings of domestic hogs are received that the market may weaken. We quote: Smoked hams, 11½c.; breakfast bellies, 11c.; backs, 10c.; square cut shoulders, 8½c.; spiced rolls, 9c.; dry salt long clear, 8¼c.; smoked ditto, 9¼c.; dry salt shoulders, 8½c.; dry salt boneless, 8½c.; backs, 8½c.

BUTTER—Supply of dairy is increasing, while the indications are that creameries will open much earlier than last year. We quote: Creamery butter, 21 to 22c. per lb.; round lots fresh-made dairy, 15 to 16c. There is a slightly weaker market for dairy.

EGGS—Supply is increasing quite rapidly. Strictly fresh gathered are worth 17c. Limed eggs, of which there are considerable stocks, 10 to 12½c.

FISH—Salt fish is in fairly good demand, but dry salt fish is very quiet nothwithstanding Lent. The supply of fresh frozen fish on this market is both good and cheap, and this decreases the sale of the dry salt article.

GREEN FRUIT — The situation remains unchanged. Really first-class apples are scarce while doubtful stocks grow harder to dispose of. Oranges are plentiful and of a fair quality although the rinds are thickened by the frost in California. They run from $3.75 to $4 per case, according to size. Lemons grow better as the season advances, they also sell at from $3.75 to $4. Bananas are a first-class sample and are now coming in more freely. Price from $2.50 to $3 per bunch, according to quality. Really good Malaga grapes are out of market. Southern celery is still coming in freely and finding a ready market at from 50 to 75c. per bunch, according to the sizes.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—This market is unchanged since last writing, except that dried apples are a little higher; they appear to be going out of sight. The prices run from 6¾ to 7½c. per lb., according to quality. Offerings are comparatively plentiful, but sale is slow, owing to the high price. Evaporated, 10½ to 11c., with market quite firm; apricots, demand quite active, price 10c.; peaches, fancy peeled, 17 to 18c., market quiet; do., unpeeled, moving very slowly at 10c.; pears, fancy halves, 10½c., with demand very limited. Plums are in fair demand at 9½ to 10½c., according to quality. Prunes are fairly active, and prices run from 4½c. for 50-lb. boxes to 9c. for large in 25-lb. boxes. The supply of small prunes on hand is fair, but offerings are very light.

CANNED GOODS—Very firm, with higher prices. Canned tomatoes are now selling at $3.10, and dealers are not at all keen to dispose of stocks at that figure. There is also a very sharp advance in corn, peas and beans. Corn, $2.10 to $2.20 per case, with the demand limited owing to price; peas, $2.20 to $2.25; beans, $1.75 to $2. Pumpkin remains unchanged at $2 per case.

CANNED FRUITS—Demand has increased slightly, and will continue to grow from this date. The only change of price is an advance in strawberries and raspberries; strawberries, $3.40 to $3.50; raspberries, $2.75 to $2.85. California canned fruits are not much in demand.

RICE— Japan still very scarce, very moderate quantities moving at 5½c. Somewhat larger quantities of Rangoon and "B" at 4¼ to 4¾c.

CEREALS — Oatmeal firm and slightly higher. Rolled oats, $1.85 to $1.90 per sack; 95c. the ½-sack, and 50c. the ¼-sack. Cornmeal, $1.25 the sack; 65c. the ½-sack.

COFFEE—The usual demand for roasted Mocha and Java, but Rios are very slow and dull owing to the very large quantities purchased by consumers at the low figures obtaining last fall. Prices, 9½ to 10c.

"Our sales of 'Ludella' Ceylon tea are steadily increasing, orders coming in by every mail," say H. P. Eckardt & Co.

AN OLD-TIME VILLAGE STORE.

HERE is a reproduction of a show card which Chase & Sanborn are distributing to Canadian retailers who handle coffee. It is taken from a celebrated painting by Abbott Graves, and represents one of the old-time village stores that served the wants of our grandparents with admirable efficiency. The picture contains some familiar characters, peculiar to every section. The grocer himself is busy at the scales, but the customary group sits around the hot stove, expectorating, whittling, discussing, dark side in every argument. He is the man who always says "I told you so."

Let us not leave out the mild, modest member of the party, sitting on the tub. He listens to everything and agrees with it; he is found on all sides and sees no reason to differ from anybody.

The long wooden bench or settle is very characteristic of the old village grocery. It was as necessary to successful trade as pleasant words and full weight. In this was shown the hospitality of the proprietor, and to this bench, loafer, customer or councillor frequent visitor. The grocery store served as substitute. Tidings from far and near, and information about village affairs in particular, were obtained at this headquarters of gossip and rumors.

Then there was the human touch of personal acquaintance; under the searchlight of this grocery-store scrutiny, every man in the town stood on his merits. Kind, neighborly qualities were encouraged, and selfish, mean traits were not in favor.

We owe a great deal to the old-time grocer. Let us always gratefully remember with now and then a solemn pause of silence as though their brains required rest.

There is the "judge" with his two canes, whose reputation for wisdom is firmly established. Rarely does he open his mouth to say anything, but his nod or his monosyllabic comment is received with deep respect.

Next to him on the settle is the great talker of the town, an oracle on every subject. No topic is too high, none too small for his attention. His knife and his tongue are in constant use.

On the opposite side of the stove, rocking his chair for emphasis, is the great objector. Nothing quite suits his critical mind, and he never fails to introduce the doubt, defect, or was welcome. Rarely was it entirely vacant. Such is the surface picture. But there is a deeper view. The grocer opened his doors not only to customers and goods, but to ideas. The gatherings at his store ranked in importance next to the town meeting; they prepared the way for the settlement of public questions. In this humble room the citizens of all parties exchanged views on national and domestic affairs, minds were sharpened, thoughts broadened and convictions tested. No subject escaped consideration, from fore-ordination and grace to the duties of the pound-keeper; theology, politics, adventures, farming, history, reforms —all came in for frank handling.

In those times the newspaper was an him, working so faithfully in the day of small things, and exerting an influence, far beyond his business, over the whole community.

CLERKS AND CONSUMPTION.

AS a medical man, I know that the real cause of the hundreds of cases of consumption among shop assistants is the long hours. With shorter hours the mortality would be decreased tremendously. Doctors all know that a man may breathe foul air for a few minutes or a few hours a day without serious harm resulting; for the reason that the lungs possess—to speak simply—a power of washing themselves. If they are impregnated by dust and dirt to a certain extent they can throw off this impediment and become as good as new. But this can happen only when they are subjected to foul air for a short time—as in the case of a working man who may work in an iron foundry, and swallow floating particles from 7 to 12 in the morning. Then he goes out into clear air for a portion of an hour, and at 6 o'clock leaves the injurious atmosphere behind him for good.

Shop assistants have not these advantages.

Take drapers' shops as an example. The shops where long hours prevail are mostly ill-ventilated. In the winter this ventilation is doubly bad. Now the young man must stand behind his counter twelve or fourteen hours each day. Standing is an excellent exercise; but when other muscles besides those of the legs are not put proportionately into force, then the result is impaired health.

All day he is tearing or cutting calico, prints, woolen goods and other articles of wear. Every time he performs this operation, obnoxious particles are intermingled with the atmosphere to the number of hundreds of thousands. In the case of some prints and cretonnes, the ingredients used for coloring are deadly poison. Cheap calicoes are stiffened with lime, which may be observed in a white layer on the counter after any length is torn off.

This lime is taken up by the air and is breathed into the lungs. The badness of the air causes him unconsciously to take shorter breaths. The result will then be that a part of the lung—generally the top of the right lung—is not inflated for days, but a former unexpelled piece of dust has settled there. The lung by disuse has grown weak, the particles of lime and other injurious matter increase; then bacilli of consumption enter.

We all breathe consumption germs every day of our lives, but unless the lungs are in a bad condition they have no effect on us. In case, however, the lung is weak in a certain spot, it becomes condensed, as we say. After this it is only necessary for the young man to exert himself more than usual for the disease to commence in real earnest.

In the pawnbroking trade consumption is frequently the result of direct contagion. Many articles placed in pawn simply swarm with bacilli. The presence of these germs in the air already vitiated soon results in consumption if the lungs are weak.

In the tailoring trade floating particles of woolen goods dyed with poisonous materials are drawn into the system. Grocers' assistants go into consumption from quite different causes, and in their case the mortality is much less than in the other three trades I have mentioned.

Colds are their chief enemies. The air they breathe is comparatively pure, and even if it were not, they have more genuine exercise than drapers' or tailors' assistants.

Efforts to reduce the number of deaths from consumption among young men and young women in shops can never be radically successful until the hours are shortened to a length proportionate to those worked by the working man.

But assistants may do a little by always paying attention to ventilation, by breathing through the nose, and by light dumb-bell exercise.

Consumption is a terrible disease, and can attack one from the seventeenth year to the twenty-seventh. It may be prevented by careful gymnastics. But the assistant should never think that he has escaped this disease until he finds comparatively easy employment; for so long as he works for fourteen or fifteen hours a day in bad air he is liable to contract the insidious and deadly disease. —Answers.

WOULD YOU PAY anything to get new trade?

From 3½ to 5 per cent. on the actual increase would not be an expensive proposition, would it? You would be glad to pay $1.12 to get a new customer for $25.00 worth of goods. It would be a good investment. And if you should pay the $1.12 to the customer in the shape of a handsome clock, it would be a good advertisement too, because every time he looked at the clock he would be reminded of your store. That's the premium plan in a nutshell. It's the plan that has made successful merchants by the hundreds in the United States, but has never been very widely adopted in Canada. If you're the first one in your town to use it, you get the benefit of the novelty.

THE QUALITY OF BRITISH SALT.

WHILE shipments of salt from Liverpool have declined from 994,726 tons in 1887 to 591,202 tons in 1897, being handicapped by an unavoidable river freight from the works in Cheshire ; by most burdensome tolls upon the river Weaver, amounting to more than 16 per cent. on the works' price of common salt ; and by heavy dock dues in Liverpool, three times as high as those imposed in the competing port of Middlesbrough ; it must not be supposed, says a well-known expert, that this trade has all been lost to the country at large. The development of salt fields in other parts of Great Britain, near ports where the authorities are more accommodating than in Liverpool, has been one important factor in diverting the salt trade from the river Mersey. Of course it has not been the only factor, because salt fields have been extended in other parts of the world, and England has to face in this respect competition of a severity which did not exist ten years ago.

The one point upon which the British salt trade may fairly congratulate itself to-day is the very marked improvement in the quality of English salt, which has been brought about since the formation of the salt union. The importance of this feature for many industries, and notably for the fisheries of the world, can scarcely be exaggerated, and it is sincerely to be hoped that fishery authorities throughout the universe will draw the attention of those most closely interested to the necessity of using the pure, clean product of Great Britain if they wish to maintain their place in the world's markets. In 1887 Liverpool sent to the United States of America 169,195 tons of salt. In the year just expired the total amounted only to 91,723 tons—a terrible decline.

It is at all times difficult for England to compete with the salt works of America on their own continent, and this difficulty is turned almost into an impossibility by the fact that the Government of the United States, in the year just concluded, placed upon common salt a duty amounting to 150 per cent. of its cost at the works in Cheshire. Shipments to India have been somewhat higher than in 1896, though they are 127,000 tons behind the shipments from the Mersey ten years ago. Sixty-two thousand tons of this deficit can be traced to shipments from Middlesbrough, but the balance has for the time been lost to British trade. Other distant markets do not call for any special observations at the present moment, but it has unfortunately to be recorded that, in view of the comparative failure of the Scotch fisheries in 1897, shipments from the Mersey to Scotch ports declined by nearly 22,000 tons. The growth of competition renders it imperative to seek for fresh outlets and to try for new markets. It is to be hoped that our Government, in its commercial negotiations with other powers, will recognize the importance of leaving no stone unturned to break down barriers to trade and to open up those markets which at present exclude us to a free and unrestricted exchange of commodities.—British Trade Journal.

CIVIL SERVANTS' SALARIES.

LAST week a deputation representing the different grocers' associations of Canada waited on the Ottawa Government.

President W. H. Marmion and Mr. J. G. Gibson represented the Toronto Retail Association, President J. Scanlan and Treasurer Dixon the Montreal Retail Association and S. J. Carter, of Carter, Galbraith & Co., and L. E. Geofrion, of L. Chaput, Fils & Co., Montreal, the wholesalers.

The deputation was met by the Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere and the Hon. Sidney Fisher, to whom was presented the petitions of the associations throughout Canada in regard to the garnisheeing of civil servants' salaries and in regard to levying fees upon the retail merchants for the inspection of weights and measures.

The Ministers stated that R. J. Richardson, member for Lisgar, Man., had a bill in regard to the garnisheeing of civil servants' salaries of the nature desired by the association now under way, and that when it came up before the House it would receive careful consideration. The principal objection to the bill was that heads of departments would be put to much trouble by garnishee proceedings.

Mr. Dixon, of Montreal, answered this objection by citing the cases of the C.P.R. and G.T.R. companies, which had issued an ultimatum to their men that a second garnishee proceeding would mean dismissal. Since this had been issued practically no trouble with garnishee proceedings had been experienced by the officials of these companies.

In regard to the inspector of weights and measures, nothing definite was promised, though Sir Henri Joly, in whose department this work is done, promised the matter would be thoroughly looked into.

The deputation are entirely satisfied with the result of their interview, and with the treatment accorded them by the Ministers of the Crown.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, have two lines of domestic marmalade and jams, which are favorite sellers with the trade, announcement of which appears in this issue.

THE QUESTION OF HAY CHEESE.

THE question of fodder or hay cheese is always an important subject previous to the opening of a new season. This year, owing to the unprecedentedly low level to which the price of cheese has been forced, it is more vitally important than ever.

With old cheese, almost impossible to sell for 8c. for export at Montreal, it stands to reason that if the factorymen, as they have done before, start in and manufacture a heavy output of this pasty, undesirable stuff, that matters are going to be even worse than they are. That they are bad enough now in all conscience, the fact that holders are willing to sell cheese which cost them 9½ to 9¾c. at 8c. per pound, and glad to do so, plainly shows.

If there are heavy offerings of fodder make the congestion of the market will be accentuated ; and there is no telling how much lower prices will go.

The Montreal Butter and Cheese Association, at a meeting held on Friday last, adopted the following resolution in connection with this matter :

Whereas the price of finest cheese to-day is lower than it has been at this period of the year for the past twenty seasons, the market being in a most stagnant state, the supply exceeding the demand ; therefore it would appear that there is an over-production of this article, and

Whereas it is a fact that the consumption of cheese does not relatively increase with the gain in population in the same ratio as butter, and

Whereas the butter market to-day in Canada, the United States, England and other countries is in a most healthy position, at relatively much higher prices than cheese, and

Whereas the make of fodder cheese is at all times very hurtful, tending to depress the market, its inferior quality restricting the consumption, thus damaging the chances of the fine qualities of full grass cheese, which is made in large quantities ;

Therefore, be it resolved, in view of these facts, that in the wisdom and opinion of this association no hay or fodder cheese should be made this spring, and that farmers should consider well the advisability of increasing the make of butter and limiting the production of cheese, during the ensuing and following seasons.

While it is right for the association to take this action it is doubtful if it will have the desired effect. The question that the farmers have to face is : "What are we going to do with our milk ?" This will be increasing in quantity pretty freely ; and while they can get any price for cheese, no matter how small, they will take it. They have to do so or let their milk go to waste, and it is unreasonable to expect them to follow the latter course.

Perhaps the most effective influence in curtailing the make of fodder or hay cheese this spring is the high price now ruling for creamery butter. If the latter product continues to realize 19c., it is highly improbable that the dairymen will make cheese that only returns them 7c. at the factory, and possibly 1 to 1½c. less if the demand keeps off as it is doing at present.

Canadian Dealers too Often Deceived

It is of vast importance that every dealer should exercise the greatest caution when buying Paste Stove Polish.

The QUICKSHINE has attained such immense popularity that unscrupulous people have gone into stove polish business and are manufacturing polish that pays them tremendous profits. The materials employed in the composition of these imitation packages are so poor and cheap that the woman who buys them can never get the results she desires, and in this manner, to a certain extent, injures the sale of the good article.

When stove polish is required for domestic use ask your dealer or wholesale grocer for QUICKSHINE STOVE POLISH, and accept no substitute in the way of imitation package polishes, or polishes that are two-thirds soap and one-third polishing material.

If your wholesale dealer does not sell QUICKSHINE, send direct to us for same, stating the wholesale dealer you wish us to send it through; or if you prefer it sent direct, we will forward same at once. Price per 3-doz. Case, $2.25.

EGGS BY WEIGHT.

EGGS should be sold by weight. They vary so much in size that this is the only fair method for both producer and consumer. The fowls which produce the largest eggs lay fewer than those which produce eggs of normal size. A good many of these large eggs are double yoked, in which case the hen that lays such a monstrosity is thereby made incapable of producing an egg the following day. In other words, two eggs, one completed with a full yolk, is entangled with another less developed, and both are bound in the same shell. It is very seldom that these double-yolked eggs find their way to city markets. Most farmers spot the large eggs and save them for home consumption. They well may do this, for the small eggs sell for as much per dozen as the large ones. The poet Saxe says of a woman :

> That knowing eggs are eggs,
> She tightly held her basket.

If the eggs were sold by weight she would be less concerned for the loss of one, unless it was an unusually large one. We came across a double-yolked egg at meal time a day or two ago. But the second egg was a very small one, with still less proportion of yolk. The eggs of a Brahma are usually only seven to a pound, while those of some Italian breeds will run as much as 11 to 12, and the bantams even more than this. It is rather difficult to sell bantam eggs, except at a discount. But the grocer mixes all together and sells all at the same price.—Boston Budget.

FIRE IN A TORONTO STORE.

On Saturday morning a fire broke out in Michie & Co.'s retail grocery store, King street west, Toronto. It is supposed to have originated on the second floor, in a stock of matches, from spontaneous combustion, but by the time the firemen had arrived, the flames had found their way up the air shaft to the roof. The whole of the fourth floor was gutted before the flames were mastered, and the enormous amount of water used in quenching the flames soaked through the ceilings and ruined nearly $25,000 worth of groceries on the ground and first floors, and in the basement. Smaller firms in the building suffered to the extent of another $10,000. Everything was well covered by insurance.

Conservative growers of southern strawberries say that this season's crop will be much greater than that of 1897. They expect to ship at least 150,000 crates from the Chattanooga district alone, and say that this number will be doubled within another year on account of the increased acreage. The recent cold weather will delay the blooming of the plants until after the later frosts.

REMEDY FOR BURNS.

Accidents are common in all trades, and where they are apt to be of a sudden and acute nature, it is but humane to be prepared for emergencies. In this connection the following is worthy of note: A Parisian doctor has discovered that a solution of 1 part of picric acid to 75 parts of water will surely and speedily cure the most terrible burns and scalds, and recommends that barrels of the solution be kept in foundries, etc., in which workmen could be immersed. The pain is instantly removed, sores and blisters prevented and a cure completed in four or five days.

James Shields, grocer, Toronto, charged with stealing $400 from the Dominion Bank, has been acquitted at the general sessions. It was said Shields received forty $20 notes in change instead of twenty and the extra $400 was recovered from Shields in a civic action. He was found not guilty in the criminal case by the jury.
